Thirty-nine years ago Brigadier Hawks entered Training College and was sent to Halifax on a salary of 75 cents a week upon graduation. His wife, whom he married 32 years ago, is a commissioned officer as are the wives of all Salvation Army officers. They were stationed in Penetanguishene, Kingston, and London, where the Army was founded in Canada, and numerous other locations across the country before coming to Belleville to command this division.

The Brigadier emphasized the service of the Army to the public throughout his talk. Salvation Army bands are a feature of many parades and exhibitions while the men and women of the organization are always active in public service. Two prominent Negro Moore who thanked Brigadier Hawks mentioned that the Army had been present at the Front Street fire in February serving coffee to the firefighters. Youth work involves the Army in summer camps for music and bible instruction and the Corps Cadet Brigade which is active in many public services are the keynotes.

Brigadier Hawks expressed the desire to continue to serve the community. He said that "Life has been full of service and therefore a great satisfaction."

Joyce Realty Soon Back In Old Home

Just two weeks after fire destroyed the downtown showroom of Gerald Joyce Realty Ltd., the firm is well on the way to resuming business on the same building.

"Within four weeks of the fire we shall be right back in business in one of the most modern offices in the business," Gerald Joyce said today.

Mr. Joyce said the restored building will incorporate modern design features and previously seen in Belleville. The interior will feature teak and maple wood panelling and the exterior will be trimmed in redwood and plateglass. Special acoustic tiles will also be used.

Material for the project is being supplied by the Bloorcraft Corporation of Toronto and the interior color scheme is being supervised by Marie de Nagy of Toronto. The work is being carried out by the home improvement firm of Hollins Lumbar, Ltd., Belleville.

Since the fire Mr. Joyce has been carrying on business from the former premises of The Intelligencer on Front Street.

Harold S. Robbins Retires After 45 Years With CNR

Harold S. Robbins, 32 Queen Street, the man who looks after Canadian National material requirements for the region between Port Arthur, Ont., and Riviere Du Loup, Quebec, is retiring after 45 years with the railway.

Officially he is not through at the railway until July 31st but his last day on the job will be June 15th when he goes on retirement leave.

Stationed at Belleville as material supervisor with the Bridge and Building Store since 1951, Mr. Robbins started with the railway as audit clerk at Toronto back in 1920. During the interening years he has missed little time from the job.

Prior to coming to Belleville he was chief clerk and accountant at the railway's Leaside offices.

When not railroading, Mr. Robbins has no lack of hobbies to help fill in the time.

BOATING A HOBBY

Over the years all main hobby has been boating, both in the Toronto area and on the Bay of Quinte. For many years he has been a member of the Queen City Yacht Club in Toronto and was commodore of that club before coming to Belleville.

In connection of his Toronto membership he was recently named honorary life commodore of the club.

Boating is still his top hobby

HAROLD S. ROBBINS

but he also finds time for fishing and woodworking.

He is past master of Moira Lodge A.F.and A.M. No. 11, and acts as secretary for the Prince Edward district.

Following retirement he and Mrs. Robbins will continue to live in Belleville. They have one son, Bruce, retail sales manager for Imperial Oil at Sarnia, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Eve) Lucy of this city, and Mrs. James (Jean Anne) Sloan, living in Kingston.

Three Share Acting Honors As Stratford Season Opens

By ROBERT TANNER

STRATFORD — Continuing the chronological presentation of Shakespeare's historical plays, which began last year with "Richard II," the Stratford Festival last night opened its 13th season with "Henry IV," a production which ranged from the rousing and magnificent to the lengthy and tedious. Much of the fullness could be attributed to the changing fashions in comedy, which have made most of the scenes almost unintelligible to modern audiences, but there were also times when the political manoeuvering of the king and his enemies seemed unduly long, and the discreet use of "cutting" could have been indulged in with advantage. But with the curtain rung out of the way, the merits of Stuart Burge's direction can shine through unclouded, and the actors can take credit for some very fine performances.

Acting honors on this opening night must be shared three ways, between Douglas Rain as the mysterious yet Royal Prince Hal, Douglas Campbell, playing Henry Bolingbur, his heroic but infuriating opponent, and Tony Van Bridge as Sir John Falstaff, a mountainous coward with an appetite fully justifying the friendship of the Prince of Wales. All of these were magnificent performances.

CREDIBLE PRINCE

Douglas Rain, with his usual sparkling diction, made very credible the rather complex character of the wastrel prince, who is a monarch's police to throw over his former life and become a hero on the battlefield, and then with Falstaff and his followers, delightfully played by Eric Christmas, Richard Gerrand and Heath Lamberts, showed that much of Shakespearean's comedy is in fact timeless. Comedy also played its part in Hotspur's role, particularly in his scene with his father (Mervyn Blake) and Uncle (William Needles), when his excitement and enthusiasm barely allow them to get a word in edgeways. Later he almost met his match in the Welsh-man, Owen Glendower, played with fire and venom by Powys Thomas, but found quiet defiance a powerful weapon. But perhaps his most effective scene was the short one with his wife, charmingly portrayed by Martha Henry, one of the few women in this almost com pletely masculine play. In another Shakespearean character, as Glendower's daughter, had a part entirely in Welsh, including a song which revealed a delightful singing voice.

It may seem strange to have got so far without mentioning the title role, but in point of fact Henry Bolingbroke had a much more rewarding role in last year's "Richard II" than he does in either of the two plays bearing his name. Leo Cleeri makes the most of his opportunities, however, with changes from the cashing scheming usurper to the careworn monarch, to what would much prefer to set out on a crusade than stay at home to deal with unrest and open rebellion.

Over the most part, the production was an exciting one, particularly during the final battle scenes, where Patrick Crean's somewhat stylized fights were most effective. The costumes, designed by Desmond Heeley, ranged from the sumptuous robes and trappings of the royal family, through the fantastically wild garb of Glendower, to the filthy rags of Bardolph, surely one of the most decrepit and dissolute ruffians ever to step onto a stage. The lighting and the stage carpeting cast lived up to Stratford's reputation for extreme competence.

The festival continues tonight with "Henry IV—Part IV" (renamed "Falstaff" to avoid confusion), while "Julius Caesar" will be played on Wednesday and Friday this season, "The Cherry Orchard" by Chekov will be added to the repertoire.

Disarmament Is Problem Says Shastri

By RUSSELL PEDEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India told the Montreal Monday night with an eloquent appeal to the nations of the world in behalf of disarmament, on which he said "depends the future of mankind."

He said the disarmament question—"the problem of problems" — now is a matter of "even greater urgency than before."

This was especially true in view of the increasing danger of the spread of nuclear arms. At least six nations, in addition to those which have already exploded nuclear weapons, had the capacity to produce such weapons within a short time.

"We are among the countries which have the capability to produce nuclear weapons," Mr. Shastri said. "We have enough know-how and scientific skill to do so.

"We have, however, decided, as a matter of deliberate policy, not to produce nuclear weapons and to use nuclear energy for peaceful purposes only."

The diminutive, 60 - year - old statesman reiterated his country's stand Monday in addressing a special convocation at McGill University, at which he received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Canadian sources privately expressed satisfaction with the strong statement, reaffirmed on three occasions during the Indian leader's five-day visit to Canada. It indicated that "in the essentials" Canada and India were in accord with each other.

But Canadian reaction was more embarrassed than approving two days earlier, when Mr. Shastri sprung up the secret of his country's bitter feud with Pakistan in a fiery address to Ottawa Indian community.

He charged that Pakistan committed aggression in the December, 1947, Kashmir border area a few weeks ago, and the Pakistani troops would have to be evacuated before there could be any settlement.

The Ottawa visit—Mr. Shastri's first to North America—left Ottawa officials "dazed and bewildered," one source said.

Mr. Shastri also, however, with at-the-page commentators expressing mutual aims of the United States and Canada and prime ministers.

VISITED FALLS

Apart from lengthy talks with Prime Minister Pearson, the Indian leader found time to tour the Niagara Falls area during his four-day Ottawa stay.

He flew to Montreal aboard a transport department Viscount at noon Monday, accepted his honory degree, joined about 50 Indian students at McGill for a buffet dinner, then was the guest book-at Montreal City Hall, where he was the guest of Mayor Jean Drapeau at a supper-hour reception.

His evening speech also touched on the Viet Nam situation, stressed the urgent needs of underdeveloped countries and expressed the hope that the major powers in world conflict would "settle their issues" in calculated and deliberate truce."

He viewed the truce as a step toward strengthening peace through disarmament and through greater cultural and economic exchange between countries.

In Viet Nam, the situation had worsened recently and there was no end to hostilities in sight.

"We would like to see the people of Viet Nam enjoy their freedom and independence without interference from outside from any quarter whatsoever," Mr. Shastri said.

Canada and India, along with other like - minded countries who are wedded to peace," should persist in their efforts to prevent the situation from deteriorating further.

Medical Care Bill Approved

TORONTO (CP) — The government's medical services bill, that had everyone in the Legislature talking, even the clerk, passed second reading Monday after almost five full days of debate.

Only third reading and Royal assent now awaits the contentious bill. This is expected to be given Friday if the government is successful in completing the remaining business of the House before then.

In a final bid to have the bill amended, NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald asked that it be referred back to committee with instructions to try to decrease the number of persons allowed to have premiums.

The motion was lost 40 to 20.

INVOLVES CLERK

Debate earlier in the day, involved even the Clerk of the House, Roderick Lewis. He was accused by New Democratic Party members of injecting himself into the debate on priorities in this instance. While he expressed willingness to co-operate in this matter on the board's instruction, to show respect to the flags that is due them would mean curtailing certain of the student's activities, he explained. To provide room for the three flags in the overcrowded stage area would necessitate abolishing parts of the education program, like presentation of plays so important to the teaching of English, it was pointed out.

INTERNAL PROBLEM

Board member Wilfrid Wilkinson entertained Mr. James' idea suggesting the board consider the request. Board member Ben E. M. (Ted) Parker agreed with the proposal in principle, "if there is a logical place to put them."

Board chairman Stan Ketcheson said he considered the matter an internal problem that should be left with Mr. Garret who expressed the opinion the topic was a good one for a United Nations club or similar group before the board presented idea more formally to business.

Providing water, sewers and hydro for the V.P. Carswell elementary school are under construction and scheduled to open in September could become a major problem for the Board of Education to deal with.

Unless services are made available soon the board is faced with the alternative of providing septic tank facilities. Then a source of water supply and electric power would need to be acquired at additional cost.

The board is in fact been unable to make any progress and seeks the assistance of town council and the Public Utilities.

GETTING NO PLACE

Board of Education members admitted last night they were getting no place in their effort to reach the government agency responsible for supplying the necessary conveniences.

A committee comprising finance chairman Bow Whitby and buildings and grounds chairman Jim Bowman was selected to acquaint council and PUC with the urgency of the matter.

The new sight recessed school with auditorium named after retiring supervising principal Carswell is being built on Seneca Road in the area of Bartlidale Heights, a Land Assembly project to be serviced ultimately by the town.

Concerned board members look for their request for services to be classified "top priority" before other steps have to be considered.

Housing Needs

Mayor Jack Ellis says that Belleville must await preparation of an official report on the city's housing situation before any action can be taken to enforce the occupancy and maintenance by-laws.

These by-laws have to do mainly with control of overcrowding and sub-standard housing in older sections of the city.

The mayor indicated that the city manager and planning director have conferred on the housing situation and that a full report, on the basis of which the city may act, should be available by fall.

Planning Director F. J. Beavis has estimated that reconstruction of 600 sub-standard houses should begin immediately, and that half of the city's 9,500 residential units will have to be replaced within the next 25 years unless council takes steps to ensure that they are properly maintained.

And this is where the occupancy and maintenance by-laws come in. According to Mayor Ellis, once the official report is available council will be in a position to enforce these by-laws.

Meanwhile, an article by Norman Pearson, eminent Canadian architect and town planner, in the journal of the Ontario Housing Corporation, is relevant to the overall planning situation in Canada.

"Consider that within 30 years," he writes, "something like 15,000,000 people will live in a city as yet unnamed, connecting Oshawa, Toronto, Kitchener, Hamilton and the Niagara Peninsula . . . and that by then Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Montreal, St. John's and Halifax will account for most of our population — and all on the metropolitan scale—It will be seen that the present patchwork of outmoded local governments can not persist unchanged.

"If we want decent living conditions," Mr. Pearson continues, "we will be obliged to put these urban entities under unified metropolitan government, and we will be obliged to plan the form which they are to take in terms of physical growth.

Mr. Pearson says we "cannot go on sprawling and expect the result to be beautiful cities or even habitations of civic value." At present, he claims, we do not really plan our great cities. "They are not steered in the way that cities like London or Copenhagen or Stockholm or Amsterdam are guided."

The University of Waterloo professor also foresees a day when trains will link Windsor, London, Port Erie and outlying cities with Hamilton, Toronto and the head of Lake Ontario, Peterborough, Kingston, Ottawa and Montreal. There is no mention of Belleville, but clearly the city would be included in this premise.

There is much in Mr. Pearson's article that is relevant to the situation here. It may be summed up succinctly in his statement that "our task must be to see that planning is a meaningful process achieving some agreed ends."

Scots Wha Hae

Editor of the MacPherson clan journal, the captain wants to find out whether the societies "are sentimental associations or retain some real link with the homeland."

From casual observation we would say the Scots in Canada, as in other parts of the world, have few peers when it comes to maintaining links with home, or at least preserving home traditions and culture.

There are, for example, the annual Burns Night suppers and St. Andrew's Day celebrations, not to mention Highland Games at Maxville and Fort William and other centres.

Belleville has a couple of Scottish pipe bands, and down in Brockville there is a very active highland pipe band and Scottish dancing group which are scheduled to appear at the New York world's fair this summer. Led by retired bank manager George Belsey, the pipers and dancers include the son and daughter of John Matheson, the federal member for Leeds.

And there is the Gaelic College at St. Anne's in Cape Breton, another repository of Scottish traditions.

Captain MacPherson, who fought Arab rebellions and dealt with undesirable bombs in Britain after the last war, should find much to encourage him in his search. The Scots in this country are not in the habit of hiding their light under a bushel.

Mrs. Ray H Bishop, of Toronto, visited the city this week to stir the interest of local women towards the formation of a Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Bishop is a member of Belleville business women, and expects to return to the city within the next few weeks to take further steps in the organization of such a club.

The objectives of the Business Women's Club are aimed toward improving the status of women in the business and professional world, discovering and developing abilities in its members which will enable them to take their full share in public life, furthering social welfare between business and professional women, providing opportunities for hobbies, handicrafts, recreation and other activities, focusing public attention on the positive work of women and providing a non-partisan non-sectarian basis for co-operation.

Dunkirk

New York Times

To the youth of today it may be but a name of half-forgotten history, a far sound as of distant drums and fifes. But it will live forever; and to those who witnessed those days, that name still spurs the pulse and makes the spirit leap.

The anniversary of the "miracle" of Dunkirk, a quarter of a century ago, evoked much more than a dramatic chapter in the unending history of war; it symbolized the unending battle of man against himself—the triumph of courage over cowardice, the willingness of men to die that other men might live.

Many Roughage Substitutes For People With Ulcers

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does taking mineral oil destroy Vitamin A?

If so, could you recommend some other oil which might not have that result? Or something else that is not habit-forming? I am 30 and have a duodenal ulcer that is under control most of the time. But I miss the roughage and raw vegetables that I used to eat and this leaves me with a problem of bowel irregularity or constipation at times, especially on long auto trips. — E. B.

I wouldn't say that mineral oil destroys Vitamin A. Rather, it absorbs it. Vitamin A being one of the oil-soluble vitamins. Since mineral oil is not absorbed by the body, it thus carries away some of the Vitamin A which otherwise you would be getting.

However you (and people with a problem like yours) have quite a variety of other methods which give good results, and will not irritate your ulcer or any other part of your digestive tract, and are not habit-forming.

Various bulk-producing and moistening agents (medications containing dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate, or such things as psyllium seed preparations or agar) are excellent and safe.

Milk of magnesia, with its mild laxative effect, is preferred by some people. Prune juice is another useful one: It is well tolerated by ulcers and is a good laxative.

Finally, the use of glycerin suppositories (perhaps in addition to one of the above) may prove helpful on such trips when you don't get your accustomed amount of exercise and to aid elimination.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is an angiogram? Just what is done and how does it differ from an ordinary X-ray? —Mrs. E. C.

Ordinary X-rays will show bones and cavities in the body very clearly, such as in a chest X-rays, for example. However X-rays do not show blood vessels very well, unless these are hard and contain calcium in the walls. Hence the blood vessels appear in the X-rays to have approximately the same density as surrounding tissues. In other words, they don't show up very well.

However a small amount of a special dye can be injected into the bloodstream and this will cause a heavy shadow in the X-ray pictures.

Then a series of X-ray plates are taken rapidly as the dye flows along, and you get a very useful picture of the blood vessels — any narrowed places, etc. These are angiograms.

Angiograms are quite widely used in examining arteries of the neck and brain, as well as in the kidneys, or in the lower extremities.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me anything about Hoffmann-Werdnig disease? My youngest died of it at five months. We have three normal children, and cannot trace this disease in either of our families.

Will our children have babies with this disease, or can it appear in them later in life? Our doctor said he had never seen the disease before. — Mrs. A. G. S.

That's understandable because it is a very rare disorder which occurs in infants under the age of one year. (It is featured by a wasting of the muscles of the trunk.)

The cause is not known but it appears to be a defect in the nerves supplying these muscles. The disorder is known to occur in families, but I have not seen any data indicating that genetists have been able to trace it to any specific defect in the genes.

The other children are older; I doubt that any of them will develop the disease, since if it is present, it always seems to appear very early in life. Whether they might transmit the condition to their children is problematic; all I can say is that we have no reason to think they will.

Canada Ready To Co-exist

U.S. National Review

Professor Kenneth Hilborn of the University of Western Ontario, unhappy at Canada's growing reputation as a citadel of appeasement, cites a recent poll taken by the Canadian Peace Research Institute.

It reports that a man-on-the-street sampling showed 41 per cent of Canadians in favor of "victory in the Cold War," 33 per cent in favor of a "policy of co-existence."

What makes those figures especially interesting is that the PRI also puts the question to three "elite" groups: members of Parliament, businessmen and labor leaders. And found the lawmakers to be four per cent for victory in the Cold War, 73 per cent for co-existence; the businessmen, six per cent for victory, 77 per cent for co-existence; labor leaders, four per cent for victory, 81 per cent for co-existence.

Nothing's out of whack in Canada, alists-wise.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 15, 1965 . . .

A Vickers Viney twin-engined aircraft landed in a peat-bog at Clifden, Ireland 46 years ago today—in 1919 —as John Alcock and Arthur Whitten Brown, two British airmen, completed the first non - stop transoceanic flight. They had taken off from Newfoundland the day before, a month after Harry Hawker's single - engined plane had crashed half-way across the Atlantic, hardly within sight of a Dutch ship. Alcock and Brown were knighted by George V for their feat, and a monument at St. John's marks the spot where they took off.

1848 — The Oregon Boundary Treaty was signed.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—Zeppelin raids killed 14 people on the English east coast, and British airmen bombed Zeebrugge; heavy fighting began at Givenchy, near Ypres.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — the French government moved to Bordeaux from Tours, which was heavily bombed and crowded with refugees; Verdun was captured by the Germans; the British cruiser Calypso was sunk by an Italian submarine in the Mediterranean, with 30 men missing.

Strictly Personal

Old English Words Lack Companions

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

There are basically, two kinds of words in the English language — what the philologists call "native words," and what they call "loan words." The native words are Old English; the loan words have been borrowed from Latin, French, German, and so on.

What is peculiar about English, however, is that related words often have no connection with one another. This is especially true in the relationship between adjectives and nouns: no other language is so capricious.

Consider such native words as "eye," "mind," "moon," "mouth," "see," "sun," and "town." What are the adjectives for such words? They are all Latin, and bear no resemblance to the nouns they come from: "Eye" gives us "ocular"; "mind" gives us "mental"; "mouth" gives us "oral"; "see" gives us "marine"; "sun" gives us "filial"; and "town gives us "urban."

How is a foreigner to know this, or how is a child to learn this? Unless one has a firm grounding in Latin, hundreds of adjectives for the most ordinary nouns remain unknown, or improperly used. And even the highly educated rarely know all the adjectives that apply to such common words as "uncle," "cheek" and finger."

We all know that dogs, cats and cows are "canine," "feline," and "bovine"; but we should anyone except a zoologist know that sheep are "ovine," foxes are "vulpine," bees are "apian," or (horror of horrors) chickens are "gallinacious."

Even such bodily senses do not form their adjectives from their nouns — "sight" gives us "visual"; "hearing" gives us "aural"; "touch" gives us "tactile"; "smell" gives us "olfactory"; and "speech" gives us "verbal."

The Anglo-Saxon noun "love" has no adjective at all, and the Latin "amatory"; and the equally Anglo-Saxon "hate" has no adjective except the Latin "odious." "Man" and "woman," two basic Old English words have as their adjectives the Latin "masculine" and "feminine." A baby is "infantile," a boy is "puerile," and a very old person is "senile."

This is not a chauvinistic plea for native words as against loan words; one of the glories and beauties of the English language is its ability to assimilate and transform words from other languages to its own uses. But it is to suggest that one reason we do not speak our language with the eloquence with which foreigners speak theirs is the difficulty of harnessing together linguistic steeds of such different ancestry.

Exporting Water

Financial Times

The export water, says General McNaughton, is the export economic development as well. Fortunately he is not a solitary voice in the wilderness. Both the public and the governments are increasingly aware of the value of our natural water resources. There are experts in both federal and provincial governments who believe that we may have only a couple of years to develop a policy before the pressure from the U.S. to tap our resources becomes almost irresistable.

Pearson Finds New Powers Of Sharp-tongued Repartee

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

Well, all that is changed and still changing.

He gives clear evidence — you'll find the written documentation for it in the printed word-for-word Hansard record — not only of warming to the political blood sport, but actually revelling in it.

Getting swiftly sharp, too.

And Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, only a couple of years ago Parliament's one - man powerhouse, was a fearsome figure, frightening to Lester Pearson, both before and since he supplanted him as prime minister.

For a while after the power switch at the top, the Conservative Leader could still make the Liberal Prime Minister cringe a little.

But not any more.

They seem now to have changed characteristics as well as jobs.

And the political jobber has taken the verbal switch-dress attict, with the Opposition Leader sort of sloughing down and taking it a little more casually relaxed and easy manner.

Evidence?

ROLL YOUR OWN!

Well, take a peek into Hansard and read how neatly and inexplicably with a little skill, the other day the prime minister shot down the Opposition Leader in his treatment of both Defence Minister Hellyer and External Affairs Minister Paul Martin.

And with Quebec City and Paris making their own special and colonies and such stuff, the Opposition had great fun when the French Government, after welcoming Premier Lesage with such ceremonials as are usually reserved for the Great Powers, wouldn't even let Paul Martin land at the Orly Airport terminal but waved in his VIP plane off a half mile down the tarmac and kept him waiting 20 minutes in the hot carpet? Never heard of it!

So when Paul-Hellyer flew to Paris, Diefenbaker, in Opposition, figuring to rub the Federal Government's nose again in the Quebec thing, asked him to see if he, too, had got the brush-off like Mr. Martin.

Pearson, who tried to hid his way out of it, with the explanation that he knew how and where to land his own plane.

But his old foemas, former Defence Minister Doug Harkness here in — wasn't to be denied, just that the French were more willing to see Hellyer than Martin, but believe me Ottawa's relations with Paris had improved to the point of being almost as good as Quebec City's.

The needle was going deep, and the Government Cabinet benches were squirming.

All except the prime minister.

"The House should be informed," he announced, in mild-pussy boiling his feet, "that the Defence Minister wisely took his own red carpet with him to Paris."

And that took care of that.

WE'LL BE SORRIER!

Where the prime minister sagely with outward good humour if inward wondering, had exploded a joke and a laugh to break up an Opposition attack, the Conservative Leader, now seriously concerned, and even to the Government's amazement, grabbed himself a handful of future trouble.

Again, at the time, the Government was in some embarrassment, and deservedly so, tactingly, the Opposition Leader took it off the hook.

Trade Minister Charp was being given the political hotfoot over the hesitation, even rebuctance, of some industries to participate in what Quebec likes to call "Expo '67" and the rest of Canada sees as the Montreal World's Fair."

To this Charp Mitchell, as they say here him, even more uncomfortable, one big and important industry had cancelled out, and for all his coaxing, he had been able to induce it to return only on a reduced basis.

So there was the worried Trade Minister, knowing full well what Separatism in Quebec generally, and Terrorist bombings in Montreal particularly were, and would condemn, doing to Expo '67, pleading that industry get behind the World's Fair.

When up popped the Opposition Leader and forgetting, because of his own Party's role in the World's Fair idea in the first place.

It was the Government of which I had the honor to be head that brought Expo '67 to Canada," he said.

And you could almost see that old political thing, Transport Minister J. W. "Jolly Jawn" Pickersgill, in coalition framing the Diefenbaker years of cradle clan, so that when Expo '67 turns out to be the great financial success that is almost all World's Fairs are, they'll know who really was to blame.

Teacher Let Pupils Judge

By James Bridcutt
in the Louisville Courier-Journal

Those research minded beings, the educationists and professors, may be jolted out of their fuzzy-cornered complacency when they learn of something's once is judged by students.

University of Louisville students are rating their professors for classroom performance, following the example of Harvard and a couple of other colleges. This can hardly be called a nauseating feat but it could catch on and bring terror to the heart of many a professor who thought he had tenure because of his Ph.D. and's couple of obscure research projects each year.

Who would have thought that this could happen to the tall yellow college student could have a crack at his betters?

The idea, however, is not completely new. Some teachers over the years have employed what is often known as "exercises" to "wreck your own ego" type of rating system.

Usually it was at the low rank of college instructor — or nonperson, as we were called—when here in — wasn't due for many. As the semester limped to a close, I would tell my eager students to write down the way the course was organized and the performances of the teachers.

The critique was to be typed and unsigned, so that I couldn't tell who wrote what. At the close those anonymous reports were handed in. I left the room and asked a student to collect the papers and mix them up. All kinds of hocus-pocus to assure anonymity.

I assured the students that even if I somehow discovered who wrote what, all that could be victimless, my final grade would not be affected. (This, of course was a fib.)

I carefully took the papers with me to a dark, clammy and gloomy room — my office in the basement — and waited until everyone had gone home. Then I locked the door and read every miserable word.

The criticisms ranged from the constructive to the vicious. College teachers are poor, but can't you spend a quarter on shoe polish? I looked for clues in crabbing words. The comments included strong praise of a textbook I had published. There was criticism of a textbook I had praised.

Some students gave themselves away by misused certain phrases or misspelling certain words in their usual fashion. Others, who were overwrought boots and forgot to take baths, gave himself away by writing a philosophic essay on the relationship of the university to the modern world. That was the same who answered test questions. You get all kinds.

I soon grew up the whole idea after I convinced myself that those shallow students didn't know what they were talking about.

Monday the 87-stock industrial index, a barometer of the group's health, took its largest fall since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1964 — 3.62 to 205.32.

At 11 a.m. the index dropped .23 to 164.90, a 1965 low. The Toronto Stock Exchange index fell .21 to 154.80, also a low.

Drops were mostly fractional in the main list. Bank of Nova Scotia dropped 2½ to 74, Texaco lost 1¼ to 23, while Toronto-Dominion Bank and Royal fell ¼ each to 63 and 74¾. Bell Telephone lost ⅝ to a 1965 low of 58.

In senior base metals Cominco lost ¼ to 43¼ and Denison ⅛ to 30. Hudson Bay and Noranda fell ¼ each to 72 and 39¼.

Golds were higher. Giant Yellowknife gained ¼ to 13 and Kerr Addison 5 cents to 29.25. Husky gained ¼ to 11¾ in active mover stocks.

Speculative trading was quiet.

On index, golds gained .21 to 152.62 and western oils .17 to 98.05. Base metals lost .27 to 78.82. Volume at 11 a.m. was 605,000 shares compared with 527,000 shares traded at the same time Monday.

Index lows for 1965 and the largest index drops so far this year highlighted light exchange dealings Monday.

The 87-stock industrial index dropped 3.62 to a 1965 low of 163.22 as a spate of selling near the close following a similar drop on the New York Stock Exchange—brought prices lower in the main list.

The 124-stock Toronto Stock Exchange index, a potpourri of favorite issues, fell 2.85 to its 1965 low of 155.14. Many issues lost a point or more.

Senior base metals also fell sharply.

Among industrials, MacMillan, Bloedel fell 2 to 31¼ and Bell Telephone and CPR 1¼ apiece to 58¼ and 60. Toronto Bank and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce each lost a point to 74 and 65. Walker-Gooderham fell 1¼ to 37¼.

Y's Activities

Now is the time to enroll your four and five year old boy or girl for July Tiny Tot swimming lessons. This course allows the children to become adjusted to the water and helps them lose their fear of it. The mothers who accompany their children into the water learn the basic learn-to-swim techniques in order to continue the child's progress during the summer months.

Depending on the attendance in other summer morning programs, this course will begin Moday, July 5th, and continues every day for two weeks except Saturday and Sunday until Friday, July 16th. It will start at 9:00 a.m. and end at 9:30 a.m. and the instructor will be Miss Mildred Gray of the YWCA. A small fee will be charged. Enroll at the Belleville Family YMCA on Victoria Avenue.

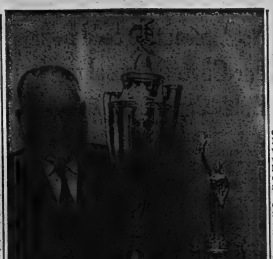
Losses on the NYSE Monday ranged to five points in the more volatile issues. But no major group escaped.



BUYING IS DOWN

Another factor hurting the market was a warning from the Bank of International Settlements in Switzerland that British may need to further restrict her economic policies.

Today, the British Board of Trade announced that the British trade gap—the excess of imports over exports—continued in the red but at an increasing rate. In May it increased £20,000,000 ($60,000,000) to £49,000,000 ($147,000,000).

This had an unsettling effect on the London stock and money markets today, which were lower.

Few Ideas To Solve WaterLevel

By MICHAEL BLAIR

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian and U.S. engineers on Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River water levels Monday were told why levels in the system were so low but came up with few ideas on solving the problem without massive engineering works.

A remedy for low water levels included plans to divert northern rivers in the James and Hudson Bay water sheds into the Great Lakes.

Democratic Senator Frank E. Moss of Utah, member of a U.S. Senate sub-committee dealing with water development, told the International Conference on Water Levels the Lakes are the lifeblood of eight states and Ontario and Quebec.

He advocated diversion of northern Canadian rivers to bring the Great Lakes levels up, as did Albert Messerow, chairman of the Illinois Great Lakes commission.

However, Arthur Laing, northern affairs and national resources minister and Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill, said they didn't want to see Canada bring water away.

JOB FOR CANADA

Mr. Laing said a study of the possibility of diverting northern waters to the Great Lakes "is one which should be made in Canada, by Canadians."

He said Prime Minister Pearson has approached Quebec and Ontario proposing a study of such diversions and is awaiting the final views of both provinces on the matter.

The low water levels in the Great Lakes have been referred by the Canadian and U.S. governments to the International Joint Commission, which deals with boundary waters. Its terms of reference are limited to studying water sources within the Great Lakes basin.

One of the main reasons for calling the conference, the third of its type, was the water level in the harbor here. Monday it was 34 feet 11 inches, one inch above the internationally-recognized minimum level of 35 feet, which makes the harbor available to most vessels. It was below this level much of last year. Hugh Cowan, MP for Northumberland York-Humber, said he was worried about the decreasing level of Lake Ontario and the effect it could have on Toronto docks. On Montreal's problem he suggested a dam across the St. Lawrence below the harbor, and locks through which ships could enter.

On power production, R.T. Boyer, vice-chairman of Ontario Hydro, said the public utility lost a considerable sum on its Niagara Falls power production in 1964 because of low water levels.

He said the Niagara powerhouse couldn't produce its maximum capacity and coal had to be purchased at a cost of $15,000,000 to feed thermal stations to make up the difference.

Six Billion Clipped Off Values Of New York Stocks on Monday

NEW YORK (CP) — Wall Street took another battering Monday in its month-long slump with more than 1,000 issues on the New York Stock Exchange showing losses, the largest number ever, and paper values were clipped more than $6,000,000,000 in one set of market indices.

Also down were the Toronto and Montreal exchanges. Volume on the NYSE came to 5,500,000 shares compared with 3,347,000 Friday when a feeble rally developed following a sharp three-day drop.

Standard and Poor's index of 500 stocks, considered by many Wall Streeters as the most accurate reflection of stock prices, closed at $4.01, down 1.11. Based on market values, this represented a paper loss of slightly more than $6,000,000,000 on stocks listed on the NYSE—the big board.

What's With the Kids?

Overheard in a local supermarket, a Grade 13 student telling two of her friends, "I flunked history. Isn't that a riot?"

By the reactions of her two companions—they were giggling uncontrollably—I assumed they agreed with her and thought it was, indeed, a riot.

I couldn't help wonder if her parents too would think it was a riot. It struck me as a pretty poor show for this girl to abandon all her years of study and the years of sacrifice and effort made by her parents - to send her to school—and she looked well taken care of, perhaps too well—with a simple, "Isn't that a riot?"

Of course, it could have been a cover for her real feelings, but I doubt it. There was something apparent in her attitude that she didn't really care if she had failed.

She looked about 18, well dressed, neat and very pretty. But somewhere along the line, something had obviously gone wrong.

How many other Grade 13 students are writing exams, not really caring whether they passed or not? How many seats are they occupying in our overcrowded schools? How much money is being wasted to support them? What about their parents?

Yes, what about their parents?

Perhaps that was the problem. Perhaps, in our affluent society many of the children never have to care about anything. Maybe they've had things so soft all their lives that it doesn't matter what they do, mommy or daddy will take care of things.

Or maybe our Canadian marriage complex has been driven into the girls so much that they believe, "What's the difference? I'll be married soon anyway, and I don't need a B.A. to wash dishes."

Everything about it is questionable, with one exception, and that is that it is very sad.

And the song asks, "What's the matter with kids today?"

Probably nothing except they're over-protected by parents who went through the depression and through the war and are too determined to make sure their kids never have to go through what they did.

Maybe a taste of hardship would help.

Distribution To Eliminate 43 Present Ridings

New city ridings are created, reflecting shifts of population in that direction. Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Oshawa, St. Catharines and Brantford and Waterloo are lifted out of semi-rural ridings to become urban. The existing ridings around the Toronto area gets three new seats and Ottawa, London and Hamilton get one or more apiece.

Among the seats whose identity will vanish, 23 are held by the Liberals, 13 by the Progressive Conservatives and three by the New Democratic Party.

The Ontario commission is one of 10 that has been redistributing federal constituency boundaries by provinces under legislation of last December. Their mandate has to be fulfilled before membership into better balance with local populations—with no influence from affected politicians.

AVERAGE 70,883

The goal is to get each seat within 25 per cent of a constituency average for the province, which in this case is 70,883. This is reached by dividing the number of seats—Ontario is to get 88 under the commission's plan—into the population at the 1961 census.

The swing now permitted is between 88,583 and 53,149, compared with a present variation of 207,249 in Bruce-Dufferin-Simcoe from 29,334 in Bruce. The commission has kept it between 80-, 120 for a single Metropolitan Toronto, Scarborough and 53,444 for a new riding of Thunder Bay in the north.

The commission can amend its proposals, and has set Sept. 30 for the start of a series of hearings to receive representations. After that, it will issue its final report. Changes then can be suggested in Parliament, but cannot be made before the commission agrees. The whole process could take until next April.

Meanwhile, Joseph Sullivan, Ontario is in prospect since only two Ontario MPs are sitting openly with the 500 boundaries. The other besides Miss LaMarsh is Conservative J. A. McMahon in Eight, which happens to be a single county fitting nearly near the average with about 63,000.

TELL FORMER MPs

The commission used county or township lines where possible. It paid attention to the old political boundaries if they got in the way of this principle. As a result, Mrs. and Sullivan trying to puzzle out where they fit in the new Sigaw.

Prime Minister Pearson's Algoma East riding will vanish but a major part of it will become a large Algoma after losing some territory and picking up some from Algoma West and Nickel Belt, both Liberal-held and both due to disappear. Algoma's urban population will be 83,780 compared with the current 54,865 for Algoma East.

Algoma will have another Algoma East's uranium centre in Elliot Lake but not Manitoulin Island, which goes to a new Sudbury-Manitoulin riding.

Mr. Martin's urban-rural riding of Essex East in the Windsor area will be eliminated and much of its urban population in and around Windsor will go to a new one called Windsor-Walkerville. The rural section will be parcelled out to two other ridings.

SOME RETAIN NAMES

Other cabinet ministers' constituencies retain their names although some have their territory shuffled considerably. Finance Minister Walter Gordon, who recently said he hoped to come up with about the same boundaries, gets the biggest slice. His Toronto Davenport emerges with little more than the old name.

Two women members will have their present seats carved up and apportioned among different ones. They are Conservative Jean Wadds in Grenville-Dundas and Liberal Paul-ine Jewett in Northumberland.

The province's biggest riding in area—Port Arthur, held by Douglas Fisher of the NDP—will be sawed off at the bottom to make a new city riding of Port Arthur and rural one called Thunder Bay. Altogether the north would gain one seat to 12.

Sault Ste. Marie, now part of Algoma West, will also become a city riding. So will St. Catharines, part of North will become urban Kitchener. London, now partly a riding on its own and partly Middlesex East, will become two city units.

CLUSTER BOOSTED

The big cluster of Toronto and the Yorks will be boosted by three to 31. York - Scarborough plus most of some abutting ridings will be cut into four.

The national capital gets an additional seat called Ottawa Centre, intersected between Ottawa East and West. Parliament Hill will be in the new riding. Ottawa-Carleton takes in the city of Eastview, now in Russell, which disappears.

Oshawa and the town of Whitby become largely an urban constituency called Ontario. They are cut out of the constituency of Ontario, now represented by Conservative provincial labor minister Michael Starr, former mayor of Oshawa.

Hamilton, which now has three city ridings, will have four.

Generally, predominantly rural areas with this populations took a severe shaking-up. Some of the new ridings contain parts of up to five of the old ones.

RIDING SHAKEN UP

The greatest example of this is the new riding of Wellington-Grey, which contains all of Wellington, Bruce (population 14,238) plus segments of Grey-Bruce, Waterloo North, Wellington South and Dufferin-Simcoe, all now held by Conservatives and all to vanish as constituencies.

Dufferin - Simcoe, held by Hon. W. Earl Rowe after its creation in 1953, now has a Bruce County Liberal - Conservative Lieutenant - Governor in Hon. John Keiller MacKay, parcelled out to Bruce North and new ridings of Peel-Dufferin and Simcoe North.

Part of Grey-Bruce, which has a population of only 56,883, will go to the Bruce-Cobourg seat which now will reach 57,080 with the addition also of a piece of Victoria County. Grey-Bruce North will disappear and the remainder of its territory, including Owen Sound, will be combined with a piece of Simcoe North to form Grey-Simcoe.

Waterloo North and the South will disappear along with Waterloo North. Part of the territory called the South will go into a new Waterloo.

CHANGES MADE

Wellington South, apart from giving up some territory to the new Wellington-Grey, has several chunks taken from it before the result becomes Wellington. It will give a piece to Halton and from Wentworth.

On the Lake Erie shore, the Liberal - held ridings of Norfolk and Brant - Haldimand disappear as such. A new seat called Haldimand-Norfolk will cover all of the present Norfolk plus pieces of Brant Haldimand. The remainder of the latter will be divided among a reunified Brantford, a new Hamilton-Wentworth and Wellington, plus the piece to Wellington.

Welland will give up the townships of Pelham and Thorold to Lincoln to compensate in part for the loss of St. Catharines city of Lincoln. Welland also takes over the townships of Humberston and Stamford in Welland County, which formerly were in Brant-Haldimand. Welland's population will drop to 71,890 from 86,721.

Further west on Lake Erie, Kent-Elgin will disappear and be allocated to the present Lambton-Kent and a new Essex-Kent taking in part of vanishing Essex South.

Most of adjacent Lambton will become a new riding of Sarnia with the remainder going to a new Middlesex, consisting in general of the west and east, covered by Middlesex East, Middlesex West, a large section of Lambton-Kent and the Lambton West acquisition.

In the central section, a large riding stretching 125 miles from corner to corner will be fashioned out of the bulk of Victoria plus pieces of Peterborough and Hastings-Frontenac, all Conservative, and Liberal Renfrew South.

Hastings - Frontenac, Renfrew South and Hastings South —the last named Liberal—have been swallowed up. A new Hastings will take in part of Hastings - Frontenac and Hastings South and another large chunk of Hastings - Frontenac goes to a new Frontenac-Addington. Another includes pieces Renfrew South, Kingston and Prince Edward - Lennox.

Prince Edward - Lennox, a Conservative seat, disappears and part of it goes to a new Prince Edward — Hastings. It takes in some Hastings South, Frontenac and Northumberland while the rest of Northumberland will be added to Addington. Liberal Durham to take Northumberland - Durham.

Remainder of Renfrew South territory will be taken over in a new Renfrew - Lanark, which also takes some of disappearing Conservative Lanark and Liberal Carleton plus a piece of Liberal Renfrew North, which remains a constituency name.

Renfrew North will be pushed over big Algonquin Park from Parry Sound-Muskoka and a few townships from Nipissing to reach the Mattawa River, generally regarded as the line between northern and southern Ontario.

A part of Carleton will go to a new Grenville-Carleton, which will also take over a large part of Grenville - Dundas to reach from the Lawrence to the Ottawa River at the capital.

Grenville - Dundas was held by Conservative Clark Caswell, man from its formation in 1924 until his death in 1958 and has been represented since then by his widow, now Mrs. Wadds, daughter of Lieutenant - Governor Grant Macdonald, retired.

Also in eastern Ontario, Renfrew - Lanark - Frontenac - Kingston seat will remain essentially the same but named Kingston and the Islands. Other the townships of Storrington and Pittsburgh to Frontenac-Addington, Leeds and Edwardsburgh-Lenmox, adds Amherst Island to its chain along the lakefront. Its population drops to 71,627 from 76,435.

The redistribution shows the greatest concentration of change in Toronto and the adjacent Yorks which now have a chunk of the old Toronto Centre-Rosedale except for two New Democrats —in the Commons. The reshuffle is designed to block the disappearance of three and the emergence of six new ones. The result is in the metropolitan area plus another combination of Toronto and the suburbs in York County and part of the disappointing Dufferin-Simcoe.

The casualties will be Dan Harkness, held by Reid Scott of the NDP; St. Paul's held by Liberal Jay Hall; York - Humber, now held by Ralph Cowan of the Liberals.

Liberal York - Scarborough will contribute territory for one seat with the old names and others called Don Mills, York-Scarborough East and Scarborough West, the latter picking up part of Dearborn. The other Toronto NDP seat, Andrew Brewin's Greenwood, will have territory added to it geographically.

The other new ridings will be Humber Valley, Etobicoke and Etobicoke - Lakeshore taking territory from York-Humber.

While other Toronto ridings retain their names, all are pushed around geographically. Only a small corner of Finance Minister Gordon's Davenport riding is retained, with the new constituency made up mainly of territory in East South, Spadina and Defence Minister Hellyer's Trinity.

Trinity itself will take over pieces of St. Paul's and Spadina, which will disappear. It will be pushed north and west by the new Don Valley and moves in on York Centre territory. On the western outskirts, hockey star Red Kelly's York West will be shorn of much of its territory in favor of Etobicoke and eat, hiting another piece out of York Centre.

The changes in Toronto largely result from the fact that the Robertson commission ignores the city limits and uses the wider metropolitan boundaries to carve up the territory. Previously, 11 of the 18 seats were within the city, which now has considerably less population than the non-Toronto metropolitan area. The new boundaries still across the city limits.

Only one freedom was restricted, he said.

That is Canadian publisher wanting to sell his newspaper will have to accept the best bid he can get from a Canadian. The whole point is to safeguard in several foreigners from outbidding Canadians in this field.

Mr. Gordon extended his choice of implementing a tax cut as the one fairest to the provinces.

Critics who preferred a cut in corporation taxes had not spelled out a satisfactory procedure, Mr. Gordon said, and corporation profits were at an all-time high. He said the government did not want to alter corporation taxes before the

No Alternative Said Found For Govt. Proposal to Hold Canadian Ownership

-- Gordon

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Monday that the government's proposals for tightening the Canadian ownership of newspapers must either be accepted by the House or dropped altogether. No alternative had been found.

In introducing his budget resolutions to the Commons, Mr. Gordon said there had been objection to proposals to prohibit tax deductions for advertising in non-Canadian publications, but no other method had been found to safeguard Canadian ownership.

"The fact is that no practical alternative has been found. Despite careful thought and much discussion with the people concerned.

"In practical terms, we have the alternative of proceeding with the measure we have before the House or of dropping the question altogether. If we were to do the latter and one or more of our more important newspapers or chain of newspapers were to fall into foreign hands, neither the government nor Parliament would shirk responsibility for having allowed this to happen."

INCLUDE PAPERS

Mr. Gordon announced in his budget speech April 26 that legislation would be introduced to prohibit tax deductions for advertising in non-Canadian publications. It was similar to proposals made a year ago by the Liberal and Conservative governments, except that this time it covered newspapers. Mr. Gordon described it as a proven-tive measure.

Two periodicals would be exempt from the legislation—Time and Reader's Digest. Both are published in Canada.

Mr. Gordon told the Commons Monday night that the proposals "do not contain objections which advanced earlier, Bill since it has to be applied to newspapers there have been objections that it infringes on freedom of the press."

RETAIN FREEDOM

"The government's proposal asserts no control whatever over newspapers or other publications. It does not attempt in any way the complete freedom of businesses to advertise in any way they choose in existing publications or in any future publications owned by Canadians. It provides no screening, no kind of government interference as to the complete freedom of the press."

He said the majority of newspaper publishers have not objected to the proposals, presumably being taken against the transfer of Canadian newspapers to non-residents. The government appeared to involve the timing and the method.

"As to timing, let me say the obvious. There is no point in Carter royal commission on taxation reports.

DID NOT QUALIFY

The finance minister revealed to the Commons that New York banking interests were forewarned of the government's opposition before they bought the Mercantile Bank of Canada, but for this they did not qualify for special privileges.

Responding to recent activities of Senator Yuill and Credit Creditiste MPs to comment on their monetary theories, the finance minister said it is bad practice the theories would cause inflation, raise prices, cause a balance of payments problem and turn capital investment away from Canada.

He was defending the government's inclusion of the Mercantile Bank sale by-passed by the First National City Bank of New York, under the revised Bank Act.

The act restricts non-Canadian holdings in any chartered bank to 10 per cent, but allows it to 10 per cent the holdings of any single shareholder.

Any foreign controlled bank is prohibited from increasing its resources more than 20 times its authorized capital, meaning that Mercantile must hold its growth within the limit set by Once First National's holdings to 10 per cent.

At the opening of the day's sitting William Howe (NDP—Hamilton South) made an unsuccessful attempt to put an urgent business for a special debate on the "failure" of the government to provide adequate health services.

Dr. Howe said the matter was urgent because the Ontario government was proceeding with a plan that would wreck the present and excellent national medical insurance plan.

Mr. Lamoureux rejected the motion on the grounds that a Commons debate would not alter the situation.

Learn From China's Workers, Both Children, Teachers Told

Editors: Education and political indoctrination from elementary through the high schools—by those who lived in China. British writer and teacher, John Hayhoe, who has lived the last six years in Asia, talks of his visits to Chinese schools and of having second of three articles on life in Red China.

SHANGHAI (AP)—The children's palace which I visit with Miss Wu, my interpreter in Shanghai, is in the old French concession and I am told that the ugly red-brick and stone house belonged to a "trader."

"This palace is for children between the ages of 7 and 14 and 1,000 children attend it a day outside their school hours," Miss Wu explains in her earnest woman in blue shirt and blue trousers.

The task is to complement school education both physically and morally. We teach the children how to live in the past were poor because they were opposed by imperialists and feudalists. And in every age them to visit old workers so they can learn of the past. We teach them that things are better because of Chairman Mao and the Communist party."

In the garden the children are lining up to roll iron hoops round the paths and at the back is the "road of the brave," an obstacle course for young children, who are bright and lively and look healthy, crawling through tunnels, under ladders and slide down shoots. It looks like great fun.

On the floor of the main ion are games, one of which consists of throwing balls at impassive figures of Chiang Kai-shek, the reading room children hold to their faces little pictures books whose names are anti-capitalist.

There is a dance class of tots practicing and singing about Chairman Mao Tse - tung, a mouth - organ orchestra, consisting of old men, a drama group which enacts a short anti-capitalist play. More constructive are the rooms in which children are learning to make model ships (mostly battleships) and model aircraft (mostly warplanes). The teachers are skilled and keen.

Commonwealth

become permanent in the Viet Nam fighting.

Sir Robert Menzies of Australia arrived earlier with fighting words about another issue—the setting up of a Commonwealth secretariat and the appointment of a secretary-general.

"There are some who think that the executive should be a very powerful body," Sir Robert declared. "I think it is a secretariat. I don't want the position in which you get somebody who professes to have executive authority because I do not think the Commonwealth would last very long in these circumstances."

Some African countries, which put forward the idea of a secretary-general in the last prime ministers conference 11 months ago, were reported pressing for a more powerful executive.

The issue of Viet Nam was another dividing the Commonwealth countries. Some African and Asian countries were critical of Britain for supporting the United States policy of bombing in Viet Nam.

At the opposite end of the scale, Australia and New Zealand not only support the U.S. action but are helping the U.S. with troops.

Bogus Cheques Used to Buy Canadian Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Somebody tried to make money on Canadian stocks Monday by mailing orders from the Bahamas and fashioning bogus cheques totalling about $4,000,000, the New York Times reports.

The Times says the orders were mailed to at least 40 New York brokerage firms, some of which executed the orders and some of which immediately "smelled a rat."

The suspicious ones, The Times says, investigated the authenticity of the "certified" cheques and found them to be fake.

The Times account says:

The mail orders asked the New York brokers to buy small amounts of several blue-chip American stocks, and large amounts of three Canadian stocks — Rayeon Photocopy Corp. Ltd.; Commodore Business Machines, and Jockey Club, Ltd.

The orders for American stocks were just to lend authenticity, apparently. Whoever sent the orders was really interested in the Canadian stocks.

EXTREMELY ACTIVE

Brokers said all three Canadian stocks were extremely active.

Rayeon photocopy, unlisted, reached a high of $10 and closed at $2.50 to $3.50, brokers said.

Commodore Business Machines traded 20,325 shares on the Canadian Exchange in Montreal, compared with 1,200 shares last Friday. It closed at $7.50 Friday, rose to $8.75 Monday and closed at $7.13.

Jockey Club traded 33,338 shares on the Toronto exchange, compared with 5,150 shares Friday. It was $5.50 to $5.75 a share Friday, rose to $6 Monday and closed between $5.375 and $5.50.

The Times says the FBI, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the New York Stock Exchange are all looking into the matter.

FLANS STATEMENT

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Lamontagne said in the Commons Monday he will make a statement in the next few days on color television. He was replying to Robert Simpson (PC —Churchill) who referred to press reports that color TV might be introduced in Canada by the CBC in 1967.

their right to use the mails when Postmaster - General Tremblay said pamphlets sent through the mails by Natural Order were scurrilous.

"Natural Order exposes the conspiracy of communism which is totally Jewish - controlled and at this moment already has the whip hand over the banking system and government of Canada," Mr. Taylor told the three-man board, set up to permit an appeal against Mr. Tremblay's order.

'CAN PROVE'

"Any intelligent person can prove this for himself by simply reading some of the magnificent speeches of the Social Credit members of Parliament and then witnessing how these sensational speeches are totally ignored by our communication media."

Mr. Taylor said the Communist conspiracy is being aided unwittingly by the Roman Catholic Order of Jesuits, because they do not wholly condemn materialism, and by the Free Masons, who provide the Jews with business connections.

The decision of Mr. Tremblay to ban the two men from using the mails "forms a sure and definite foundation for a Communist takeover of Canada," he said.

Mr. Tremblay was "an unmitigated liar" for telling the House of Commons that pamphlets distributed by Natural Order were scurrilous. The order was simply exposing the truth.

"People don't realize we're not in the incipient stages of communism. We're in the advanced stages."

NOT ALL 'GUILTY'

Under questioning by justice department lawyer John M. Bentley, Mr. Taylor admitted that not all Jews were guilty of joining a Communist conspiracy. Only about 300 Jews were active leaders.

"Unfortunately it is necessary to involve all Jewry to uncover the problem," he said.

Among pamphlets the Red Rabbi, an attack on Rabbi Abraham Feinberg written by David Stanley, the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, said to be confessions of prominent Jews, and The World Conquerors, which also attacked the Jews.

Another pamphlet was entitled The Falsehood about The Six Million Jews said to be Gassed, Exposed.

"The most horrendous lie of all time is that Hitler's Nazi Germany killed 6,000,000 Jews," Mr. Taylor said.

"Those gas ovens were built by German prisoners after the war. The so-called evidence is simply Hollywood movie props for the Jewish propaganda film the Will of Truth."

Belleville

In party voting patterns the election is concentrated primarily on Mr. Temple's riding.

Mr. Temple edged into office in 1963 on the service vote from Trenton RCAF station. It took a five-day wait before the traditionally-Liberal service vote reversed a tiny 70-ballot civilian vote against the young Liberal lawyer.

Besides this, the town of Trenton gave Mr. Temple a handsome majority.

Drawn as it is now, the riding of Hastings extends through the traditionally-Tory northern townships of Hastings County.

By ironic contrast the new riding of Prince Edward-Hastings now has two service establishments. Besides the giant Trenton airbase, there is Picton army camp, now home of the Canadian Guards' first battalion.

Pastor Urges Prostitutes For Kingston

PORT CARLING (CP)—Rev. John Gritten of Kingston told a United Church conference here Sunday that wives or even prostitutes should make visits to Canadian prisons to help combat homosexuality.

Mr. Gritten, speaking at the United Church Elgin House men's conference, said married prisoners should have visits from wives in private at least once a month.

The conference was also told of teen-agers buying liquor at Ontario's liquor stores.

Gordon Wright, a high school vice-principal in Alliston, said one boy, 15, had bought at least $75 worth of liquor and even brought some to school.

Many Meetings Set for Week

PICTON (Staff)—The annual Ontario Historical Association convention, an antique display and market, a circus, special commemorative church services in historical churches and the regular meeting of Prince Edward County Council are among the events slated for Picton and district this week.

Other meetings include that of the Prince Edward District High School Board and a special meeting of commercial fishermen in the county, not counting regular meetings of the town's service clubs, lodges and many other organizations.

CLEAN SCREEN TEST

Hi There: Of course you have lists and lists of uses for nylon net Susanna, but here is one I have just discovered: One of your nylon net fluffy scrubbers (a crumpled piece of nylon net will do) is better than a whisk or a brush, for cleaning dusty screens. Just try it and see.

I also have some uses for vinegar that you may not have come across before: (a) It's a great help in removing the flaky odor from dishes and cooking utensils. (b) I often use ½ a cup in the rinse water in my washing machine to cut the soap. (c) It will take the lime deposits out of kettles, etc. (d) It helps to clean your car and encourage it to shine. Add a little to the bucket of wash water — but be sure to hose the car off well afterwards. — H. Ranaghan.

Use plenty of water afterwards — cars hate the taste of vinegar! — SUSANNA

ROLLED COOKIES

Dear Susanna: In exchange for the enjoyment and helpful information "Family Fare" brings to us, here is an Item I hope will help you.

When I am making cookies which require rolling, I simply roll out the dough between two sheets of wax paper. This works beautifully and no extra flour is ever required (do not flour the wax paper). By following my method, you will always have a final batch that is just as nice as the first one was. — E. M.

UnwedFathers Come to Dean With Problems

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—One of the youngest deans of women in the United States says some male students than co-eds come to her with their sex problems.

She is Dr. Bonnie Ruth Strickland, a slim, trim brunette who has brought considerable improvement to Emory University's campus image. She is often seen driving her convertible with a German police dog draped over the back seat.

"Unwed fathers often come to me," the attractive 27-year-old dean, who is single, said in an interview. "But almost no unwed mothers."

How does Dr. Strickland handle her students and their problems?

"It all depends on the individual case. An unwed father usually wants to know if he should continue in college or quit, marry, get a job and settle down."

This trouble - shooting young dean is in charge of 1,600 co-eds at Emory, which has a total enrollment of 7,000.

Wearing shorts, a gay blouse and a crash helmet, she recently took part in a campus soapbox derby in which faculty members competed against the students.

U.C.W. Meetings

CENTRE ST. U.C.W.

The general meeting of Centre Street U.C.W. was held in the church hall last Thursday evening.

The president, Mrs. E. Elliott, opened the meeting with a poem and a welcome to all.

It was decided to hold a fall tea and bazaar early in October.

Two hundred dollars was donated to the building fund to assist in the renovation of the church sanctuary.

The devotional was in charge of Mrs. D. Hodgins, whose topic was on "Trees." Trees have a meaningful place in sacred history, their deep-rootedness, their marvellous construction and growth, their strength and fruitfulness, and their beauty of form give them a lasting place among the marvels of creation and that as Christians more of God's help and guidance is needed to branch out in this tree of life.

Mrs. D. Vanderwater read a poem. The "Bible Menu" conducted by Mrs. L. Longhurst, proved to be most interesting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Wood and Mrs. W. Ward and a social hour enjoyed.

MR. AND MRS. GARY F. McMILLAN

McMillan – Smith

Arrangements of white and yellow chrysanthemums formed the background setting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, on Saturday, June 12 at 3 p.m., when Doreen Margaret Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kemp, Shannonville, was united in marriage to Gary Franklin McMillan, son of Mrs. Edna McMillan, Belleville. Rev. A. L. Sutherland officiated at the ceremony and appropriate wedding music was rendered by Mr. J. A. Redmond.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Douglas Grant, wore a long satin bridal gown featuring a scoop neckline outlined with embroidery, and elbow length sleeves. The back of the dress was highlighted with a sweeping train. Her bouffant net veil was caught with a satin band headdress adorned with pearl encrusted petals. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses interspersed with lacy fern.

The maid of honor, Miss Sharon Kemp, cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaids Miss Linda Johnson and Miss Linda Hunter, were identically attired in floor length yellow taffeta dresses. Each wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of daisies. The little flower girls were the Misses Vicky Delisa, cousin of the bride, Debbie and Laura McLeod, and Loretta Kemp, cousin of the bride, all dressed in white organdy frocks with matching headdresses and carried yellow daisies. The ring-bearer was Master Dennis McGrayne dressed in white jacket and black trousers.

Mr. Dennis Goulah as groomsman and Mr. Larry Stewart and Mr. Carl Boomhower as ushers were also dressed in white jackets and black trousers, the same as the bridegroom.

The reception for 100 guests was held at Club Canara where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a blue dress with white accessories and a carnation corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a pink striped suit with white accessories and a corsage of blue tinted 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and points west the bride chose a light green linen dress with white coat and a corsage of pink 'mums.

Guests were present from Westport, Toronto, Oshawa, Hampton, Brampton, Corbyville, Belleville, Carrying Place, Trenton, Lindsay, Kingston, Rossmore, Demorestville and Shannonville

An art specialist at a high school here, she says they both consider themselves primarily painters. They met at art college in 1955.

"Theatre is good for me though. I'm always trying to reform the world when I paint.

Set-designing eliminates all the horrible intellectual messages I get into when I paint."

The National Theatre School estimated the sets would cost more than $1,000 which an amateur group could not afford.

"So we used bits and pieces of useless things," she said.

"The curiculum on the church entrance are made from an old green plastic hose.

"Three weeks' supply of rice went into the scenery for texture, along with sawdust, chicken wire and burlap."

Press Fails to Establish French-English Dialogue

MONTREAL (CP)—The press in Canada has generally failed to establish communications between English - speaking and French-speaking Canada, newspaper columnist Gerard Pelletier said Monday night.

The president of the Union des Journalistes de Langue Francaise (French - language Journalists' Union) was addressing the Canadian Women's Press Club convention.

"Our ultra-modern system of communications bogs down miserably when it comes to crossing the language barrier and transferring from one group to the other something more than sports news or stock-exchange rates.

"I suggest that the press of this country, with very few exceptions, has failed to discharge its responsibilities in that respect," Mr. Pelletier said.

The newspaper man is former editor-in-chief of La Presse in Montreal and now is a columnist for La Devoir whose articles appear in a number of English-language newspapers.

"If the two main cultural groups in Canada still ignore each other so cordially, if problems still at the early basic stage of know for inter-group relations, much of the fault rests with the press and other mass media whose role it is to bridge the differences and fill the gaps in a situation like ours," he said.

Speaking mainly in English to the young journalists from all parts of Canada, he suggested that Canadian journalists should know at least two languages.

REINFORCE PREJUDICES

"Operating from a basis of solid ignorance, reporters and editorial writers, not to mention news agencies, have been active in reinforcing existing prejudices, adding new arguments to the old and generally distorting the picture in such a way that to this day, we all need prolonged personal contacts before we can understand each other reasonably well."

He said this is a matter of "incompetence, rather than ill will."

"If we really took it seriously, if the press in Canada were suddenly made to realize what an enormous amount of mutual information will be required for this country to survive, major changes will take place in our newsrooms throughout Canada.

This would have to be done quickly because "it is by no means certain that we have enough time left to carry out the job properly before it is too late," he concluded.

Keen Eye for Art Spurs Painter Into Set Design

Trained in art at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto, she was working as a reporter for the Sault Ste. Marie Star when it happened.

"I started to write drama and art criticisms of amateur groups," she said in an interview. "Since I'd been trained to art, everything hit me visually and I started to be pretty hard on the far-out set designing of a theatre workshop.

"Finally Gerry Pearson, the group's director, asked me if I knew so much about it why didn't I do it myself. The challenge was too much to resist, so I agreed to, but only under competition."

This was the Dominion Drama Festival visual award for sets in 1960, and in 1962 she was an assistant scholar-in-art to the National Theatre School here to study set and costume design. She is studying on a Canada Council grant.

Unrelieved Tensions Cause Chronic Anxiety Symptoms

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have been married three years and my problem is getting worse instead of better.

My husband and I get along fine when there are just the two of us but whenever we are with family or friends I get dizzy spells and my heart begins to pound like a trip hammer. Sometimes my stomach gets tied up in knots and I become nauseated and can't eat.

When I am with these same people and my husband is not present, I enjoy myself and feel just fine. I should tell you that my husband was not born in this country and his ways are a little different. My parents were opposed to our marriage but now they have accepted him. I've told myself that he is doing his best and I am no longer ashamed of the way he speaks.

What is the matter with me? — WEE SALLY.

DEAR WEE — You are having anxiety symptoms because of your subconscious feelings about your husband. Some people go through life half sick, dizzy, heart pounding, stomach in knots, without realizing that their physical discomfort stems from unrelieved tension.

You need outside help. Go to your family doctor for a complete physical checkup, and ask him to direct you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Here is a word of warning to the mother who wanted to know if she should insist that her 17-year-old daughter go to college.

Don't do it ! ! ! !

My mother forced me to go to college when I was 17 because it was fashionable. I had no interest in college. I wanted to get a job. I knew my mother would never let up until she had her way, so I went.

I flunked out after the first semester and was sent home — disgraced. After several months my mother found another college that would take me. (It wasn't easy after a washout.) I flunked a second time and was sent home again.

That failure nearly caused me to have a nervous breakdown. I was sure I was a moron and not fit to live.

It took several weeks before I could get up the nerve to go out and look for work. Fortunately, I landed a perfect job. It gave me satisfaction, dignity and a feeling of personal worth. I've had two promotions in the last year and I'm happier now than I've ever been in my life.

I'm glad you told that ambitious mother college is not for everyone. If a person doesn't want to go he doesn't belong there. — TRUE STORY.

DEAR STORY — You are so right. In your case college was actually damaging. It accentuated your sense of failure and inadequacy. Thanks for sharing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Why does a person let his mouth run away with him and say things he shouldn't? Mostly I exaggerate and distort. After I come home from a meeting or a party, or even a back fence visit, I hate myself.

I'm not a vicious person but often I feel an obligation to entertain people. Sometimes, in an attempt to be amusing, I go overboard. Then I become depressed and feel like biting off my tongue. Is there a cure for this? — BLABBERMOUTH.

DEAR BLAB — Make a conscious effort to speak less and to listen more. A moment of silence is a pleasant and welcome sound.

Every man, woman and child has at one time or another said things he wished he hadn't — and has regretted it — so don't feel you are a freak.

If excessive drinking is wrecking your health or destroying someone you love, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

School Offers Indian Girls Opportunities

EDMONTON (CP) — Education is widening the scope of employment opportunities for Indian girls, says an Edmonton employment officer.

"Employers are hiring more on the basis of ability," says Myrtle Slack, supervisor of women's employment at the National Employment Service office here. "Girls are hired on the basis of training, not race."

She reports that at present Indian girls in Edmonton work in hospitals as nurses, nursing aides and ward aides or as dental assistants and that others are employed as clerical staff by industry and government.

The future should be even brighter. Four Indian girls have enrolled at the University of Alberta, one in education, two in arts and one in pre-medicine.

During the last school year, 360 Indians were in Alberta high schools compared with 38 in 1957, and students are also entering technical, commercial and hairdressing schools in increasing numbers.

Must Have Strong Legs, Good Wind

NEW YORK (AP)—"You've got to have strong legs and good wind," says Carolyn Phillips, 25, who climbs tall skyscrapers and goes deep into quarries sniffing out air pollutants.

Miss Phillips, who has two college degrees, is the only woman serving as industrial hygiene engineer in the New York State Labor department.

She drives about 8,000 miles a year, covering the state from Long Island to trap rock pits in the Hudson River Valley to the quarries near the talc mills in the northern part of the state. The trunk of her official car is loaded with suction pumps, filters, gas meters and other instruments.

Miss Phillips takes samples of noxious fumes, dust-laden air and other pollutants that may impair the health of workers or make communities less healthful and attractive.

GAPE IN SURPRISE

Laborers often gape in surprise, and a s o m e t i m e s they whistle when Miss Phillips shows up at a plant. Her dungarees are rolled at the bottom, ankles to make climbing easier and safer. She often wears a corduroy jacket over a blue cotton skirt. Her wavy brown hair is tucked under a hard hat.

Of the men she says:

"They're usually good - natured. They don't say much. But the way they look at me!"

"I don't regard the job as especially hazardous if you're careful and sure - footed, and don't get dizzy at heights . . . and you shouldn't forget your hard hat, especially when you're crawling around under equipment."

Miss Phillips has suffered some bumps, bruises, skinned shins and minor burns. But she has never been absent from work for a day because of an accident.

Miss Phillips has a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and a master's degree in civil engineering.

FRANKFORD U.C.W.

FRANKFORD — Frankford United Church Women met in Rose Lossery Hall on Tuesday evening, June 8th at 8 p.m. The president, Mrs. Charles Bennett opened the meeting with a poem. The secretarial report was given by Mrs. Frank Moran and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Walter Morrow.

Mrs. George Montgomery gave a talk on church unity. She told the women that on June 10th, 1925, the Presbyterian, Methodist and congregational churches united to form what is now the United Church of Canada and gave a few instances of some of the difficulties involved. Mrs. Montgomery concluded her talk with prayer.

Since this was a combined meeting of the 3 units, the units separated for their individual business sessions. When everyone had returned to the main hall, Mrs. Garnet Powell and Mrs. Harold Kirktown led a worship service. Mrs. Kirktown gave a reading, and Mrs. Powell read the Scripture.

Guest guests for the evening Mrs. Summers, alias "Mrs. Gordon Savage," Mrs. Herman alias "Mrs. Morris Bird," Mrs. Perkins alias "Mrs. Hugh Patrick" and Mrs. Chatterbox, alias "Mrs. Preston Chase," lectured on domestic family life and christian training in the family. They answered a questionnaire from the audience. Miss Bessie Rowe sang a solo.

Mrs. Judd was called to the front and following an address by Mrs. Patrick, was presented with a gift from Frankford United Church Women. Rev. and Mrs. C. Judd will be leaving Frankford at the end of June. Miss Rowe sang two selections.

At the luncheon table, Rev. and Mrs. Judd cut a decorated cake given in their honor, and refreshments were served.

EASY CHEESE MUFFINS

The cheese muffins I made are so easy this is an ideal recipe to hand to your young daughter or son to stir up. When I made them I realized that my nine-year-old grandson Gary could go through all of the motions. However if your nine-or ten-year old does attempt them, obviously you (mother) should hover over the oven when they are being put in and taken out.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Chicken Liver Omelette; Baked Jacket Potatoes; Crumbed Tomato and Celery Casserole; Strawberries and Cream; Drop Cookies; Coffee.

CHEESE MUFFINS:

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons single-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ cup grated old Cheddar cheese (could be canned), 2 tablespoons cooking or salad oil or melted butter, 1 egg, 1 cup milk.

First grate and measure the cheese. (Canned grated cheese would be ideal for little cooks.)

Sift and measure the flour and sift it with the baking powder, salt and sugar into the mixing bowl. Remove sifter and stir in cheese to coat it with flour. Now add oil or butter, egg and milk and stir only until barely blended. As most of you know, muffin batter should be a little bit lumpy.

Spoon into buttered muffin tins, filling them only 2/3 full and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes. I had 14 muffins 2½" in diameter.

WORK

Again I want to mention teflon muffin pans. They are a boon to any muffin cook, but especially to children. They do not need to be buttered, the muffins are a rich gold on the outside and simply tip out of the pan into the napkin-lined muffin basket. You can simply be washed in soapsuds. As you know, teflon muffin tins must not be scoured or surface will be damaged.

VARIATIONS:

1) Blueberry: Use above recipe for muffins but omit cheese and add 1 cup fresh blueberries and use ¼ cup sugar instead of the 1 tablespoon sugar. 2) Bacon: One-half cup fried well-drained, crisp, crumbled bacon may be added to above recipe. 3) Wheat Germ: Simply add ¼ cup fresh wheat germ and add 1 more tablespoon milk 4) Raisin or Date: Add ¾ cup finely chopped raisins or dates and 2 or 3 more tablespoons sugar and 1 more tablespoon milk to above recipe.

FLAT HAIR COMES BACK

MONTREAL (CP)—It won't be long until new hair styles are flat, wavy and perhaps pin-curled again, says Mary Rae, principal of the Montreal Art Institute of Hair Dressing. "Short hair is banned styles is a godsend for summer," she said. "Hair will be shiny and easy to keep in place."

Junior Bridesmaid Fitting Role for Young Sisters

DEAR DORIS — I have an eight-year-old sister and my fiance an 11-year-old sister. All other members of our families will have a part in the wedding. We are wondering if there isn't something they could do too.

Would it be proper to have them for junior bridesmaids or are they too young? Also, would it be all right to have them come down the aisle together after the ceremony? There would be such a difference in height between them and the others. — BLONDY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR BLONDY — Bless you for counting the little sisters in. They'll remember this day all their lives.

They will make charming junior bridesmaids. And each one should have an usher to herself for the triumphal return trip up the aisle. Add an extra usher or two if need be to make it come out right.

Difference in age and height will only add to the picturesque character of the recessional.

DEAR DORIS — A girl friend of mine has been carrying on with a boy. She is not really a bad girl but this boy has made great promises and has got the best of her.

Her parents are very nice people and it would really hurt them if they knew. I am tempted to tell them. There is another boy who is very nice and decent and would go with her if she would give him a chance. — WHAT SHALL I DO?

DEAR WHAT — Breaking her confidence will not solve her problem. It will only destroy her faith in you. If she herself is seeking advice, have her write to me.

For the first time since 1928 when the handsome facade of the new Home Arena first reared itself over the palisades of McAnaany Street, the venerable amphitheatre will not resound to the jeers and cheers of the wrestling faithful.

During the past three and one-half decades hundreds of lean of wrestling beef from the 90-pound Little Beaver to the 620-pound Man Mountain Dean have passed through its portals or ducked through side doors to escape the wrath of irate fandom.

Time was when the handsome, agile Whipper Watson; the stately Lord Athol Layton; the mighty John Katan; the likeable Earl McCready; the popular late Masked Marvel Jerry Monaghan; the down-under hardrock Fred Atkins, to name a few, proved the boney for the box-office bees.

There was the popular Pat Flanagan with his nale-kick; Bunny Dunlop's "botcha"; the stolcal unstoppable Yukon Eric, the rope-ripping Killer Kowalski; the gutteral of Hans Schmidt and Eric Von-(something); the equal ferocity of Mr. Moto and later Professor Hurl; the leering Lee Heenlay; the gargoyle grimace of that dark-haired Greek Adonis, the French Angel and the Neanderthal "beauty" of his Swedish counterpart.

There was the colorful Indian Chief White Eagle and the lithe movements of Gentleman Jack Claybourne; the awkward clumsiness of Prince Carewtsa; the ballet dancing of Pat Veale; the growling Tear Morgan; the grim sadistry of Ivan Rasputin; the villainous Nanji Singh, Bibber McCoy and others.

The creaking old dowager of McAnaany Street has housed as many ex-world heavyweight champions as she has hockey championship banners. Besides the mountainous Carwera, two of the greatest "Jacks" in the pugilistic deck have appeared in the arena—Jack Dempsey and Sharkey, both here in referee roles.

Then came the colorful tag-team era with its duos, trios and quartets of brothers, cousins and no-relations.

There were the colorful Sharpe brothers, Mike and Dan, one of the more popular acts of the kind; the four Garibaldi's, who used to stage a private "To Tell the Truth" show in the dressing rooms: the villainous Millers; the cunning Tolos; salt-shaking Moto and samurai buddy-san; the colorful Austrylians, the Kangaroos and some oddly assorted pairs.

There was the famous "gimmick" era. Lord Layton and his valet, who served tea in the ring; the Japanese giants with their salt-tossing and dance ritual; Indian chiefs with their war dances; the Mormons and their prayers; and who will ever forget Gorgeous George and his decontamination sprays and tossing of golden bobby pins.

And show-stealers of the first water were the famous midgets, headed by the incomparable Little Beaver, a one-man show in himself. Fuzzy Cupid, the half-pint arch-villain of the pygmy tribe was another popular economy size wrestler.

Those were the days when a crowd less than 2,000 - 2,200 caused promoters to wonder where the fire was. During the past two or three years any assemblage over 300 would see arena employees scouting the property to see if someone had left a door open and admitted the free-loaders.

Wrestling will have a one-night stand here this summer. That will be a Shrine Special slated for July 2nd which will headline Lord Athol Layton, a Shriner himself, and Mike Valentino; Professor Hurl and Fred Atkins, another big-name bout and the midgets. Efforts are being made to bring Little Beaver here. More about this later.

NHL Approves Six-Team Expansion

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League, which has been accused of dragging its feet by fielding the same six clubs for more than two decades, is getting ready to welcome six new franchises in a swift expansion manoeuvre.

A special meeting of the NHL's board of governors has been scheduled for June 24-25 in New York and applications from 12 groups seeking franchises will be processed at that time.

"I personally do not think that any new cities will be made public at that time," said NHL president Clarence Campbell.

However, it is believed that at least two among those tapped for the projected new six-club division will be revealed.

Among the cities most prominently mentioned in an expanded NHL are Los Angeles, San Francisco, St. Louis, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Vancouver. Each currently has a team in a minor professional league.

Owners of the six existing clubs — Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins, New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks—have been rushing expansion in recent months.

The league's intention to expand was discussed following a meeting of the owners in New York two months ago. Three weeks ago, network television executives and those from the advertising and news media were invited to witness filmed portions of an NHL game on television.

The sale of their product to the American television market on a coast-to-coast basis is one of the prime motives of the owners and this can only be accomplished if those markets include Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The Canadiens and Maple Leafs have lucrative television contracts with the CBC. How ever, the four U.S. teams have been able to pick up virtually no television revenue.

In setting up the new six-team division, which most NHL people feel will start operating the season after next, the big league also may be seeking to head off the combined efforts of the American and Western leagues. These leagues have major league designation, but several minor league cities.

The AHL, whose nine teams include Baltimore and Pittsburgh, and the WHL, with clubs in Los Angeles and San Francisco among its six, last week announced an interlocking schedule to start next season.

"We can offer television a coast-to-coast market right now, something the NHL doesn't have," boasted AHL president Jack Riley.

The National League owners have set these specifications for groups seeking franchises:

1. They should be from established major league cities.
2. They should have buildings comparable to present NHL rinks and capacities.
3. They should have the necessary finances to operate a team.
4. They must be able to draw $1,000,000 at the gate in 35 home games.

Hockey's big league has had the same six clubs since 1942, when Brooklyn Americans dropped out.

Cards Send Ron Taylor To Astros

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ron Taylor left St. Louis Cardinals laughing, Pittsburgh Pirates moaning and Houston Astros waiting anxiously for his arrival.

The right - handed reliever from Leaside, Ont., pitched the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Pirates Monday night with a 2-3 inning of work base-ball. Moments after the game, word went out that he had been traded to the Astros for left-handed reliever Hal Woodeshick.

"I feel better about leaving this way—helping the team," Taylor said after his finest stint of the season. "Red (Manager Red Schoendienst) called me into his office and told me after the game.

"I'm just happy to be going to another major league team. It makes me feel better that Houston wanted me, so I don't feel the Cardinals were dumping me."

Before Monday night's victory, Taylor had a 1-1 record. He had pitched 7 innings in 24 games and given up 22 earned runs for a 5.08 earned run average.

Taylor, 28, was 8-4 last season and played a big role in the Cardinals' pennant drive.

Woodeshick, 32, had his big year in 1963 when he was 11-8 with a 1.97 E.R.A. and saved numerous games for the astros. His record sank to 2-9 last season, but he had an E.R.A. of 2.77 and still was Houston's ace in the bullpen. In 27 games this season, he is 3-4 with a 3.09 E.R.A.

Snell, Grelle Mile Meet Feature

By WALTER HAYES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Peter Snell starts the long road back to the world mile record tonight in a race he has described as a grudge match with a man he regards as No. 3 miler in the world.

The flashy New Zealander's desire to recapture the record was accompanied in a Monday night interview with a promise to beat Jim Grelle of Los Angeles in the mile event at the Vancouver Invitational track meet.

France's Michel Jazy beat Snell's world record in Rennes a week ago. His time of 3:53.6 knocked half a second off Snell's mark. Grelle's best time is 3:56.

Snell is determined to recapture the record. But he readily admitted that it may elude him tonight. He seemed more interested in beating Grelle whom he called the third-best miler in the world, obviously after Jazy and Snell.

Snell repeated earlier remarks that Grelle has been sweeding him since his defeat in Toronto by Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., in the 880 last week and since he beat Grelle recently in Los Angeles.

He said Grelle has been out for his scalp but that he would beat the American again.

The mile is the highlight of the 27 track and field events at the meet that has drawn the finest group of stars here since the 1954 British Empire Games.

In that year Roger Bannister and John Landy, the first men to crack the four-minute mile, met in the "miracle mile" in which Bannister led Landy to the finish. Their times were under four minutes.

Among the top milers entered (with their times in brackets) are Tom Harris of Britain (4:01); Billy Mills of Camp Pendleton, Calif., (4:02.5); Gary Weniger of North Carolina (3:56).

The 440-yard event shapes up as a down-to-the-wire battle between Crothers and Bob Tobler, a 22-year-old from Provo, Utah. Tobler has recorded a time of 46.0 for the event, two-tenths of a second better than Crothers' best time.

Another hotly - contested event will likely be the men's 100-yard dash. Former world record holder Harry Jerome of Vancouver will be pitted against Paul Winder of Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Bobby McNeil of Jamaica. Their best times are 9.2, 9.4 and 9.3 respectfully.

Hit 300 Or Quit, Mantle

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mickey Mantle said Monday he will quit at the end of the season if he doesn't hit around .300.

"I don't want to quit," said the New York Yankee slugger who is hitting .240. "I wanted to play three or four more years. I'll keep on playing if I hit .300 or near that. But I'll quit after this year if it keeps up like this."

Mantle was benched Sunday in Los Angeles. In the last 19 games he had been averaging .196. He has been troubled by chronic knee injuries but could have played Sunday.

"I sure hope a rest helps," said Mantle. "I've had slumps before. I felt real good until we got to Los Angeles. I thought I was running good and everything. I'm just not getting any hits."

Wild Pitch Wins It

Juniors Edge Tweed 5-4 In 18 Innings

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

MADOC — Ellis Juniors pushed home a lone run in the top of the 18th inning to capture a 5-4 Belleville and District Softball League marathon over Tweed Lombanks here last night.

League records fell left and right in what is thought to be the longest ball game in the district in at least 15 years.

Superb clutch hurling, fielding and timely hits were commonplace before the Juniors tallied the winning run without the aid of a solid base hit.

With one out in the 18th Don Gardiner rapped an infield hit. D. LeSage made a backhand play to knock it down but could not throw the runner out at first.

He took second on a wild pitch, moved to third as Moon grounded out and raced home on another wild pitch.

Bob Ethier was the pitching hero for Ellis', striking out 22 men after taking over from Bob Boyle in the eighth inning. He allowed seven hits and walked two, fanning the side three times. Boyle gave up eight hits but had a 2-0 shutout going until his mates in the eighth opened the door to Tweed's tying rally. Boyle whiffed seven and walked four.

Eldon Gray, who almost did not start because of a sore leg, hurried the full 18 frames for the Lombanks. He gave up 13 hits, struck out 18 men and walked only one.

Tweed left 21 men stranded on base and the Juniors 16.

Moon's hit, an error and runner's singles by Richland and Boyle put Belleville up 2-0 in the first. Boyle singled home another run in the third and then stayed that way until the eighth.

Lombanks got two out with none out via a walk and Salmond's hit in the eighth. Sherry grounded back to Boyle but his throw to third went into the outfield, allowing two runs to score. Sherman grounded to short, getting the tying run home. R. LeSage's infield single chased Boyle but Ethier came in to fan the next three.

Ethier opened the 14th inning with a single and scored on Bob Moon's fielder's choice play to second base for a 4-3 Belleville lead.

A throwing error and Ray LeSage's two-out single to centre field tied it again in the bottom of the inning.

Bob Boyle, with a double and two singles, Stu Muirhead, with three singles, Don Gardiner and Bob Moon, with two apiece, led the Ellis stickers. Mike Chatland, Larry Soule and Bob Ethier got the others.

Tweed's errors added two and Joe Barrons one.

The victory tied the Juniors with Tweed and Trudeau Motors for second place in the loop standing. Trudeau and Ethier hook up at the Belleville Fairgrounds in as 8.00 p.m. fixture tonight.

① Ends rough idling caused by deposits.
③ Eliminates fuel-robbing caused by deposits.
④ Stops stalling due to deposits.

Maloney Tosses No-Hitter - - Loses

11th Inning Homer

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney should stick to one-hitters. At least he wins those.

Maloney, who has won three one-hitters for the Reds, blazed through 10 innings of hitless pitching before losing to New York Mets, 4-3, on Johnny Lewis' leadoff home run in the 11th inning.

JIM MALONEY

The 25-year-old right hander, who also tied a National League record by striking out 18, who lowed only two base - runners before Lewis lofted a 2-1 pitch against the center field wall. Roy McMillan later belted a meaningless single.

The last pitcher to take a no-hitter into extra innings only to lose was Harvey Haddix, who hurled 12 innings of perfect ball for Pittsburgh Pirates against Milwaukee Braves in 1959. Last year, Ken Johnson became the only pitcher ever to lose a no-hitter in nine innings when Houston nipped Hooned Astros 1-0 on an error.

Other National League games Monday night, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, as Lindy Lamp connected for the Astros 2-0. In the American League, Cleveland Indians edged New York Yankees 5-4 while rain washed out Baltimore Orioles at Boston Red Sox.

Maloney, now 5-3 tied Warren Spahn's 1942 record for strikeouts in an 11-inning game. The fastballer walked Ed Kranepool in the second inning and although Charlie Smith to reach first on the count on a wild-pitch third strike.

The Cardinals continued their two-season mastery over the Pirates, scoring their runs in the 11th straight time. St. Louis snapped a 2-2 deadlock with two runs in the 8th as Carl Sawatski grounder in the fifth got through shortstop Gene Alley and left-fielder Bob Bailey bobbled the ball.

Larry Jackson ended a personal collapse by retiring the side while the Astros lost their seventh in a row. An infield out brought in a Chicago run in the first, and Ernie Banks drove in the other with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

A two-base throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen gave the Cubs their only two earned runs in the eighth inning but Jackson boosted Cleveland past the Yankees.

Bloomfield Beaten 4-2 By Trenton

PICTON (Special) — Terry Hutchison's two-run homer in the tenth inning gave a makeshift Trenton squad a 4-2 upset victory over league-leading Bloomfield in a Belleville and District League tilt here last night.

Trenton was forced to bring several players from their town league in to fill out the team but clutch hits and good pitching carried them to the victory.

Bloomfield potted single runs in the second and fifth frames for a 2-0 lead. The Printers bunched the count with a pair in the sixth and it stayed that way until the tenth.

Hutchison followed with his home run, to left field, for the 4-2 score and Bloomfield got out of the inning after another Trenton hit.

Lott gained his first league victory by stopping the hard-hitting Bloomfield boys on four scratch singles. He struck out 11 and did not walk a batter.

Ken DeMille was tagged for ten hits while going the distance in defeat. He caught eight on third strikes while issuing five passes. Five errors added to his woes.

Two new faces accounted for four Trenton hits, J. Thibadeau slammed a double and two singles while Darrell Johnstone added a single.

Facts Remain Mystery

Kidd Cleared Of Amateur Violations

By JIM CREBAR

Kidd, scheduled to have casts removed from both feet today after operations to cure bent toes and tendon ailments, had his amateur status questioned by an unknown complainant.

He was accused of violating the amateur code by writing and broadcasting on track and field before the Dominion one-hit Thursday's Toronto international track meet.

But the Central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Monday night gave him a clean bill of health at a meeting from which the press was barred.

After a thorough review of all pertinent facts, it was decided that no action was necessary," said Lorne Dennison of Toronto, chairman of the AAU's reinstatements committee.

HEAD STATEMENT

He read from a prepared statement, which also said that Kidd called the meeting at the request of the president of the Central Ontario branch, Irene Szabo.

Everybody was pleased, but nobody would answer questions.

Asked if the AAU had given Kidd permission to write and broadcast prior to the meet, Dennison refused to comment. He said only that the committee had the facts that were necessary to deal with the case.

But the facts, including the identity of the complainant, remained a mystery.

Kidd originally intended to remain in Ottawa where he is doing research for the health and welfare department, but he changed his mind and flew to Toronto in time for the meeting.

"I'm very happy with the verdict—that's all I have to say," he said.

Kidd's coach, Fred Foot of Toronto, also attended.

"I was never worried," he said. "Had anyone, it was only a sort of a bystander at the meeting."

'One-Run' City Hotel Wins Again

In another contest, RCAF Cosmos whitewashed the Pt. Anne Cementmen 9-0 behind Ken Thompson's one-hit pitching. No other information was available on the game.

Lightfoots had a 4-1 lead against City until the bottom of the sixth when Bob Brooks slammed a three-run homer to tie it.

City got the winner in the bottom of the seventh. A hit batter, bunt and wild pitch put a runner on third. A foul line shot down the left field line was caught by Rose and the runner scored after the catch to end the game.

Gerry Genereaux pitched six-hit ball, with one strikeout and three walks, for the league leaders.

Joe Harvey gave up six hits for Lightfoots, whiffing three and passing one.

Frank Donovan was best at the plate for City Hotel, with a triple and single. Bob Brooks added his key homer.

The Cubs are in ninth place, 12 games out of the National League lead. They won four out of five games in a home stand just completed and have won only six of their last 32 starts.

Mead Johnson nipped the Jaycees 5-3 in bantam play and Cape Cod Shell cooped an 11-8 preewee victory over Bad Boys in Belleville Minor Baseball action last night.

Mead's registered their first win after four close attempts behind the five - hit pitching of Jim Potts. Butch Curtain was his battery mate.

David Cass, relieved by Terry McTaggart in the fifth, hurled for Jaycees. Ron Shoniker was the catching chore. No records of strikeouts or walks were kept.

Gary "Red" Burnette had two key hits for the winners and also played a strong defensive game. Jim Potts also hit safely. No other information was available.

The winners scored pairs in the second and fifth frames plus one in the sixth. Jaycees got a pair in the first and one in the sixth.

Four-run bursts in the first and second plus three in the sixth gave Cape Cod their win. Boys potted five in the second, one in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Peter Fralick pitched 11-hit ball for the victory, striking out ten and walking four. Ralph Lepore was the catcher.

Stan Brooks was combed for 13 hits, fanning four and issuing six in defeat. Doran did the catching.

Jeffery Meagher hit a home run and double, Mike Semark a double and single. Rick Meagher and Barry Smith two singles each for Sine's. Peter Ackerman Peter Fralick, R. Lee and Smith got the others.

Glen Carleton had a big night for Bad Boys with a triple, double and two singles. Terry Rappel and John Vance each slapped out two singles and Stan Brooks one each and Gerald Robinson had a triple.

The Big Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Roberto Clemente is keeping opposing pitchers awake at night with an eye-opening performance that has thrust him into the thick of the National League batting race.

Clemente is the defending league batting titleholder. So his .335 average May 30 was not a true reflection of his ability. He had been weakened by a malaria attack, plus other assorted ills, and his condition was one of the major reasons the Pirates were in last place with a 9-24 record.

Since then, though, Clemente has hit at a .419 pace, with 39 hits in 93 times at bat. That covers 23 games, of which Pittsburgh has won 30 to climb into fifth place.

Clemente has hit safely in his last nine games and the latest figures through Sunday's games place him in sixth place in the batting competition with a .324 mark. He is only one point behind San Francisco's Willie Mays, who's fifth, and five behind the No. 4 batsman, Richie Allen of Philadelphia.

Gordie Coleman of Cincinnati, the leader, fell 21 points to .354 in last week's games, banging out only three hits in 15 tries. Joe Torre of Milwaukee rushed up to the teammate Hank Aaron for second place at .335. Torre gained six points with four hits in nine tries and Aaron, who slumped three points with a 9-for-28 performance.

Vic Davalillo of Cleveland Indians wrested the American League lead from Detroit's Willie Horton. Davalillo picked up 13 points to .365 with 13 hits in 30 at bats last week, a .433 pace. Horton dropped into a second-place deadlock with Boston's Dalton Jones at .353.

Jimmie Hall of Minnesota and Felix Mantilla, Boston, are tied for fourth at .326.

Mantilla continues to pace the circuit in runs batted in with 46. Horton slammed two homers and took over sole possession of the lead with 13.

The Giants' Mays maintained his National League home-run lead, hitting three for a total of 20.

Hurler, 19, Wins First For Leafs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 19-year-old youngster who had never thrown a pitch in triple-A baseball before Monday night has given an unexpected boost to Toronto Maple Leafs' beleaguered mound staff.

Billy Rohr, newly arrived from Winston-Salem, N.C., the Class A Carolina League, was rushed into action against Jacksonville Suns and responded by scattering six hits while his mates pounded out a 9-3 victory.

The win gave the Leafs a modest two - game winning streak after nine straight defeats and stayed off Jacksonville's bid to oust them from third place in the International League.

But they made no headway on the leaders. Atlanta Crackers stayed five games in front with a 4-3 decision over the tail-end Buffalo Bisons and the second-place Columbus Jets maintained their half-game advantage over Toronto by crushing Rochester Red Wings 8 - 3. Syracuse Chiefs whipped Toledo Mud Hens 5-0 in the other games in the circuit in runs batted in with 46. Horton slammed two homers and took over sole possession of the lead with 13.

The Giants' Mays maintained his National League home-run lead, hitting three for a total of 20.

Homer Wins For Foxboro Over Planes

Keith Dickey's home run in the fourth inning provided Foxboro ACME Electric with a thrilling 1-0 South Hastings Baseball League decision over Plane's Concrete of Camilton last night.

Dickey's homer was the only mark against either club in a great pitching duel between himself and Canniston's Lyle Bradshaw.

Dickey stopped the losers on a pair of hits in the nine - inning contest while Bradshaw fanned out 11 batters and walked only one.

Bradshaw gave up just four hits in defeat. He got four strikeout victims and issued two free tickets.

Notts Forest Wins Over Canadians 1-0

TORONTO (CP) — Nottingham Forest of England wound up their Canadian tour by defeating an Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League all-star team Monday night before 4,692 fans at Varsity Stadium.

The lone goal came off a penalty kick by John Barnwell in the sixth minute of the second half. The penalty was awarded against left back Bobby Nichol who handled the ball to prevent it going in during a scramble in front of the all-star net.

Nottingham Forest won 10 of the 11 games on their tour. They lost to Ibernian of Scotland 2-1 in Vancouver last Saturday.

START SWING WITH WRISTS FIRM

There should be nothing sloppy about your golf swing, especially during the early stages of the backswing. Illustrations No. 1 and No. 2 show improper takeaways, with the player's wrists hinging pressotively. The results of such sloppy takeaways include a narrow swing arc, which minimizes distance, and an improperly aligned clubface at the top, which not only decreases distance but also accuracy.

The wrists should remain firm, not stiff, during the takeaway. The golfer should feel that the clubshaft is a direct continuation of his left arm until the hands are hip-high (as I show in No. 3). The clubhead should move back and up as a result of the player's tilting and turning of his body and shoulders, not as a result of any independent hinging of the wrists. The wrists should hinge automatically later in the backswing.

This firm-wristed takeaway will give you a wide swing arc and full cocking of your muscles. It will also keep the clubface in a proper position to return squarely to the ball without any independent manipulation of the hands on the downswing.

Australia's New Racetrack

'The Ultimate In Comfort'

By ROBERT COLEMAN
Canadian Press Correspondent

MELBOURNE (CP) — Australia's newest racetrack—outdoing even famous Flemington, headquarters of horseracing in this country—opens shortly.

The track, named Sandown Park, is at Springvale, a suburb about 10 miles from the heart of Melbourne. It cost $3,500,000 ($8,500,000) to build and provides the ultimate in comfort for the paying customers.

The track will be the racing headquarters of the Victoria Amateur Turf Club, one of Australia's oldest racing clubs and sponsor of the Caulfield Cup, the nation's second richest handicap race.

The new course will have enclosures, with names like the Casino Room, the Harlequin Room, the Mural Room and the Ascot Room, where punters may watch the races in comfort, sipping champagne brought by stewards or breastling the bar. Or they may watch the races while lunching in sumptuous dining rooms.

BETTING ON TV

In any of these places racegoers will be able to place their bets without leaving the room, checking betting and other information from one of 85 closed-circuit television screens.

There is little difference between the facilities for members of the club and the general public. The cheapest enclosure will cost only three shillings (about 40 cents) to enter.

There will be 273 totalisator windows. On Australian race-tracks government - controlled totalisators operate, as well as licensed bookmakers. There will be bars up to 180 feet long from which punters may watch the races through sun windows.

The 210-feet-long stand will seat 8,500 persons, with plenty of standing room, and reserved boxes as well. In front of the stand is a mound from which races may be watched in the open.

Another feature will be the most luxurious jockeys' room in Australia — probably equal to any in the world—with a special oxygen room for tired jockeys.

BUILD STATION

A railway station has been built for the course, which also has big bus and taxi terminals.

The track itself will be a good testing ground for horses. The shortest straight stretch from any start is two furlongs (¼ mile); in mile races the horses will have a straight run of four furlongs before the first turn.

The straight (homestretch) is two furlongs, slightly uphill. There are only two turns on the nine-furlongs - and-88-yard circuit. The track, 100 feet wide, has a grassed surface like all other major Australian racetracks.

Steeplechasers will negotiate 16 fences in a two-mile race, two of the fences being on the way up a fairly steep hill at the back of the course. The steeplechase course is one of the most spectacular in Australia, being elevated at the back of the course.

Turcotte Will Ride In Plate

Earlier this year he won the Preakness aboard Tom Rolfe after finishing third in the Kentucky Derby. Turcotte rode the colt to a second - place finish in the Belmont Stakes a few weeks later.

Turcotte was also the first jockey to ride Northern Dancer. The E. P. Taylor - owned colt was a two-year-old then, but the next year Northern Dancer won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

THEY'RE SMART! WHO DO MICROSCOPIC WEEDS MULTIPLY?

In addition to unicellular oxweeds, there are also ONE-CELLED plants (WEEDS).

Then there is the microscopic weed, which consists of several cells, surrounded by a common jelly-like covering. One cell gradually develops into A GROUP OF CELLS. The PANDORINA, pictured here, is a typical example.

The SPHAEROPHORA GROUP has several cells. Each has an independent function, but cannot exist without the other. In the days of high moisture the plant stand vertically. Lecturer on 'Art of Love' Spent Much Time Saying No

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Victoria Carroll, all curves and red hair, has lost such a sheltered life, by actress standards, that she says, "I've never even been out of town — except with Jimmy Durante."

Now suddenly, at 23, she's found herself booked on a cross-country tour to lecture on The Art of Love.

"Actually, I'm going to try to avoid the subject," said Vicki.

"How can you teach people about men and love when you've spent most of your time saying 'no' to most men?

"Just because I'm an actress, everyone thinks I'm an expert.

"Besides," she added, "I'm not even married."

A former art student turned dancer, Vicki was born and reared in Los Angeles.

"I guess I could have travelled more with him — once you're with him for life, it he likes you — but I wanted to study."

Her dancing got her an acting role—as a girl in Ethel Merman's chorus in The Art of Love, and the studio suggested she tour, lecturing on the subject.

"It's a good way to see the country" says Vicki, "but I think I'm going to leave all the talking to the other girls—they're married."

Her companions will be Milka Taka, who plays Marlon Brando's love interest in Sayonara, and Dawn Villers, a stage-mesque former Miss Urban League. They're in the chorus, too.

BEACHES HALF-WAY MARK

TORONTO (CP) — The Hospital for Sick Children announced Monday it had reached the half-way point in its public campaign for building funds of $13,000,000. The campaign, which now stands at $7,500,000, was to have ended last week, but hospital officials announced it will be continued until the objective is met.

Sharp Fall In Output

French Film Brass Worried

By MICHAEL REUPKE

PARIS (Reuters) — The French film industry is worried about the rapid fall in output since the peak years of 1956 and 1957.

Leading producers and distributors here fear that it may die, starved of movie-goers by the spread of television and crippled by an entertainment tax, which takes most of them the price of each seat.

Last year only half a wholly-French full-length films were made, compared with 90 in 1956 and 81 in 1957.

Television and taxation have been blamed. But there has been no hint that the industry is not producing films which the public wants to see.

Last year, French films won top awards at six major international film festivals, and other awards at many others. The most popular film in France this spring is a French film, Fanfan-la-Tulipe, a revival of the young man-versus-super-crook theme.

Films with Brigitte Bardot and Jean-Paul Belmondo are still sure box office winners. Viva Maria just filmed in Mexico, starring Bardot and Jeanne Moreau, is almost certain to break a new French records when it is released.

WIDELY PUBLICISED

It has already had more free publicity in France, owing to private interest in Bardot's health and her relationship with her ex-star, than any other film, except perhaps Elizabeth Taylor's Cleopatra.

By contrast with full-length films, the short film output has remained fairly steady, fluctuating around the 300 mark for the last 10 years.

But the industry's fears are supported by attendances. Against 411,000,000 movie seats sold in 1957, only 273,000,000 were sold last year. Meanwhile, the average price of a seat has more than doubled.

In 1956, the bumper year for the film industry, there were some 250,000 television sets in French homes. Today, the total is 3,200,000.

Statistics also indicate that people now prefer to go to top movie theatres for special showings or first-run pictures. The drop in attendance has been mainly at the circuit cinemas.

Return Bout In Nickel Capital

Two Unions Square Off

By JOHN LeBLANC

SUDBURY (CP)—Two tough unions squared off today for a return bout in their long struggle for domination in the big steel-nickel mining factor of this "nickel capital of the world."

Its back to the wall, the independent Canadian Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Canada) is counter-attacking savagely against the powerful United Steelworkers of America (CLC). The steel union is driving to consolidate a raid into Mine-Mill's last remaining bastion here.

With some reverse twists — and considerably less skullduggery — it's a replay of a classic 1941-42 battle that had all the elements in the book — bitterness, infighting, a blizzard of court orders, ideological tinges, rioting and high finance. They came out on top in a victory that drained away much of its rival's life-blood.

The stakes are high in Canada's largest single labor unit, the 15,000 men in the mining-smelting complex of International Nickel Co. of Canada. The secondary objective is another 2,- 000 at Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. Together, they pay more than $1,600,000 a year in dues.

ORGANIZED MUCKERS

Mine - Mill organized both groups starting in the 1940s and then sisters were mucking for around 83 cents an hour. But in 1963 Steel took over the Falconbridge certification by a paper-thin margin in a membership vote. It tried for Falconbridge but had to back off when forgeries turned up among the membership cards it presented to the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Now, after months of earnest raiding by both antagonists, they are going back to the board meeting is set for today, June 15, but that will be only the first of a series of manoeuvres that could run well into the fall.

This time, it is Mine-Mill that has filed an application for a vote in the Inco membership to displace Steel. Meanwhile, the Steelworkers are cranking up for an application to displace Mine-Mill in the smaller Falconbridge group, which will be made later in the summer.

If Steel should snatch Falconbridge and hold Inco, Mine-Mill's position would be really indeed. Steel is big—110,000 Canadian members—and wealthy, has a huge war chest to draw on. Mine-Mill would get a disastrous kick in the pocketbook, and also a series of rebuffs that has reduced its membership to 30,000.

COMMUNISM ALLEGED

The union has remained an outcast from the Canadian Labor Congress, which holds that it comes under a ban on Communist-led bodies. This makes it fair game for raiding by CLC unions. Sudbury has been the last big stronghold in the East.

In this organizing campaign, the labor bodies' record has not attained the stridency of some of Mine-Mill's past battles.

"They've tried some red-baiting but today that's interpreted as only an excuse to try to cover up their own abject failure here," says Nels Thibault, Mine-Mill's local president and a former national president of the union.

Steelworkers, with the help of about 700 volunteer organizers in on-the-job canvassing, has placed 7,832 membership applications from Inco workers before the labor board. To get a vote, it needs to show valid cards for 45 per cent of the bargaining unit—about 6,750. In a vote, it would need more than 50 per cent of the eligible voters.

The Steelworkers have between June 21 and Aug. 21 to file their application for Falconbridge—the dates depend on the expiry dates of three-year contracts at the two companies, which run for approximately the same periods.

CLAIMS VICTORY

"We have at least 1,000 signed up at Falconbridge and we'll get a vote and win it," says Terry Mancini, a burly Steel organizer who moved here from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to take on the 1961-62 raid and stayed as area supervisor.

Steel has been organizing intensely for about three months. Mine-Mill began its drive to get Inco back almost as early as Falconbridge—but leaves Steel officials—apparently unconcerned. "We're but the least bit surprised," says Murray Cotterill of Toronto, Steel's national public relations director, who spends a good deal of his time these days in Sudbury pumping press and broadcasting campaigns. "Many signed their cards just to get the Mine-Mill organizer out of their hair."

Mine - Mill leader Thibault charges that, in fact, Steel supporters looked up a list of phoney names for use of its initial blocks of certification by a paper-thin margin in a membership vote. It tried for Falconbridge but had to back off when forgeries turned up among the membership cards it presented to the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Now, after months of earnest raiding by both antagonists, they are going back to the board meeting is set for today, June 15, but that will be only the first of a series of manoeuvres that could run well into the fall.

Wildlifers Protest Olympics at Banff

By STUART LAKE

Latest group to register protest is the Canadian Wildlife Federation which has members in every province. The Canadian Audubon Society and other groups, it has fired off a resolution in the strongest terms opposing the Games or similar mass spectacles using the parks.

While the organizations feel they have good grounds for their opposition, they also have pessimistic about their chances for success. They say the government is committed to using Banff if the Canadian bid for the Games is accepted.

The new parks policy laid down in the Commons last fall by Resources Minister Laing could be used as an argument for or against using Banff for the Games.

The policy says provision of urban-type recreational facilities is not part of the basic purpose of the parks. Such facilities are "in harmony with the purposes and preservation of a park" may be introduced as required to meet recreation demands "but only where they minimize impairment and not at all if substantial impairment is inevitable."

SEE PERMANENT DAMAGE

The wildlife groups argue that the buildings needed to house athletes and officials from the competing countries, the facilities needed for the many events, and the huge crowds expected to attend the Games could only result in permanent defacing of Banff.

But the new policy also says that development of specialized recreational facilities—such as ski lunging—should take into account "the availability of conditions outside the park . . . and the importance of such develop-

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Drama is common to the movies, but nothing heartened about Sidney Harbans Mann, constantly shooting suspense thrillers, when Mrs. Costaya-Mann's new Georgia Tech production, "A Piece of Dr. Lao," starring Tony Curtis, Barbara Rush and Arthur O'Connell, doesn't attempt to engage her allure in this portrayal, but in Tech's magical new film, Randall portrays seven different characterizations in one of the most unusual stories ever brought to the screen, in Metrocolor and in showing for the last time this night at the Belleville Drive-in theatre. The first feature, also in color, "Mail Order Bride" features Buddy Rosen of Beverley Hill Billies fame.

For a fellow who started out to be an engineer, Walter Brennan has done pretty well in the acting business. So far he has three Academy awards, more than any other actor in Hollywood—and a list of top credits as long as his arm.

For the past six years the well-loved, gravel-voiced performer has been starring in "The Real McCoys," a highly-rated television series.

Now he is back in motion pictures for Walt Disney in "The Callaway," an exciting family drama also starring Brian Keith, Vera Miles, and Brenda Wilde. He plays the affable Yankee Philosopher, Alf Simes, from Swiftwater, Vermont. Considering that he was brought up in the small town of Swampscott, Massachusetts the part is right down his alley.

In his 40 years in show business, Walter has appeared in a record number of films, including such memorable ones as "Pride of the Yankees," "Sergeant York," "Meet John Doe," "The Darling Clementine," "Bad Blood" and "Bad Day at Black Rock."

His oscars were awarded for "Come and Get It" in 1936, "Sergeant York" in 1938 and "The Westerner" in 1940.

Why the switch from Jaffe to Tone? It was no secret that Sam had been unhappy and with the show developing duties on Casey. Tone reported that Jaffe scrutinized the small print in his contract, found that his option had been picked up two days late, and—and, "I'm just better."

Tone received a call from his New York agent.

"He asked me if I was interested in teaming up with Vince Edwards

By ROD CURRIE

STRATFORD (CP) — Henry IV, the opening play of this year's Stratford Shakespearean Festival, won general—if not altogether enthusiastic, — praise from several drama critics.

Most wrote highly of the unusual of the production, which launched Stratford's 13th season, but disagreed on the merits of individual performances.

Tony van Bridge as the rascally Falstaff, was the selection of all as the main contributor to the play. Others came in for praise, but the critics disagreed strongly about the performance of Douglas Campbell in the role of the gallant Hotspur.

Director Stuart Burge's primary accomplishment was that he had not "succumbed to temptation of the open stage to overplay the comic in the closed of spectacle and pageantry."

FEW 'DEPLORABLE'

The outstanding acting contributions, Mr. Cohen says, were made by van Bridge and Douglas Rain as Henry IV, but "a few of the performances, notably Douglas Campbell as Hotspur, are deplorable."

At times Mr. Campbell is credible and amusing, but for the rest "he merely blusters as a character and rants as an actor . . . he tears the stuffing out of the verse."

Thomas Archer of the Montreal Gazette disagrees.

"Mr. Campbell plays Hotspur to the hilt," he wrote. "It was a splendid traditional performance."

Herbert Whittaker of the Toronto Globe and Mail found there were "some stiff and awkward passages of bluster to begin the evening."

However, Mr. Whittaker gives full marks to the director for "achieving just what he says in the program he will do—show the development of Prince Hal."

SINGLES OUT RAIN

He also gives credit to Mr. van Bridge and Mr. Campbell but singles out for particular praise Douglas Rain, a "quite remarkable Prince Hal."

Audrey M. Ashley of the Ottawa Citizen says that only "a superb performance by van Bridge rescued the play from dullness. Campbell gave "a strange performance indeed." At times, she write, "it wasn't clear whether Mr. Campbell was pausing for effect or had actually forgotten his lines."

Robert Tanner of the Ontario Intelligencer, Belleville, wrote that the play "ranged from the rousing and magnificent to the lengthy and tedious."

Nevertheless, Burge's "direction can shine through undimmed, and the actors can take credit for some very fine performances."

J. Burke Martin of the London Free Press found "some great individual performances in a play went on too long for its own dramatic worth."

Kemp Thompson, of the Kitchener - Waterloo Record, found it "an uneven production (that) came through finally in a convincing and effective battle climax."

"This production was saved from mediocrity by its solid realization of the basic historic framework," he concluded.

A glittering, colorfully-dressed International audience called the players back for three curtain calls—somewhat below the average for Stratford opening nights. Later the cast and hundreds of guests met for a celebration at a reception at the posh Victoria Inn.

Among the invited guests headed by Premier John Robarts of Ontario and Mrs. Robarts, were ambassadors from a dozen countries.

Practically, all hotel and motel accommodation in Stratford was taken for the three opening nights and many also were fully booked for the entire season. A record corps of more than 100 press, radio and television representatives were in town and some late-comers had to find accommodation in nearby Kitchener.

Lawyers Seek New Trial For Convicted

NEW YORK (AP)—Defence lawyers say they will seek a new trial for three members of the Black Liberation Front who face up to 30 years in prison on convictions of conspiracy to blow up U.S. national shrines.

The lawyers have not revealed the grounds on which a new trial could be sought. Formal motions seeking the trial are due to be filed Wednesday.

Judge William B. Herlands turned down moves to set aside the guilty verdict, rejected by a jury of 11 men and one woman Monday night.

The three men convicted, all New York City prisoners, were found guilty of conspiring to blow up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia —all government property.

SMUGGLED DYNAMITE

They also were convicted of smuggling dynamite from Canada for the planned demolition.

The three men could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on each of the two counts in the indictment. The men were jailed to await sentencing Thursday.

The three — who allegedly cooked up the plot as a protest against racial discrimination are: Robert S. Collier, 28, the alleged ringleader and a former employee of the New York City public library; Walter A. Bowe, 32, who was a jobs instructor at an east side Manhattan settlement and a supporter of the pro-Castro Fair Play for Cuba Committee; and Khaleel A. Sayyed, 22, on leave from electrical engineering studies at Howard University, Washington, D.C.

Also to be sentenced Thursday is Michele Duclos, 36-year-old Canadian white woman from Montreal who has been active in a Quebec separatist movement.

Miss Duclos pleaded guilty to smuggling dynamite from Canada in connection with the destruction plot and testified for the government at the 13-day trial. The other charge in the indictment — conspiracy to destroy government property — was left in abeyance when the blonde Miss Duclos, former Montreal television personality, entered her plea. She was not put on trial with the three men, as had been scheduled before she made the surprise guilty plea.

The three men and Miss Duclos were arrested here last Feb. 16 by FBI agents and New York City police.

Nkrumah Is Focal Point Of Much of Squabbling

By CARMAN CUMMING
Can dian Press Staff Writer

Almost five years ago, Kwame Nkrumah proclaimed before the United Nations the dawn of a new era in which "over two hundred millions of our people cry out with one voice of tremendous power" for the freedom of Africa.

Since then Africa has continued to speak with one voice on the subject of white domination. But on almost everything else the voices are divided. Nkrumah himself, the president and "redeemer" of Ghana, is the focal point of much of the squabbling.

A series of international conferences this summer may show just how badly Africa is divided within itself — and how much strength and unity it still possesses to deal with the remaining areas of white rule.

CRACKS SHOWING

One meeting already held, the Lagos conference during the past weekend, produced a strained compromise within the Organization of African Unity. The OAU's council of ministers voted to go ahead with an African summit meeting in Accra, Ghana, in September. But even Secretary-General Diallo Telli admitted that the agreement was "miraculous."

And there were reports that several of Ghana's French-speaking neighbors, who accuse Nkrumah of fomenting rebellion against them, would still refuse to go to Accra.

The second conference is the Commonwealth prime ministers' gathering in London this week, which brings together a number of feuding African leaders.

Among them are Kenya's Jomo Kenyatta, who has been on touchy terms with neighboring Commonwealth members Tanzania and Uganda since his police recently intercepted mysterious arms convoy heading from Ghana's Nigerian territory from Tanzania to Uganda.

MAY BOIL OVER

Later this month, Afro-Asian representatives gather at Algiers for a conference that may be attended by Soviet as well as Chinese delegates. It could bring to a head African differences over the extent of Communist penetration on the continent, and particularly Tanzania's close relations with China.

Also in the background, at both Algiers and Accra, will be continuing sharp differences between those "radical" countries supporting the Congolese rebels and others backing the regime of Moise Tshombe.

Amidst the differences, Nigeria has emerged as a power-ful expon.at of unity and moderation. It was no accident that the weekend unity meeting was held in the Nigerian capital of Lagos.

BOOST NIGERIA

The success of the meeting is certain to give a boost to the prestige of Nigeria, Africa's most populous country and one of its most advanced. It could wipe out some of the ground lost by the Nigerian government last fall when it came under attack in Africa for refusing to condemn the Belgian-American operation to rescue Congolese refugees.

If Nigeria's star does rise, it would be a welcome development for white Commonwealth delegates and other westerners at the UN. They look on Nigeria as one of the most responsible and capable UN members and hope to see it play a pivotal role not only in Africa but between Africa and the rest of the world.

Negotiations On Bus Strike To Be Resumed

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations are to resume today on a city bus strike that is now a week old. But a stalemate exists in a second bus strike that affects suburban commuters. Both strikes are for higher wages.

The Montreal Transportation Commission put off an expected meeting Monday night with negotiators of the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

Robert Burns, chief CNTU negotiator, said "we received a phone call saying there wouldn't be any meeting until the morning at the earliest.

"This, of course, looks good," he said. "It looks as though the MTC is really working on a settlement."

MET WITH SAULNIER

Instead of meeting with the CNTU Monday night, the MTC met with chairman Lucien Saulnier of the Montreal executive committee. Mr. Saulnier said later that MTC authorities and financial personnel were starting an immediate study of a variety of "combinations" of proposals for an improved offer that would be "best calculated" to bring an end to the walkout.

While there was activity on the MTC strike, things were at a standstill in the walkout of employees of the Provincial Transport Company, which operates buses from Montreal to the suburbs and to other cities in the province.

Andre L'Heureux, a CNTU spokesman, said there was nothing new to report on the PTC strike, which began early Saturday when 900 employees left their jobs.

The PTC normally carries about 30,000 passengers daily on the suburban runs.

Since the 3,900 employees of the MTC went on strike last Tuesday, traffic in Montreal, especially in the rush hours, has been sluggish with some 200,000 persons trying to get in and out of town by other means.

The addition of the PTC strike brought an influx of extra cars into the city Monday to make traffic even worse.

MTC employees, whose basic wage is $2.12 an hour, have been holding out for an additional 86 cents over a two-year contract. The company has offered 51 cents in a three-year contract.

PTC bus drivers said they were working 60 to 75 hours a week for $11 a day plus five cents a mile. They want a 48-hour week for $17 a day and 5½ cents a mile.

Dangerous Driving Brings Six Months

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Joseph G. A. Tetreault, 37, of Chatham, convicted last week of dangerous driving in the death of a pedestrian, was sentenced Monday to six months in jail.

He was charged following a March 20 traffic accident in which 18 - year - old Douglas Chambers of Barrie was killed and Fred Boersma, 16, of Chatham was injured.

Tetreault, who has been in custody here since June 8, also received a three-year suspension of his driver's licence.

LARGER LOTS

If you are going to build a larger more expensive home, you will want to build where the 75-foot wide lots of Thurlow Hill Subdivision, now being developed, are being selected. Well treed, with a gentle slope to the rear, on a terraced back yard, with double garage, for a two storey or split-level which does not have to "borrow" dimensions by squeezing itself in sideways. Stop kidding yourself. For $20,000 up you can build a home that will be large enough to give full value to your property and situated on the adjacent real estate is as good as better than your present lot. Your choice of custom builders.

Splitting of Athol Township For School Purposes Delayed At County Council Meeting

PICTON (Staff) — Township of Athol ratepayers who have vigorously objected to losing their public school as a result of a recommendation by the Prince Edward County Constitutative Committee to split the township with part of the school area going to Hallowell the other to South Marysburgh, turned out at the meeting of County Council Monday night, Speaking and acting on behalf of the ratepayers, Picton lawyer R. E. Nourse, told council that nothing so fundamentally important has come before the council in many years as the decision on the part of the ratepayers of Athol to close some society with the committee's decision. Athol ratepayers have had meetings and also some of them have signed a petition that has been forwarded to the Minister.

In dealing with economics, Mr. Nourse continued, and with regard to the position of a detenture debt, the Athol school plan goes through there would be an additional $100,000 spent over the period of the next 20 years. This is certainly more than if the ratepayers of Athol were to establish its own school. Furthermore there would be no subsidization of transportation as in transportation expense, this would amount to $14,100 per year. If the Department of Education would help in this matter however we feel that this $14,100 that is not gross necessary to spend.

The ratepayers also question the additional facilities of home economics, shop and kindergarten. We have a good system of education in the county, continued Mr. Nourse, we have had for many time and the Inspector of Public Schools, Mr. Keith, has told me that outside of Picton there are no schools with these departments other than Wellington.

There are now 209 public school children in Athol, many of these would not have to be transported, the school site has been picked and found satisfactory. Under the recommendations of the Athol plan there would be a split up of children. 73 children within a mile radius and would not benefit by the proposed school would have to be transported to Bloomfield or other area. Some additional cost if the township is split up would have to travel more than two hours a day. This fact, the ratepayers feel would not compensate for the cost of having these three added facilities. Another fact concerning the junior public school is the emotional upset. Children taken away from friends and school, and placed in a new school about is a very important factor during the period of early education.

Mr. Nourse urged council to consider all these facts, it is of the utmost importance he added, that Athol township is not derived of a good education.

Speaking on behalf of the Committee of Management, Mr. Gordon Striker, questioned Mr. Nourse's figures of a transportation cost of $14,100 a year. In our township, he said, 185 pupils are transported at a cost slightly over $15,000. So far as suitability of South Marysburgh school is concerned, Mr. Striker said that there is 12 feet of water in a good well. This is the lowest measured distance. We also have a letter from the Prince Edward County Health Unit confirming that there has been evidence that the facilities are adequate, that the sewage system is satisfactory to handle an increase over the next two years. As far as times are concerned, (Mr. Striker quoted times from their public school as to township to South Marysburgh school) we do not think it is possible to spend three hours on a bus as Mr. Nourse suggested.

Reeve Don Thompson and Warden R. Hepburn both considered that more time was necessary to properly assess the facts. Mr. Thompson said, due to opposition here, there are points not clear. Statements have been made and there is a question as to the authenticity. Until I have further information I don't feel that we should go ahead.

Warden Harvey Hepburn said to council, I feel we are going to run into trouble with all sides by here and I recommend that no action be taken in any township for any school until after council has met with the Department of Education and have them survey the situation. Reeves Lloyd and Brown concurred with Thompson and Hepburn and felt no authority should be given until Department officials had consulted. Reeve Lloyd said, that although the people in Athol township will not be happy with tonight's council meeting I feel we should delay for the investigation. It appears we have knocked down everything the council committee has been brought forth tonight. If we need our council committee in this matter our council would be in bad shape. Reeve Ritchie of Hillier, Murray-burgh, said, we have a school situation in our township and action made by council here tonight. It seems we are "passing the buck" to the Department for us to see what could be done. The motion was carried to issue no authority to build a public school in the county until the Department of Education was consulted.

George Publow Wins Honors With Race Boat

PICTON (Staff) — An 18-year-old youth took top honors in his class in the International 50 boat race for amateurs held at Alexandria Bay on Sunday.

George, an 18-year-old Queen's University engineering student from Picton, Ont, vacated his runner-up role of last year to win the 36 class in 2.15.54.

For George, it was his first time in the 36 class and third try at the 1,000 Islands event. He was fifth two years ago.

His hand is still heavily bandaged from an accident 2½ weeks ago. He was planning to enter the Bell Isle Marathon at Detroit, Mich., until a few days before the event when he got his hand caught in the flywheel of his motor.

The 1,000 Islands event is George's first outboard race. He went on that season to win the Canadian championship in the 36 class.

Fishermen Worried About Proposed Gill Net Ban

PICTON (Staff) — A proposal to cut off the Bay of Quinte to gill netting by trapnets has aroused concern among commercial fishermen in Prince Edward County.

A number of fishermen are opposed to any further restrictions in a field of industry which they say has declined in recent years.

One fisherman said "I am trying to make a living and raise a family by commercial fishing. I think it is time the government did something to assist us for a change, not make it harder."

The spokesman suggested there should be more restocking of lakes and waters and less research.

Income Tax Explained

A column designed for the working taxpayer who is not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax office.

By C. A. MILLER
Retired Supervising Assessor, Income Tax Department

IMMIGRANT OR VISITOR

Many taxpayers will try to claim as dependants, their fathers or mothers who have visited them for a few months during the taxation year, from another country. A visitor is not a dependant unless the taxpayer has supported them prior to their entering Canada and again after their return to their permanent place of residence.

The taxpayer may have paid their round trip to Canada and supported them while they were here but this does not entitle him to claim t h e m as dependants. Should s u c h person become a resident Canadian with the intention of making their permanent home here with a son or daughter, but after being here for a while, they did not like Canada or be c a m e homesick for their own country, then the taxpayer may be able to show that he can satisfy the income tax department that this was the case.

This is a contentious problem and of late many letters from taxpayers who have had such dependants disallowed, asking what procedure to take to obtain tax relief. The answer to this is always the same. There is nothing they can do until such time as the Income Tax Act is changed in this respect. I have always advised them to put their case up to their local federal member of parliament, who can take it up the next time the Income Tax Act is under consideration.

No one can alter or circumvent any provision of the Income Tax Act or its Regulations once they have been passed and become law for that year.

If you have a problem in this respect not covered in the above you are invited to write the writer following the instructions given below will bring you a prompt reply.

For a personal reply, enclose a self - addressed, f i v e cent stamped envelope, plus 25 cents for each question.

Question 1: My mother from Italy came to live with me as a "landed immigrant." She stayed 6 months and returned as she did not like Canada and was homesick. Can I claim $550 for her?

Answer: Yes. As she entered as "landed immigrant."

Question 2: My sister aged 63 came from England to visit me. She was here 3 months. Can I claim exemption for her for that period?

Answer: No.

NO FINAL DECISION

OTTAWA (CP)—The government hopes Dr. Andrew Stewart will remain on as chairman of the Board of Broadcast Governors for "a while longer," Prime Minister Pearson said Monday. He told the Commons that, while Dr. Stewart is contemplating retirement from the board, the government understands he has made no final decision.

"So it's NOT very good . . . even Mickey Mantle doesn't bat mush better than .300"

Former Montreal M.P. Returns OBE Because Beatles Honored

MONTREAL (CP)—Hector Dupuis, former Liberal member of Parliament for Montreal Ste. Marie riding, said today he will return his medal of the Order of the British Empire now that the Beatles have been listed in the Queen's annual birthday honors.

"I'm mailing the medal today to Secretary of State Maurice Lamontagne, who is familiar with the proper channels for the return of the decoration to England's royalty," Mr. Dupuis said.

When he received his decoration more than 30 years ago, Mr. Dupuis was convinced he was unworthy of the honor. He considered it unually was conferred on outstanding statesmen, brave soldiers and industrialists.

"But now English royalty places me on the same level as vulgar mincompoops."

Mr. Dupuis said he does not want to be a member of an order which recognizes stupidity and hysteria as with the long-haired English Mersey group, who will be permitted to wear the MBE ribbons, rose-pink edged with pearl grey.

Mr. Dupuis said he could understand there "are always certain undesirables in any kind of orders or societies, but what I fail to grasp is that superior authorities wish to honor sorry fellows with whom I have no desire whatever to be associated."

He said it is up to other individuals to remain or not remain in the order but that he personally will resign.

"In my case, I simply resign."

REBELS STILL SHELLED AFTER TRUCE

Plan Color TV For Coverage Of Centennial

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP)—There will be color television in Canada by 1967, but the announcement by State Secretary Lamontagne Tuesday did not indicate how extensive the programming would be.

He said in the Commons that the government is authorizing the CBC to get the necessary equipment for color telecasts of the 1967 world's fair. And he said the government is ready to receive applications from Canadian broadcasters to begin color TV programming by Jan. 1, 1967.

The announcement, which took opposition benches by surprise, came as a special advisory committee is still studying the entire field of broadcasting and telecasting in Canada. But Mr. Lamontagne said it was necessary to state the government's policy at this time because it would take at least 18 months for the broadcasting and electronics industry to make color TV sets.

CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet said the speed of conversion to color would depend largely on the money available. It would cost close to $40,000,000 for the CBC to carry out a conversion program over 15 years.

Spence Caldwell, president of the privately-owned CTV Network, said the conversion would have to be done in a big way in areas within reach of U.S. stations. A Canadian station would not cost a half-hour program a night in color and compete with the wide-range of color programs offered by American outlets.

SITES OBJECTIONS

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the announcement had been a "cavalier disregard of the rights of Parliament," since the government obtained a recommendation from the broadcasting committee before its report had been tabled. This, he said, was "unwarranted indifference" toward Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said that the people of Canada still waiting for black-and-white television. The announcement on color TV had been made to falsify the "completely wasteful" expenditure of $10,000,000 by the CBC on a new broadcasting building at the world's fair site.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said it was stupid to make such a major decision without parliamentary review when the black - and - white TV network was not yet completed.

While color television sets in Canada now cost between $750 and $1,000, Mr. Ouimet said he expects the price will come down over a period of time. Black-and-white sets had done this in the early 1950s.

Borough System Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says a borough system of municipal government is the key recommendation of the Goldenberg report on Metropolitan Toronto.

H. Carl Goldenberg, a lawyer-economist who has spent two years studying municipal government in the Toronto region, handed Premier John Robarts a copy of the royal commission report Tuesday.

Mr. Robarts said the report will go to a cabinet meeting Thursday morning and will be made public at 12:30 p.m. EDT.

Mr. Goldenberg was appointed a one-man royal commission by Premier Robarts in May to examine into the present form of Metropolitan Toronto government and recommend improvements.

The present municipal boundaries have existed since 1900, while Metro was formed in 1953. Toronto and 12 suburbs, with a total population of about 1,700,000, send representatives to Metro council, which controls water, sewer, main roads, parks and other essential services that overlap municipalities.

The Globe and Mail says the Goldenberg report is expected to recommend political integration on a limited scale to overcome an obvious economic imbalance and provide a solution to better representation on a more powerful Metro level of government.

The newspaper says the report is expected to state that at least five of the smaller Metro Toronto suburbs should be merged with larger neighbors.

The Globe and Mail says the report indicates, in proposing the borough system, that Metro Toronto is not prepared for an abrupt amalgamation of city and suburbs.

It says the report indicates that there is no justification for abandoning the Metro system. The report indicates partial municipal consolidation will go a long way toward correcting any fiscal imbalance and is a suitable investment in the Metro area for at least the next decade, the newspaper says.

Post Offices 'Sweat Shops' Says Unionist

KINGSTON (AP) — Low wages and "sweat shop conditions" in post offices across Canada are causing dissatisfaction among postal workers, Daniel Cross, president of the Kingston Postal Workers Union, said Tuesday.

He told a Kingston Labor Council meeting that "the morale here and across the country is the lowest it has been for years."

"Our case for salary increases has been under review since last October and there is still no concrete result. If we don't get at least $600 you can expect a work slowdown and piling up of mail across the country."

Hospital Stays Shorter

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Matthew Dymond predicted Tuesday that new psychiatric treatment techniques will greatly reduce the demand for beds in Ontario's crowded mental hospitals.

He drew a parallel between mental illness and tuberculosis, saying that 10 years ago TB sanatoria were crowded to the doors. Developments in the treatment of TB had made more beds available than there were patients.

The same thing would happen in mental hospitals, he told the legislature, because of advances in psychiatric treatment plus the fact that increasing numbers of mental patients were coming forward for help at earlier stages in their illness.

Dr. Dymond said mental patients are being treated successfully in out-patient departments, mental clinics and doctors' offices.

Instead of stays in mental hospitals is becoming shorter, he said. The same number of beds would be capable of serving a far greater population.

SEES EXCESS

He said however the time when the present ratio of beds will be quite in excess of our needs,' the health minister said.

He also noted that the government is in the process of transferring mental patients who need only nursing care out of Ontario mental hospitals and into homes for special care.

James Trotter (L — Toronto Parkdale) accused the government of maintaining a Victorian insane - asylum approach to mental hospitals in the province.

He said there is a need for small community mental health centres. "Better called in a miracle that there had not been more deaths from fire and other accidental causes in Ontario's large mental hospitals because of the severe staff shortage in these institutions.

During consideration of the health department spending estimates, Dr. Dymond said it is government policy to bring mentally retarded and physical diseases under the same roof to overcome the guilt feeling that exists between the two.

He said the Ontario hospitals at Whitby and New Toronto will have general treatment units.

RIVALRY BLAMED

Stephen Lewis (NDP — Scarborough West) said an incredible rivalry in the medical profession about proper treatment methods for mentally - ill children has existed when the government an excuse for doing nothing at all.

He said the government hospital for emotionally disturbed children at Smithville is becoming a "white elephant." Research has been carried on there for six years with no re-

Kowal was taken to hospital. His condition was reported as fair.

Industries Take Water Pollution Warning Seriously

DYMOND, Ont. (CP)—Dr. J. A. Vance, chairman of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, said Tuesday night replies received so far to warning letters sent by the commission in May to 400 Ontario industries are encouraging.

The letters warned the firms to bring their treatment of industrial wastes up to the standard set by the OWRC.

Dr. Vance told delegates to the annual Ontario industrial-wastes conference that approximately 15 per cent of the industries have replied.

He also said that a letter is being sent to municipalities urging co-operation between municipalities and industry in solving the problem of industrial wastes.

Earlier, a United States engineer said a process of clean burning may be the answer to the problem of pollution in industrial waste disposal.

J. E. Hanway, director of engineering for the Copeland Process Corp. of Oakbrook, Ill., said the process has proved successful in the pulp and paper industry.

Further research may show how it can be applied to wastes from chemical, steel and petroleum and food industries, as well as municipal sewage, he said.

The burning of wastes is more economical than purification processes now in use, said Mr. Hanway, and as in one application in the pulp and paper field, it also permits recovery of valuable chemicals from these wastes.

In the pulping mills, organic material extracted from wood during the pulping process is concentrated and burned.

Air pollution, which would seem a natural problem, does not occur because the waste is burned in a specially - constructed furnace that prevents emission of ash or smoke, said Mr. Hanway.

The conference was sponsored by the water and pollution advisory committee to the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

Storm Blows Up In House

By WILLIAM NEVILLE

OTTAWA (CP) — A bid to force a Commons vote on whether Time and Reader's Digest are "Canadian" publications has run aground on the parliamentary rule that only a cabinet minister can propose the alteration or elimination of a tax.

Deputy Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ruled this tried and true rule in the House Tuesday night to set aside a New Democrat proposal that the Canadian editions of the two U.S. magazines be refused "natural-land status."

The ruling helped set off one of the most bitter Commons exchanges in recent years.

The storm blew up as the House debated finance minister Gordon's budget resolutions, which include provisions to eliminate as tax-deductible expenses Canadian advertising spent in foreign - owned publications.

The plan, designed to help this country's magazines meet foreign competition, also exempts the Canadian editions of Time and Reader's Digest on the "natural-land" basis established in this country and now do their printing and publishing here.

CHALLENGES PROPOSAL

Douglas Fisher, NDP deputy leader, challenged the proposal, arguing that Time and Reader's Digest are really "bogus" Canadian publications with their editorial content and direction coming from the United States. He split his tax amendment to delete the exemption offered the two magazines.

Mr. Lamoureux ruled that such an amendment would infringe on the cabinet's prerogative to set taxation. If allowed, Mr. Fisher's proposal would alter the levels of taxation by removing from the list of deductible expenses all advertising which the government has deemed should be free of taxation.

Mr. Fisher did not challenge the ruling as such — under the new Commons rules he couldn't appeal it — but he jumped on the opportunity to lash out at the government and Mr. Gordon in particular.

He accused the finance minister of "devious" "underhand and sneaky" tactics to get the publications legislation included in the income tax bill when it really isn't a tax matter at all. Mr. Gordon "hadn't even had the courage" to spell out Time and Reader's Digest in its tax resolution.

"I feel a sense of outrage at this government and this minister after all its prating about Canadian nationalism."

Mr. Gordon jumped to his feet to defend later at the imteperate remarks from one of the most intemperate members of this House.

"I'm not used to being called

May Unemployment Lowest Since 1957

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Canada dropped to 265,000 at mid-May from 371,000 in mid-April as the seasonal job boom took hold.

It dropped the national unemployment rate to 3.7 per cent of the labor force, lowest mid-May figure since 1957 when it was 3.5 per cent.

This compares with 5.3 per cent of the labor force unemployed in April and 4.2 per cent in May of last year.

A joint report issued today by the labor department and the bureau of statistics showed the labor force at 7,123,000, a gain of 155,000 in the month, while the number of jobs in the country rose by 261,000.

	May April May 1965 1965 1964
Labor force	7,123	6,968	6,914
Employed	6,858	6,597	6,621
Unemployed	265	371	293

These labor - DBS estimates are based on a sample survey of 35,000 homes taken during the week ended May 22.

The report said non-farm employment rose by 108,000 during the month while farm jobs increased by 92,000, both in line with seasonal expectations.

On the year, non-farm employment jumped by 258,000 or 4.3 per cent but there were 18,000 fewer farm jobs.

Teen-agers in the 14-19 group continued to make up a disproportionate part of the unemployment total. Their unemployment rate was 8.8 per cent and at mid-May there were 61,000 of them out of work—almost a quarter of the total unemployed.

The Atlantic region had 7.3 per cent of its work force hunting jobs, down sharply from the 12.8 per cent of April but still the highest percentage in the country.

The jobless rate in the Prairies declined to 2.4 per cent from 4.3 on the strength of higher farm employment. Ontario stood at 2.3 per cent compared to 3.1 in April, Quebec dropped to 5.2 per cent from 6.7 and British Columbia to 3.9 per cent from 4.7.

After statistical adjustments to discount seasonal variations, the national unemployment rate stood at 4.2 per cent, the same as in April. This adjusted rate was 4.7 per cent in May of last year.

Of the unemployed, 212,000 were men and 52,000 women, including 16,000 married women.

Santo Domingo Battle Involves U.S. Paratroops

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Mortar shells landed in the rebel sector of Santo Domingo at intervals of 15 to 30 minutes Tuesday night after a cease-fire ended a day-long battle in which at least 21 Dominicans were killed and 34 U.S. paratroopers were wounded.

There was no report of casualties from the mortar firing. But the rebels said it could provoke new fighting.

The rebels suggested that the mortar fire came from troops of the military-civilian junta in the northern sector of the capital, on the far side of the international safety zone occupied by the inter-American force.

The dead in the prolonged battle Tuesday included 17 rebel soldiers and two children. Twenty - six wounded Dominicans were brought to hospital in the rebel sector. A Brazilian lieutenant of the inter-American force also was wounded.

Among the dead was Andre Riviere, a top aide to rebel Defense Minister Col. Ramon Emmel Montes Arache. Riviere was a Frenchman who had been fighting with the rebels.

The three-country Organization of American States mission blamed the rebels for starting the shooting.

Rebel leaders claimed U.S. troops began the firing near a power plant just below the eastern tip of the international safety zone.

The firing was the heaviest involving U.S. troops since American forces were sent to the Dominican Republic April 28. A ceasefire was arranged at 8:30 p.m. by Brazilian Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim, commander of the inter-American force, and Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel chieftain.

During the battle U.S. troops extended their lines four blocks into rebel territory beyond the power plant. An official military spokesman said the troops would pull back to the original boundary of the international zone after they liquidated hard-core rebel snipers.

Col. Caamano called the outbreak of fighting "a form of provocation by the U.S. forces" to us to accept an undignified solution."

OBTAINS AGREEMENT

A United Nations statement said the UN representative in Santo Domingo, Jose Antonio Mayobre, "obtained from the parties an expression of their willingness for a cessation of hostilities."

During most of the day's action, the American naval force steamed close to shore and once appeared to be just outside the harbor at the mouth of the Ozama River. This gave rise to rumors that a fire - for - a - customs house was started by shelling from U.S. ships.

Rebel soldiers in the vicinity said the fires were started by bazooka and mortar fire from the other side of the Ozama River where U.S. paratroopers are entrenched.

The OAS mission said it had reports that armed civilians in the rebel zone "were setting fire to warehouses on the waterfront."

Col. Caamano has vowed a fight to the death unless the inter-American force tries to extend the international zone into his zone of this city.

Caamano said in an interview his troops would continue fighting as long as the inter-American advance continued.

He charged that the United States and the OAS-sponsored inter-American force combined to destroy democracy in the Dominican Republic.

Auto Pact Over First U.S. Hurdle

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Canadian-United States agreement to abolish tariffs on most new motor vehicles and their original parts has emerged from its first congressional test virtually unscathed.

This is seen as a pretty good indication of the agreement getting through the United States legislative mill this year.

The tariff abolition applies only at the manufacturer level, although the hope is that it eventually will mean prices lower than they otherwise would be. This applies particularly to Canada where the same differential has been averaging about 17 per cent higher.

Similar production of vehicles and parts would expand.

The first congressional hurdle was the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives, which in late April held three days of public hearings on the agreement signed Jan. 16 by Prime Minister Pearson and President Johnson.

CALLED HANDOUT

There was some criticism of the agreement as a handout to the auto - making industry — chiefly General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and American Motors.

But the committee Tuesday, after its lunch day of closed meetings, made only two changes, both applying to the U.S.

As suggested to the whole House of Representatives, the U.S. tariff commission and not the president would investigate what firms and workers were eligible for compensation because of hardship caused by the agreement with Canada. Then the president would decide.

Secondly, the president's right to sign a similar agreement with other nations is subjected to a 60-day congressional option to block such approval.

COULD GO AHEAD

After 60 days in the absence of any congressional action, the president could go ahead.

The U.S. bill, strongly endorsed by the president, goes to the full House and then the Senate, including Friday's finance committee.

Changes could be tacked on at any stage, but the restraint of the ways and means committee is taken as heartening.

"What do you mean, there are no bridges left to bomb in Vietnam! Build some!"

Committee Is Named to Present Store Hours Bylaw to Council

Ronald Keel, president of the Belleville Downtown Businessmen's Association, has announced the composition of a seven-man committee which will implement the presentation to the city council of a proposed by-law covering uniform store hours. The proposed bylaw was those agreed upon at a meeting open to all city merchants which was held on Thursday of last week under the auspices of the Downtown Businessmen's Association. The committee, formation of which was approved at this meeting, will meet within the next few days to undertake its task.

Sings Praises Of Insurance

John Scott, branch manager, Great West Life Assurance Co., Kingston, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Speaking on "Life Insurance and the Businessman," Mr. Scott urged those present to take a look at their life insurance to see that their families are taken care of in the event that anything should happen to them.

"No man with the responsibilities of looking after a family and his business has the right to put off the decision to protect those interests with insurance," he said.

"As other product," he said, "can so successfully bridge the gap between the requirements of today and the needs of tomorrow. Insurance is a service industry and as such as one in it believe in it and never even hope to get out of it all that we put into it.

"Insurance represents thrift to a young man, an investment to the middle aged man and income to the elderly man. A bank will pay you what you have saved, but insurance will pay what you intended to save; it acts like a shield to soften the blow of something you cannot see coming."

751 Admissions In Hospital During May

Belleville General Hospital was a busy place during the month of May with a total of 751 admissions and 90 newborn babies.

Total admissions this year to the end of May were 3,714 with 512 newborn.

At the same time there were 1,096 emergency patients and 1,341 occupational therapy and physiotherapy treatment visits during the month, as well as 20 cardiology, 20 radiology and 190 pathology tests.

Thomas Burnside, Bernard Hurley Named to Children's Aid Board

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society in Belleville, Mrs. Douglas G. Burr, secretary, read letters of resignation from Mr. Donald G. Lockyer and S-L L. R. MacQuarrie, both of whom have served on the Board for the past two years. S-L MacQuarrie has been posted to RCAF Headquarters at Ottawa, where he becomes Director of Welfare Services; and Mr. Lockyer, accompanied by his wife and family, leaves for Nigeria in August, to assume a teacher-trainer position under the auspices of the External Aid Technical Assistance Program. In expressing his regrets, Dr. S. C. Rose, president, stated that the reason why these men were leaving the Board, was, in his self, an indication of their personal worth.

Mr. George Wishart, immediate past president of the Society and chairman of the nominating committee, stated that he felt that in view of the impending changes in child welfare legislation, it was imperative that the Board be kept at full strength and accordingly proposed the appointment of Thomas Burnside, Township of Madoc, and Bernard W. Hurley to the Board. Both men have served for previous years, Mr. Burnside as a representative of the County Council of the County and Hurley as a member at large, treasurer and chairman of finance. Mr. Wishart's proposal was given unanimous approval.

TO HIRE COUNSELLOR

The Board learned that the Committee appointed to implement a Family Counselling service in Belleville and Hastings County had received four applications for the position of counsellor and that one man had been interviewed. On a motion by Mr. Oriel Griffiths, seconded by Mr. Thos. R. Cullen, the committee was authorized to engage the man of its choice, his duties to commence at the earliest mutually possible.

The Local Director, Mr. Bruce Kerr, reported that at the end of May there were 135 children in the care of the Society, seven having been admitted during the month.

Mr. Kerr spoke of the success of the Society's adoption programs, stating that by the end of June the Society would have placed in homes a total of 15 or 20 potentially adoptable children in care, for the most part boys in the pre-school or early school age group. There are no babies of either sex for whom the Society cannot place and no girls of any age.

"We still welcome inquiries, for if we do not have a child here for the couple seeking to adopt, we can always inquire elsewhere," he said, "and at the moment we have only a handful of people seeking to adopt and even the liberalization of intake of children to care, these will soon be exhausted."

DISCUSS LEGISLATION

Again, as on the occasion of previous meetings, time was devoted to discussion of the proposed changes in child welfare legislation. The local director stated that during the latter part of May he had attended a meeting of the directors of the 55 Children's Aid Societies at Toronto. There he had learned that, as has been stated in the press, the legislative committee intends to make welfare legislation recommended that all welfare services, including both protective and preventive services, be financed at municipal level with the province assuming only payment of these costs and all cost pertaining to services to unmarried parents and the maintenance of their children. Minimum standards of service will be set by way of the regulations to be made under the Act. Said Mr. Kerr "Each year we spend about $165,000 on the care and maintenance of neglected children and about $25,000 on prevention of neglect. It would now seem that we are to be given the funds to try and reverse the practice. Who knows — perhaps in ten years we will be spending $165,000 on prevention and $25,000 on child care".

Defective wiring today was blamed for an early morning fire in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment sergeants' mess.

The fire was reported minutes before 7 a.m.

City Fire Inspector Robert Fair said defective grounding of electric wires near the bar was believed to have caused the fire.

'Falstaff' Pleases Audience Recovering From Poor Start

By ROBERT TANNER

STRATFORD — The second offering of this year's festival season at Stratford, Ont., "Falstaff", has been renamed for the occasion, "Falstaff", partly to avoid confusion with Verdi's opera, partly to emphasize the importance of the portly knight. The decision to make this change appeared to be fully justified by the standing ovation which the first night audience gave it to Monday night. Mr. van Bridge as the Sir John far more than a clown, and invested him with a sincerity and a warmth of feeling which helped to create even the wildest of his escapades.

But one character does not make a play, and several minutes during the first act when the production faltered seriously. In particular, scenes which over - acting during a long drawn out comedy scene, together with a singing master's sheer bawdiness, fell far short of the standard we have come to expect from Stratford. But as the second act began, a gem of a performance from William Hutt, as Shallow, quietly assisted by Mervyn Blake as Silence, brought the play back to life: from then on, it seldom looked back.

EMPHASIZE COMEDY

In contrast with "Henry IV, Part I", this play emphasizes the comedy at the expense of the history, though in some ways the king has a more effective role, a fact of which Leo Ver'eet took full advantage. His dying scene with his son was especially fine. It was here too that Douglas Rain as the Prince of Wales made much of the difficult transformation from the wayward reveller to the responsible heir to the throne, a change which came to full fruition in his characterization of Falstaff, the scene which gives the play its rather pathetic ending. Our sympathies during these two plays on successive nights, with virtually the same casts, was that it allowed the actors to portray, and the audience to follow, the gradual development of the Prince from under the pressure of circumstances.

Among the supporting cast, William Needles deserves first mention, not only for his fine performance as the Lord Chief Justice, but also for his cameo role as one of Falstaff's conscripts. Heath Lamberts played a similar dual role as Poins, Prince Hal's confidant, and Wart, another conscript, while Eric Christmas repeated his success of the previous night as the decrepit and red-nosed Corporal Bardolph, in a part that allowed him considerably more scope.

Once again, the ladies had little opportunity to shine, though as usual Martha Henry excelled in her one short scene as Lady Percy, Hotspur's widow. Taken as individual performances, out of their somewhat doubtful context, both Doll Tearsheet, played by Frances Hyland, and Mistress Quickly (Mary Savage) deserve high commendation, while the debut of Master Benedict Campbell, last of the talented family of Douglas Campbell and Ann Casson to reach the Stratford stage should be noted with pleasure

PRODUCTION GOOD

The production, by Stuart Burge, was workmanlike and efficient, without being fussy, and no doubt much of the credit for the more hilarious moments of comedy should be his. Many of the costumes were the same as on the previous night, but the final coronation scene allowed designer Desmond Heeley to introduce some most striking scarlet outfits for the new king and his henchmen.

Without four or five more plays still to come to the historical cycle from Richard II to Richard II, it is still perhaps too soon to judge the value of such a plan. But at least an early judgment would be that it is of considerable value in deepening the audience's appreciation and understanding of the various works and of the characters running through them.

In view of the uncertainty of Shakespeare's historical sources, any suggestion that seeing the complete cycle adds to one's knowledge of English history, should perhaps be discounted.

Swedish Film On Re-training Workers Shown

"Investment in Manpower" a color sound film illustrating the manner in which Sweden is attempting to utilize the maximum potential of its labor force, was viewed locally yesterday by a group of employment office officials and others interested in the labor retraining field.

The film, prepared by the Swedish Department of Labor, showed the program under which Sweden is retraining men and women for new jobs in industry after present jobs become obsolete with the advancement in technology.

Following showing of the film, Cecil Hiuser, employment office manager, noted that the Swedish program is similar to Canada's Program 5 re-training program for the unemployed, although possibly with somewhat broader aspects.

Many Children Born With Deformities

HALIFAX (CP) — There has been a sharp increase in the number of children born with deformities in the last two years, but doctors have been unable to say why, Dr. Gustave Gingras of Montreal said Tuesday.

He told the Canadian Medical Association's general council that in Quebec alone there had been 1,134 children born with some deformity in 1963. Of these, 34 had thalidomide - like characteristics, but the drug thalidomide was not involved in any of them.

During 10 years, he had seen 70 such cases. In the last two years, he had seen 94.

Known cases were those born in hospital where a report was required. It was possible more mothers were having children in hospitals, but this did not account for the sudden increase.

"There is immediate need for a crash program of rehabilitation for these cases," he said.

The association passed a resolution urging the federal and provincial governments to give financial aid, rehabilitation and all other amenities made available to thalidomide - affected children, to all children with limb deficiencies.

Work with the thalidomide children has produced a great deal of knowledge and excellent results, said Dr. Gingras. But there were points of discrimination in aid given thalidomide and non - thalidomide - affected children.

Costs of rehabilitating the disabled children are extremely high, he said. About 15 people were required to treat one child. Artificial limbs were being applied at as young as three years and the growth of the child demanded constant changes.

Some of the thalidomide-affected children—most having excellent IQs—are learning to walk with artificial legs before normal children, he said.

Beatle John Lennon Says Medals Got for Exports

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "It almost makes us wish we'd never got it," said Beatle John Lennon today of the fuss over Queen Elizabeth's award of the MBE to him and his three moptop partners.

"I can understand a few people saying they don't think much of it," Lennon said, "but for people actually to send back their MBEs to the Queen—well there must be something wrong with them."

Lennon's comment was the first from the Beatles since a howl of protest arose because the Queen decorated the entertainers from Liverpool with the

Belleville OBE And the Beatles

A Belleville says he will not quit the Order of the British Empire because its ranks have been joined by the Beatles.

A furore was touched off this week when the Beatles were made each a Member of the Order.

W. McLean Haig, Officer of the British Empire, Belleville General Hospital Board chairman, said the honor was one he does not intend returning his award.

Sparks were struck when Montrealer Hector Dupuis, father of Yvon Dupuis, M.P., St. Hyacinthe-Napierville, returned his MBE in indignation.

His action was imitated in Britain by World War II squadron leader Paul Pearson.

"I feel that when people like the Beatles are given the MBE the whole thing becomes debased and cheapened."

Now people are slyly beginning to refer to the OBE as "one of the Beatles in England."

Mr. Haig's reaction is as flabbergasted. He thinks the controversy "kind of ridiculous."

"Of course, giving it to the Beatles I thought rather ridiculous too," he added.

He pointed out there are two classes of awards. Member of the Order—that bestowed on the Beatles—is civilian. Mr. Haig's is a service decoration from his World War II airforce days.

"No, I'm going to keep mine," he chuckled.

Member of the British Empire order. Some British war heroes are returning their own royal awards in protest.

"I reckon we got it for exports, and the citation should have said that," Lennon said. The Beatles' personal appearances and record sales abroad have earned Britain several millions in various foreign currencies.

ACTION SAID SNOBBISH

"Plain silly and rather snobbish," said House of Commons member Eric Heffer of the angry veterans.

Heffer and other Liverpool socialists introduced a motion in Commons supporting the royal action making the quartet MBEs in the Queen's birthday honor list last week.

The motion said the Beatles had "captured the American market and brought in their wake great commercial advantage in dollar earnings to this country."

The MBE entitles the Beatles to add an "ecsuire" to their names and wear a medal or a ribbon in their lapels. Traditionally it has been given for long and faithful service to Britain or for outstanding performance in the arts or professions. All such royal honors are made in the name of the Queen, but they are made on the recommendation of the prime minister.

Four more war veterans announced today that they were returning their royal decorations in protest against the Beatles' honors.

One of them was David Evan Rees, a 70-year-old sea captain who was torpedoed twice during the Second World War. King George VI awarded him the Order of the British Empire—Grade higher than the MBE—in 1940.

"I often listen to the Beatles on the radio, but they certainly don't deserve the MBE," said Rees. "I am disgusted that they have been made members of this most excellent order."

Among those who sent an MBE back is James Berg, 53 — a former English school teacher honored as a wartime anti-aircraft expert.

HONOR DEBASED

"I was my name removed from the records," he said. "The whole thing has become debased."

Cyril Hearn of Runnymede sent back a BEM he won for valorously chasing an armed gang of bandits in Italy during the war.

"I was frightened as hell," he said, "but I like to think I earned it honorably.

"There is nothing brave in yawping at a bowling mob of teen-agers with a million pounds in the bank."

Paul Pearson, who rescued allied flyers from the English Channel, returned his MBE.

Similar action was taken earlier by Hector Dupuis, a former member of the Canadian Parliament, and George Read, who rescued nine sailors during the war.

Sitting MPs Now Facing Real Problem

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Sitting MPs face a difficult problem in making objections to the sometimes - unwelcome proposals to alter the shape of their constituency by the redistribution commissions.

They don't want voters to get the idea the new voters being added to their ridings are unwelcome. The effect might be that the voters would cast their ballots solidly against them.

"Nevertheless, a fair number of MPs feel they have sound reasons for objecting to some of the changes proposed by the commissioners. They are in commissions — one for each province — which are drawing new electoral maps detailing constituency boundaries.

CHILD STRANGLES

OTTAWA (CP)—A 16-month-old girl strangled in her playpen Tuesday when her loose-knit sweater caught on a wing nut of the pen and drew a drawstring tight around her throat. Accused Given Eleven Years For Robberies

TORONTO (CP) — Donald Frederick Russell, 31, formerly of London, Ont., was sentenced Tuesday to 11 years concurrent on each charge after he pleaded guilty to six charges of robbing banks and trust companies in Toronto and Hamilton and of attempting to rob a Toronto bank.

He said his take from the robberies during the last 11 months was $14,451. The banks and trust companies said $18,381 was taken. Russell had used a toy pistol.

In each robbery a teller was handed a note demanding money and was signed by "Jesse James."

Magistrate Wills Not Impressed With Statement

TRENTON — Presiding at the police court session here yesterday Magistrate T. Y. Wills heard a new alibi and commented on the experience. "I thought I'd heard everything until the witness told me his memory was affected by sleep," he remarked.

Magistrate was hearing evidence in a case of impaired driving involving Carl Anderson, 34, of 358 Front St., Trenton. According to the accused's testimony he'd had 17 hours sleep before he was picked up by police and tested for stability. He remembered walking the tape (line) three times contrary to records produced by two policemen that he had been given five tries and failed twice.

He insisted that he'd consumed two beers earlier and none of the bottle of sherry, partly filled, when police found it with an unopened bottle on the front seat of the car he was driving.

Magistrate Wills, however, says he preferred to believe the police evidence and found Anderson guilty; ordering him to pay a $50 fine and costs within three weeks or spend seven days in jail on default.

JUST SHOWING OFF

Crown attorney John Pringle told Magistrat Wills that he was convinced by the evidence he'd heard that James Postma of R. R. 2 Brighton was an exhibitionist with a motor vehicle in a public street and in his mind had been showing off by street attention. Young Postma pleaded not guilty to careless driving. Sgt. Gordon Stackhouse testified he stopped the accused on Dundas Street on Sunday afternoon after he had been observed screeching tires and watched a car flish (it's when the rear end swings from side to side) down Dundas Street from the King Street intersection. The Skyline restaurant. The magistrate pointed out that he was aware of the

Ontario's Medicare Plan

Good citizens are required to judge a multifude of issues requiring expert knowledge.

How is this to be done?

A favorite tactic is to follow the advice of an informed and impartial individual or newspaper, if such can be found.

We suggest an even more reliable guide to correct judgment is often provided by a study of the views of the frankly partisan.

The impartial observer who, nevertheless, ventures to offer an opinion on any and every subject must occasionally be wrong, no matter how well informed he may be.

But when we find the opinionated shifting their usual allegiance, we are generally safe in assuming that there is sound reason for it.

This method can be used, for instance, in determining one's attitude towards the Ontario Government's medical services insurance bill.

It does not help us at all to discover that the Toronto Star thinks poorly of the bill, for the Star is consistently socialistic in its outlook, except at election time.

Nobody, however, would accuse the Toronto Globe and Mail of leaning leftward. Where social security proposals are concerned, the Globe and Mail has frequently been worried about the cost, about the effect on private enterprise and individual initiative and so forth.

Today we find the Globe and Mail saying of the Ontario Government plan:

"Insurance carriers will be able to single out high risk cases and charge them what— compared with any other government plan in Canada—are exorbitant rates."

"We are right back to the days of discriminating between the sick and the well—the days which first prompted the doctors to organize their own doctor-sponsored non-profit plans; and it is difficult to escape the conclusion that this reactionary step has been taken to serve the private insurance companies."

"It is cynical to suggest that this plan will make medical insurance available to all in Ontario who choose to take it."

It must be a dull mind which cannot translate these outspoken but dignified sentences into a simple judgment.

It is rather obvious that the plan is unsatisfactory.

Communist Discipline

What makes communism tick? What is it that could conceivably ensure the triumph of international communism, as predicted by successive leaders since the time of Marx, and bluntly so by former Premier Khrushchev in his "we shall bury you" sally?

The answer, in one word, is "discipline." Newspaper magnate Lord Thomson made this point in a recent London interview. Asked if he thought the Soviet Union would ever catch up with and surpass the United States in industrial and agricultural production, Lord Thomson, who has visited Russia twice, replied in part: "We in the West did great things during the war and that was because we were under discipline.

"The thing I like about communism," he went on, "is the discipline. I think we lack discipline. I'm afraid that liberty with us has in many respects become license, and I believe we have got to do something to correct this. I think very few of us realise this. Most of us consider our own interests first and not the interests of our country.

"I think if we want to get more purpose into our national life, we have to be forced into it, and if we do not, it is my firm conviction that we are going to be left behind by communism."

That may be true. On the other hand there can be too much discipline, and that is just as bad as too little of it. Discipline Soviet-style is too rigid; westerners would find it intolerable and there is growing evidence to suggest that even the Russians, under the influence of increasing consumer wealth, are slowly acquiring a taste for a more relaxed Western way of life, with all its apparent lack of discipline.

The first range of hills that encircles the scanty vale of human life is the horizon for the majority of its inhabitants. On its ridges the common sun is born and departs. From them the stars rise, and touching them, they vanish.
—Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

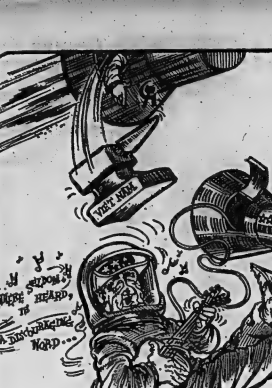
Town Scorns New Plant



Owen Sound Sun-Times

The Collingwood Council found itself in a very strange predicament. While most communities are in a "dog-eat-dog" race in their quest for new industry, the busy and progressive town found itself with the "cat" aspect of an industry it did not want.

And, as the result of strong representations from Collingwood men and others, Council turned thumbs down on a company that proposed to build a shelter for the processing of horse meat for human consumption in Europe.

Despite the assurances of the mayor that the business would be under strict supervision by both federal and provincial authorities, the opposition remained firm and logical, and understandable. Any possibility of unpleasant odors probably would be of more importance than the fact One-dian people just do not approve the eating of horse meat.

Some may refer to scripture in a belief, correct or incorrect, ruling out the eating of the flesh of animals of uncloven hoof. That should hold little weight in this day when so little heed is paid, so many denials made of such writings. But the real opposition is no doubt a general antipathy to horse meat as food.

Determining Pain's Cause Requires Shrewd Study

By JOSEPH G. WOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause an eight-year-old boy to cry out at all hours of the night with stomach cramps? He also complains of headaches and dizzy spells, and is being treated for sinus trouble. He runs a fever off and on.

Isn't pain a sign that something is wrong?—Mrs. B. F.

Certainly pain is a sign that something is wrong. If nothing else, it means that the child is uncomfortable. Whether it means something seriously wrong is another matter. But when pain is accompanied by fever, we take a doubly-careful look.

Let's say at the outset that these cases of recurring pain require shrewd and usually extensive study. There are so many things that can be the cause. Each added bit of information narrows the field of possibilities.

Obviously I don't try to diagnose a problem by mail. All I can do is toss out a few thoughts that come to mind. However, that's the way a diagnosis often is reached — by weighing all the thoughts that come to mind, ruling out those that don't fit, and sticking until the right one fits all the evidence.

Just for a long reach, this sort of case might, for example, indicate a form of epilepsy, but this disease can manifest itself by abdominal pain. The headaches and dizziness could also fit. How does one check this out? Treatment for convulsive disorders might be tried. Or an electroencephalograph (brain wave) test could be made to settle the diagnosis.

Alternatively, these nighttime cramps could result from a stomach or bowel disorder. In this case, X-rays would be indicated.

Again, guided by the recurrent fever, is an infection present? Sinus trouble might be involved. Or perhaps a kidney infection might be in the picture — kidney infections are a more common disorder among both children and adults than is commonly realized.

Infection puts a burden on the lymph nodes, which have to filter off the wastes. The abdominal lymph nodes may be affected, and this sort of thing can cause abdominal pain which stimulates appendicitis attacks.

It is altogether possible — in fact, I'd say probable — that none of the foregoing suggestions will turn out to be the real answer. I submit them just as samples of the questions running through your own doctor's mind as he searches for the right clues.

Dear Dr. Molner: What would cause a person to get a feeling of losing balance when turning or moving the head or walking and then stopping suddenly? — T. K.

Principal possibilities include some fault in visual balance; congestion in the middle ear affecting the "balance" mechanism; possibly faulty circulation to the brain. Your age and other symptoms, if any, would be clues.

Dear Dr. Molner: My sister has given her boy, now 18, raw egg and milk beaten up with chocolate for 14 years. Everyone has advised her to lay off it for a while. In the last four years he seems very absent minded; he can't remember well. Could raw eggs overwork him and affect his brain? He has to drink this each day at 9:30 and hates it worse than poison, but she insists. Sometimes he actually gets nauseated. — Mrs. W.

Raw eggs won't over-tax him and won't affect his brain, but I can't see the benefit of forcing a young fellow to drink something that is so distasteful to him. What's his mother's purpose? I don't see it.

Raw eggs are not always safe. The moist, protein diet is an ideal incubating material for many kinds of germs, especially the products of putrefaction. For myself, I want eggs cooked, not raw. That goes even for eggnog. When it is sold commercially, it is pasteurized and hence safe. The homemade kind should be pasteurized, too, and many people are smart enough to do this.

Today in History

One of the largest groups of United Empire Loyalists settled at Adolphustown, Ont., 181 years ago today — in 1784—after life in the United States had become unbearable for them in the pledges of safety given them in the Treaty of Versailles. An official list of U.E. Loyalists was drawn up in 1789 by the Governor - General, Lord Dorchester, and no person is properly described as "United Empire Loyalist" unless his family is included in this list.

1755 — British captured Fort Beausejour from the French.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—the German eastward advance reached the defences of Lemberg; Italian armies approached Trieste; the Allies resumed the offensive on the Western front.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today — in 1940 — the French government resigned in favor of an administration led by Marshal Petain, then 84, and President Lebrun asked him to make peace with Germany; Estonia and Latvia followed Lithuania in acceding to Russian demands that they admit more Russian troops.

Everybody Being Judged All the Time

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A quite young lady I happen to know was shocked and hurt, she confided when she accidentally happened to overhear two acquaintances discussing her.

"They weren't mean, exactly" she said, "and they seemed to like me —but, my, they certainly took me apart and dwelt on my weak points."

This is one of the lessons we must learn as we grow up, if we do. People talk about us just as we talk about them. No one is exempt or immune. And no one should be shocked or hurt by overhear it.

I am not speaking about gossip or scandal or malicious tattling — just the ordinary, everyday observations and reflections and judgments we pass on one another. And not by strangers or enemies, but by friends who wish us well.

What we cannot see in ourselves is all too evident to the outside observer. What we are vain about amuses others, and what we are ashamed of has no particular place. Even a child knows our soft spots, our conceits and distortions, our ineptitudes and vulnerabilities.

This is a game everyone plays all the time, some with more charity, others with more severity. Man has been called the reasoning animal; but he is also the conversing animal, forever estimating and making judgments.

The hardest of Jesus' sayings is "Judge not that ye be not judged." How can we judge not? We are forced to do it every day, in dozens of ways. If we judge things and situations, should we not judge persons as well?

The world is driven by the comparative inflection — strong-er, richer, prettier, healthier, younger, smarter, better, happier. Who has not felt stronger in the presence of weakness, richer in the presence of poverty, smarter in the presence of dumbness, happier in the presence of misery?

Only a rare-and blessed few are spiritually self-supporting, not given to such comparisons. The vast generality of mankind gets nourishment from the defects of others. We talk about their defects therapeutically — it takes our minds off our own inadequacies.

The quite young lady must learn to meet this situation philosophically. Even your best friends may not tell you — but they will certainly tell a each other about you. As you will with each one of them, about the other. You may do it with the best will in the world (so you say), but you will do it.

It is no accident that what we overhear about ourselves is rarely flattering. That is the ultimate penalty for eavesdropping: we find that others do to us exactly what we do to them.

New Role for Canada

By Al Mariner in the Oakland, Cal., Tribune

The reason for United States intervention in the Dominican revolt, according to President Johnson, was the presence of 58 Communists in the rebel movement. We don't want another Red outpost in the western hemisphere.

Fine, but what my 15-year-old daughter wanted to know the other day was this: Why didn't Mr. Johnson send Marines to the University of California last fall?

For J. Edgar Hoover said his FBI had learned that there were 43 persons with "subversive backgrounds" involved in the Free Speech Movement at Cal and isn't it worse to have a Red outpost within our borders than without?

Silly child.

In the first place, there are 58 Communists in the Dominican revolt and there were only 43 background subversives in the FSM chaos.

Our government knows best. The State Department Federal Intervention Table probably provides for armed involvem e nt only if there are more than 57 out-and-out Communists in any given uprising.

Perhaps eventually it will be lowered to 40.

There are other considerations of which you are obviously not aware, my daughter.

It is one thing to send our Marines to a foreign country, quite another to send them into one of our own states against our own people. That would be a violation of state and individual rights.

Perhaps, on the basis of this limiting factor, we can work out an arrangement with Canada to intervene in Berkeley should there be another FSM revolt, particularly if that revolt should include Americans from the (50) real Communists.

Canadian troops would move in quickly on the pretext that they must protect Canadian citizens, then follow up with the announcement that actually the soldiers were sent here because of the involvement of 31 Communists in the FSM insurrection.

Canada had to act instantly, there was no time to wait for the U.S. Congress or the California legislature to do something. As soon as it is settled, the troops will leave, but not one second sooner.

We've got to understand the situation.

Naturally, the FSM rebels (both Communist and non-Communist) would end up hating the Canadians. If our State Department hadn't approved Canadian intervention, we would hate them too.

Look here, we would say, what happens in Berkeley is our problem, not Canada's; though they could argue that the UC revolt may have spread throughout the United States and could have threatened Canada.

There would be one terrible argument, and the whole world would join in. For while the Canadian police could end any quick move into Berkeley, it did not provide for a quick move out. The fighting would continue.

So there you are and here we are. I hope you understand the situation now, little sweet, daughter.

You don't? Well, neither do I. Don't ask me. I'm more damned fool questions.

Ruhr Keeps Water Clean

By Allen V. Kneese in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists

In deciding how to dispose of its wastes, an upstream firm or city is not forced to take into account the costs imposed upon downstream water users or the value of water use opportunities foreclosed by its effluent discharge.

The upstream paper mill which dumps its wastes into water without bearing any of the downstream costs produces paper which is artificially cheap.

There is one area of the world where problems of the intensity we are beginning to face in the United States have existed for a long time and where they have, in my view, been effectively and efficiently handled: the Ruhr region of Germany.

The Ruhr region is approximately half the size of the Delaware River basin. The streams which serve it have a very low flow during the summer months — approximately one quarter of the lowest flow recorded on the Delaware River. The industrial part of the area is around eight million and it is perhaps the world's most heavily industrialized area.

Forty percent of the industrial production of Germany originates in this region including about 80 percent of the heavy industrial output.

Because of the density of population and enormous industrial output, the waste disposal demands within this region are quite large. Yet major sections of the Ruhr River are so much used that the stream itself is suitable for recreation purposes, including swimming and boating.

Moreover, prices of unsubsidized publicly supplied water are as low as, or lower than, any of the major urban areas of Germany.

These features are central to the success of the Ruhr area in its totality. The system that has developed has been specifically designed to meet the needs of the Ruhr region. Water waste disposal is managed on a region-wide basis in accordance with the system of economics resulting from flow regulation and large-scale treatment plants. Some of the potential waste-products; the regenerative capacity of the streams is utilized to the extent consistent with water quality standards which are based on a variety of water uses in the area; one stream in the region is dedicated to waste disposal use only; industries and cities pay a charge for the effluent they contribute to the waste disposal system, based upon periodic tests of the quality and quantity of their effluent.

The results that have been obtained in the Ruhr region are impressive.

The system of effluent charges motivates industries to reduce the contribution of their waste to rivers. The firm decides on basis of the schedule of charges how extent to which it should treat its wastes or alter its industrial processes to minimize costs.

The administrative agency decided upon a level of charges consistent with what it considers to be the over-all cost of dealing with the wastes.

It would seem appropriate that we begin moving toward regional systems adapted to the needs of particular areas in the United States.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Home Improvement Means More Taxes

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

As a property owner (by kind permission of a mortgage society), I feel I have the right to obtain a logical explanation as to why our taxes should be increased because of any improvement we may make to our home, such as finished recreation room, and forced air heating system, etc.

I tried to obtain this explanation from the assessment department of the city hall, the employee there (who no doubt is only repeating what he has been told), informed me, and I quote, 'that you should look at it this way, you have built a house for 'X' number of dollars and make improvements and when you go to sell it again quote, "It is like income tax - the more money you make the more you pay out."

Surely with so many shacks and dilapidated properties there is need throughout Belleville it would be more common sense to increase taxes on properties that are so neglected, this in turn would encourage homeowners to improve their homes. Taxes should then be decreased on property where the owners show pride of ownership.

I read with interest an article in Wednesday's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer and stated "one-half of the city's 9,500 residential units will have to be replaced within the next 25 years unless Council takes steps to see that they are properly maintained."

All the while the present system of penalizing the homeowner who takes pride in his possession exists, there is no incentive other than to neglect properties.

Doctors Believe New Statement On Medicare Is 'Conciliatory'

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Medical Association satisfied it has made a conciliatory approach to the question of a universal medical care plan.

The association's annual meeting Tuesday unanimously approved a policy statement reiterating a 1960 view that it was opposed to any country-wide, compulsory, government-supported plan.

But it did favor health insurance being available to all Canadians who wanted it, with he provision that both doctors and patients have the right not to participate in any scheme.

"This statement represents a culmination of our previous thinking," said Dr. Victor C. Goldbloom of Montreal, who presented the statement.

"It is a conciliatory approach which expresses our willingness to work together for the common good."

SHOULDN'T INTERFERE

Medical services insurance is the responsibility of the provinces and federal financial contributions should not interfere with the self-determination of the provinces, he said.

Dr. Goldbloom said the association was never opposed to health insurance as such. It objected to provisions attached to it, such as the Saskatchewan plan which made no provision for a physician to opt out.

The statement said there is a danger that a tax-supported, compulsory plan might result in restrictions of coverage, quality it care and be in continual conflict with providers of service on working conditions and remuneration.

Dr. R. K. Thomson of Edmonton was nominated as president-elect of the association. He will become president at the annual meeting in Edmonton June 13 to 17 next year.

Dr. Thomson now is chairman of the general council and executive committee.

Dr. R. D. Atkinson of Waterloo, Ont., was nominated to succeed Dr. Thomson in his present post.

Dr. R. O. Jones of Halifax will be installed as CMA president tonight, succeeding Dr. Frank Turnbull of Vancouver.

Wilson Seems in Danger Of Sliding Into Electoral Disaster, May Call Vote

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Like a man painfully trying to scale a high mountain, Prime Minister Wilson seems in danger of sliding to electoral disaster.

Only the most biased of his Conservative opponents would dare to write the dynamic Wilson's political obituary yet. But the impression is spreading at home and abroad that his eight-month-old Labor government is fighting for its life and will be forced into a national election by the fall.

Among the most recent developments contributing to this impression:

—Britain's international trade took a sharp turn for the worse during May. The warning for the fifth successive month, spent more abroad than it earned.

—The already wobbly pound sterling weakened again on world money markets. This pointed to a new financial crisis by October, when seasonal pressures on the pound are greatest.

—The Socialists claim they have brought Britain's trade deficit down this year to half the 1964 average, when the Conservatives were ruling. But they also confess the national performance still is not nearly good enough. With consumer price inflation, a falling production index and the pound on the slide, tough new economic squeeze action is in the cards. This is unlikely to improve Wilson's standing with the public.

—A Gallup poll published last week gave the Conservatives a 4½-per-cent lead over Labor —enough to put them back into power if an election were held now. In the previous poll Labor led the Conservatives by 1% points.

WHY SUCH TROUBLE?

What has gone wrong for Wilson?

To begin with, he scraped into office last October with a margin of only three votes in the 630-member House of Commons.

He inherited a massive fiscal crisis that compelled him to raise a record $3 billion dollar loans to maintain the pound against devaluation.

Ever since, his administration has looked as if it were trying to do the splits between short-term emergency measures and long-term measures promised in its election program.

One result: Labor has failed to fulfil the excessive expectations aroused during the campaign.

Instead of the brave new society in which inefficiency frustration and selfishness was to vanish, Britain has seemed to stumble and bumble along from one crisis to another.

Instead of creating a revitalized Britain, the government, playing for time, has had to make do with policies that have a second-hand look.

TAKES SOFTER LINE

Instead of sounding Britain's voice loud and clear in world councils as Wilson pledged to do, Labor has seemed in its defence and foreign policies to be even more conservative than the Conservatives.

Wilson has had to retreat on several fronts. A bill to outlaw racial discrimination has been watered down. The socialization of steel has been indefinitely shelved, as have plans for the state to take over urban building land.

New housing has lagged. Imports have reached record levels. Exports remain sluggish. Prices go on rising. Mortgages are difficult to get. Wilson remains tied to President Johnson's policy to fight on in Viet Nam.

Find Cramp Not Guilty Of Corruption Charge

BARRIE (CP) — Wilbur M. Cramp, former mayor of Orillia, today was forbid not guilty to three charges of municipal corruption involving Northern Ontario Natural Gas share transactions in 1956.

Cramp was charged with accepting NONG shares for promoting a NONG franchise in Orillia and for blocking the franchise bid of rival Consumers' Gas and with conspiring with former NONG president Ralph Farris of Vancouver in these transactions.

Farris was subsequently convicted in Ontario Supreme Court of perjuring himself at a 1958 judicial inquiry into the distribution of stock in the company. He was sentenced to nine months definite and nine months indefinite.

In handing down his verdict Judge Colin Bennett said he was not convinced Cramp accepted 120 free shares as a consideration for promoting NONG interests.

FOUGHT FOR TOWN

Because NONG's rates were lower than those of Consumers' Gas and because there was a possibility of new industry if the franchise went to NONG, Judge Bennett said Cramp's aggressive backing of the franchise bid was in the best interests of the town.

"Any mayor would do the same for the benefit of his town."

The judge said, however, that the former mayor "seriously violated public trust as a mayor" in accepting the shares and offended the morality of public office.

"The fact that in English law the accused is entitled to the benefit of the doubt came to Mr. Cramps rescue in this case."

RECORD SALE

PARIS (Reuters)—A painting by French impressionist Claude Monet was sold for 2,520,000 francs (about $504,000) at an art auction here Tuesday night. The price is believed to be a record for a Paris art auction.

Large Viet Cong Force Ambushes Govt. Convoy

SAIGON (AP)—A large Viet Cong force ambushed a government convoy 13 miles southwest of Saigon today, apparently captured the American adviser with the unit, and shot down a helicopter sent in to relieve the convoy, U.S. spokesmen announced.

One of the Americans aboard the helicopter was killed and the other three were badly wounded, the spokesman said.

In another part of South Viet Nam, two U.S. Air Force fighters collided in the air and crashed, the spokesmen announced. They said one pilot parachuted to safety and was picked up.

A terrorist bomb exploded in the civilian terminal building of the Saigon airport, injuring 34 Americans and at least 12 other persons, but 120 U.S. troops waiting a short distance away to board two jet transports for the United States were not harmed.

Security officials said the bomb was a plastic explosive weighing between 10 and 20 pounds. It exploded in an Air France freight office overlooking the main waiting room.

The concrete terminal was showered with debris and broken glass. Every window in the building was blown out and a section of the roof collapsed.

SECOND IN YEAR

The explosion was the second terrorist blast at the airport in less than a year. Another blast last October badly damaged the terminal restaurant.

A row of stakes backed by a wall of sandbags were erected in the Saigon market place today, and police sources said at least five men would be publicly executed during the next few days.

They said the condemned men included Communist Viet Cong terrorists and black marketeers.

There was heavy anti-aircraft fire over some of the targets but all the planes returned, a spokesman said.

U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara may discuss today the scope of a U.S. troop building which could reach 75,000 to 80,000 men in South Viet Nam in the next several months.

McNamara called a mid-afternoon press conference without announcing a subject. The Viet Nam war was certain to form the centre of the questioning.

There is a strong impression that President Johnson, who makes the final decisions on troop commitments, is feeling his way and will avoid any hasty moves.

U.S. authorities here and in Saigon now acknowledge that the Communist Viet Cong have started their long - expected rainy season offensive after building up manpower and supplies.

The widely held U.S. view is that the Communists probably will go all out to punish the South Vietnamese army and inflict serious casualties on the Americans, in hopes this will sap South Vietnamese morale and the U.S. will to stick it out.

Those who hold this view also believe that if the summer offensive is blunted, and Viet Cong are bloodied badly, North Viet Nam may be willing to negotiate.

Councillors Cut Own Pay But Tax Rises

PEMBROKE (CP) — Council members have voted to cut their salaries by 10 per cent in an attempt to hold down tax increases, it was learned Tuesday night.

The move was made at a closed meeting last week and was not revealed until council brought in a municipal tax increase of three mills at Tuesday's meeting.

The suggestion to cut their own salaries came from Coun. Bob Dey during debate on his request for $5,500 to operate Pembroke Memorial community centre.

The salary cuts will be for the entire year, and will cut $400 from the mayor's $4,000 stipend. The reeve and deputy reeve each will lose $180 of their $1,200 salary, while the nine council members each lose $100.

WILL TEST BALLOON

LONDON (CP) — A balloon costing £15,000 ($45,000) and capable of carrying three tons of logs is to be shipped to British Columbia next week for tests in removing timber from previously inaccessible forest areas. A spokesman for Airborne Industries of Southampton, manufacturers of the three-finned craft, said Tuesday that if the balloon proves successful the company will have orders for between 300 and 300 a year.

TUESDAY, June 15, 1965

State Secretary Lamontagne announced the government would receive applications from Canadian broadcasters to begin color TV broadcasts by Jan. 1, 1967.

The Commons continued debate on Finance Minister Gordon's proposed tax changes.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said proposals designed to maintain Canadian ownership of newspapers were "the first steps towards the throttling of free expression."

Deputy Speaker Lamoureux ruled out of order an amendment that would make money spent on advertising in Time and Reader's Digest ineligible as tax deduction.

The amendment was moved by Douglas Fisher, NDP deputy leader, who said the finance minister lacked the courage to pinpoint the magazines in his budget.

WEDNESDAY, June 16

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to continue debate on budget resolutions. The Senate stands adjourned until June 22.

FLAGS HAVE CHANGED

Pensacola, Fla., site of the U.S. Navy air base, has lived under the flags of Spain, France, Britain, the Confederacy, and the United States.

CANADA'S NEW LABOUR CODE/ Hon. Allan MacEachen, Minister of Labour, answers some questions:

"Our new Canada Labour Code has been called a 'first,' Mr. MacEachen. Would you agree?"

"Yes, and it is one of the most all-embracing. Canada has a right to be proud of it. It sets higher standards than have been set for any other country I know. Other countries are taking note of the way the Canadian Parliament is ensuring that more workers share in this country's growth."

"Briefly, who does this new Code apply to?"

"It applies to industries which fall under Federal jurisdiction—and may well prove to be a guide for other industries. The Government itself, which is a large employer in its own right, will take the lead by applying the Code's standards to its own federal employees."

"Let's get down to specifics. What, exactly, does it promise to those employees who are affected by it?"

"As we said, it sets minimum standards—and I stress that these are minimum, because, of course, a lot of workers already enjoy higher standards than the Code sets.

First, it sets a standard 8 hour day and a 40 hour week, with overtime limited to 8 hours a week, and paid for at time-and-a-half.

Second, it sets the minimum wage rate for all men and women over 17 years of age at $1.25 an hour.

Next, it provides for two weeks annual vacation with pay, after one year's service; or 4% of wages as vacation pay for those with from 30 days to a year's service.

Finally, it stipulates that each employee shall get eight statutory holidays with pay a year—or get a full day off in lieu of the holiday."

"You said the new Code applies to industries under Federal jurisdiction. Would you name them?"

"The Code covers interprovincial or international rail and highway transport, primary fishing where the fishermen work for wages, air transport, radio and TV, shipping, banks, uranium mining, grain elevators, flour and feed mills and warehousing, seed cleaning mills, interprovincial or international pipelines and ferries, interprovincial or international telegraphs and telephones, most Crown corporations and one or two other smaller industries."

If you are not sure whether you are covered by the Canada Labour (Standards) Code, write to Department of Labour, Ottawa.

WEDDING

ROSE — BOWERMAN

Rev. Morgan McFarlane officiated before a background of pink and white peonies in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, June 12, when Vivian Grace Bowerman, daughter of Mrs. Lorna Bowerman of Albury was united in marriage to Douglas Gerald Rose, son of Mrs. Betty Rose of Belleville.

Mr. Clifford Templer played traditional wedding music and accompanied the bride's sister, Mrs. Carl Reid in two selections.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Vernon Bowerman of Kingston, the bride wore a full length bridal gown of white peau de soie with the sheath skirt highlighted with an embroidered panel and enhanced with a full flaring back. A shoulder-length veil flowed from a coronet of pearls. She carried a white Bible crested with pink baby Sweetheart roses.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Margaret Burgess who wore a dress of pink net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink and white mums.

Mr. Bruce Johnston was the groomsman, while Mr. Eric Johnson was the usher.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reid at Albury when Miss Linda Peck and Mrs. Eric Peck assisted with the serving.

For the wedding trip to Algonquin Park and northern points the bride chose a navy blue linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Previous to the marriage the bride was entertained at the home of Mrs. Eric Peck in Belleville when members of the Lab staff of Belleville General Hospital were present; also at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Beuford Peck at Albury with co-hostesses Miss Linda Peck, Miss Ida Mae Beck and Mrs. Ed Bartlett.

Hospital Auxiliary Announces Proceeds of Volunteer Projects

Cheques totalling $2780. were presented to Mrs. William Dallas, president, by the conveners of the three main volunteer projects. This sum represents the net proceeds of the last six months' operations, and will be given to the Belleville General Hospital to purchase needed equipment.

It continues to be the Auxiliary's chief money - raising project and performs a valuable service for the citizens of Belleville and the surrounding district. For many years the store has been used by thrifty shoppers as a source of good used clothing and household articles. Mrs. Musgrove announced that the Shop will close for the summer at the end of June and will re - open in September.

Mrs. Angus B. Duffy, convener of the Coffee Cart, presented a cheque for $200. representing six months' proceeds of this in - hospital service. From a convenient location in the hospital, coffee is served at a nominal cost to visitors. This service has proven popular and useful.

A cheque for $70 was presented to the Auxiliary president by Mrs. Donald Leslie, convener of the Gift Corner, a small shop located in the waiting room of the hospital. Stocked with hand-made articles donated by members and friends of the Auxiliary, the Gift Corner has proved to be a useful convenience for patients and visitors.

PAYS TRIBUTE

In accepting the cheques Mrs. Dallas paid tribute to the many hours of work donated to Auxiliary projects by volunteers.

The Auxiliary assists in several useful in-hospital services. Among these is the operation of the Samaritan Cupboard, conversed by Mrs. J. R. Casey. During the last six months over 120 hand-made articles of clothing have been provided for new-born babies.

The president announced that plans are being made for the annual Auxiliary fashion show to be held next October 20th. This popular event will be arranged by Mrs. T. N. Davidson.

On behalf of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Ben E. Burley, a past president, presented a gift to Miss Doris Smith, Director of Nursing for the Belleville General Hospital. STRAWBERRY CHEESECAKE PIE

Tomorrow I will give you the recipe for the Tuna Salad I promised but today I'm so full of admiration for my own handiwork that I have to declaim.

In addition to the superb tasting combination of strawberries with cheesecake filling, this pie is made beautiful with a clear red glaze on top of the red strawberries and tempts even the strongest-willed reducers.

Usually I encourage you to improvise but I want to urge you not to substitute a plain pastry crust for the graham cracker crust in the recipe. The graham cracker crust is the perfect base for the cheesecake filling under the strawberries.

Bean and Vegetable Soup (see Monday); Cheese Muffins (see Tuesday); Cold Meat Platter Sliced Cold Chicken and Ham, Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers; Cranberry Orange Relish; Peach Upside Down Cake; Tea.

STRAWBERRY CHEESECAKE PIE:

Crust: 1¼ cups fine graham cracker crumbs, 1/3 cup lightly packed light brown sugar, 1/3 cup melted butter.

Cheesecake Filling: 2 egg yolks, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup cold water, ¼ cup boiling water, one 4-oz. package lemon pie filling (not instant), ¾ cup 18% cream, 1¼ cups sieved cottage cheese (see below), 1 teaspoon (well-packed) grated lemon rind.

Topping: 1 pint fresh strawberries, 2 teaspoons arrowroot flour or cornstarch, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/3 cup hot water, ¼ teaspoon red food coloring.

To Make Crust: Mix together graham cracker crumbs, brown sugar and melted butter and pat evenly into bottom of 9" deep pie plate, making edge smooth. Chill.

To Make Filling: Measure into a heavy saucepan the egg yolks, white sugar, cold water and packaged pie filling. Mix well, then stir in boiling water and cream and cook, stirring, until thick. Reduce heat and cook, stirring, 2 or 3 minutes. Cool and stir in sieved cottage cheese and lemon rind. (Note: I simply removed ¼ cup cottage cheese from a 1-lb. box and sieved remainder directly into cooled filling, then skipping one measuring step.) Stir well, then stir in boiling water and cream and cook, stirring, until thick. Reduce heat and cook, stirring, 2 or 3 minutes. Cool and stir in sieved cottage cheese and lemon rind. (Note: I simply removed ¼ cup cottage cheese from a 1-lb. box and sieved remainder directly into cooled filling, then skipping one measuring step.) Stir well, then stir in boiling water and cream and cook, stirring, until thick. Remove from heat and add red food coloring. Force through strainer.

Wash and hull and dry remaining strawberries. Select 7 perfect big ones and arrange in tight circle on top of filling at centre. Cut remaining berries in halves lengthwise and arrange in concentric circles on filling to completely cover pie, each pointing small. Spoon prepared red glaze over strawberries, being sure each one is covered. Chill.

The beautiful pie should be made in the morning of the day on which it is to be used.

Clothes Shown In Cheap Price Range

MONTREAL (CP) — A chic collection of Paris - designed clothes was previewed here Tuesday — with the accent on thrift.

Made by a Canadian manufacturer, the suits, coat and dress ensembles, cocktail numbers and evening gowns all fall within the $35 - to - $50 price range.

The models appeared in youthful - looking three - piece suit combinations in imported wool tweeds, checks and solids.

A plum jacket with oval lines closed with three small buttons and was worn with a mauve skirt and top. Most jacket sleeves ended at quarter length.

A coat dress in beige with an away - from - the - neckline collar had the wider set - in shoulder, three-quarter sleeves, front buttons and a chain belt. It was worn with a fur bonnet with an under-the-chin tie.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DON GEORGE, DAUPHIN M. S.

If baby is going through a particularly fussy teething period, it's best to delay starting new foods until he's his own cheerful self again. He might take a dislike to a food that may be hard to overcome.

Help in the mouthing department comes in the shape of Gerber Teething Biscuits. Extra-hard, they provide the biting satisfaction baby needs. Scalloped edges and waffled surface make for easy grasping.

Favourite foods are your best bets when baby has teething troubles. You can encourage baby to eat more by serving good-tasting Gerber Strained Foods. Whether they're fruits, vegetables, meats, dinners, meat dinners, cereal-fruit combinations they're prepared to please little palates. Know why? Because each and every one is "custom-cooked" according to its own requirements to bring out the best in flavour; preserve the utmost in precious nutritive values.

Feeding strategy. I think you'll find most doctors will agree that for baby to enjoy his food is more important than how much he eats. Forcing never made a baby a better eater; pleasant mealtimes often have.

Co-ordination much to come to active babies sooner than to placid ones. But remember, physical development does not follow a rigid timetable. If active baby's physical skills faster, it's probably because they make a greater effort.

Active or placid babies need plenty of protein to aid growth and muscle development. Besides Gerber Meats for babies, Gerber Egg Yolks offer a good source of protein. They're also an excellent source of iron and vitamin A. A delicate fresh-egg flavour and a creamy texture make them downright delectable, Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Three Woman Trainers Making Good on Circuit

CALGARY (CP)—Racehorses, like colicky babies, are often high-strung and nervous, and a good trainer must be sensitive to their needs and moods.

Three woman trainers at Victoria Park Race Track here appear to have learned this. Millie Peterson, Renee Schlaussing and Ada Cowan manage quite nicely in a field that is dominated by men—there are only five women among the 200 trainers at the track.

Mrs. Peterson, who farms near Bowden, Alta., says, for example, that each horse "requires a different amount of exercising."

"You can liken them to athletes. You train them as hard as you can without hurting them."

Mrs. Peterson, who shows her own horses and has been on the A racing circuit since 1950, says a filly may need lots of petting and little training while a stallion will scorn affection and demand "good, firm discipline."

"But discipline can be with the voice and not with the stick."

LIKE BEING COACH

Miss Schleussing, an agile blonde who came to Canada from Germany and holds a university degree in library science, came into contact with horses only a few years ago when she started a ranch with Heidi Hannibal southwest of Calgary.

In her fourth year as a trainer on the circuit, she feels that "being a trainer is like being ecach of a football team."

"You decide on the amount and type of exercise and then direct exercise boys, jockeys and grooms on the way you want each horse trained and cared for."

Miss Schleussing beds down in her tack room beside the barns with an electric kettle, frying pan and a Dalmatian dog for company.

Susanna's Family Fare

ONE FOR ALL

Dear Susanna: Making dressing for a turkey always presented a problem to me, as no matter how large a bowl I used, it never seemed to be big enough.

Always, when I came to mix the butter or margarine, onions and seasoning, in with the bread crumbs, some of the contents would go sailing out of the dish onto the table or the floor. But being the ingenious Susanna reader that I am, I not only solved my problem, but saved myself some work as well, so I'm passing the solution on to all my sisters-under-the-skin out there:

Simply use the bottom of the roast pan in which you are going to cook the bird, to stir or mix up the dressing! After it is all prepared and you have stuffed madame turkey, swish the pan out under the tap (don't even bother to dry it because it's going right into the oven, anyway) and place the finished product into the roaster for cooking to a delectable golden brown. Don't you love my idea? — Mrs. Kay Crawford

GRASS STAINS!

Dear Susanna: For the removal of grass stains, pour rubbing alcohol onto a clean DRY cloth and rub onto the stains. The material must now be wet. As the stain comes off the article, keep changing to a clean spot on the rubbing cloth.

Before laundering as usual, you can remove any mud that was picked up with the grass stain by applying a damp soap solution to the still dry article. — V. Krikorian

May Allow Women to Work Nights

QUEBEC (CP)—The possibility of allowing women in Quebec to work in factories at night will be studied by an advisory committee appointed Tuesday by the Quebec cabinet.

The committee is charged with studying the economic and social implications of such work and with describing essential working conditions.

"Night work in Quebec industries has become an economic necessity and work by the female labor force is not subject to the same legislative restrictions outside the province," the order-in-council setting up the committee read.

Mrs. Yvette Dezsault Mallioux ,recently - appointed Montreal juvenile court judge, will head the inquiry.

HUDDERSFIELD, England (CP)—Mrs. Beryl Green decided to name her triplets after three of the Beatles at the suggestion of her five - year - old daughter Tina. Beatle-fan Tina urged her parents to call the new arrivals George, Paul and John and they agreed.

Mrs. Austin Smith Looking Forward to 90th Birthday

The Women's Christian Association residence at 58 Highland Ave., will be the scene Thursday for a happy birthday party as family members of Mrs. Austin Smith gather to pay tribute and offer congratulations.

It will be Mrs. Smith's 90th birthday.

"They'll be here," stated the cheerful nonagenarian, referring to her two sons and a long list of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

But final decision on holding the birthday party was not made until yesterday because of Mrs. Smith's recent confinement to bed with an attack of arthritis.

Today, however, she is feeling better and is looking forward to the party and also to getting to church on Sunday for the first time in several weeks.

"I have been away from Church long enough," she said.

INTEREST NATURAL

Interest in church and in church work remains natural for Mrs. Smith, who has seen no less than three members of her family ascended to the ministry.

Her husband, the late Rev. Austin Smith, was a minister; a son, Canon Arthur Smith, is rector at Deer Park Christ Church in Toronto, while a grandson, Peter Beaumont Smith is chaplain at Trinity University.

Canon Smith for a number of years was rector of St. Thomas' Church in Belleville, where Mrs. Smith's husband assisted for some time following his retirement.

One of a family of ten children, Mrs. Smith was the former Edith Mary Shortt. She was born in Ottawa and there met her husband-to-be, already an Anglican minister.

EYESIGHT FAILING

Following their marriage in St. Bartholomew's Church in Ottawa, Mrs. Smith's husband was appointed to a charge at Sharbot Lake and later other charges in Eastern Ontario and in Oxford county.

Now with "not too good" eyesight and slight difficulty in hearing, Mrs. Smith nevertheless still retains a cheerful attitude on life. She finds it a bit difficult to recognize people and to converse with them but she is quick on the reports and finds the telephone a great convenience.

She has 13 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren, many of whose pictures are on the walls and mantle of her room at the WCA residence.

"We are a close knit family; that helps a lot, she says.

ST. ANNE'S C.W.I.

St. Anne's Council of the C.W.I. held an Anniversary Tea in St. Anne's School on Sunday afternoon, June 8th, on the occasion of their 40th anniversary. Invitations were extended to members of the other churches and quite a number attended.

The guests were received at the door by the president, Mrs. J. Buckley, assisted by past president Miss Patricia Whalen, and Gertrude Simmons, and invited to sign the guest book. Mrs. L. Gehan invited the guests to the tea room.

The tea table was covered with a banquet cloth, with a silver bowl of lemon lillies and spirea flanked by blue and yellow tapers in silver candelabra.

Pouring tea were: Mrs. N. Campbell, Mrs. E. Eshaugh, Mrs. J. M. Huck, Mrs. F. Simmons and Mrs. T. Bowler.

The individual tea tables were appropriately decorated with single vases of flowers.

The young ladies of the parish served the tea tables.

Mrs. M. Flesch and her able assistants prepared the tea and the plates of dainty sandwiches and cookies.

Japanese Wives, Office Girls Turn to Diamonds

That's why Japanese housewives and office girls, once crazy about stocks before the stock market became shaky, now are turning to diamonds for investments.

Jewelry shops report a rush on diamonds.

At first there was a demand for the gems from 15,000 yen ($42) to 60,000 yen ($167). But this changed to diamonds ranging from 1,500,000 yen ($4,778) to 5,000,000 yen ($13,889). There were even cases where some wealthy Japanese women unhesitatingly selected diamonds selling for more than 10,000,000 yen ($27,778).

Annual import of ornamental diamonds for 1962 totalled $6,800,000 in customs cleared terms, government statistics reveal. This was doubled in 1963 to $13,100,000, then rose to $18,200,000 last year.

There is the possibility of a total of 180,000 carats of diamonds valued at $35,500,000 being released in the near future for the domestic market. These are currently held in the Bank of Japan vaults. They are part of the precious gems that were contributed by the public for war effort during the Second World War. They were confiscated by the Allied occupation authorities, but later returned to the Japanese government.

Jewelry dealers maintain that such a large supply of gems cannot be absorbed in Japan alone. Presumably part of them will have to be sold abroad.

Women Want Red China Admitted

MONTREAL (CP)—The women's advisory board of Expo '67 recommended Tuesday that Communist China be invited to participate in the world exhibition.

In another resolution, the women's advisory board asked Expo '67 to establish a no-tipping policy for the more than 300 guides, hostesses and interpreters who will be hired for the world's fair.

The advisory board is made up of representatives of a number of women's organizations.

U.C.W. Meetings

WOOLER U.C.W.

WOOLER — Unit 2 of Wooler U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Hugh Fox on Tuesday evening. The meeting was conducted by the leader, Mrs. Stan Fox, who opened with the reading, in unison of a Psalm, followed with prayer and a hymn.

Worship was led by Mrs. Angus Gunter, whose theme was "Pentecost".

A business session followed. Mrs. Fox welcomed all, and thanked the members who helped make the spring tea of last week most successful. Mrs. E. A. Read gave an encouraging treasurer's report for the first half of the year.

Mrs. R. S. Gunter led an interesting study on the subject, "A Chosen People".

While lunch was arranged by Mrs. H. Fox and Mrs. S. Fox, an auction was conducted by Mrs. K. Gunter of unsold articles from the recent tea.

No meeting will be held during July and August.

Ladies' Club Views Pictures Of Olden Days

Prince Edward - Belleville Ladies' Club held the regular monthly meeting at the Recreation Centre last Wednesday evening, with 30 members and three visitors present. One of the visitors Mrs. H. Welch joined the club.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. O. White, in the absence of the secretary Mrs. A. Mitchell. The treasurer Mrs. Fox gave the financial report.

Mrs. Pierson read a letter from Mrs. Acelia Youngson, which stated how she had always enjoyed the Prince Edward Club, and the turkey dinner. She also sent a donation. It was planned that members have a picnic at Zwick's Island on July 7th; also a bus trip to Lake-on-the-Mountain on August 11th.

Mrs. Bedell and Mrs. Trumpour's group had charge of the program. Mrs. Bedell welcomed everyone and Mrs. Garbutt read a poem.

Mrs. Bedell introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Bakay, assistant chief operator for the Bell Telephone who gave an interesting talk. She showed pictures and played records beginning at 1900. These pictures recalled when eggs were 20c a doz., butter 25c a lb., Men's suits were $3.95. She showed pictures of the first cars with cranks, with speed of eight miles an hour. The evening's entertainment in those olden times was family singing and listening to gramophones. C.J.B.Q.'s first broadcast was in 1946 and the first telephone hour on TV in 1950.

Mrs. Bakay's pictures and talk brought back many memories.

Mrs. Bedell thanked her group; also Mrs. Bakay and presented her with a gift.

Mrs. Bedell and her group served a delicious lunch and all enjoyed a social time.

Ann Landers

TV Commercials Superior To Lowbrow Programs

DEAR ANN LANDERS—I'm a teen-ager who got a boot out of the letter from that square mother who complained about the TV commercials. She was afraid the brassiere and girdle and beer ads would give her teen-agers ideas.

ANN LANDERS

I'm telling that mother she doesn't need to worry. We never pay any attention to the commercials. In fact, the minute a TV commercial begins we go to the bathroom, or run to the kitchen to get a drink of water or something to eat. (Teenagers aren't the only ones who do this. Adults do it also.)

Just to test if I am right, I'll bet if this mother would ask her teen-agers the sponsors of their favorite programs they wouldn't be able to tell her — VIEWER AGE 17.

DEAR VIEWER — From what I've seen on TV lately you kids are watching the wrong stuff. For the most part, the programming is so poor it almost makes tasteless commercials look good.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Our son is a sophomore in high school. He has become a serious student of biology. Several weeks ago they studied the hookworm, the fluke and other parasites. Now our son refuses to eat meat unless it is burned black. He says people get sick and even die from eating undercooked meat.

Both my husband and I have tried to tell him this is not true. Neither of us has ever heard of anyone who got sick or died from eating rare meat. Will you settle this in your column? It is a nuisance to have to cook meat special for the boy. — ASSIST NEEDED.

DEAR ASSIST — Eating rare meat does not make people sick. Only if the meat is infected will it cause illness. The U.S. government meat inspectors do a fine job of protecting the public against this hazard.

It is best to cook all meat fairly well — especially pork — but it does not need to be burned black.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am not very pretty and have never had many dates. It is horrible for an 18-year-old girl to sit home night after night while all her friends are having fun.

Then Paul came along. I was so thrilled to have a boy friend that I knocked myself out doing everything I could to keep him interested. Well, I did everything all right, and that was my big mistake.

After six months, Paul said, "This is the end of the line for you and me. I've met a 100% pure, clean-living girl and I want to marry her."

I reminded Paul that I had been 100% pure and clean-living until he came along. He said, "If you were dumb enough to buy my sales pitch it's your tough luck, not mine."

Please print my letter as a warning to other girls who may be tempted to make the same mistake. I am so ashamed I can't look in the mirror. — SMART TOO LATE.

DEAR FRIEND — Better to get smart too late than not at all. Some girls make this same mistake over and over again and they never catch on. Bury the past and put into practice your new-found wisdom.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother's Helper

CHILDREN LOVE grownup gadgets as toys. For example, a real padlock with a key is exciting. Rig up a box with a clasp, so he can have his own safe. An old check to dismember—or a discarded outlet with mysterious compartments—can be fun, too. (Thanks to Edward Merriwether, Atlanta, Ga.)

TIMING VITAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Marie-Paule St.-Arnaud, who works on Calendar, a CBC mid-day television show, says script assistants "can't be dramatic or temperamental and must learn that nothing is impossible." She said timing is the key word for script assistants, who are liaison between the producer-director of the show and the production crew.

Albert College Guild Enjoys Luncheon

Mrs. C. W. Smith was hostess for the June meeting of the Albert College Guild at her lovely home on the Redmorville Road.

After a delicious pot-luck luncheon, a short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Frank Davidson, who welcomed the members and their guests, and on behalf of the Guild extended a gracious thanks to Mrs. Smith for her kind hospitality.

Miss Helen Solman, program convener, had arranged a number of interesting contests in which all members took part, bringing an afternoon of good fellowship to a happy conclusion.

WORKS ON ALONE

MOOSOMIN, Sask. (CP) — Helen Carscadden is one of two licensed embalmers in Saskatchewan and probably the only woman undertaker in the province. After assisting her husband in the business for several years, Mrs. Carscadden carried on alone when she was widowed.

Storm

cowardly and I don't accept it from the member for Fort Arthur."

With Mr. Lamoureux appealing to all sides for order, Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) closed out the brief fireworks by accusing Mr. Gordon of "childish conduct."

The Deputy Speaker's ruling against Mr. Fisher's proposed amendment means opposition members will have no direct opportunity to test the government on the specific question of the status of Time and Reader's Digest.

The over-all proposal dealing with magazines will come up for a vote later, but it will be as a package measure, leaving MPs, if they wish, to vote against the whole concept of aiding Canadian magazines through the tax deduction plan.

DOMINATE DEBATE

The magazine proposals, along with a companion plan to ensure Canadian ownership of daily newspapers by not allowing tax deductions for advertising in foreign - owned papers, dominated the day's debate on the budget resolution.

The resolution also includes the government's proposed 10-per-cent cut in personal income taxes, new tax deductions for expenditures on landscaping, the laying of drainage tiles and representations to governments, and limits on the amount of premiums paid to a retirement plan which can be claimed as deductible expenses.

Prior to Mr. Fisher's unsuccessful assault on the issue of Time and Reader's Digest, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker entered the debate to make an equally strong attack on the proposals to ensure Canadian ownership of daily newspapers.

The plan to use tax deductions for advertising as the means towards this end amounts to "the first steps toward throttling freedom of expression," he said.

The proposals were dangerous "in the degree to which they place in the hands of a government the power to control," the press.

"I ask the government to throw this proposed legislation overboard, to withdraw it immediately."

The proposals were solidly opposed by the country's daily newspaper publishers, many of them friendly to the Liberal government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government has practised a "great deal of thought control" since taking office in 1963. He said CBC broadcasts in particular often explain away any contentious matters in a way friendly to the government. It had happened so often that it seemed more than a coincidence.

Similar legislation had been taken off the books in the United Kingdom more than 100 years ago for being a curb on freedom. Such laws could not be found in any country with a British tradition.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the idea behind taxing advertising could not be found in the royal commission on publications. It had dealt only with magazines.

He added that he was an unlikely champion of the freedom of the press. No one had suffered more in the last few years through press freedom than he had.

CHIDES DIEF

John Munro, parliamentary secretary to Health Minister LaMarsh, retorted that Mr. Diefenbaker's stand was disturbing. A man pictured as the great defender of Canadian nationalism was opposed to a proposal which "goes to the very heart of this issue."

Mr. Fisher said he sees no threat to freedom of the [illegible] in the budget proposals as they affect newspapers. If foreign ownership of Canadian industries and chartered banks is wrong, so is foreign ownership of Canadian newspapers.

Mr. Fisher said the finance minister should give a full explanation to the Commons about his conversion from nationalism, as reflected in other financial measures, to permitting Time and Reader's Digest to become Canadian.

He said he saw no merit in arguments by some newspaper publishers that proposals to prevent foreign interests buying Canadian newspapers infringed on press freedom.

Lord Thomson of Fleet's opposition reflected the view of an international operator rather than that of a Canadian. International businessmen do not want national boundaries, in their way, he added.

Mr. Fisher said the only restriction on freedom was that Canadian publishers might be unable to obtain as high a price from other Canadians as from United States interests if they wanted to sell.

Hospital

ports made to the legislature and nothing known about what has been done, he said.

At the same time, he said, the government is refusing grants to worthy private institutions such as Warrendale, which treats children in a family rather than a hospital setting.

"It is time to relegate research to its proper level and put a new emphasis on treatment," he said.

Mr. Lewis said the superintendent of the Ontario hospital at Smiths Falls told him there were 90 schizophrenic children in one ward with the equivalent of half a psychiatrist and a third of a psychologist to treat them.

This compares with recommended ratios of at least one professional for each three children, he said.

"It is the most shocking condemnation of government policy I have ever witnessed."

He said there is a year-long waiting list at the diagnostic clinic in the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and no psychiatric facilities at all in eastern Ontario.

The departments of reform institutions, education, welfare and the attorney-general have all moved forward in the field of handling disturbed children, he said.

"In this department and in no other has the minister been totally, irrevocably and belligerently dellinquent."

Dr. Dymond made no direct reply to these accusations. Earlier in the debate, while defending his department, he said:

"When I look around me I see much mental disturbance I would like to diagnose and prescribe for."

Later, Mr. Lewis charged that Ontario's mental hospitals are harassed and choked by discharged patients on the verge of readmission.

"Are our mental hospitals treatment hospitals or are they revolving doors?" he asked.

Readmission rates are rising, he said, while other provinces and countries are experiencing a gradual decline in readmission percentages.

He said readmission percentages for six of the largest Ontario mental hospitals in March ranged from 40 to 60 per cent and averaged 46 per cent, compared to a provincial average [illegible] in 1968.

Gold Robbery Probe Shows Some Progress

MONTREAL (CP) — Insp. Herve Patenaude of Quebec Provincial Police said Tuesday investigations into Friday's $184,000 Larder Lake gold robbery are "progressing favorably."

Insp. Patenaude declined to elaborate but said members of the Ontario Provincial Police criminal investigation branch have arrived here and that police of both provinces have joined in the search for the robbers.

An automatic rifle has been recovered by skindivers from the same lake in Quebec where a stolen airplane, believed used in the robbery, was found Saturday.

The plane, a single - engine Cessna-185, was found in Grand Lac Nomalaigue near l'Amonelation, about 220 miles north of here and 220 miles southeast of Larder Lake.

Three men, wearing Hallowe'en masks and armed, tied station agent Thomas Tookie, 44, to a baggage car and made off with two safes containing five gold bars.

STUDENTS GIVE UP

About two students a month attempt suicide at Germany's historic Goettingen University, and six succeeded in 1963-65.

KILLED BY BULLDOZER

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — Ronald Dubois, 36, of Wawa, Ont., was killed Tuesday when the bulldozer he was driving overturned on a construction site, five miles east of here on Highway 401. Dubois attempted to jump free as the vehicle toppled over an embankment but he was pinned beneath the machine.

TRAIN KILLS BOY

OTTAWA (CP) — A 10-year-old Ottawa boy died early Tuesday night after he ran into the path of an Ottawa-to-Brockville CPR train at a west Ottawa crossing. Jimmy Oliver, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver, had just been to a barbershop with his mother. They left separately and minutes later the boy was struck.

Uplands Museum Sparks Memories

By BARRY McCULLAGH

Few inventions of modern man inspire as much public interest as the science of aviation. That is why airports hold a strong attraction for people living close to them. Hardened by variably find young and old at city airports watching the comings and goings of various airlines.

Ottawa's Uplands airport has the added attraction of a museum housing such types as a German Junkers, one of the first to feature all-metal construction. Powered by a Pratt and Whitney engine, this plane was brought to Canada in the thirties and saw many years of service with Canadian Airways of Winnipeg. A first world war Nieuport and a Spitfire from the last great conflict may also be seen.

For me, these aircraft bring back memories of flights in sundry types of aircraft. Around 1934 Sir Alan Cobham toured Britain with his "flying circus." The famous aviator brought his air pageant to Coleraine, not far from Londonderry, a city many Canadian navy men came to know during the war. There my father and I boarded an eight-seater biplane for a short flight over the Derry countryside.

About the same period I recall a twin-engined flying boat landing in the bay at my home town of Ballycastle, County Antrim. Townspeople took to their boats for a closer look, for this was something of an event for the quiet coastal resort — though in an earlier time Marconi conducted some of his experiments in the area, while a few miles out to sea, on Rathlin Island, Robert the Bruce watched the celebrated spider.

CONVOY DUTY

At this point on the Antrim coast the Mull of Kintyre in Scotland is clearly visible — only 14 miles away, as well as the islands of Ailsa Craig, Islay and Arran. Wireless conveys originating in Ulster and Scottish ports, could be seen regularly as they concerned the hazardous Atlantic crossings.

Across this narrow stretch of water, a little further south, I made another brief but interesting flight. Silver City Airways, which runs a car-ferry service across the English Channel to France, established a similar link between Ireland and Scotland in 1953. I drove my car to Newtownards airport, near Belfast, and took flight in a Bristol freighter to Castle Kennedy, near Stranraer. Eleven minutes after takeoff the plane touched down on the old wartime field in Scotland.

This was the start of an 800-mile Scottish vacation, through the Highlands and along the Caledonian canal and broading Loch Ness, south to Balloch and Braemar where the Highland Games are held, and, of course, Balmoral Castle, a walled through the grounds to the entrance of the great castle. No one else was there and I had the feeling, in this beautiful and tranquil setting that Balmoral was, indeed, a royal place.

It was May but the Cairngorms which I had just left were capped with snow. Still, the roads were clear, although I had paid attention to the sign on the Forest Controller at the approach to the formidable Devil's Elbow.

SHANNON FLIGHT

Other flights that remain in the memory include my first Atlantic crossing, by Pan-Am's airliner DC-7C From Shannon. With the plane delayed at Frank fort, I had time to explore the airline, and quaffed a glass of that celebrated brew, Irish Coffee. Thus fortified, I eventually boarded the big piston-engined plane. The bicode American crossing took me through lifeboat drill; then, with flames belching from its four exhausts the plane roared into the night, over the Shannon estuary and the dark restless ocean. Thirteen hours later, after facing heavy headwinds, the plane touched down at Idlewild, New York, in 1957; today jets made the trip in about six hours.

In 1953, I flew by RAF Anson to the island of Sylt, an idyllic spot (despite its wartime associations) in the Friesian Islands. Sylt, the largest island in the group, lies parallel to the German mainland and close to the Danish frontier.

The island was a strategic base for German raids on North Atlantic shipping, but after the end of hostilities it was taken over by the RAF. Westerland, Sylt's trim little capital, is a cheerful place where bronzed Germans, and Scandinavian vacationers flock during the summer months, for swimming and lazing in the sun by day and a tour of the city's excellent night clubs after dark.

ADIRONDACKS STORM

By contrast there was the mid-winter jaunt I made from Waterloo, in upstate New York to Princeton, New Jersey, which with delays and diversions caused by a severe blizzard in the eastern states, and travelling by car and train as well as by plane, took 14 hours instead of the scheduled five. Two days later I flew back to Watertown in a night flight over New York's snowcicled Adirondacks, where lights twinkled in villages in the heart of the mountains.

It was in the village of Saranac Lake, seeking benefit from the dry climate of the Adirondacks, that Robert Louis Stevenson lived during the winter of 1887-88. Here he began writing "The Master of Ballantrae" and other works.

The cottage where he lived, containing manuscripts and other mementos of his residence there, still be seen. From Saranac, Stevenson set out on his last journey — to the South Seas and a final resting place in Samoa.

This latter flight was one of the few I made that held even the slightest suspicion of danger. The weather had been poor and next day, over the city of New York, a DC-8 and a Super Constellation collided in mid-air in what was to prove the greatest air disaster in history. The date — December 1961.

Hoisting Engineers Plan Strike

TORONTO (CP)—The hoisting engineers section of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO) has notified Toronto structural steel contractors and crane rentals that it plans to go on strike this afternoon.

It is expected that nearly all of Toronto's 25,000 construction workers in the commercial and industrial sectors of the industry will either be on strike or face layoffs by the end of next week.

The hoisting engineers have been on strike since last Friday. The carpenters and bricklayers plan to strike Friday afternoon. The bricklayers plan to take a strike vote Saturday.

Ron Gostlin, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters: It would be expecting a bit too much of the industry to expect it to "testify against himself."

Ron Fraser, CBC vice-president in charge of station relations, said: "We don't have to make the tape available to everyone but could judge when there were grounds for a serious complaint and then must be prepared to take its lumps."

Ward Cornell, manager CFPL London, Ont.: "We keep a permanent record. We believe a person has the right to hear the tape."

The C.A.B. suggested a one-year test period for open-line shows in an effort to curb what has boomed to take in some 80 stations since its appearance in Canada broadcasting about seven years ago. At the end of that time a committee from the C.A.B. membership of private broadcasters and the BBG could study what improvements might be made.

All the speakers agreed the station must assume responsibility for everything carried on its air waves.

There also was agreement that no person's privacy should be invaded by putting him on the air unaware. There should be clear notification that a telephone call was being taped and could be used on the air.

Tony Van Bridge as Falstaff Delights Stratford Audience

STRATFORD (CP) — There was praise enough for almost everyone as critics today handed down their verdict on Falstaff, second of the three plays this season at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival.

Most critics agreed with the Toronto Globe and Mail, "restored to Stratford's 13th season the excitement, emotion, color and life which has made this Ontario summer operation one of the continent's leading theatres."

"Credit for the switch in climate from Monday's broken-back opening night to today's great satisfaction must, of course, be laid to Stuart Burge, the director and his company of most excellent players."

This view reflected that of many of Mr. Whittaker's colleagues who generally wrote favorable if not altogether enthusiastic — reviews of Henry IV.

J. Burke Marin of the London Free Press found Falstaff "exciting but flawed in part. Two—a "far better integrated production than the first part of Henry IV.

"I doubt that we shall ever see a better Falstaff in our time than this great portrayal by Tony van Bridge," Mr. Martin adds.

Ron Evans of the Toronto Telegram gave full marks to Miss Hyland who, he says, "crashed the Falstaff party by sagging seat of its pants and hauled it off the ground."

Thomas Archer of the Montreal Gazette wrote that Mr. Van Bridge's Falstaff "is a comedy history in the acting annals of the festival."

The famous guests have role roles since Stratford opened in 1953 . . . but none has surpassed Tony Van Bridge's caution in an individual achievement."

As for Miss Hyland, "one of our most gifted actresses, she was "a perfect foil for Sir John Falstaff."

Nathan Cohen of the Toronto Star singles out for particular praise Falstaff's leading lady, the Bristol Old Vic. "His cool, understated attack, his intelligent and sympathetic but by no means sentimental interpretation . . . all form a production at once deeply political and penetratingly human."

Also receiving wide acclaim was an actor who did not appear in the first half of the Henry plays, William Hutt as Justice Shallow. Mr. Johnson called it "a masterpiece of comic acting."

Audrey M. Ashley of the Ottawa Citizen says that despite a "rather flat beginning" the play had more to offer in the way of depth and characterization" than Henry IV.

Geoffrey H. Lane of the Sarnia Observer says Falstaff may well be "among the 10 best plays ever presented by the Stratford company. Mr. van Bridge "will be the man who has proved once again that the festival can manage very nicely-thank-you without a box office name."

Kemp Thompson of the Kitchener-Waterloo Record says the play is one of Stratford's most surprising successes — "surprising partly because the play is not one of Shakespeare's popular history plays, but mainly because Tuesday's performances has such a striking improvement on the company's Monday night performance."

Might Be $64,000 Question

Should Open-line Radio Shows Provide Tapes to Aggrieved Ones?

OTTAWA (CP)—Should a record of a radio broadcast be made easily available to the public?

This emerged as a key question Tuesday as the Board of Broadcast Governors heard a sampling of opinion concerning open-line radio programs — in which the announcer's discussions with people who phone him are broadcast.

One of the first items of business as the BBG opened Tuesday was an invitation by the board to broadcasters to give their opinions on four aspects of open-line programs—responsibility for control of such programs, anonymity of callers, individual privacy and recourse for aggrieved persons.

The board noted in its announcement of the hearing that the only record of open-line programs a station must keep now is the fee required by the BBG. Should there be action taken to make the record available to "parties who appear to have reason to believe that statements made on the program were damaging to them personally," the BBG asked.

CONTROVERSY

It brought these divergent comments:

Dr. Frank Peillet, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters: It would be expecting a bit too much of the industry to expect it to "testify against himself."

Ron Fraser, CBC vice-president in charge of station relations, said: "We don't have to make the tape available to everyone but could judge when there were grounds for a serious complaint and then must be prepared to take its lumps."

Ward Cornell, manager CFPL London, Ont.: "We keep a permanent record. We believe a person has the right to hear the tape."

The C.A.B. suggested a one-year test period for open-line shows in an effort to curb what has boomed to take in some 80 stations since its appearance in Canada broadcasting about seven years ago. At the end of that time a committee from the C.A.B. membership of private broadcasters and the BBG could study what improvements might be made.

All the speakers agreed the station must assume responsibility for everything carried on its air waves.

There also was agreement that no person's privacy should be invaded by putting him on the air unaware. There should be clear notification that a telephone call was being taped and could be used on the air.

Founding FAME President Said He Knew Plant Was Losing Money When Bought

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — The founding president of Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Limited testified Tuesday he had not known a Burlington meat packing plant was losing money before the co-operative took it.

Charles W. McInnis of Ironquois said he thought the F. W. Fearman plant was operating "at about the break-even point" before it was purchased by the ill-fated co-operative.

He told a royal commission hearing ordered by Premier Robarts into F.A.M.E.'s finances that although the plant did lose money under its former ownership, F.A.M.E. could have made it a profit-making venture.

The co-operative lost a $1,500,000 down payment when it was unable to meet a second payment of $1,000,000 last year. Mr. McInnis resigned as president after the down payment was lost.

Earlier testimony said the plant, owned by Ernest R. Gunner of England, was losing about $38,000 a month before it was sold to F.A.M.E.

Mr. McInnis said he had calculated the plant could realize annual gross sales of about $40,000,000, based on a weekly slaughter of 6,000 hogs and 800 beef cattle which would require an expanded refrigeration system.

"I am satisfied in my mind that the Fearman plant has a killing capacity to produce sales in excess of $40,000,000," he said.

"Yes," replied Mr. McInnis.

He said this was among the information he passed on to Mr. Robarts while making up its mind whether or not to purchase the plant.

Archie Service, chairman of the building committee and a second vice - president of F.A.M.E. until reorganization last January, took the stand in the late afternoon. He said evidence by some officials of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was evident soon after F.A.M.E.'s formation in 1960, and this contributed to the board's decision not to seek advice or co-operation from other farm groups at the provincial level.

Mr. Service testified that he had been told that Arthur H. Muskrave of Clarksburg, then president of the federation, had made "uncomplimentary remarks about Mr. McInnis" and had described the F.A.M.E. board of directors as "just Mr. McInnis' stool pigeons."

He said F.A.M.E. made every effort to consult with the OFA and the United Co-operatives of Ontario, among others, to "advance the co-operative movement" across the province, but that little progress could be made. He said F.A.M.E. salesmen, canvassers and directors were running into criticism from farmers. As a result, criticism, much of it unjust, generated at the provincial level.

Red China Tourists Expected to Visit at Least One Factory

What is it like inside a Chinese factory? British writer and teacher John Hayhoe has been lived in Asia for the last six years—some months of them in China—describes it. The following third of three articles on various aspects of life under Mao Tse-tung.

WRITTEN FOR THE AP
By JOHN HAYLOCK

SHANGHAI (AP)—The China Travel Service expects its tourists to visit at least one factory. During my three weeks in China I was taken to three.

On arrival at a factory one is met by the director and led to a large room with sofas and armchairs round the walls, a long table and a picture or a bust of Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

While one sips green tea the director quotes figures: "before-the-liberation" and "after-the-liberation" figures. At the end, shortcomings are admitted and one is invited to make suggestions after the visit.

The production of the Shanghai Cotton Mill No. 19 has increased its output 2½ times the liberation in 1949. Before, only rough yarn was manufactured, now fine yarn and taffeta is made.

"This increase was brought about because of the workers' belief in socialism," the director explains. "This factory now belongs to the people. It is an old factory, with old machines and old workers.

He is right. The machines, some English; some German, some Japanese, certainly are old and out of date and it has required determination and ingenuity to keep them going.

There were notices everywhere: Slogans and stirring messages written on blackboards by workers; and, of course, pictures of Chairman Mao.

Sixty per cent of the workers live in the factory area and pay five per cent of their rent — 2 cent of their salaries in rent. The lowest wage is about $20 a month and the highest $36. The average wage for a technician is $25. Meals in the restaurant cost nominal sums, a meat dish comes to about 10 cents, three cents.

The living quarters of this factory were not very good. Most families lived in one room and shared kitchens and toilets.

In the primary school, the classrooms were crowded. In the kindergarten toddlers sang, "I have a brother and he told me he can't dress, he dreamed of Chairman Mao."

Mr. Chiang of the diesel engine factory in Wusih, a city of 600,000 inhabitants 40 miles from Shanghai, is most enthusiastic about the factory. I was very impressed with this energetic man. His "before" and "after" figures are striking. Before 1949 the factory had 150 workers and only seven lathes. Now it has 2,250 workers and manufactures complete diesel engines and generators.

The buildings of Wusih No. 1 silk factory are grey and depressing. I was shown the inside of a quarter of humble, one-storey brick houses. Mr. Yung, the director, was used to be a factory hand, is neither, grey nor depressing. He is 40, hopeful and energetic capable.

Production now is three times what it used to be when he factory belonged to the "bureaucratic - capitalist," Mr. Yung said.

In every room of the factory a female voice boomed through amplifiers encouraging the workers to work harder and giving examples of what some workers had achieved.

I wondered if this non-stop voice of authority meant any more to the workers than background music does to a Western ear. By the expressions on the workers' faces it didn't look as if it did.

Judgment Reserved on Order Denying Men Use of Mails

OTTAWA (CP) —Pamphlets distributed by two anti-Semitic extremists were "scurrilous and immoral" by a justice department lawyer Tuesday as he summed up his argument that an order depriving the men of their mailing privileges should be upheld.

A three-man board set up to review Postmaster General Nicholson's decision to bar the mailing privileges of David Stanley, 20, and John Ross Taylor, 21, reserved judgment in the matter at the conclusion of the two-day hearing.

Stanley's mailing ban on the two men included Natural Order, an organization described by the right to proclaim it's by Mr. Taylor who founded it and is described as editorial headquarters at Goodernam, 50 miles north of Peterborough.

The appeal before justice department officials R. S. MacLellan, Loc-Adam Beattie and Dr. W. D. R. Eldon, was conducted by Mr. Taylor who said he is a Vancouver resident, is abroad.

John M. Bentley, who presented the case for the department's case, discussed pamphlets which Mr. Taylor admitted writing. They were sent out "by the thousands."

He said the protocols of The Elders of Zion, a pamphlet introduced by Mr. Taylor as evidence of a Jewish conspiracy to take over the world, were proved in 1964 to be fraudulent by a United States Senate subcommittee on internal security.

Mr. Bentley said he did not have to go past the covers of the second booklet. The Key to the Mystery, to prove it scurrilous.

The front cover of the booklet claims humanity is overwhelmed with wars, revolutions, unemployment and depressions. And it asks:

"Where from do such evils come? From the Talmud? The Italians? The Americans? The Poles? The Russians? The Jews!"

Mr. Bentley said the inference obviously was that Jews are at the root of all troubles."

Asked by board chairman R. S. MacLellan how a ban by mail would be effective, Mr. Bentley said he himself was puzzled and doubtful that the order could completely prohibit a "determined adversary" from using the mails.

In his reply to Mr. Bentley's argument, Mr. Taylor said the word "scurrilous" was intended by Parliament to mean obscene. Pamphlets mailed by the Natural Order were not obscene because they were the truth.

Laing Says Russia Pulling Out All Stops To Develop Its Siberian Resources

OTTAWA (CP) — Russia appears to be pulling out all the stops in a program to develop its rich mineral and timber resources in Siberia, Northern Affairs Minister Laing said Tuesday.

"And the farther north they go the richer the resources become," he told a press conference on his recent 17-day tour of Russia. Most of it was spent in the new industrial centres of the vast Siberian sub-continent.

Among the things that impressed him most:

—Noril'sk, a mining community of 100,000 built on permafrost more than 100 miles above the Arctic Circle where Mr. Laing and his party were the first Western visitors.

—A $500,000,000 cellulose plant being built near Bratsk in southern Siberia—"the most fantastic thing I've ever seen."

—Yakutsk in northeastern Siberia where temperatures of more than 100 degrees below zero have been recorded but a city of 65,000 is established. The Canadians estimated that a massive nickel-copper mine at Noril'sk was handling 42,000 tons of ore a day.

Mr. Laing said the cellulose plant was an indication that Russia has started to develop her wood industry in a big way. He had noticed throughout the country a striking lack of cartons and even paper bags for consumer goods.

"They have a tremendous domestic demand for wood and paper products of all kinds," he said. Eventually, with plants on the scale of the one at Bratsk, Russia would be a big competitor in the world market because half of the world's forests are in Siberia.

At Noril'sk, buildings up to eight storeys high were supported on steel and concrete pilings driven as much as 24 feet into the permafrost. It was extremely costly, "like driving a spike into a stone."

Another surprise was the inventive pay used to attract Russians from the western into Siberia. There was per-cent premium above cow wage rates and another per-cent was added for each year a worker remained.

Law Forces Helmets for B. C. Cyclists

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia law making crash helmets compulsory for motorcyclists comes into effect July 1 but safety officials are still looking for means of curbing accidents.

Eight motorcyclists have died in B.C. this year, twice as many as in all of 1964. One death was recorded in 1963.

The rising toll is attributed to the rapid increase in the number of motorcycles on the roads, especially of lightweight Japanese machines. In 1962 there were 4,000 registered. Today there are 12,000.

Present regulations require a cyclist to be at least 16 and hold an automobile driver's licence. Stan Kershaw, executive director of the B.C. Safety Council, says the best solution would be compulsory training and licensing of cyclists "but the expense of instituting such a program would likely make it impractical."

He describes the law making helmets mandatory as a "welcome step forward," but emphasizes that "like seat belts, it can't stop accidents occurring."

The council has set up a three-man committee to recommend means of combatting the accident problem.

Canada's Alouette II Ready for Launching In About One Month

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Alouette II earth satellite will be ready for launching in about a month but there's a queue at U.S. launching pads and it won't be sent into orbit until late this year.

Alouette II is the first of four new Canadian research satellites to be hoisted into space in 1965-70 at a cost of $26,000,000.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration will provide the four launching rockets — one Thor-Agena-B and three Deltas—at a cost of about $17,000,000. Canada's Defence Research Board is designing and building the satellites in co-operation with Canadian industry at a cost of about $9,000,000.

The U.S. space agency and the board mapped out an expanded satellite program after the resounding success of Alouette I, launched in September, 1962, and still transmitting scientific data. By May 31 this year, Alouette I had made 13,315 orbits of the earth at an altitude of 600 miles, had travelled 384,000,000 miles and had sent back to earth more than 7,000 miles of magnetic tape recordings.

MAJOR CONTRIBUTION

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of NASA, said in a recent report to Congress that "Alouette I has given us a major advance in our knowledge of electron density distribution in the ionosphere." He added: "Alouette has clarified the behavior of the equatorial geomagnetic anomaly, a belt of maximum electronic densities which occurs at latitudes in the vicinity of the magnetic equator.

"At high altitudes, Alouette has shown that irregularities are a consistent feature of the topside ionosphere. . . .

"This research is of first importance in our efforts to understand better the near-earth environment and the techniques of long - distance communications."

Seldom has a Canadian scientific research project received such praise, even at home.

The 326-pound Alouette II will be launched as the "top hat" for another satellite, one in the U.S. Explorer series.

It will travel in an alliptical orbit with an apogee (farthest point from the earth) of about 1,200 miles and a perigee (nearest point to earth) of about 300 miles. It will carry equipment for five experiments, the most important being instruments to sound the top of the ionosphere, an electically - charged layer high above the earth.

EXPERIMENTS ADDED

The antennas aboard Alouette II will be 240 feet from tip to tip, much longer than those in Alouette I. De Havilland Aircraft of Toronto is making the antennas and RCA Victor of Montreal the electronic innards.

Together, Alouette II and Explorer, to be launched in company by a Thor-Agena-B from the Vandenberg range in California, will be known as Isis-X. Isis stands for International Satellites for Ionospheric Studies.

The antennas on Alouette II will have sunflower - shaped pieces of thin metal attached to their tips to counter-balance the warping of the antennas found in Alouette I because of solar radiation (sunlight).

The last three Canadian satellites in the series will be known as Isis-A, B and C.

Isis-A now is well into the design stage and a model has already been built. It will weigh 500 pounds and be launched about a year after Alouette II. It will carry three American as well as eight Canadian experiments.

Isis-B and C are still so far in the future that plans for them are still somewhat vague. One will probably be launched during a period of maximum sun-spot activity and with a higher apogee than Alouette II and Isis-A.

SAILOR TO SAILOR — David Long, 14, a Sea Scout from the Montreal suburb of Boucherville, gets some pointers on sailing from his father, Captain Geoffery Long, a Montreal harbor pilot. David leaves for Norway this month for a three-month training course on the three-masted sailing ship, the Christian Radich. He and a youth from the United States will be the only non-Norwegians on the ship. (CP Photo)

Accept Canadian Sea Scout For Three Month Training On Norwegian Three-master

By EDDY COLLISTER

A sea scout for four years, David has been accepted by the Norwegian government as one of 88 cadets for a three-month training course on the 676-ton Christian Radich, a three-master with 13,000 square feet of sail.

He and a lad from the United States will be the only non-Norwegians on the ship.

David said in an interview that he would like to follow in his dad's footsteps.

His father is Captain Geoffrey Long, a Montreal harbor pilot.

"We'll see how he feels about it after this summer and when he finishes high school," his father said.

David, a Grade 7 student at the Boucherville Protestant school, had to do a little extra studying to bring his marks up enough so that the principal could waive the last term exams and make the trip possible.

The training period begins June 18, when David is to report in Oslo, Norway.

FIRST CRUISE AT SEA

The trip on the Christian Radich consists of one major cruise and may also include a sailing race in the Azores, off the northwest coast of Africa.

During the voyage David will learn signals, navigation, how to climb the rigging, steering and also how to wash a deck.

"I have been on cruises before but only on the St. Lawrence River and I did most of the rowing myself," David said.

Besides his love for the sea, David also is interested in football and track and field.

The arrangements for the trip came about after David's father met the captain of the Christian Radich in Montreal last year.

"He told me to put in an application for my boy," Capt. Long said.

"We did and David was accepted by the government."

In addition to the 88 cadets, the ship has a crew of 10 and six officers.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver

The lush greens and the rolling fairways of the Bay of Quinte Country Club will be the battlegrounds for two new golfing records this week.

On Friday the club will host the Ontario Golf Association-Golf Ball Tournament. This is the first time in the tournament's seven-year history that the championship will be fought for outside the Toronto Metro area.

With the exception of 1963, at Whitevale Golf Club, this competition has always been played at its founder's course, Oakdale Golf and Country Club.

President Everett Fairman, his directors and membership should take some sort of a bow in the fact that the Quinte course is the first to be chosen outside the select Toronto circle.

It is expected that some 90 two-somes, including the cream of Ontario Golfers will be here for the 18-stroke play event played in four-ball matches with the better ball of each team to count. Handicaps have been increased to eight to allow greater participation.

A strong contending team, and former winners (1963), Bob Jamieson and Bill Bowes of Peterborough has been established as one of the favorites along with Bruce Brewer and Ken Thorpe of the Whitevale Golf Club.

Past winners are Gary Cowan and Ernie Hauser, both of Kitchener who won the inaugural in 1959 and repeated in 1960. Veteran Phil Farley and diminutive Phil Brownlees, both of Scarborough, captured the title in 1961 and the great brother act from North Bay, Dave and Bill Moreland are defending champions. They also won out in 1962.

This event drew a record 90 teams last year and the OGA is hopeful that this record will go by the board at the Bay of Quinte on Friday.

And speaking of the golf "nineties" the club's annual "Mr. and Mrs. Tournament" slated for upcoming Sunday has attracted some 90 entries, an all-time record for this popular mixed attraction. Last year some 63 couples took part.

Mr. Joy Bowerman, who with hubby Steve are convening the tournament, aided and abetted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Don Cowley, said today that the response by players of district clubs has been the largest in the history of the tournament.

The Bay of Quinte Club naturally will tee the largest number of couples, some 53 "spouses" foregoing the Sunday morning discussions and clobbing together for the tournament glory and awards.

And for one worldly-wise member of the golf distaff side told me, "I'm giving Horatius (a rose by any other name . . .) his Father's Day gifts right after breakfast. If he doesn't play good golf after that, next year I'll hire a footloose sports editor to play golf with me."

Outside clubs represented are Cobourg, Napanee, Trenton, RCAF, Picton, Napanee and Toronto. By the way there will be no post entries.

And there should be "sounds of revelry by night when golfdom's fairest and best—some 180 all told —sit down to one of those delectable club dinners. To the victors will go the spoils and since it is "Father's Day" the "old" man may be in a reciprocative mood and turn over the tournament loot to the better half.

Club pro George Balzz tells me the course should be in fine shape for both tournaments and he adds that the tee will be closed on Friday until 2.00 p.m. or thereabouts—and on Sunday from 9.30 a.m. to 2.00 p.m.

Ontario Open

Mawhinney Leads Field

TORONTO (CP) — Bill Mawhinney of Toronto Northwood is probably the best-known of the 175 would-be qualifiers in the 43rd, Ontario Open golf championship next Tuesday at the Trafalgar Club near Oakville.

The 36-year-old Vancouver-born golfer was Canadian junior champion in 1948, Canadian Amateur champ two years later and won the Canadian Professional Golfers Association match play title in 1957.

He is expected to lead the 100 who will qualify to make up the field of 150 for the $5,000 Carling Trophy event.

Because of differences with the Ontario PGA, Mawhinney did not play in the 1964 Ontario Open. He defeated Nick Weslock of Toronto, five-time winner of the Ontario Open and the defending champion, in 1950. He also downed Al Balding of Toronto in 21 holes to win the 1957 Canadian PGA match play crown.

HEADS EXEMPT GROUP

Heading the 50-odd exempt players in the championship are Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., who with Toronto's George Knudson, 'is representing Canada in the U.S. Open in St. Louis starting Thursday.

Panasiuk shot 211, three strokes behind Weslock, in 1964, but didn't get to play in he $200,000 world championship in Detroit, Tex. Ontario Open is a qualifying test for the world event, but he failed to enter the global tournament and wasn't a member of the Ontario PGA.

He has qualified this year and must be considered among the favorites in the 54hole Ontario competition June 24 to 26.

Also high in the list is Gary Fawcett of Toronto, who finished third last year.

Frank Whibley of Kitchener Westmount, Alvin Thompson of Toronto Whitevale, Adrien Bigras of Joliette, Que., Bobby Breen of Toronto Pine Valley, Johnny Henrick of Markham, Ont., and Phil Brownlees, also of Northwood, are threats.

ATHLETICS SIGN MONDAY

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) Kansas City Athletics signed Rick Monday, one of the most widely sought college baseball players in the U.S., for $104,000 Tuesday. President Charles O. Finley personally flew out to nail down the club's top choice in the recent major league free-agent draft and closed the deal after a 2½-hour conference with 18-year-old rick and his mother.

Grelle Miles In 3:55.4; Snell Last

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Crothers Beaten

By WALTER HAYES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jim Grelle, newly crowned as the fastest American miler in history, relaxed after his easy victory over the great Peter Snell Tuesday night and proceeded to demolish the pre-race buildup of what had been billed as the "Magic Mile."

"It wasn't a grudge race," said the Portland, Ore., runner, who was the feature attraction of the Vancouver Invitational track meet in a dazzling 3:55.4. "I never had a grudge race against anybody."

Grelle, whose time wiped out the United States citizens' record of 3:55.5 set by Jim Beatty in 1962, finished nearly 15 yards in front of Tony Harris of London, England. Snell, pale and perspiring from a stomach upset, trailed the 10-man field and collapsed as he crossed the finish line.

There had been reports before the race that Grelle was needling the New Zealander, who lost his world record a week ago to Michel Jazy of France and was beaten over a half mile in Toronto last Thursday by Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont.

GRELLE DISAPPOINTED

"That's just the sort of thing that gets into the papers," Grelle said afterwards. "I was disappointed that Peter wasn't up to par.

"If he had been, I probably would have wound up in second place the way he runs."

But Snell, whose best time of 3:54.1 was eclipsed by Jazy's 3:53.6 at Rennes, France, last Wednesday, never was a factor in this race. The man who pressed Grelle was Carry Weisiger of Raleigh, N.C.

The two Americans led through the first three laps before Grelle pulled away and a clocking drive by Harris just caught Weisiger at the tape. The Englishman was timed in 4:02.8 to Weisiger's 4:02.1.

Snell apologized to the crowd a few minutes later for "the shame of running last" and told them of his stomach ailment.

"Please believe me, I was doing my best," he said. The crowd gave him a round of applause.

Grelle's spectacular victory overshadowed a meet that also featured double victories by Bob Tobler of Provo, Utah, in the 220 and 440-yard runs and by Irene Piotrowski of Vancouver in the women's sprints.

Tobler was an easy winner in the quarter-mile over Crothers, who holds the Canadian native record of 47.2 seconds but usually performs at longer distances. Tobler won a third for Crothers being clocked in 47.8.

McNeil also finished second behind Harry Jerome of Vancouver, who won a third - place bronze medal in the Olympic 100 metres at Tokyo last October, in the 100-yard dash as Jerome was clocked in a slow 9.3 seconds. Jerome withdrew from the 220 because of a pulled leg muscle.

Mrs. Piotrowski, also a Canadian Olympic team member, won the 100 in 11.3 and the 220 in 24.9 over Marilyn White and Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who stepped off a long one two hours before the meet began.

A slight headwind slowed the times in both men's and women's sprints.

David Wightom of Vancouver won the two-mile race in 9:14.5 and Bill Cliff of Burnaby, B.C., was the half-mile winner in 1:53.8. Ruth Klein of Seattle covered the 220-yard hurdles in 25.8 and was the broad jump in 22 feet, 4¼ inches.

Jana Lemky of Vancouver won the women's 80 - metre hurdles in 12.8 seconds and the women's half - mile went to Doris Brown of Seattle in 2:14.1.

Bob Seagren of Pomona, Calif., set a Canadian open record by clearing 15 feet, 1¼ inches in the pole vault, wiping out the previous mark of 15-1. Lee Tipton of Portland also broke a Canadian open mark with his winning javelin heave of 258-3¾, nearly eight feet over the previous record of John Fromm of Seattle, who finished third.

John McGrath of Pasadena, Calif., won the discus with a throw of 175-2. Dave Steen of Burnaby, who missed the 1964 Olympics because of an attack of mononucleosis, was second with his 161-10.

Felipe Drives In Six Runs

Alou Bros Spark Braves, Giants

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Felipe and Matty Alou haven't been team-mates for two seasons, but they still work together like the Lone Ranger and Tonto.

The brothers, Felipe with Milwaukee Braves and Matty with San Francisco Giants, teamed up Tuesday night to move the Braves a game closer to first place in the National League.

Felipe drove in six runs with two homers and a single, sparking the second-place Braves to a 12-7 victory over Philadelphia Phillies while Matty scored both runs in the Giants' 3-1 triumph over Los Angeles Dodgers. Milwaukee now trails Los Angeles by 2½ games.

The Alou brothers, including Jesus, played together with the Giants in 1963. At the time, Felipe was in his sixth year, Matty his fourth and Jesus his first at San Francisco. But in December of that year, Felipe was shipped to Milwaukee, and then there were two.

Jesus has been a permanent fixture in the Giants' outfield this year while Felipe has started either at first base or in the outfield at Milwaukee. Matty, on the other hand, has been only an occasional San Francisco starter.

He enjoyed one of his better nights against the Dodgers Tuesday. With one out in the first inning, the 26-year-old lefty doubled and stole third as pitcher Don Drysdale peered in for the sign for his first pitch to Willie Mays. Mays then tripled for the first run.

After Wes Parker's home run tied the game in the fourth, Matty led off the sixth by beating out a bunt. He moved to second on an infield out and raced home as Jim Hart singled.

Felipe, meanwhile, became the first National Leaguer to knock in six runs in a game this season.

In other NL games, Pittsburgh Pirates outslugged St. Louis Cardinals 10-6, Cincinnati Reds downed New York Mets 5-1 and Chicago Cubs whipped Houston Astros 5-0

Detroit Hurlers SO 18

New Record Set

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's Denny McLain, no winner in 10 of 11 previous pitching efforts this year, set a major league strikeout record Tuesday night in the Tigers' 4-3 come-from-behind victory over Boston Red Sox.

Dick Radatz, the Monster of the Red Sox' bullpen who shared the strikeout mark broken by McLain, came in to protect a three-run lead in the eighth inning and gave up four, including a decisive three-run homer by American League home run leader Willie Horton.

McLain, a 21-year-old right-hander who struck out 281 hitters two years ago, replaced Detroit starter Dave Wickersham in the first inning Tuesday night and fanned the first seven Red Sox he faced, breaking by one the all-time record for consecutive strikeouts by a relief pitcher.

He wound up with 14 strikeouts in 6 2-3 innings—and a cigar. Fred Gladding, who pitched the final two innings after McLain was lifted for a pinch-hitter, received credit for the victory. Gladding added the four strikeouts, giving the two Detroit relievers a total of 18 for the game.

McLain, whose string of seven strikeouts also tied the AL record for starting pitchers and relievers—starters Max Surkont, Johnny Podres and Jim Maloney share the modern major league mark of eight—now has fanned 66 in 73 1-3 innings.

Baltimore Orioles nipped New York Yankees 2-1 in 10 innings; Cleveland Indians whipped Washington Senators 8-3 and Kansas City Athletics blanked Los Angeles Angels 5-0.

Minnesota's Jim Grant stopped the White Sox on five hits for his sixth victory in seven decisions. He has beaten Chicago three times without a loss. Tony Oliva and Bob Allison hit home runs off Gary Peters, 5 - 5, as the Twins stretched their league lead to 1½ games.

Russ Snyder, a former Yankee farmhand, drove in both Baltimore runs with a sacrifice fly in the eighth and a 10th inning single, beating Mel Stottlemyre, 7-3, and enabling the Orioles to stretch their winning string through five games.

Rocky Colavito's three - run homer and Chuck Hinton's solo shot powered Cleveland past the Senators. Hinton, an ex-Senator, has hit four of his six homers against Washington.

Diego Segui stymied Los Angeles on two hits and Bert Campaneris singled, doubled and stole two bases to pace the Athletics' attack. Two steals gave Campaneris 20 for the year, tying him with his second cousin, Jose Cardenal of the Angels, for the league lead.

Warners Scuttle Ter-Haars

The winners got four innings of no - hit pitching from L. Master and scored all their runs in the first five frames while in command all the way.

Master gave up two hits in the fifth, bringing on Harry Powers in relief, who allowed two more Dunber hits in the seventh. Master fanned one and walked two while Powers struck out three and passed none.

B. Pringle was greeted with a 13-hit attack on the losers' hilltop while striking out three. Seven walks and eight errors added to his woes.

Gary Wood led the Stewart Warner batters with three singles and C. Rowbotham belted a home run and a single. Floyd Crawford hit a double and single, B. Bean two singles, Gary Gee and Harry Powers a double each, Jack Caddick and Hytie Bryant completed the attack.

H. Bunnett had a Ter-Haar double and singles went to L. Hamblin, Al Ruttan and B. Pringle.

Howe Says Hull Will Beat '50'

FREDERICTON (CP) — Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings says the 30-goal mark for a National Hockey League season likely will be broken if the league expands.

And, says the player to break it probably will be Bobby Hull.

Howe, a guest at a sports banquet Monday night, says the Chicago Black Hawks star "may even score as many as 70 goals if the league expands."

The caliber of hockey might suffer in an expansion, he says. "but I'm happy that more players will be able to play in the best hockey league in the world."

Howe left Tuesday for Halifax where he will end a 17-day tour of Eastern Canada.

The Cheesemen's pitching ace stopped Belvedere on three hits and struck out 15 batters in the seven inning contest.

Switching to the plate, Holway blasted two home runs and a single to spark his own attack.

Five runs in the second and two in the third built the winner big lead.

Holway blanked Belvedere until the fifth and over all gave up four walks, nine singles by D. Lucas, D. Reid and B. Jalenti.

H. Young was tagged for ten hits on the losers' hilltop, striking out two and walking three.

Juniors Stop Trudeaus

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Last season's MVP award winner Bobby Ethier set his sights on two-in-a-row, while pitching Ellis Juniors into a share of first place in the Belleville and District Softball League here last night.

Ethier gunned third strikes past 23 batters, running his total to 45 in two nights, as Ellis defeated Trudeau Motors 4-1.

Despite the high strikeout total, it was anybody's game until the Juniors sewed it up with two runs in the eighth. They took a 2-0 lead in the first and Trudeau's finally broke through for one in the seventh, making it 2-1, after failing time and again with men in scoring position.

Ethier left a dozen Trudeau men on base while scattering six hits and five walks. He pitched out of a two-on, none-out jam in the fourth and a bases-loaded, none-out situation in the fifth when he struck out four, due to a missed third strike. He fanned the side seven times.

Bob Green had a four-hitter for Trudeau until three more in the eighth hurt his cause. The veteran lefty struck out nine and did not walk a batter.

Both sides played good ball afield, with one error each, highlighted by Rick Locke's homer-stealing catch of Muirhead's long blast in the fourth.

Ethier's battery-mate, Bob Moon, crashed a two-run homer, following the lone Trudeau error in the first. As it turned out that was all Ethier needed.

Wannamaker doubled, took third on a wild pitch and raced home on Zakos' perfect bunt single to put Trudeau back in contention in the seventh.

The Juniors lost no time in the eighth. Gardiner doubled and rode home on Boyle's line single. Muirhead's base knock drove in the final tally. Ethier gave up a single to Locke in the ninth but struck out the next three batters.

Wayne Woods was the lone two-bit Junior, both singles, while Bob Moon had his key homer and Don Gardiner a double. Bob Boyle, Stu Muirhead and Mike Chatland reached Green for singles.

Trudeau hits went to Pete Weston, with two singles, Bob Wannamaker and Bill Latchford with a double each, Rick Locke and Paul Zakos with one-baggers.

The Juniors and Bloomfield now share first place, two points up on Tweed Lombanks and Trudeaus. Tweed visits Trenton at 8.15 tonight, Stirling visits Trudeaus and Bloomfield goes to Madoc on Thursday.

SLIDING HOME with Trudeau Motors' lone run in their 4-1 loss to Ellis Juniors is second baseman Bobby Wannamaker. Umpire Keith Bertrim rules him safe while Junior players are catcher Bob Moon, who won the game with a two-run homer, and third baseman Mike Chatland.

South Hastings Little League

Foxoro Hawks chalked up a 6-5 South Hastings Little League victory over Canulton Jets last night.

Course Favors Nicklaus

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The giant figure of Jack Nicklaus, seeking golf's first professional grand slam, loomed over the Bellerive Country Club's lengthy acres today as 150 of the world's premier players put the final touches on preparations for the United States Open.

Many of the 136 pros and 14 amateurs who start the four-day tourney Thursday have contended that the vast, 7,191-yard course, longest in the 65 years of the open, heavily favors long - hitting Olde Fats.

ALSO THREATEN

Other favorites include Gary Player, the little South African who, along with Nicklaus and Palmer, makes up golf's Big Three, Tony Lema and Billy Casper.

And, of course, there's a sentimental choice, 55 - year - old Sam Snead, a bulky - drawing ghost from another golfing era, making his 25th try for the one major title that has eluded him.

The Open carries a value of about $125,000, with $25,000 to the winner.

Art Wall was forced to withdraw Tuesday because of a back injury. He was replaced by Ted Kroll.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Late Frost emerged the winner by a nose in a close four-horse finish in the featured eighth race at Garden City Raceway Tuesday night.

Driven by Harold McKinley, Late Frost led a closely-packed field across the finish line as only three-quarters of a length separated the first four horses.

CPGA Ups Prize Money

MONTREAL (CP) — Pat Fletcher, president of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association, announced Saturday an increase in prize money for the organization's annual championship event, slated for the Royal Montreal Golf Club Aug. 12-14.

The sponsors of the tourney will raise this year's prize money from $15,000 from $10,000.

This year's tournament will feature a 54-hole competition exclusive to Canadian professionals. It will be preceded this year by a "pro-amateur" event on Aug. 11. Three amateurs and one pro will form a team in this separate 18-hole feature.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—A new star emerged Tuesday for the 106th running of the $50,000 added Queen's Plate June 26 at Woodbine race track.

Third Win In Row For Leafs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three weeks ago, Toronto Maple Leafs were bemoaning the loss of pitcher Bob Duliba to the parent Boston Red Sox of the American League.

Today, the International League Leafs are singing the praises of his replacement, Bob (Butch) Heffner.

Heffner, normally a reliever, started Tuesday night's game against Jacksonville Suns and went on to spin a three-hitter for his first career victory as Leafs defeated the Suns 3-1 for their third win in a row after dropping the opener.

Rochester Red Wings erupted for eight runs in the eighth inning to defeat Columbus Jets 11-3. Toledo Mud Hens broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh for a 3-1 victory over Syracuse Chiefs and the league - leading Atlanta Crackers banged Buffalo Bisons their seventh double defeat of the season, 2-1 and 5-3.

Oarsmen To Row In Henley

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Olympic gold medallist oarsmen will here Sunday for the Henley Regatta on the Thames River.

George Hungerford and Roger Jackson will race next week in the classic silver goblets pair-oar event of the four-day regatta near London.

Hungerford and Jackson rowed together in a shell for the first time in an event prior to the Tokyo Olympics last year, and went on to win the gold medal for double sculls in their second voyage.

Hungerford, 21, weighs 192 pounds. He graduated from the University of British Columbia this spring and plans to enter the first of a three-year law school course at UBC in September.

Jackson, 23, and seven pounds lighter than his mate, is a graduate of the University of Western Ontario in London and will enrol in a master of physical education course at UBC.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method
by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

PLAYING 'N' SMART

In the illustration, we see a situation that faces every golfer sooner or later. The drive has caught the fairway rough, and the player faces a shot of about 150 yards to a green guarded by sand traps.

The golfer must decide whether to hit an iron from the rough, play short of the hazards, or to try a wood shot, hoping to reach the green so that he can two-putt for par.

Unless the player MUST win or blindly hits his shots, he is a conservative — and, I think he should resist the temptation to reach the green in two with the wood club. If he doesn't meet the ball solidly, or if he doesn't fly it straight to the flag, he will face either a long third shot to the green from the fairway, or a short one from the sand trap, in either case, his chances for a par will be quite slim.

On the other hand, if he plays the relatively safe iron shot from the rough — pre-determining where he wants the shot to finish — he will leave only a short pitch shot to the green. He will still have a relatively good chance for his par, with little danger of a double-bogey.

Truth and Consequences Around for 24 Years

By CYNTHIA LOWERY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's Truth or Consequences, one of the network's hatful of game-and-audience shows, has been around for 24 years, 14 of them on radio.

Bob Barker, who has been practical joker-in-chief of the program during its 10 years on television, says he once figured there were seven basic ideas built into the show. But when pressed recently he could come up with only four:

The reunion, in which two sisters or a mother and son or two neighbors are brought together on stage after a lapse of years. (This one was so good that Ralph Edwards, who owns Truth or Consequences, spun off a whole new show, This Is Your Life, from it.)

The jayed on an unsuspecting passerby on a street and filmed with a hidden camera. (This is an idea which has also had considerable success on a television show called Candid Camera.)

SET TRAPS

The gag involving husband and wife — with help secretly enlisted from one spouse to entrap the other.

"But the backbone of the show always has been and I guess always will be the business of picking a contestant from the audience and playing a joke on him," Barker said.

Tuesday Truth or Consequences had one member of the studio audience trying to identify Fabian, a been-aged singing idol turned actor.

Barker says his own most important function is to make spot selections from the studio audience of contestants who will react well and be entertaining.

"I operate mostly by intuition —and lots and lots of experience," he said. "If I can't pick them after 10 years, I'm overdue for a change of job."

Young Peter Duchin Brings Big Bands Into Spotlight

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Middle-aged music fans can enjoy a nostalgic experience at the Cocoanut Grove these nights.

Playing melodic piano on the bandstand, just as his daddy did before him, is young Peter Duchin. As he lilts through Chopin's Nocturnes in E Flat, listeners can close their eyes and picture the tall, patrician-looking Eddy Duchin, star of a gentler era in popular music.

Unlike some second - generation performers, Peter Duchin makes no effort to escape from the image of his famous sire. Some of his arrangements are the same as those of the elder Duchin.

But Peter aims to please the young crowd, too, and his band can beat out a Watusi. A graduate of Yale and the U.S. Army, he has applied modern methods to the long-lilting band business, and he might be able to help bring it back to health.

EXPLAINS PLAN

Duchin, gay with dashing good looks, explained how his enterprise has grown since his band debut less than three years ago:

"I found I was getting more bookings than I could handle, and many of them would be for one night a long distance away. It would have been economical to transport the orchestra that far for a one-night engagement.

"In the old days, MCA (Music Corporation of America) would book most of the orchestras, and thus arrange tours which provided many dates on the same route. There is no agency to do that now. So I contacted booking agents in 23 locations and made these franchise holders of Peter Duchin Orchestras, Inc.

"Now, when I have a date in a place like Florida, I notify our franchise agents, who make other dates at the same time so it is practical to transport the musicians."

The enterprise has grown so that it books not only the Peter Duchin orchestra but a half-dozen others as well.

"I have the distinct feeling that bands are coming back," said Duchin. "I just made a tour through the South, and something happened that I hadn't had before. The people crowded around the bandstand just to watch as we played. You know, the way they used to do in the era of the big bands."

GROUP IS CAST

The night girls of The Group, Mary McCarthy's novel now being filmed, are Candice Bergen, Joan Hackett, Elizabeth Hartman, Shirley Knight, Joanna Pettet, Mary Robin Redd, Jessica Walter and Kathleen Widdoes.

School Board Gives Answer To Ratepayers

DESERONTO — At the past meeting of the school board a letter was received from the Deseronto Ratepayers' Association, who last year attached to the council and this year have the school board under fire. The letter stated as follows: "At the last meeting of the Deseronto Ratepayers' Association a discussion concerning the audit of the town for 1964 showed that the Board of Education had a surplus in the public schools account as of December 31st of $10,582 and at the same time a surplus in the high school account of $14,650, making a total surplus as at December 31, 1964, of $25,232."

As a result the following motion was passed: "That the secretary request from the Board of Education information as to whether this surplus was taken into account when the demands for finances for 1965 were made on the town of Deseronto as it is felt that the taxpayers are entitled to be informed so that there will be no suggestion of manipulation of public funds. Trusting you will give this matter your full consideration and anticipating your early reply".

The school board discussed the contents of the letter and replied that the balance of $10,582 in the public school was taken into consideration when calculating the 1965 budget. They stated the surplus of $13,661, a credit with the Napanee and District Collegiate Institute Board was not included in the above figures because the municipal council requested the estimates in their hands by March 1st. The surplus at Napanee had not been known at this time since the audit had not been finalized at the district collegiate.

It was moved, however, that it was not necessary to pay interest on borrowing as the credit of $13,661, made up the first quarterly payment for high school education for 1965. They suggested there should be a credit balance of the above amount in December 31, 1965, and this would reduce the mill rate further for education in 1966.

Successful Living

Writer Disagrees Strongly With Past Advice by Doris

DEAR DORIS — I am certain before I begin that my letter will go in your "not to be published" file.

It is not often that I read your column as I have always thought it ridiculous for people to attempt to solve their problems through correspondence with someone who is "not familiar with the entire situation. However, the article written by the "Unrespecting Daughter" concerning her "Perfect Father" aroused my interest. For a woman who has been trained in social work at McGill, Toronto and McMaster universities I thought your judgment to be quite unjust.

It seems obvious that the daughter is prejudiced against her father and will no doubt be satisfied with your response. But may I ask what will happen to "Perfect Father" when he is "outnumbered by Smart Son, Reliable Wife and Unrespecting Daughter"?

I imagine that a little understanding and rational thinking would work out better for all concerned. Do you not agree that more would be accomplished this way than by your suggested alienation of father from most by telling the boy that "his father's view of things is jaundiced?"

Should the "Unrespecting Daughter" not be advised that your advice is not flawless? — S.Y.

DEAR S.Y. — Perhaps U.D. will read your letter and decide for herself!

My chief concern was, and is, for the 14-year-old personality which may be shortly destroyed by too much discouragement. What would you add in the way of "understanding and rational thinking?"

Couldn't agree more that personal counselling beats advice by correspondence. If this effort of mine leads even a few to the skilled person-to-person help they need, wouldn't you rate me one small star?

DEAR DORIS — In November you told an enquirer of "World Tapes for Education." Well, I too used the information and joined the club.

Since joining in December I have contacted, and am taping with, 14 different families in 12 different countries all over the world. To mention a few, there are: Japan, Israel, Australia, New Zealand, Peru, England, Africa and Sweden.

I must say this is the most exciting, interesting and educational club I have ever belonged to, and the reason for this letter is to say "thank You" to you from our family as we all participate in this wonderful hobby.

If there are any further enquiries about this club I would only be too happy to let interested parties listen to a few tapes and then give them the information they need to join this club.

Keep up the wonderful column you write. — GEORGE, WINNIPEG.

DEAR GEORGE—Marvelous! I'd like to know whether you are all speaking English, or whether you can also, in a limited way, speak the native language of any of your tape pals? I'll pass on any inquiries.

ACCEPTS PETITION

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Town council has accepted a 64-page petition opposing fluoridation of the local water supply and has moved to rescind a bylaw authorizing fluoridation. The petition, signed by 1,184 persons, was the second one this year and forced a vote on the question. Council rejected an earlier anti - fluoridation petition because it did not contain enough signatures.

HANGING DEBATE NEAR

OTTAWA (CP) — Everything is nearly ready for a Commons debate and decision by free vote on the abolition of the death sentence, Justice Minister Favreau said Tuesday. He said in a Commons reply to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that a book of information on the subject for MPs now is being printed. The government intends to call the debate as soon as possible.

Bus Contracts Current Topic of Conversation

PICTON (Staff) — High, cillor, told The Ontario Intelli- school bus contracts are the current topic of conversation around Picton these days. Following Monday night's meetings of Prince Edward County Council and the Prince Edward High School Board much has yet to be clarified to satisfy ratepayers. The high school board meeting ran late and discussions on the subject were held over for another meeting to be held sometime this week.

On Monday night a delegation of about 30 people, including some bus drivers and three members of town council walked outside the board room at the high school for a chance to be heard and to gain further facts on the bus contract issue. The board, engaged with a previously arranged appointment, kept the crowd waiting as long they finally dispersed. By the time the transportation question came up on the agenda, the delegation had left, the hour was late and the board put the matter over.

One of the town council's representatives on the board, vice-chairman H. J. Colliver said he was sorry the delegation left before the board had a chance to call them in. "I have told council several times to feel free to sit in on board meetings," he said. Tonight is the first time I've ever seen a member here and three of them show up at once, then they leave before we can see them." NOT A DELEGATE

Andrew Jarvis, town gencer reporter Tuesday night he did not appear at the high school as a delegate for anything. "I was there strictly as a ratepayer hoping to obtain facts regarding the general operation of the school," he said. Councillor Jarvis also stated that he was quite concerned with Mr. Colliver's reaction with regard to the assembly. Mr. Colliver said, at Monday night's meeting of the board that he was amazed that with the modern telephone they did not phone either Dr. Fyffe (Dr. E. D. Fyffe council's other representative on the board.) They could have found out anything they wanted to know. If I had known they were going to be here I would have made special arrangements so they would not be left out in the cold.

County Council followed suit on the high school board's awarding of bus contracts close behind a motion by Picton Town Clerk-Treasurer Lloyd Wright, its representatives on the high school board appear before county council to explain the controversy.

Reeve Donald Kotchapaw said he is not happy with the way in which tenders were let. He said he has heard of some tenders being let on either a per mile basis or a per vehicle basis. Tenders living only a few miles outside of Picton who will have to ride on a bus for up to 22 miles. "Parents will no doubt rebel at this," he said. He also complained that the proposed routes had not been checked with the county engineer.

Reeve Asks Questions on Bus Tenders

PICTON (Staff) — Reeve Donald Kotchapaw, addressing County Council Monday evening, regarding the current problem of letting bus tenders for transportation of high school students, said: "I am not happy at all with the way in which tenders have been let for the school transportation. There are children living three or four miles from school that will be obligated to ride up to 30 miles a day and a three-hour ride. Why were the County engineer or township never consulted re the routing of these contracts? Reeve Kotchapaw also spoke on local business men being unable to do any business with the high school due to conflicting differences.

Reeve Gordon Lloyd of Hillier, backed Reeve Kotchapaw's objections, stating that his township representative on the High School Board, Mr. Mowery Parks, who is chairman of the board, was very much opposed to the way tenders were let and of the difficulty in understanding the proposed new system.

Reeve Kotchapaw advised that the Sophiasburgh representatives who is chairman of the transportation committee, could not understand the way the new tenders had been let either. It was questioned by Reeve Kotchapaw as to whether tenders living the route were the best way in which to obtain the desired results.

A motion by Kotchapaw - Hyatt: That county council request their High School Board representative or a High School Board member to attend the next county council meeting and a recommendation be sent to the High School Board that no action be taken re bus tenders until after this meeting, was carried.

Picton Outboard Club Will Pick New Queen

PICTON (Staff) — Wanted! Girls, Girls, Girls. Prince Edward County has more than its share of beautiful girls. So don't be bashful, girls, don your prettiest bathing suit and come to North Bay, Cobaconk, on July 11 and take part in the Miss Quinte Isle contest. There will be prizes for the three girls chosen by the judges and of course the Miss Quinte Isle crown for the girl they pick as queen.

The Picton Outboard Club is sponsoring this contest and decided to move it to early summer instead of the fall, so girls coming home from university might participate. It is felt the new queen will also be able to take part in different functions during the summer.

The age limit is 16 to 21 and must be a resident of Prince Edward County.

Sterilization Said Ethical

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Medical Association ran into its code of ethics Tuesday a section saying sterilization is ethical when carried out for valid reasons.

The reasons would depend on the conscience of the doctor, said Dr. Morley A. R. Young of Lamont, Alta., chairman of the association's committee on ethics.

Dr. Young told a press conference later he would feel it ethical to sterilize a man whose wife had several children, a bad heart condition and so faced the danger of death in future childbirths.

It would be ethical to perform the operation on the male in such a case because sterilization of the woman might be as dangerous to her life as having more children.

Alkenbrack Speaks on Drainage Act

PICTON (Staff) — The June meeting of the Federation of Agriculture had Douglas Alkenbrack, M.P. as guest. He spoke on the Tile Drainage Act which has now come into effect. Mr. Alkenbrack presented a resolution respecting this a year ago and it was adopted by the government.

At this meeting it was decided to hold a dairy meeting later in the year and invite all interested groups.

A suggestion was made that milk producers fight high price charged at service centres where milk is fifteen cents an eight-ounce glass.

Mac Brown, Picton, chairman of the poultry committee, reported on the deficiency payment on eggs. A questionnaire will be going out from this committee to poultry owners to ask their opinions on the deficiency payment.

Gladys Wood reported for the education committee. Thursday, five delegates attended the Rural Learning Association meeting at Toronto. This is a new venture in education. Delegates attended from every county in Ontario to plan in an educational program.

George Cunningham and Kenneth Hicks of the County Council reported on the action that has been taken to promote water conservation.

On June 8th the steering committee for rural development met in Picton.

Mr. Alkenbrack reviewed his efforts to have the tile drainage act enacted, as requested by Eastern Federation of Agriculture. As a result, such expenditure allows farmers to deduct full cost of this work for income tax purposes in one year. Previously, depreciation allowed was only 2½ per cent.

Priest Visits City to Promote 'Save a Family' Plan for India

Ten thousand persons, many of them children, will die of starvation today.

This is a tragic truth.

Out of every 1,000 people in the world today, only 65 live in the North American continent, yet North Americans possess about half of the world's riches and resources.

To anyone in Belleville, starvation is not real — it is something you hear about, but find very hard to comprehend. But for those who live in underdeveloped country like India, starvation is very real.

In India, an average laborer, if he is fortunate enough to be hired, earns less than 50 cents a day. With this, he must maintain himself and his family. Many try to survive on a diet of bare rice once or twice a day, but often have to go to bed hungry.

Many families are either homeless or live in makeshift mud huts in the most unhygenic conditions. Thousands are victims of diseases like tuberculosis and leprosy.

Protein deficiency hits countless children every day. The suffering child dies, his belly bloated, skin cracked and eyes staring vacantly at his helpless parents, begging for help where there is none that can be given.

What can we as Canadians do to help?

To give relief and aid to starving fellow human beings abroad, St. Thomas' University in Fredericton, New Brunswick, has organized the "Save A Family" plan.

Rev. J. J. Kandathil, professor of chemistry at St. Thomas' University, was in Belleville several weeks ago with details about the. Save a Family plan. He was travelling throughout Ontario and the west in an effort to make Canadians aware that they can help the starving families of India for a meagre five dollars a month. Father Kandathil, a native of Kerala, India, is being assisted in the program by Dr. Leo Ferarri, professor of philosophy at St. Thomas' University.

The aim of the plan is to encourage Canadian families to "adopt" a poor family in India and provide food, clothing, proper shelter and medicine. About five dollars a month will keep a whole family from starving or will enable a child to get an education and make his own family eventually self-supporting.

The family wanting to help deals directly with the Indian family it is helping. Thus, the Indian family gets the benefit of the whole amount of money sent with none deducted for bookkeeping and other purposes.

Those interested can write to Save a Family Plan, St. Thomas' University, Fredericton, N.B. The name and address of a needy family will be sent so that one can correspond directly with them.

United Opposition Hits Cabinet Backing Quebec Constitution Change Plea

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet is going to advise the Queen to approve a request by the Quebec cabinet for a limitation on the powers of the province's upper house. And when Acting Prime Minister Martin announced this in the Commons Wednesday, an indignant opposition hit the roof.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker accused the government of bringing the Queen into the arena of party politics by its "devious and unconstitutional" decision.

"This action will live to haunt this government," said T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party.

Social Credit Leader Thompson accused the government of by-passing Parliament.

The issue spelled possible troubles for the minority Liberal administration and Monday when one of the regular supply debates was scheduled by Mr. Martin to give the Commons a chance to debate it.

GIVE OPPOSITION CHANCE

These debates afford the chance for the opposition to move non - confidence motions. A combination of the four opposition groups on the non - confidence motion on the issue could defeat the government and force a general election.

Mr. Thompson, whose nine-member group has come to the government's rescue on crucial votes in the past, agreed with one aspect of the government's decision — that the elected representatives of Quebec should decide the powers of their provincial legislative chambers.

The legislative council which opposes the Quebec Liberal government's plan to curb its powers is an appointed body descended by the Union Nationale party.

Liberal spokesman Mr. Thompson's stand was somewhat dampened when he added that he doesn't believe Quebec has a constitutional right to appeal directly to the Crown and such an appeal should first pass through Parliament.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) said the federal government had no business getting involved. "I ask the government to drop this whole bunch of papers and send it right back to Quebec immediately. This is Quebec's own problem: let them solve it."

Mr. Martin made the announcement at the opening of the day's sitting when he read from a lengthy statement explaining the government's reasons for supporting the provincial government's request.

"The government has given the most careful consideration to every aspect of what is a most complex and genuinely unprecedented situation."

He said the provincial government tried to make the changes — which involve an amendment to the constitution — through the provincial houses but the efforts were frustrated in the legislative council — the upper house. The legislative assembly — the lower house — then approved an address to the Queen asking royal approval for the changes.

Severe Pounding Of Govt.

By MICHAEL GILLAN

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government took a severe pounding from the opposition over the constitutional controversy Wednesday and watched one of its own supporters bolt party lines on Finance Minister Gordon's magazine legislation.

Ralph Cowan, the only Liberal to vote against adoption of the new Canadian flag last year, told the Commons he will oppose the budget resolution that exempts Time and Reader's Digest magazines from tax penalties imposed against foreign - owned publications.

Mr. Cowan, member for York Humber and a former business executive with the Toronto Star, said he would favor Finance Minister Gordon's proposal if all "bogus" foreign publications were included.

"But I can't vote for it in its present form," he said.

The resolution proposes that Canadian advertising in foreign periodicals be disallowed as a deductible business expense. The Canadian edition of Time and Reader Digest, however, are exempted from the provision.

Rhodesia Hot Issue At Parley

By CARL MOLLINS

LONDON (CP)—The troublesome issue of Rhodesia's future could provoke the most explosive debate of the nine-day conference of Commonwealth leaders which opened here today.

Host Prime Minister Wilson, who regards the issue as a bilateral matter between Britain and Rhodesia, is under heavy pressure from African leaders to take a tougher line against the white minority government of Ian Smith.

Prime Minister Pearson has placed Canada squarely in the African camp with an ever-ot conference statement that the Rhodesian government must ultimately represent the 3,000,000 Negroes there as well as the 300,000 whites.

"It's quite clear that in the long run there can be no solution to this problem without a government, a form of government, in Rhodesia which meets the wishes of the majority of the people in that country," Pearson said Wednesday in a television broadcast with four other Commonwealth leaders.

CHARGES U.K. DELAY

There was a sharp exchange in the panel discussion when Dr. Milton Obote, prime minister of Uganda, accused the British government of dragging its feet and being too soft on Smith's all-white government.

Julius Nyerere, president of neighboring Tanzania, demanded at a separate press conference that Britain arrange for an African franchise in Rhodesia and send in troops if the whites resist. If necessary, Smith should be imprisoned if his government makes good his threat to declare its independence of Britain unilaterally, he said.

Rhodesia, a territory the size of Newfoundland, adjoins South Africa — former Commonwealth member which withdrew in 1961 under fire for its white supremacy policy.

Northern Rhodesia, now Zambia, and Nyasaland, now Malawi, broke away from the Rhodesian federation in disgust at the white - dominated government in Salisbury and achieved independence last year. Rho-

Viet Nam Prime Objective Of Commonwealth Premiers

LONDON (CP)—By one of those weird and wonderful bloopers that can only happen in England, an open milk van with bottles clattering furiously led a cavalcade of Commonwealth premiers into the courtyard of Marlborough House today.

It was the opening of the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, bringing together 21 premiers, presidents, and delegates representing 750,000,000 people around the world.

The Commonwealth leaders had a vivid demonstration of one of the problems confronting them—that of Rhodesia—when pickets waved placards as they arrived along the mall opposite Marlborough House. The pickets were demanding an end to white rule in Rhodesia.

Along with Rhodesia, the big issues confronting the leaders include how to bring peace to South Viet Nam, how to reduce the world armament race, strengthen the Commonwealth through a secretariat and increase Commonwealth aid and trade.

Two of the premiers—presidents Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Julius Nyerere of Tanzania —doubt whether a joint Commonwealth attitude can be formed on critical Vietnam:se issue where both sides are intensifying their forces. Prime Minister Wilson Obote of Uganda doubts whether the Commonwealth conference is a big enough forum to reach hard-and-fast decisions on Viet Nam.

However, Britain intends to press the non-aligned members of the Commonwealth to carry their crusade for Vietnamese peace talks—without preconditions—to the Afro-Asian conference opening in Algiers June 29.

Prime Minister Wilson, as host, arrived early and the Marlborough House courtyard was quiet and expectant awaiting the arrival of other Commonwealth chiefs.

Suddenly the calm was disturbed by the milk van clattering along. An official of the Commonwealth relations office gasped:

"How in heaven's name did that get in here!"

Marlborough House is being heavily guarded. No one except Commonwealth delegates is being allowed near the ornate conference room. Scotland Yard men move discreetly through the corridors, guarding against assaults, bombing and microphone "bugging." Last year Kenya's Jomo Kenyatta was almost assaulted on the steps of his hotel when he left for Marlborough House.

Some delegates now have private guards as well as armed British policemen. Kenyatta

U.S. Jets Shoot Down Two MiGs

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Navy Phantom jets shot down two Communist MIG-17 fighters today during a battle 50 miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The clash occurred while the Phantoms were flying escort for other U.S. planes bombing targets about 20 miles north of Thanh Hoa.

The spokesman said four Communist jets appeared and turned toward the U.S. planes, but apparently two were hit before they had a chance to open fire.

The battle lasted only 30 seconds and the Phantoms hit the enemy with air-to-air missiles, he said.

It was presumed that the MIGs were North Vietnamese.

Scarborough, Etobicoke, North York New Cities

By JOHN LeBLANC

TORONTO (CP) — Consolidation of the 13 municipalities of Metropolitan Toronto into four large cities with continuance of the metropolitan form of government is recommended in a report to the Ontario government by H. Carl Goldenberg, Montreal lawyer and municipal consultant.

Mr. Goldenberg, whose 213-page report was made public today, was appointed in 1963 as a one-man royal commissioner to study the structure and organization of the Toronto-area Metro system after 10 years of operation. He finds the system has worked well but now faces growing problems stemming from too many political divisions.

Discarding Toronto city's call for outright amalgamation of all 13 units, Mr. Goldenberg in his 213-page report proposes formation of these four cities:

1. Toronto, made up of the present city and the townships of York and East York, the town of Leaside and the villages of Forest Hill and Swansea, with a population of 800,513.

2. North York, made up of the township of North York and the town of Weston with a population of 251,891.

3. Scarborough, consisting of Toronto would be 54 square the township of Scarborough and the town of Scarborough Heights with a population of 253,282.

4. Etobicoke, consolidating the western municipalities of Etobicoke Township, the towns of New Toronto and Mimico, and the villages of Long Branch, with a population of 228,653.

There would be some major changes in the administration of municipal services, particularly in education, with the Metro area divided into 11 school districts not related to municipal boundaries.

Under the existing setup, populations of the Metro municipalities range between Swansea's 9,371 and Toronto city's 667,338 of the 1963 count. The land area ranges between 70 square miles for Scarborough to less than one for Long Branch.

Under the consolidation plan, miles, North York 68.1 and Etobicoke, 47.9.

Mr. Goldenberg finds that the Metro operation — a federation of the municipalities with powers divided between the individual units and the central

Use of Foamed Plastic to Prevent Road Heaving Fairly Successful

OTTAWA (CP)—Early indications are that an experiment using foamed plastic to prevent frost heaving in northern roads was "reasonably successful" although official results won't be announced until January.

The joint venture in Sudbury, involving the National Research Council, city of Sudbury and Dow Chemical of Canada Ltd., used sheets of foamed polystyrene to insulate the subgrade of a natural soil under road surfaces.

It is the freezing and expansion of this soil that causes heaving of road surfaces.

Two 100-foot sections of road were specially constructed last summer with automatic recording equipment installed to make readings during the winter.

"We opened up parts of the road this spring," Edward Penner of NRC's building research division said in an interview.

"It looks as if the project is reasonably successful but we'll have to observe it for at least another winter.

"Road construction of this type must be economical to be of any real value and we have to determine how long it will stand up."

He said further details on the test results will not be announced until January when the three parties will publish a joint paper.

The two - inch - thick plastic sheets were used in "two different methods during the test.

In one case, they were placed directly on top of the natural soil and covered by nine inches of coarse gravel, three inches of fine gravel and 3½ inches of asphalt.

This compares with normal road design in Sudbury of 18 inches of coarse gravel on top of the natural soil, with three inches of fine gravel and the 3½ inches of asphalt.

In the other test method, the normal design was used with the plastic sheets laid in the middle of the coarse gravel, 18½ inches below the surface of the road.

Mr. Penner said similar experiments have been carried out near Winnipeg by the Manitoba highways department and that the Quebec department is considering a test on Montreal Island.

The council is involved only with the Sudbury experiment.

Dairy Princess Says Honda Beats Collie for Fetching Cows

Bringing the cows in from the pasture is a chore for just about the farm collie dog but in this day of mechanization something new always keeps turning up.

A decade or so ago when tractors displaced the farm horse, a few farmers decided this might be used to advantage in bringing home the cows.

They seemed to work quite satisfactorily, but now Linda Gunning, Tweed district farm girl and the 1964 Hastings county Dairy Princess, has come up with something new again — she has bought herself a Honda.

"I use it to bring the cows in from pasture," she says.

"At first the cows were scared, but they got used to it. now the Honda is better for fetching cows than the dog.

Santo Domingo Is Quiet Again After 67 Killed, 265 Wounded

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — Quiet returned to this strife-torn Dominican Republic capital early today after rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamano Deno claimed that 67 Dominicans were killed and 265 were wounded in fierce fighting between U.S. forces and rebel supporters Tuesday and Wednesday.

Three U.S. paratroopers were killed and 33 were wounded this week, bringing the toll of U.S. dead to 28 in the civil war.

Meanwhile, the Organization of American States was expected to try a new political approach to the crisis on the troubled Caribbean island.

Caamano's foreign minister, Jottin Cory, said the regime has asked the United Nations for an emergency meeting of the Security Council to "adopt the measures to stop the ferocity of the U.S. attack."

In New York Wednesday night, Russia's Nikolai Fedorenko said the UN Security Council should meet in Santo Domingo to get first-hand information on the situation.

U.S. Delegate Charles W. Yost opposed the idea, but a decision was left until another council meeting Friday.

Yost told the council that pro-Castro elements had instigated the fighting to provoke UN action in support of the rebel regime.

Caamano said that the U.S. troops opened fire on the rebels Tuesday, touching off the battle. The OAS mission reported that the rebels fired first.

Rebel leaders claimed that the U.S. objective was to force the rebels into a more flexible negotiating position.

The Americans pulled back two blocks, but the OAS committee said the other blocks would be held until Caamano gave "satisfactory assurances that this type of violation of the ceasefire, resulting in death and injuries to civilians and military personnel, will not occur again."

The District Chairman's tournament for men's doubles was held at local greens on Wednesday afternoon with 17 rinks in play, one of the biggest turnouts in years for this event. The probable reason for the big entry was the fact that Corby Distillery, through their representative, Bill Johns, donated a beautiful trophy for competition and also provided cash prizes for the winning rink. Gilbert McCuaig, of Kingston, chairman of the district this year, conducted the draw and awarded the prizes at the end of the games. The weather was delightful and the greens lighting fast. The competition was probably the stiffest to be seen this year as every rink came loaded and the result was some excellent bowling being witnessed by a large gallery.

Clarence Mills and Larry Chouinard of Trenton had their names inscribed on the new Corby trophy for the first time when they won the three-game high score defeating Bill Fuller and Ab Womancott by one shot in a brilliant finale. Included in the Fuller-Womancott rink scored an amazing 40 points with all nine plus in winning the two-game high. This count was several points higher than the rink winning the trophy. In second place was Bruce Miller and Ken Asbury of the Belleville Club with Morley Gab and Eddie Donohoe of Kingston in third place. The one-game high count was won by Clayton Maguire and Ossie Newton of Trenton Club.

During the day refreshments were served by the women's section of the local club. It was a pleasant day all round.

The Provincial playdowns leading to the champions trip will be opened at the local greens on Sunday. Competitions for rinks and Colts will be played with the doubles the next Sunday and the singles on the following Sunday. The Belleville Club will have two rinks, Trenton one and one from Kingston, while it is expected at least four clubs will be represented in the Colts playdowns. The winners will go into the district playdowns and if successful there will meet three other district winners for the Provincial title. The public is cordially invited to witness these matches.

Will Install Vapor Lights At No. 37 Interchange

The No. 37 highway interchange with 401 highway north of the city will be lighted at night following completion of a light installation program now underway.

The DHO district office maintenance department is erecting 16 concrete light poles at the interchange, the poles to be topped with 400 watt mercury vapor lamps.

The Kingston office said today that current plans call for lighting only the No. 37 interchange at Belleville. Traffic Volume, and the interchange accident rate are two of the main factors prompting the lighting of interchanges, it was stated.

Highway maintenance crews will go into the district planning the erection of new route signs along 401. The new signs are necessitated by the recent re-naming of the four lane super highway "The MacDonald-Cartier Freeway."

Concrete footings for the new highway signs are already in place and construction crews are waiting for the signs.

Impaired Driving, Excessive Speed Blamed by Coroner's Jury for Two Fatalities

A Belleville coroner's jury last night deplored parental indifference for involving a group of young people in a double-fatal traffic accident.

The criticism came after four hours of testimony in which several 17-year-old youthful witnesses were warned against perjury and placed under Canada Evidence Act protection by coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott.

At one point, the coroner recessed the hearing so a 16-year-old girl could consult with her mother after he cautioned her against false evidence.

The jury also bluntly recommended four young male witnesses be immediately re-examined for driver licence qualifications — a demand that stemmed directly from Dr. Scott's summing up of their evidence and criticism of their mental abilities.

CHAIN OF EVENTS

Pickett's fatal weekend leave was the first of a series of relatives and friendships.

The injured Smith girl was his niece. Margaret Cook was her close friend. And testimony showed that the dead girl's brother, Ivan Cook, 17, and three of his friends from the Brighton area were in a second car near the accident scene.

After sorting the lengthy testimony, the jury returned a midnight verdict delivering a comment on those directly involved.

The jury blamed the accident on impaired driving by Pickett, excessive speed and "the probable negligence on the part of the driver of a second car, who made an unsafe entrance onto Station Street ahead of the Pickett car".

BLIND IN ONE EYE

The findings were made after witnesses testified the soldier showed signs of alcohol intoxication and an expert witness said alcohol found in his bloodstream was less than that rendered by experts equivalent to impairment.

The lengthy inquest saw coroner Dr. Scott remind the jury that the object of the inquiry was an explanation of the fatal accident — not of liquor practices.

Testimony revealed Pickett's car had likely scraped along a sidewalk curb nearly 40 feet before the fatal impact. "Then," said police identification officer Dale Ashbury, "it had been possibly two feet off the ground for 26 feet before striking the hydro pole."

And Cook, the inquest showed, as the driver of the car near the scene, was blind in his left eye.

With Cook in the second car were Thomas Hatfield, 20, John Andrews, 19, and his brother, Sidney Clarence Andrews, 18, all of R. R. 3 Brighton.

The fatal chain of events started with the arrival of Pickett and Kregar at the home of Pickett's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith, 1 Emily Street.

Both men left briefly for a trip to the home of Frank Hall, 26 — an old army friend of Pickett's — at Read. They then returned to the 3 Smith home. With the Smiths they went to the Crystal Hotel about 11 p.m., where they later were joined by Bonnie, the Smiths' daughter, and a boy friend. At closing time they left, met the Cook girl — a friend of Bonnie's — and went to the Tropicana room of the Quinte Hotel where Pickett had one drink.

Dr. Alec Rota, pathologist at Belleville General Hospital, said tests showed Pickett had 1.2 parts alcohol in his bloodstream at death. The Cook girl had .2 parts.

Experts consider the threshold of impairment is crossed at 1.5 parts, he added. Assistant Crown Attorney Peter Lally noted barristers were now seeking to raise it to 1.8 parts.

Bonnie Smith, still showing effects of the accident, first testified she had not been in the hotel. However, Mr. Lally pointed out a statement by the still-hospitalized soldier, Pregar, said he had joined them at the tavern.

Interrupted Dr. Scott: "Miss Smith, you are under the protection of this court and any evidence which you shall give can't be used against you. I will also give you the protection of the Canada evidence act.

TALKED TO MOTHER

"But you must remember you're under oath and if you are under oath and found out not to be telling the truth you can be charged with perjury — which is a much more serious charge."

Then he added: "I think if you had a recess . . . go and talk to your mother over there."

After the brief admonishment the teenager agreed she had met her parents and the two soldiers at the hotel. She acquitted where the Cook girl might have obtained the alcohol discovered in her blood.

"Do you know where she might have had a drink?" asked Mr. Lally.

"Yes. They went to Shannonville," was the reply.

She also said she had three beers in the Crystal Hotel and at the Tropicana: "I think I had a Tom Collins — I'm not sure." It was outside the Crystal they met the Cook girl.

She said Pickett — her uncle — showed no signs of impairment on the way home to Emily Street.

There they found the car of the four youths in the driveway. Her parents went into the house. After some conversation she returned to her uncle's car and they set off to pick up her luggage at the Cook girl's place on College Street.

She identified the Cook youth was a boy friend but said he showed no perturbation at her uncle's death. Bonnie's car, where she travelled in the back seat with Kregar.

She could recall no details of the accident.

At the conclusion of her testimony she was thanked by the coroner, who emphasized to the jury: "I think she's been completely honest and straightforward in this second session.

THANKED FOR CO-OPERATION

"Thank you Bonnie for coming here today to thank you mother too for her cooperation."

The coroner also broke off questioning Constable Gordon Reid who repeatedly queried witnesses on alcoholic impressions.

After Mr. Smith took the stand the coroner firmly reminded the former army man that he didn't think the matter of serving liquor to minors has anything to do with the case.

"This can get off on a whole investigation of the liquor problem . . ."

Mr. Smith also said he saw nothing wrong with his brother-in-law's driving after leaving the Hotel for Emily Street.

"I was just upstairs getting ready for bed when I heard the brakes at the door."

He added the car driven by Cook was parked across from Station Street at the time he arrived.

Testimony of the four youths in the tavern began with Hatfield, and was followed by Cook and the two Andrews brothers.

As Hatfield and Cook entered the court room they were given the Canada Act protection and swarned against perjury.

The four testified they had arrived in the tavern at the Smith residence and left almost immediately after the Pickett party departed. All said Cook was not perturbed about the Smith girl leaving in the other car.

COOK WAS DRIVER

Cook was driving the car because he was the only one with an intimate knowledge of the city, they testified.

The automobile driven by Cook entered Station Street while Pickett's car was still near Oak but heading in their direction.

Hatfield said he believed the Pickett car was behind them when the accident occurred. Cook said Pickett lost control as the soldier's car drew abreast. Constable Dale Ashbury, recalled to the stand, testified that to see a car at Oak Street coming down Station from the Emily Street intersection, would need a driver would have to have "the nose of the car out to the white line" on Station Street.

Noting the testimony of the four Brighton-district youths, the coroner said: "I think there are a few little crimps we can put into this to teach other people a lesson at this time."

He then suggested to the jury that the IQs of drivers could stand examination.

"There is a little more than reading signals to driving a car today," he told Scott. "We must assume that the mental ability of the four male persons in the car there was very low."

In its recommendations, the jury proposed:

"That any person having a significant physical disability be re-examined on a regular basis before being re-issued with a driver's permit;"

"That the written and oral tests for eligibility for a driver's permit be much more thorough and demanding of reasonable intelligence."

Asphalt Top Being Placed On Highway

Rebuilt to modern highway standards last year, the section of No. 37 Highway from the Corbyville by-pass to O'Brien's Bridge, is going an asphalt top this week.

The base coat for the paving job has been almost completed and the paving crew is applying the finish coat.

Clarke T. Rollins, M.L.A. for Hastings East, said last week that the contract for the Fieldfield by-pass is now being called.

When this is completed it will leave only one short section of road between Belleville and Tweed — from north of Plainfield to south of Roslin — to be brought up to standard.

IN MEMORIAM

THOMSON—In fondest memory of our dear husband, father and grandpa, who passed away June 17, 1962.

The world and kind in all his years,
Dutiful and honest till the last of his days.
Beautiful memories he has left behind,
I shall think of the happy days
When we were together.
The chair he sat in is empty now
But the memory of John will live forever remembered by his wife
Alma.

WOODACRE—In loving memory of our dear husband, father and brother, who passed away June 17, 1962.

We little know when we woke that morn,
The sorrow the day would bring.
For the call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by daughter
In the old home he thought best;
He came and went, and came and went,
And, without warning, one day
Sadly missed by daughters
Janet, Barb and Judy.

WOODACRE—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Walter Allen Woodacre, who passed away two years ago, June 17, 1963.

We often think of by-gone days
When we were all together.
The family chair is broken now,
But memory will live forever.
To us he has not gone away,
Nor has he travelled far,
Just entered God's eternal home,
—Always remembered by loving wife Ivy, daughter, granddaughter.

GIVES VALEDICTORY

Donna Burford gave the valedictory as follows:

"Mr. Demers, Mr. Lockliu, supervising teachers, parents, teachers, houseparents, students and friends:

"For years we have looked forward to our graduation. Although we are enthusiastic about graduating today, we regret that it is time to say farewell to our school and farewell to all who have trained and helped us throughout the years. Our hearts are filled with sincere appreciation to all who have given us their time, education and training to make us dependable citizens of Ontario and Canada.

"We are very grateful to our parents for sending us to this school for our education. It has helped us lead good lives, if we remember the lessons we have learned at the O.S.D.

"To the province of Ontario we express our sincere thanks for providing us with a well-equipped school to train and educate deaf students.

"To our superintendent, Mr. Demers and his assistant, we extend our thanks for what they have done to make our lives happy here. They have shown their great interest in deaf students.

"To all our teachers, we express our appreciation for their patience with us in their difficult task of teaching the deaf.

"We wish to thank our houseparents for the times they have comforted us in the residences. They have tried to make the school a happy home away from home. We are also grateful to our nurses, doctor and dentist who have spent much time caring for us when we were in hospital during our illnesses. We must thank them very much for their good health.

"To the class of 1966, we hope that they will accept their responsibilities and undertake the leadership of the student body in a manner which will help to improve our school.

"Now, we have to bid farewell to you. Good luck to the students who will continue their education next fall.

"We plan to visit our former school and our friends as often as possible."

Mr. Demers thanked Donna Burford and said that she merited the honor of being valedictorian.

Mr. Demers reminded the graduates that although they had finished school they had much to learn, and suggested they should continue to learn from parents and from their work situations. He advised the young graduates to think for themselves, to choose good friends, to remember their church and to continue learning about the right way to live.

French May Be Compulsory Subject in Ont.

TRENTON — A director of French speaking classes for the Department of Education told representatives of most public and separate schools here last night it was inevitable for French to become a compulsory subject in Ontario schools. "Within a year or two it will be introduced as a permissive subject, then offered as an optional basis and eventually listed compulsory, guest speaker Noel Bennet-Alder explained.

Two groups of Trenton students were used by him to demonstrate new methods of teaching the second language. Speaking to them only in French one group who had never been exposed to the language before was responding to his command after 10 minutes direction. By comparison the group who had been tutored at extra-curricular classes took the same period of time to understand his instruction.

Lou Aziz representing the Trenton Board of Education and G. E. McMullen inspector of public school attended the meeting hosted by the Prince Charles Home and School Associations.

JUNGLE GREENE

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass reports that Soviet composer Shiko V. Aronov is writing an opera, The Quiet American, based on the novel of the same name by Graham Greene, of England. The book is about the Vietnamese fight for independence from the French.

Fringe Benefits Increased For High School Teachers

Increased fringe benefits for secondary school teachers and other employees, along with higher salaries for administrators, were approved last night by the Bay of Quinte District High School board.

The board will allow 100 per cent accumulation of sick leave for all employees, rather than the 50 per cent allowed previously.

Also the maximum salary for head caretakers in each school was increased to $5,000 while the minimum and maximums for assistant caretakers has been set to $3,850 and $3,950. Thomas Wilkins, formerly working as a part time caretaker - Moira Secondary School has been hired full time.

Although 100 per cent accumulation of sick leave will be allowed in the future, this applies only for sick leave and not for retirement gratuity purposes which will remain at the present 50 per cent.

CONSIDER LEAVE

Also being considered by the board is a request for a sabbatical leave which would allow a teacher time off for study or travel. During which time he or she would receive a percentage of present salary.

A sabbatical may be granted by school boards in certain other centres in the province but is being considered for the first time by the local high school board.

A requirement usually is that the teacher return to teach for a period of at least three years.

Tentative approval of final plans for the proposed new fourth high school was given at a special meeting that night and now plans will go for approval by the Ontario Department of Education and the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department before tenders are called.

TENDER APPROVED

Tenders are expected to be called within the next week or ten days. Completion of the new school is expected in time for the September 1966 school opening.

Last night's meeting of the board was the final regular session of the 1965-66 school year and the board will next stand adjourned until the call of any special meetings necessary during the summer months. At least one special meeting is expected to follow the opening of tenders for the new school to allow the contract to be let.

Also at last night's meeting the partment of Education will go out from the local board urging legislation to allow the community college in the general Bay of Quinte area. The board also passed a motion empowering a committee to be set up to allow for the preparation of a brief to be presented in connection with the request for a college in this area.

The board last night also granted the use of the Moira Secondary School gymnasium to the Belleville Minor Soccer this autumn, at a slightly increased rental rate.

The compulsory student casualty insurance plan formerly carried as part of the board's liability policy will be discon-

Price of Cheese Up Cent Over Last Week

The price of cheese on the Belleville Cheese Exchange went up another cent yesterday to 41½ cents per pound.

The price received now equals that received by farmers last year, prior to the 3.6 cent government stabilization subsidy being discontinued a few weeks ago.

The government stabilization subsidy was said discontinued on the understanding that the board price would be increased to make up the difference.

Ontario Cheese Producers' Market Board chairman Hector Arnold said last night the official opening of the new Maple Leaf Cheese Co-Operative plant at Lotts Lake last week's price now equalled last year's price to the farmer.

In addition deficiency payment of from 12 to 25 cents per cwt of milk and a supplementary payment of from 12 to 25 cents could be expected, he said.

Offered on yesterday's cheese board were 8,000 specials, 8,077 boxes of large regular cheese and 11,000 square cheese. Colored cheese sold at 41.8 cents.

Litter on Sandbanks

On the sandbanks at the Outlet Park near Picton the soft white sand still comes in with the prevailing wind from the lake, as it has done from time immemorial. You can stand in the sand's silky resilience and gaze over the dunes for measureless distances to the verdant green plain where trees have been planted, and beyond that to the blue lake. There is a primeval quality about the area, a touch of other-worldliness.

It might be thought that this place would inspire a measure of respect among members of the public who use it—a sense of wonderment for its peace and beauty. Unfortunately, this is not quite the case. Here, as in other recreational areas, is evidence of the kind of spoliation that is such a blight on our civilization.

On the sand only last weekend were empty beer bottles and discarded cartons; and worse still the inevitable clusters of broken bottles, their jagged edges capable of lacerating the feet of some unsuspecting child or adult. Some of the bottles were of the soft drink variety, suggesting that young people are as careless as adults, and some of the broken pieces were placed as though with deliberation, their knife-edges upwards. The beach itself was cluttered with dead and rotting fish.

It is a disgrace, this desecration of beaches and parks and beauty spots. Prince Edward County is not the only region that suffers in this way. Lyn Falls, near Brockville, is another —anywhere in fact on this continent where members of the public congregate.

Travel lecturer Walter Midgley encountered the same sort of thing in the mountains of California, and he reported that a group of university students of that state had banded together to clean up where campers and other travellers had failed to do so. Thus the students contributed in no small measure to the proper maintenance of public recreational areas.

Members of the general public must learn to display a similar sense of responsibility. Young people in the schools should be taught respect for the outdoors, to keep parks and beaches clean.

The Bard in Space

Imagine Shakespeare as a newspaper reporter or feature writer? This was the intriguing suggestion made by the Toronto Star's John Brehl in a report on the homecoming of the Gemini space pilots.

"For a moment," said Brehl, "you could wish it were possible to send someone like Shakespeare up on one of these trips so the earthbound could really be told what it is like to be up there."

It may well be that Shakespeare's works already contain some phrase or piece of dialogue that would be appropriate to last week's space achievement.

Meanwhile, writer Brehl managed quite nicely in the modern style. There is poetry in brevity, as in the Toronto writer's description of the astronauts' reunion with their wives.

"You had to stop watching her (Mrs. White) because it was too private. The expression on her face told too clearly what it meant to have men come back from where we used to think men would never be."

Computer Lands Jet

Wonders will never cease, according to an old saying. Certainly this is appropriate to a new British achievement—the landing of a Trident jet at London airport with no one handling the controls.

The automatic landing system, developed for flying men when visibility is poor, uses a computer to land the aircraft after the captain has lined the machine up with the runway.

The system has actually been perfected for as least a decade—RAF planes demonstrated it on a television program some years ago—but this is believed to be the first time a commercial plane with passengers has made such a landing.

Material poverty is not the only kind. Poverty, hunger and disease can exist also in the spiritual realm. It is evidence of spiritual poverty to look down on the non-American world, to regard it as a vast human garbage-heap. Perhaps it is evidence of spiritual hunger to think that only North Americans are, or can be, happy. Perhaps it is evidence of spiritual disease to measure people and nations and life, to measure anything in this world, by money.—Richard Needham in The Globe and Mail.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 17th, 1945

Rain that for 12 days of this month had drenched the country, at last halted on Friday and gave two days of clear, sunny weather with bright sunlight, and Sunday warmer with clouds which turned to rain, with ease on Sunday night.

It has been estimated that the damage to cereals will run to many millions; much of the seed in the ground is reported killed or drowned out and operations on the land have been held up by the soggy condition of the ground. Fields are covered with water in many places.

In this year the task of rehabilitation of Europe has come upon the world, and the feeding of nations which have been stripped of much labor, seed and livestock by the Germans, is one of the big problems. The greater the harvest the less difficult it would be for this work to be carried out. Accordingly, weather and crops, while they have helped the election in the war years, will still have deep implications for everyone during this year and next year too.

Delegates representing the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association in the number of about 150 will hold a convention here with headquarters in Hotel Quinte for the next three days. At the opening meeting the delegates will be welcomed by Mayor Geo. O. Tice and Postmaster J. V. C. Truisach.

A beautiful crucifix has been presented to the Church of St. Michael the Archangel by Mrs. Samuel Moore in memory of her late husband, and at devotions on Sunday evening it was blessed by Rev. Rev. T. J. Nicholson, V.G., who also delivered an eloquent sermon on the story of the Cross. During the blessing of the crucifix the "Stabat Mater" was played and the "Rose of the Cross" was sung by Mrs. J. Truisach and Mrs. James Grant. The crucifix is placed on the wall at the east near the entrance to the church.

Dr. A. T. Embury of Bancroft, reeve of that village for many years and formerly warden of the County of Hastings, was selected as the Conservative candidate to contest the riding of East Hastings — Peterborough at the next Federal election. The meeting was held at Bancroft.

Dr. and Mrs. Rutherford of this city have left to spend some time in the West. Yesterday they were given a hearty send off at the station by members of the Edward Street Church. Dr. Rutherford is a popular member.

Strawberries were plentiful on the markets today and sold at 15 cents per box. The boxes contain more berries than was the case last year, the new regulation box is a full quart in volume.

Owing to the low water Capitola J. and Mrs. Trainer had the misfortune to run aground with his cabin cruiser Nila at Glen Island, Lake Ontario in the harbor yesterday afternoon. Considerable difficulty was encountered in floating her off.

Major Osborne of Fredericton, N.B., formerly of Belleville was in town yesterday and called on his former commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton. Major Osborne has been an active service for several months and has organized a well trained several fine bodies of men now serving overseas.

The Hastings County Council has made a grant of $1,000 to the 39th Battalion, C.E.F., which is now stationed here prior to overseas service.

Right to Know

London Free Press

It is to be hoped that Justice Minister Favreau will have some sober second thoughts about his off-handed proposal to prevent the press from publishing news of proceedings until they have been found guilty by the courts. The issue is not freedom of the press, but freedom of the people to know what is going on. The press is only acting as an agent for the ordinary citizen who cannot take time off from his daily work to attend court hearings. By keeping the press out, or preventing it from doing its duty, the citizen is being kept in blindness.

THE BEST SKIPPERS ARE ON SHORE

Dead Do Not Grow Hair, But Tissues Expose More

By JOSEPH G. WOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a hairdresser and often have queries about hair growing after a person has died. I know this is not so, but I have a hard time explaining it to my girl friends. Please help.

They also go on to say that they know of people whose hair turned gray overnight because of shock. I suppose a shock can cause this in a month or two, but not overnight. — N. W.

On your first question you are right. Hair does not grow after death, any more than other parts of the body can continue to live and grow after death.

However, this belief that the hair grows is based on more than mere imagination. As death of the soft tissues of the body (fat and skin) begin to shrink somewhat, this exposes more of the hair shaft which has been below the normal surface of the skin. Thus a man's beard becomes more noticeable and appears to have grown even though it actually has not.

As to the other question, hair turns gray or white as it gradually loses the melanin, or pigment, which is coloring matter.

This nearly always is gradual, taking place at the root, as a hair grows.

There are medical reports that under extreme shock or stress, as in battle, pigment can be lost very rapidly from the hair itself. Such cases are very rare, and I am not inclined to believe the casual reports we hear about it happening under the ordinary shocks and griefs which we encounter in civilized existence.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our 12-year-old son has the "kissing disease." Can it cause leukemia? How long does it last? Is it contagious? How does one contact it? Is there another name for it? — Mrs. F. G.

There is no valid reason for calling it the "kissing disease," since it obviously spreads by other means. The medical term is infectious mononucleosis. No, it doesn't cause leukemia. It may last for a number of weeks. All of your questions are answered in detail in my booklet, "Mononucleosis." (For a copy, send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 136, Prince Stn., N.Y. With just reasonable care, the disease disappears, leaving no damage afterward.

Dear Sir: Is it true that hair spray can cause cancer if it gets in the eyes? — Mrs. T. H.

No, but there are perfectly good reasons, other than that, for not getting such stuff in the eye. The main one is that it wouldn't feel very good. Let's not, as I've said before, get in the habit of thinking that cancer is the only thing worth worrying about.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 10 weeks old, was born with an ugly birthmark on the side of her face. The doctor said it might go away by itself or might not. Do you agree? — Mrs. T. W.

There are enough different kinds of birthmarks to make it impossible to answer your question categorically. Some marks gradually disappear, which partly accounts for the folklore about home remedies credited with removing them.

Actually I don't know of anything that can be applied to such a mark to get rid of it — not safely, anyway. If the mark does not disappear by itself, surgical removal is the answer.

I would consult either a skin specialist or a plastic surgeon to determine whether the mark is of a type which might effect itself. If it isn't, the specialist can advise you as to how long to wait before removal, keeping in mind a time which will permit the least possible scarring. Such birthmarks can be removed with little if any blemish afterward.

'Little Man' Still Loses

Montreal Gazette

The Government appears to have turned down the main recommendation of the Royal Commission on Banking on the grounds that if it were adopted, the "little man" would get hurt. This recommendation was for the removal of the six percent ceiling imposed by law on the banks for what they may charge for loans.

But there is a better case that it is the "little man" who is being hurt by the maintenance of this ceiling. For the whole purpose of the Royal Commission was that "a more open and competitive banking system" should be encouraged. And when any field is opened up for greater competition, the customer is likely to be in a more advantageous position than he was before.

Some sound points were made by Mr. S. T. Paton, President of the Canadian Bankers Association, in his address at the association's annual meeting. As he has pointed out, there can be no reason to deny to any kind of loans of greater risk that reflected in the higher rates charged, lending in his field is left without the competition that could result from these higher rates.

Some sound points were made by Mr. S. T. Paton, President of the Canadian Bankers Association, in his address at the association's annual meeting. As he has pointed out, there can be no reason to deny to any kind of loans of greater risk that reflected in the higher rates charged, lending in his field is left without the competition that could result from these higher rates.

Mr. Paton gave an example of how greater competition works out to the customer's advantage: "Proof of the effectiveness of competition in reducing interest rates is the lower rates now being obtained by corporations for installment or small consumer loans. The entry of the chartered banks in this field a couple of years ago has resulted in considerably reduced rates and savings of many dollars to individual Canadians.

The idea that the "little man" is somehow to be protected by keeping competition is not one that either reason or experience would tend to confirm.

Dubious Practice

Toronto Star

So long as political parties have to depend on "bagmen" to solicit campaign funds and so long as more to party chests remain anonymous shadows, there will be public suspicions of buying and selling influence. Clean and democratic government requires funds and a rein on such methods of financing elections and parties.

Strictly Personal
Small Mind Interested in Rarities

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: The smaller the mind, the more interested it is in the rare, the extraordinary, the sensational; the larger the mind, the more interested it is in studying the obvious, examining the ordinary, and investigating the commonplace.

You can't give anyone an education who doesn't want it — keeping children in school when they have not acquired an appetite for learning is as pointless as providing a bicycle for a legless man.

Conventional society has as its guiding, if unspoken, maxim the censorious attitude: "If we can't make the unconventional people act like us, the least we can do is make them miserable."

To be proud of having no bad habits can be a greater spiritual vice than having some of the habits.

The shallowest of thinkers are those who make a dichotomy between "ideals" and "reality"—forgetting that everything we call a "reality" today began as nothing else but an "ideal."

It's surprising how often we hear on the air or see in print the redundancy, "Free Gift"; what other kind of gift is there?

Why do almost all cosmetics have odors, so that a woman who puts on full war-paint for a party is a mélange of a dozen conflicting scents before she even dabs on her perfume at the last moment?

The sexes prevaricate equally, but about different things: what a wife subtracts from her age, a husband adds to his income.

Perhaps the most disgraceful quality of the human animal is our abhorrence of violence — except when we are part of a substantial majority. In wartime Halifax put it, "The angry buzz of a bee is one of the bloodiest noises in the world."

Ignorance breeds frustration: nothing is more painful than to feel ignorant. The fear that a statement is wrong, and yet not enough learning to be able to disprove it, either logically or factually.

A most useful area of research would be discovering what happens to the fantastic power of observation in a young child as he becomes older: what becomes for the diminution of this power, and what sort of training or indoctrinement might enable us to retain it in later years.

If silence is intense and protracted enough, it comes to have a sound of its own.

Those who genuinely believe that virtue is its own reward should also believe, as a corollary, that vice is its own retribution. Others should not desire to add society's revenge to nature's punishment.

Education Cheaper

Moncton Transcript

It is cheaper in the long run to educate our young people than to pay them unemployment benefits in the world of tomorrow where there will be few if any jobs for those who have not got a high educational standing. It is essential that the wastage in young people be curbed, for the future of Canada depends on how well the resources of today are used. If this generation can ensure that young people of Canada get the education they need, they will do the rest and Canada's future will be bright.

Ottawa Offbeat
Has Prime Minister Pearson Got a Tiger by the Tail?

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Is it possible that Prime Minister Pearson with his Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism has a tiger by the tail?

He appointed the Commission — by far the most expensive in the long line of Federal investigations — in all good faith, expecting, he said at the time, a true reflection of how one part of the country felt about another.

He intended it, clearly, to be an instrument of national unity. It was to sit in judgment on the right and justice of Quebec's aspirations and assess the chances of their fulfillment.

Eighteen months after getting down to its highly controversial business, it issued an interim report, startling both French and English Canada, that never in the 96 years since Confederation had the nation been in such peril of disintegration.

Generalized, Quebec has warmed to the B and B Commission while reaction in the other nine provinces has ranged all the way from indifference to hostility.

The Commission has been attacked in Parliament by the Conservative Opposition which has demanded, in the name of national unity, that it be disbanded before it does any further damage to the Federal fabric of our nationhood.

MILD DEFENCE

Oddly, Prime Minister Pearson has never mounted anything approaching a ringing defence of his embattled Royal Commission.

And the last time he was asked in the Commons whether he might put an end to it, he said little more than "no."

That the Commission racially and religiously has split in favor of Quebec — should be praised in French Canada and either ignored or condemned in the rest of the country was not altogether surprising.

Where, then, could a fair assessment of opinion best be made? Where exactly, in a region small enough to be surveyed, was the population divided as it is on the national basis, with two Englishspeaking for every French-speaking resident.

Ottawa, where else? The Capital, one-third French-speaking, is the most truly bilingual centre in the land.

So what do they think in the National Capital — the Ottawa-Hull - Rockcliffe -Eastview - Gloucester-Nepean metro area — of the B and B Commission?

One of the newspapers, conducting a straight - down - the-middle survey, has just found out.

It asked, in a cliquot coupon: "In my opinion (tick one)

"A: The B and B Commission is a constructive study and should continue.

"B: The B and B Commission is stirring up trouble and should be discontinued."

The survey exploded with the impact of a bomb, and the startled newspaper, in a softly-worded story, reported briefly that it had gone 15 to one against the Commission.

SLAM BANG

What was only vaguely hinted at was the depth of feeling, the resentment, anger and fear that boiled up in the answers.

Scores of those who responded weren't satisfied with merely marking their ballot for or against the Commission, but scribbled on scorching condemnation of the B and B Boys.

Samples:

"Discontinue — toot bloody sweet."

"The English have lost their country politically and so far have done very uncaring to know it."

"The B and B Gang is a traitor's tool to sell us out to the French Republic."

"Nothing but a tax-paid invitation to subversion."

"Why must the English learn French — why can't the French learn English?"

Dunton seems to be going along for the ride and the money."

"This is doing more harm to Canada's glimmering chances of survival as a nation than anything in our history."

"Setting up this Commission is like appointing the Master of the Orange Lodge as inspector of RC convents."

"Why should the taxpayer be soaked for the Commission's dismemberment of their country?

There were other, many, many other equally furious opinions.

Wonder if the prime minister has taken a look at the B and B mail, or asked some of his MPs from other than Quebec how their taxpayers feel about it?

For if public opinion in the bilingual National Capital just across the Ottawa River from Hull, Quebec, runs so explosively 15 to one against the B and B Commission, what must it be like in the far-from -bilingual centres in other parts of the nation further removed from la Belle Province?

Drills Hurt Dentists Too

Montreal News

If ever we heard a case of poetic justice it is a report from scientists at University of St. Andrews.

After a surprisingly large number of dentists were found to be going deaf, a test was made and the results published in a recent issue of the British Dental Journal. The findings: The dentist's hearing was being impaired by the noise made by their new-fangled high-speed drills.

We're sorry to hear it; we hope something can be done to correct the situation. But everyone who has sat in a dental chair with a mouth full of rubber dams and suction pumps and tried to answer questions the dentist insists on asking, will have a feeling that the dentist is getting just what he deserves.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 17, 1965 . . .

The Boxer Rising in China began 65 years ago today—in 1900 — when Europeans, alarmed by increasing terrorism against foreigners and Chinese Christians, seized the Taku forts controlling the Peking-Tientsin road. The dowager empress then ordered all foreigners to be killed and the troops or members of anti-European secret societies, went into action. Before the international army relieved the siege of the embassy district in Peking, scores of foreigners and thousands of Chinese had been massacred throughout northern China. The liberating troops looted the treasures of the capital's palaces.

1775—The battle of Bunker Hill was fought near Boston.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915 — Germany announced plans for an air fleet of 2,200 aircraft and 30 dirigibles sufficient for defence. Germany was estimated to have 50 dirigibles and 2,000 Taube aircraft alone.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — the French issued for peace, Prime Minister Churchill revealed that he had offered to amalgamate the French and British empires the day before, and proclaimed Britain's determination to fight on alone; Russia completed its bloodless occupation of the eastern Baltic states.

Misleading

Ottawa Journal

Talk of a "permanent" speaker is misleading. The speaker in the United Kingdom who stays in the chair when parliaments change is not permanent. He is subject to election in the same way as every other MP, although he may often be unopposed. In the Canadian debate on changes in House procedure Mr. Wahn, a Toronto Liberal, expressed in clear words what the position should be.

"The speaker should be one of us, freely elected, and he should have to run for re-election just as we have to do."

SKURFANTICS — Teenage skurfers try out new gimmicks on their newly-found "rink" on the parking lot of The Ontario Intelligencer. Here a gleeful group forms a pyramid balanced on their skurfs apparently unaware of the danger involved.

'Intell' Lot Skurfing Will Be Supervised

Unknown at the time, the Ontario Intelligencer in its plans for the new building and adjoining parking lot, included a recreation innovation for the youngsters of the city.

Skurf-riding teen-agers were quick to take advantage of the paved slopes of the parking lot bordering Cornwallis Pinnacle street.

Since the lot has been paved the youngsters have been coming in droves, skurfing and scooting in singles, duos, trios and groups. As many as 100 boys and girls have enjoyed the latest teen-age fad at a time.

The Ontario Intelligencer does not want to deprive the youngsters of their new-found fun. But the situation developed problems.

By granting permission to the youngsters to use the lot, the newspaper assumes the responsibility, of accidents, and perhaps tragedy.

The management decided that permission would be granted to youngsters to use the lot for skurfing, if it could be conducted under outside supervision.

With this in mind the Belleville Recreation Commission was contacted. Today it was learned through Recreation director Lloyd "Red" Doran that the commission suggestion that skurfervision.

The newspaper agreed with a commission suggested that skurfing be premitted from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday.

On no account will skurfing be permitted over weekends.

The newspaper also points out that with the first evidence of property damage by skurfers, the privilege to use the parking lot for this purpose will be immediately cancelled.

The pyramid is but one of the stunts created by the youngsters in their search for new thrills in their new-found sport. Skurfing will be permitted on the newspaper parking lot but under strict supervision by the city's Recreation Commission.

Youth will have its fling and despite the fact most of the youngsters are more or less experts on their skurfboards, they take what seems to be unnecessary chances with their versions of the sport.

Accompanying pictures show a group forming a pyramid and later crashing in a heap to the ground. Others perform acrobatics and whatnot which carry an element of danger.

As matters stand now the Recreation Commission will have a supervisory representative on the parking lot during the regular skurfing hours.

A sign will be erected displaying the hours and days when skurfing will be permitted.

The Ontario Intelligencer requests all youngsters to co-operate and not, by foolish actions or damage of property, have their fun privilege cancelled.

The new skurfing regulations will not go into affect until final arrangements are completed. These, it is expected will not be completed until tomorrow.

In other words no skurfing will be permitted tonight.

Their certificates mark the successful completion of a four-year course of study and a thesis on some aspect of application of cost accounting.

DON'T WANT THE BOMB

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Though capable of making an atomic bomb, Mexico has no intention of doing so, Jose Vorostiza, chief of the national nuclear energy commission, told an interviewer. Mr. Vorostiza said Mexico has prohibited nuclear weapons on its territory and is leading efforts to declare Latin America a nuclear-free zone.

Local Museum Gives Pupils History Lesson

Belleville and district public schools are using the facilities of Hastings County Museum to give pupils a year - end living history lesson. This week, over 100 pupils of Grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 have viewed special exhibits arranged by the museum staff to relate to the Ontario Department of Education's Canadian history curriculum. Curator Mrs. Jack Sargent and her assistant, Mrs. G. A. Bennett, expect more than 300 students and their teachers will tour the museum before the end of the school year.

Because the grade 5 and 6 study emphasizes Indian culture, the museum staff has borrowed the collection of Indian artifacts of the late Mr. G. Cummings of Belleville. Mr. Cummings dug most of the spear heads, arrow heads, skinning knives and net sinkers from local Indian village sites. Of special interest to the youngsters is a bone and claw necklace and native copper tools obtained by local Indians in trade with tribes from the Lake Superior region. The Indian exhibit will be on view at the museum until the end of June.

to approve these changes through its own legislative machinery, Mr. Martin said this power does not remove the jurisdiction of the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act itself. It is for such an amendment that the address seeks approval.

"The course proposed is entirely constitutional even though it is unprecedented."

Mr. Martin, who is acting prime minister while Mr. Pearson is in London for the Commonwealth conference, said the "essential question in this matter, the whole concern Quebec evinced, is the advice of the responsible provincial ministers."

IS PROVINCIAL MATTER

The question, he said, "is a purely provincial matter of concern to Quebec alone."

"The change affects neither the Parliament of Canada, the government of Canada, the operation of the laws of Canada or any other province.

The Commons in 1871 adopted a resolution that "no changes in the provisions of the BNA Act (would) be sought by the executive government without the previous assent of the Parliament of this dominion." But Mr. Martin said "that view does not apply to a change sought by the government of a province relating solely to the constitution of that province."

At another point he said: "The government has assumed that Parliament would not wish to do anything which would either deny the right of a province to have its own constitution amended in an entirely constitutional way, through amendment of the BNA Act, or to imply that the federal Parliament has through an address of the Senate and House of Commons the right or power itself to decide what the internal organization of a particular provincial authority should be."

". . . We have consequently come to the conclusion that the government should advise the Governor-General and, through him, the Queen, to act in this matter in accordance with the advice of the responsible provincial ministers, with whom alone the government of Canada usually properly communicates on matters relating to the provinces as such."

When Mr. Martin said a supply motion would be moved next Monday so Parliament would have an opportunity to express its views on the matter, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"Let the government make its recommendation in the form of a resolution and put it before Parliament. Let it have a little backbone."

Under the government's proposal, Parliament would only be discussing a decision already made.

"This is evasion of Parliament at its worst. This government doesn't have the backbone to introduce a resolution of its own."

He said the whole procedure was engineered to clear the way for the formula to amend the constitution. Mr. Lesage knew he couldn't get the formula through the provincial legislature so long as the upper house held a veto power.

"The hopes of the new guard or the old guard or the discards have been frustrated so they decide on this abortion."

Furthermore, he said, Mr. Martin's statement that there is no precedent for this action "is entirely without basis in fact."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the constitution specified that any such address must be approved by the provincial legislature.

In Quebec's case, this meant not only the lieutenant - governor and the legislative assembly, but the legislative council as well.

"Those are the facts and no amount of specious argument can get around them."

Mr. Diefenbaker charged that the government has become an open party to a conniption violation because of an "under-the-table" agreement between Prime Minister Pearson and Premier Lesage.

"There is an arrangement under what they like to call co-operative federalism whereby the prime minister agreed to recommend to Her Majesty the Queen's acceptance of a recommendation from one house of the provincial legislature."

Mr. Douglas also demanded that Parliament be given an opportunity to deal with a resolution on the address. His party would fight for a proper debate on the matter and if the government refuses "the people of Canada will know this government has set aside any pretense it ever had for parliamentary government."

He has hit out at Mr. Martin's argument that the issue affected only procedural sections of the BNA Act.

"Even a layman like myself knows what humbug that statement is," he said.

'Raise Hell' Frost's Advice About Ridings

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—A former Conservative premier of Ontario urged Conservative members of Parliament yesterday to "raise hell" about the proposed redistributing of federal ridings made possible earlier this week.

The electoral boundaries commission seems to have played an utter disregard for traditional riding boundaries, Leslie Frost told the spring meeting of the East Central District Women's Progressive Conservative Association.

air strikes over North Viet Nam.

Some 70 planes, including seven Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers, attacked a variety of targets, and spokesmen said all planes returned to their bases. The main targets were barracks, trucks, bridges, ferries, junks, construction sites and anti-aircraft gun positions.

SEND MORE TROOPS

U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara told a press conference in Washington Wednesday that 18,000 to 21,000 more American troops are being sent to Viet Nam, bringing the total to between 70,000 and 75,000.

McNamara said also combat battalions with supply and service units "will be in place in a few weeks." He refused to predict whether more U.S. troops would be sent to Viet Nam later.

Officials in Washington said the Johnson administration feels prospects for peace in Viet Nam are no more likely to be decided by the course of combat over the coming months than by diplomatic manoeuvring.

They said President Johnson is determined to press his peace offensive at every opportunity even while expanding military operations. The possibility that he might order another halt in the bombing of North Viet Nam is not ruled out, they added.

But the conviction in official Washington is that North Viet Nam, China and the Viet Cong command all believe they can win the war. Therefore the Communists are not interested in negotiations on any terms acceptable to the United States and South Viet Nam.

Buffalo Mayor Much Improved

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mayor Chester C. Kowal of Buffalo was reported improving in hospital today after police said he had been found unconscious in his office with a bottle of white pills beside his face.

Relatives and fellow workers found the mayor unconscious on the floor hours after he had been indicted by an Erie County grand jury on charges of perjury, conspiracy and taking of unlawful fees in connection with an inquiry into refuse contracts.

Police Commissioner William J. Hoover said the pills found near the mayor may have been for the treatment of a kidney ailment. They are sketchy from which Kowal suffers.

Detective Chief John Dugan said the pills were not under analysis, and added that there was no active probe of the mayor's collapse.

The grand jury indicted Kowal and former corporation counsel Ralph Saft on charges of conspiracy, taking unlawful fees and violating the state law regarding public officials. Kowal was accused of lying to a grand jury before which he appeared.

Then, without advisers, they held a private session in a smaller room to discuss their agenda and other matters.

Doctors Make Third Porcine Liver Perfusion

BOSTON (AP)—A 24-year-old Boston woman critically ill with a diseased liver was reported Wednesday night "holding the line" at Boston City Hospital following a third porcine liver perfusion.

The patient's blood was diverted through a pig's liver Tuesday night to cleanse the blood and give her own liver a chance to rest. The first perfusion was made last Friday.

Dr. William V. McDermott Jr. said although the patient is holding the line "there is not a steady level of improvement." But he said there seems to be evidence that the woman's own liver has picked up some of its normal function again.

desia, with internal self-government, has demanded independence. But Britain has resisted amid African fears that an independent Rhodesia would become another South Africa.

The issue is scheduled for discussion next Monday at the Commonwealth conference, when Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith, prime minister of Nigeria, plans to present "new ideas about a possible solution." He declined to give details in advance.

Uganda's Obote Wednesday noted that Rhodesia has been discussed at two previous Commonwealth conferences and "there is still no progress.

"We've made negotiations and progress," Wilson retorted. "This (the Rhodesian issue) is a fact which fortunately or unfortunately is purely the responsibility of the United Kingdom.

"We accept all of us do that we can have no solution in Rhodesia that is not acceptable to the whole of the country."

Goldenberg's

authority — has realized substantially the original objectives of reforming local government in the area.

However, he adds some of the problems of 1953 persist and have grown because of "illogical but extremely rigid divisions of political jurisdiction and available taxable resources."

FINDS INEQUALITIES

"As a result," Mr. Goldenberg says, "in an area which is a social and economic unit there are undue inequalities in the burden of financing essential services and in the range and standards of some of the basic services provided.

"While the equalizing influence of Metro has prevented far greater inequalities from developing, the spread between the lowest and highest taxed municipalities has tended to widen."

He also observed that reform is imperative in representation on the Metropolitan council, where Swansea's 9,200 people and North York's 340,000 have equal representation.

Mr. Goldenberg, a 57-year-old troubleshooter who has undertaken loyalist for many governments in Canada, said:

"Having regard to the strong instinct for institutional self-preservation," he wrote, "I know that the suggested elimination of nine municipalities, with a reduction in the membership of municipal councils in the area from 110 to 78, will encounter strong resistance. . . ."

SEVEN COUNCIL SIZE

Under the recommendations, the Metro council would consist of 26 members—13 from Toronto, five from North York and four each from the other two cities. At present, Toronto has half the 24 members, with one from each of the other municipalities. As now, the chairman would be in addition to the ordinary membership if he is chosen by the council outside their ranks.

Metro councillors also would be elected directly by the voters. At present, the posts go to those elected to office in the individual municipalities.

All four of the Metro cities would get similar municipal franchises but North York, Scarborough and Etobicoke should also be considered township parts for the purpose of provincial road grants.

Changes in municipal services would include making the Metropolitan corporation responsible for garbage disposal, now handled by the different municipalities.

Fire protection would remain the responsibility of the municipalities, but with an effective mutual aid agreement under which one could call for aid from any other. There is no workable arrangement between them now.

REMAIN UNDER METRO

The police would remain under Metro control, but the commissioner adds that more effort should be made to improve relationships between the central force and the area municipalities. He also calls for a metropolitan juvenile and family court with facilities in each of the four cities.

Metropolitan - wide businesses and activities subject to licensing would remain under Metro, but the four cities should assume responsibility for those tied to specific locations.

Traffic engineering services in the area, now under individual municipal control, should be unified under Metro. At present, Metro operates major traffic arteries while the municipal units run those within their boundaries.

The central body also should establish an area-wide parking authority with power to operate its own facilities or enter into a contractural arrangement for their operation by the city parking authority of Toronto.

TAKE OVER HOUSING

The Metro corporation should take over the municipal function of low-rental housing. It should deal with the Ontario Housing Corporation, which should act as a single agency on behalf of federal and provincial governments in dealing with Metro.

Metro should provide a public emergency ambulance service for the area, with the city of Toronto operating it under a contractual arrange ment. A metro board of health should be established to co-ordinate public health policies. All four cities should make the same health and welfare services available to their residents.

A metro official plan should be adopted without undue delay for the development of the area.

Acting Prime Minister Martin announced the Queen was being advised to act on Quebec's recommendation limiting the powers of its upper chamber.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the government decision was "devious and unconstitutional."

NDP Leader Douglas said "this action will live to haunt the government."

Social Credit Leader Thompson disagreed with Quebec's direct appeal to the Queen although it was strictly "their business."

Creditiste Gilles Gregoire charged the government with "tampering with the mails"—it was Premier Lesage's "salad."

HALIFAX (CP) — Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, one of Canada's most distinguished doctors, was honored Wednesday night as the Canadian Medical Association ended business sessions at its annual meeting.

Dr. Penfield, one of the world's leading neurosurgeons, was given the Frederick Newton Gisborne Starr Award during a dinner at which Halifax psychiatrist and medical teacher Dr. R. O. Jones was installed as association president.

Today, the second-last day of the five-day meeting, the association was to begin scientific discussions.

Canadian magazines and then to let in these two publications is like the farmer who says he's going to protect his chickens, but he's not going to shoot the two foxes already in the yard. If the farmer had any sense he'd clean out the chicken house first."

The New Democratic Party is also opposed to excluding the two magazines from tax penalties.

Mr. Cowan spoke after the four opposition parties rapped acting Prime Minister Martin for the decision to advise the Queen to approve a Quebec cabinet request to limit the powers of the province's upper house.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker accused the government of dragging the Queen into party politics with its "devious and unconstitutional" decision.

NDP Leader Douglas and Social Credit Leader Thompson accused the government of bypassing Parliament while Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste — Lapointe) asked the federal government to send the issue back to Premier Jean Lesage.

PROVOKES EXCHANGES

The issue, which provoked the most heated exchanges in the Commons in months, left little debating time for the budget resolutions. Mr. Cowan and Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby - Richmond) were the only speakers.

Mr. Cowan, who approved Mr. Gordon's general stand against "unfair" foreign competition, made his announcement the day after the finance minister declared the government would stand or fall on the resolutions.

He said he is still a Liberal, despite his stand, and said he opposed the 1956 legislation enacted by the St. Laurent government which imposed a special tax on advertising in the Canadian editions of the two magazines.

This tax was later repealed.

Mr. Cowan said the Canadian consumer magazine faces other problems, such as "subsidized advertising rates" offered by the CBC.

He also said foreign magazines enjoy free services from the Canadian post office department because of the "peculiar" proposition that for every magazine entering the country a Canadian magazine is sent out.

GETS BENEFITS

United States publishers also benefitted by moving their periodicals into Canada by truck or freight and mailing in this country at a special rate.

"These things have been protested to the government for 25 years. Yet no government has done a thing about them."

Mr. Prittie said he might have some sympathy for time if the Canadian news published in the Canadian edition were carried in the U.S. edition.

Mr. Gordon's resolution extends the penalties against foreign - owned magazines to Canadian newspapers.

Other resolutions include a 10-per-cent cut in personal income taxes and concessions for laying tiles for irrigation and efforts by industry to combat water pollution.

By JACK HUTTON

This summer more than 2,000 U.S. Secondary school students who have demonstrated more than passing skill in their science classes will attend about 700 science seminars across the U.S.

They leave for the six-week summer camps with the knowledge that President Lyndon Johnson has called them one of the most important projects in his nation.

Developing the most creative minds in the country is the first goal in President Johnson's much talked-about Great Society — and the first defence in any war.

Have we anything similar in Canada?

Yes, we have — one. And we don't single out anywhere close to 2,000 students. Thirty - five students from across Canada have been selected for the third annual Royal Canadian Institute summer science program at Lakefield Preparatory School in Ontario.

I'm convinced that there won't be any more worthwhile educational program anywhere in Canada this summer. Just the experience of getting 35 enquiring minds in one location is exciting enough. The topflight instructors offered them makes it even more so.

Last year the junior scientists — and there will be 35 each from either Grade 12 or 13—ran their own weather station, developed their own photographs, built their own field trips and conducted their own personal research projects.

200 APPLY

The reason I'm writing this column is because Mrs. Fraser Coate, a charming lady who originally thought of the summer idea, tells me 200 students applied this year. And at least 100 of them were top calibre.

But only 35 could be accepted — about one-third of the best students who applied. The result: it costs about $500 per student to run such a program and the money just isn't available to be more ambitious.

"Events ally, said Mrs. Coate, "we hope to have similar camps in the East and in the West. But that's a question for the future. Right now we think about keeping the Lakefield idea in operation."

Cost of running a summer science camp for Canada's brightest students is about $25,000. Some of you think that sounds like a lot. it really isn't when you consider the costs of 35 students living for six weeks, the equipment costs and travelling expenses.

During the last week the group travels to Ottawa-to work side by side with scientists at the National Research Council and visit Carleton University and the University of Ottawa. All this adds up to further costs.

STUDENTS ASSIST

Who pays for the camp? Each student, according to Mrs. Coate, helps with an average of $100 or $200. The Centennial Commission helped out with a grant this year (it was the Canada Council's turn last year) and several industries chip in.

"But you can't blame many large companies for not assisting us," said Mrs. Coate. "Many of them are committed to helping university expansion and feel that is all they can do.

"I do feel, however, that we have to be just as much involved with the students who will enter university as the new buildings they will enter. We're hoping for more support in the future."

What about more government aid? Mrs. Coate confessed she isn't keen about a program fully supported by public money. "The youngsters themselves should be involved," she said. "And it's good to keep independent goals."

I must confess it depresses me a little that we in Canada can only afford to finance one such project for an entire country while the nation immediately below us is, as usual, showing the way with money and enthusiasm.

If you'd like more information about the program, try writing Summer Science Program, Royal Canadian Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto, Ont.

Scepticism of U.S. Press Not Relished by Johnson

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The basic strength of the United States amid its considerable global difficulties can be measured in part by the humor it turns on itself through the press.

Take Sidney, the fictional American the marines wouldn't evacuate from the Dominican Republic because he was the last refugee on hand and therefore the only remaining raison d'etre for intervention.

Or John J. Categorically, who allegedly sits in the bowels of the White House issuing blanket denials of American foreign policy.

These are samples of the bogus incidents and names which American newspaper columnists have worked into current events at a time when the U.S. is fighting in Viet Nam and on the defensive about its Dominican Republic role.

President Johnson, by broad assumption, doesn't like the scepticism which some of the American press has displayed.

The president's touchiness about criticism of any kind from whatever source is taken for granted in Washington and some other points.

PRINCIPLE REMAINS

But the right to know remains a fundamental American press principle despite criticism that the U.S. information service is being doctored via broadcasts on the Voice of America or that battlefield censorship is pending in Viet Nam.

The funny-columnist group in the U.S. has no such worries, mining fact with imagination.

Arthur Hoppe, a syndicated columnist, recently referred to a speech by the president—and this really did happen—where the teleprompter broke down. A teleprompter unfolds televised speeches line by line so that the speaker seems to be talking naturally.

But as Hoppe related it, the president was making his 34th speech to justify American marine intervention in northern Saskatchewan to control the uprising of 17 Doukhobors.

"He had explained how our marines were solely there to protect American morality," wrote Hoppe. "And also to prevent the spread of nudism in this hemisphere. But he (the president) pledged to withdraw them as soon as Canadians understood democracy."

Hoppe's finale was that as the president drawled that he couldn't "rest set on mah rockin' chair" to watch the Doukhobor infection spread, the teleprompter broke down. Another speech was fed quickly into the machine, but it resulted in most Americans taking off their clothes in a bitter cold snap.

BUCHWALD CHAMPION

The champion of the day-by-day press humorists, however, is by all counts a roly-poly Washingtonian called Art Buchwald who appears in more than 230 U.S., Canadian and other newspapers.

He created Sidney, the last American refugee in the Dominican Republic as well as John J. Categorically, the official White House denier.

One highpoint came when Buchwald drew on the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston boxing tryst — over officially in one minute with about one light punch—to paint a parallel with the state department on the Dominican crisis.

Buchwald quoted the state department as saying of the fight that it had remained "neutral and our only role was to keep the fighting from getting out of hand.

"I don't believe anyone can deny the fighting was kept to a minimum and a great deal of bloodshed was averted," says the columnist's fictitious spokesman.

One criticism of Buchwald which appears in some quarters is that people outside the capital don't know he's kidding.

MAY VISIT U.S.

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul may visit the United States in the fall of 1965, usually well-informed Vatican sources said Tuesday. It would be the first U.S. visit ever made by a Pope. The sources speculated that the pontiff possibly will address the United Nations in New York, then travel to Washington and other places in the U.S.

Controversy in New Zealand Over Personnel in Viet Nam

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Foreign policy hardly ever arouses controversy in New Zealand. But the government's decision to commit troops to a combat role in Viet Nam has divided the country as acutely as any issue for a long time.

Normally, foreign affairs are bipartisan in New Zealand, with only marginal differences between the parties. The famous declaration of Labor Prime Minister M. J. Savage on the outbreak of the Second World War: "Where Britain goes we go," summed up New Zealand thinking to that time.

The outlook has changed markedly since then. In defence, reliance has turned increasingly from Britain toward the United States. New Zealand now considers that its front line of defence is in Southeast Asia.

But actual defence operations in Southeast Asia have been largely in co-operation with Britain in defending Malaysia against Indonesian infiltration. New Zealand has an infantry battalion, a paratroop unit, two air squadrons and a naval frigate serving in the Malaysian theatre.

Assistance to South Viet Nam has so far been confined to a surgical team and a small unit of field engineers serving in a non-combatant capacity.

For several months pressure has been mounting for New Zealand to assume a more active role in Viet Nam, if only by sending a token force in a combat role.

TO SEND BATTERY

The pressures came to a head with the government's recent decision to send an artillery battery to join U.S. troops aiding the South Vietnamese.

Opposition spokesmen said they had "grave doubts" about the decision and sit-down demonstrators protesting the action had to be carried out of the Parliament Buildings.

The United States has been keen to get more nations openly and fully engaged in the Vietnamese conflict against the Communists. And New Zealand acknowledges that alliance with the United States is the basis of its present-day security. The Anzus Pact—a mutual defence treaty for the Pacific region among Australia, New Zealand and the United States—is seen as the strongest guarantee against aggression.

The question of a token New Zealand force had been made more urgent by the decision of Australia early in May to send an infantry battalion to Viet Nam—in addition to defence advisers already there and sizable forces in Malaysia.

The New Zealand government held off its own decision, waiting to avoid giving the impression of following slavishly the heels of Australia.

SUPPORTS U.S.

The government has repeatedly proclaimed its full support for the United States position in Viet Nam. In a national TV-radio speech Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake said the threat to New Zealand security was every bit as real in Viet Nam as in Malaysia, and probably more so.

"Let me declare clearly and unequivocally that the New Zealand government fully supports and approves the action taken by the United States," he said.

The Labor opposition had come out against sending troops in present circumstances. Its attitude was that New Zealand troops should be sent in Viet Nam only as a peacekeeping force under the United Nations or other international authority. It emphasized the importance of settlement by negotiation.

Opinions expressed by organizations and individuals have ranged from immediate dispatch of troops without further vacillation to scathing denunciation of the United States and refusal to have any dealings whatever with Southeast Asia.

Demonstrations, pension, hunger strikes, petitions and deputations have opposed the sending of troops to Viet Nam. Citizens in favor of backing the United States have been less vocal, but letters to the press indicate that a large body of opinion favors facing up to the obligations of joint defence, however distasteful.

A group of churches has offered to try to mediate through links with the East Asia Christian Conference in North and South Viet Nam. Efforts to this end are still in progress.

Dictionary of Canadianisms Task of Victoria University

VICTORIA (CP) — The University of Victoria's lexicographical centre of Canadian English will start work this summer on a new Dictionary of Canadianisms.

The dictionary, scheduled for publication in 1967, is being edited by Dr. M. H. Scargill, director of the centre and head of the university's linguistics department.

Collaborators in the work are Dr. W. S. Avis of the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., retired anthropologist Dr. Douglas Leechman of Victoria, and Charles Crate, a teacher at an Indian school in Alert Bay, B.C.

Dr. Avis' participation is being facilitated by a $1,500 Canada Council grant.

Dr. Scargill says he expects the dictionary will contain about 12,000 words and phrases characteristic of Canada.

Most of 1966 will be needed to complete the definition and pronunciation of the entries before the manuscripts are sent to the publisher, W. J. Gage Limited of Toronto.

The publishing firm has adopted the dictionary as its Confederation Centennial project.

Dr. Scargill said he and the other three men have already spent 10 years working part-time on the project. He expects that by the time the dictionary is published it will represent an investment of $250,000.

The project is being aided by the Canadian Linguistic Association.

MR. AND MRS. RUDY CHARLES WILLMAN

Willman – Reid

St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Belleville, was the scene of a lovely wedding recently when Donna Margaret Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Reid, Belleville, was united in marriage to Rudy Charles Willman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Willman of Trenton. Monsigner J. A. Carley officiated at the ceremony before a background of standards containing colorful peonies, snapdragon and interspersed with white spirea blossoms.

Sister Mary of Polycarp played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. G. Fergie in appropriate selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length nylon organza over taffeta gown featuring a Sweetheart neckline and long lily point sleeves of Venetia lace. A sweeping train edged with Venetian lace extended from the shoulders and was caught with two self bows. A shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from a small organza pillbox, which was adorned with sprays of forget-me-nots, dotted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses intermingled with stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Reid, sister of the bride as matron of honor, and Miss Lynne Reid, a sister of the bride, and Miss Karen Willman, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaids were identically attired in blue sleeveless dresses with scoop necklines and blue lace jackets with elbow length sleeves. Each wore a matching rosette headdress of pearl de sole and carried a bouquet of blue and white posies. Miss Elaine Bender of Belleville as flower girl was dressed in white organza frock over blue peau de sole with matching cummerbund. Her headdress consisted of white and blue carnations and she carried a basket of white posies.

Mr. Barry Braine of Trenton as groomsman and ushers Mr. Paul Willman of Preston and Mr. John Willman of Downsview, all cousins of the bridegroom were dressed in white tuxedos and black trousers.

The reception was held in the Club Caesars where the bride's table was highlighted with a three-tier wedding cake misted about the base with blue tulle. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a blue and white lace dress, blue and white accessories and a white gardenia corsage. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother, who wore a rose crepe dress with lace bodice, white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

For the wedding trip to Washington, D.C., and points south the bride chose a three piece yellow linen suit with a yellow hat and other white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Guests were present from Preston, Guelph, Downsview, Trenton, Etobicoke, Hamilton, Smith's Falls, Gilmour, Toronto, Belleville, Madison, Ohio, and Utica, Michigan.

Prior to the marriage the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower held in Trenton with Miss Karen Willman as hostess; in Toronto at a kitchen shower with Mrs. Wallace Freer as hostess and in Belleville at a miscellaneous shower with Miss Pamela Yorke as hostess.

A presentation party was given by fellow staff members at the Bank of Montreal in Belleville when the bride was the recipient of a living room clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Willman will reside at 797 Jane Street, Toronto.

HORTON — RAMSEY

MADOC — Beverley Ann, daughter of Mrs. William J. Ramsey and the late Mr. Ramsey and Charles Lawrence Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Horton of Peterborough, were married Saturday, June 12, in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Madoc.

The Rev. James H. Thompson officiated. Miss Joan Brownson was organist and Miss Lynn Armstrong was soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Delmar Ramsey, the bride wore a floor-length sheath gown with Watteau train fashioned in silk peau de soie with feather designed Alencon lace appliques cascading from the shoulders. A band headpiece of matching peau de soie showered with rhinestones held a double bouffant veil of illusion. Her flowers were yellow and white roses.

Bridal attendants were sisters of the bride, Mrs. Florence Pigden as matron of honor and Miss Lillian Ramsey as bridesmaid, and the bride's nieces, Miss Laurie Jacklin as flower girl. Their floor-length gowns with bodices of American lace and sheath skirts of summer rose de soie, matched in detachable Watteau trains, were in mauve. They chose Tom Jones' bows in organza with cyrsche-de-veis veils and carried nosegays of yellow and white mums.

A reception was held after the ceremony at Bluel's Motel, Madoc, where the bride's mother received the guests, and chose for the occasion a copen blue Chantilly lace jacket dress, edged with peau de soie, to complement a pink orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a pink brocaded satin dress with pink linen duster and a white hat.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Toronto, Brandon, Port Perry, Queensboro, Bancroft, Bannockburn, and North Falls, Ont.

For her wedding trip through the New England States, the bride chose a beach dress and double-breasted coat of white Italian brocade, with hat and shoes of white kid and white gloves and purse.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Horton will live in Madoc.

What Women Are Doing

Bridge Street U. C. W.

Mrs. Bryson Leslie, President

Before church union in 1925 Bridge Street Church was a Methodist Church, and its women's organizations were a part of the history of that denomination.

To look after the local needs of the Church and parsonage, there was a Ladies' Aid organization. This later came to be known as the Women's Association.

Another important group was the Missionary Society and each group was called an auxiliary.

The first auxiliary of Methodist Church was formed in the Centenary Church in Hamilton, Ontario, in 1880.

In the early constitution of the national organization provision was made for a General Board of the W.M.S., for branches of the society, and auxiliaries the branches to be organized according to the conference.

For each branch there was an organizer and the first organizer in the Belleville branch was Mrs. Levi Massey, grandmother of Mr. Carman Massey. She travelled with a horse and buggy organizing auxiliaries and she organized the Bridge Street auxiliary about 1883.

The Jubilee Mission Circle was organized in 1887, the year of Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

After church union this became the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary and a mission circle for younger girls was formed.

In 1951, a younger group of women organized and were known as the Coronation club which also contributed to the local needs of the church and parsonage.

In 1961, the Women's Association, the women's missionary society, the coronation club, and the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary all united and are now known as the United Church Women of Bridge Street Church.

This organization is divided into 12 units; five afternoon units, three supper units and four evening units. Each unit meets monthly and all units units for the general meetings of which there are six yearly.

The United Church women try to deepen understanding of the nature and purpose of the church; encourage growth in Christian knowledge understanding faith and experience through worship, Bible study and fellowship; co-operate in the program of education for the children, youth and adult groups in the church; provide funds through envelope giving and by money raising projects, for congregational purposes for an accepted allocation for the work of the church; for a share of expenses of the Presbyterial and conference organizations of the United Church Women.

This is the 32rd in a series about women's organizations in Belleville and their activities.

Baby's Teeth Need Care For Future Protection

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

TORONTO (CP)—One reason to start taking children to the dentist while they are still preschoolers is that it is a good way to prevent crooked teeth.

Not only is the child's appearance at stake but malocclusion (improper positioning of the teeth) can also cause disorders that will lead to difficulties in later life.

"Your bite has about 200 pounds pressure," said Dr. E. A. MacGregor, professor and head of children's dentistry at the University of Toronto. "If you don't believe me try putting your finger in a child's mouth.

"If your teeth don't come together properly, you can eventually break the bone and you'll lose your teeth."

Several things can cause malocclusion, including neglect of baby teeth, disease, such bad habits as thumb-sucking and the size of the jaws and teeth.

"A great big man picks out a little wife and the poor kids wind up with his big teeth and her little jaw. They may have 36 teeth in a space where there should be 24.

"The genetic problem will show up when the lower permanent start to break through. Two teeth will come in to occupy the space of three baby teeth.

"Treatment should begin right away. Timed extraction—removing of the baby teeth and two or four of the permanent teeth—can shorten the time a child will have to wear bands."

PEOPLE MORE AWARE

Dr. MacGregor says people are much more aware today that baby teeth need a dentist's care than they were when he began practising. "Thirty years ago people said 'They're baby teeth, let them rot.'"

But not so many are aware of the problems of diet. While ensuring good dental care, it's also important to apply discipline to see that youngsters aren't eating too much starch and sugar.

Tooth-decay processes start within 10 minutes after a child takes sugar in his mouth, and it's two hours before the mouth is back to normal. By then, he says, too many children are ready for another sweet snack or dessert and the process starts again.

But this doesn't mean cutting out sweets altogether.

"I don't think you can tell a child to eat a carrot instead of dessert. I don't think there's a dentist anywhere who wouldn't say a carrot for dessert."

Parents and dentists have a joint responsibility to see that a trip to the dentist is considered he says.

"So many parents over-condition before they take a child to the dentist. They tell him so often as they can that he is going to see this wonderful man, the dentist. Over-conditioning just arouses suspicion. They should just say, 'You're going to the dentist,' treating it as a perfectly normal function.

"And dentists should realize the proper procedure when a child comes into the office is not to make a fuss. Invite mother and child into the operating room. If the parent interferes, or the child misbehaves, the dentist must ask the parent to leave.

"Many children respond to discipline better when the parent is away. If the child has a temper tantrum, the dentist must show understanding and kindness mixed with a little firmness."

And, Dr. MacGregor believes, the child should be told much of the truth about what's happening. He disapproves of using substitute terms, such as calling the drill a busy little bee.

ENGINEERING BEAUTY QUEEN — Mary Ellen Campbell of Bridgewater, N.S., who graduated with a civil engineering degree from Nova Scotia Technical College this spring, studies a blueprint. The 23-year-old blonde, who was chosen as last year's Halifax winter carnival queen, recommends that any girl with an aptitude for mathematics and physics should consider engineering.

Carnival Queen Awarded Degree in Engineering

HALIFAX (CP)—A vivacious blonde carnival queen has joined the growing parade of women crashing the engineering profession, once an almost exclusively male preserve.

Mary Ellen Campbell, 23, of Bridgewater, N.S., got her civil engineering degree from Nova Scotia Technical College May 12, the sixth woman to reach that goal here, and accepted a design job with the Montreal Engineering Co.

Despite the fun of being crowned by "so many attentive boys" and such honors as being picked as this year's Halifax winter carnival queen, it hasn't been easy for Miss Campbell.

After flunking her second year in engineering at Dalhousie University in 1960, she decided to spend the year working outdoors with the department of highways "to see what it was like."

When it was over, she had shed any doubts about an engineering career as well as 25 unseen pounds—she was down to 128, just right for her five-foot seven height.

Mary Ellen also used that lean year to acquire some feminine skills. Finding the evenings long at her Bridgewater home, she took her mother's advice and learned to sew. A stunning graduation gown was proof of her success.

Returning to university in 1961, she received an engineering certificate in two years at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., then enrolled at the technical college here.

She feels she was quickly accepted by her 128 male colleagues and is quick to recommend the profession.

"I think any girl with an aptitude for mathematics and physics, like myself, should be encouraged to consider engineering. They'll never regret it."

CONVICTS GO ON STRIKE

ROME (AP)—Convicts in half a dozen Italian jails organized hunger strikes when Giuseppe Saragat, Italy's president, made no mention of an amnesty after taking office. Ann Landers

Critical Calvin Chastises Ann for Playing Doctor

DEAR ANN LANDERS — You say you go to experts in every field to help you with your answers. So why didn't you get some help with your advice to the person who wanted to know why women's feet hurt all the time?

If somebody wrote to you and said his head hurt all the time would you tell him to rub some cream on it and buy his hats one size larger? Well, when you told the person who wrote about women's feet, that the cure was to massage the feet with cream and to buy bigger shoes, I almost dropped my teeth in the coffee cup.

ANN LANDERS

If you do not limit your practice of medicine to feet, Ann Landers, perhaps you can tell me why I have had a severe pain in my left arm for two weeks. I would like to save the price of a visit to the doctor's office. — CRITICAL CALVIN.

DEAR CRITICAL — I must have grabbed you right in the heel, Achilles.

When a reader writes to me and complains of pain I always suggest he see a doctor. This reader asked a general question, however. He wanted to know why so many gals suffer from backing dogs. My reply was equally general. I suggested that if more women bought shoes that fit properly their feet would not hurt. If one women had wrote and said, "My feet ache," I'd say, "See a doctor."

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am 13 years old and everyone says I have a beautiful voice. Even the choir master says my voice is lovely.

I want to be a professional singer but I have a problem. Every time I am asked to sing a solo in church I get so scared I can't make a sound. I stand there with my mouth open and nothing comes out. It's like my vocal cords are missing.

What good is a beautiful voice if nobody can hear it? How can I get over this? — NERVOUS NIGHTINGALE.

DEAR N.N. — It is not unusual even for the most experienced artists to be a bit nervous but you sound like a basket case, kiddo.

The experts say the way to combat ordinary stage fright is to take a deep breath and plunge ahead. And don't become engulfed by a bad beginning. Keep telling yourself it's going to get better. If it doesn't get better, I suggest another profession.

Guide Norna Cooper Gets High Honor for Service

Norna Cooper, 17, a Grade 13 student at Moira Secondary School, has had a big week and is looking forward to five more.

Norna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Cooper of 323 Bridge Street East, is leaving Saturday from Malton Airport in Toronto for the Salvation Army's Centenary celebration in England. She is one of 24 Salvation Army guides representing Canada at the Celebration. Residing Norna, there are two other representatives from this area, Mrs. Leach, a Guide Captain from Lindsay and Susan McBride, a guide from Kingston.

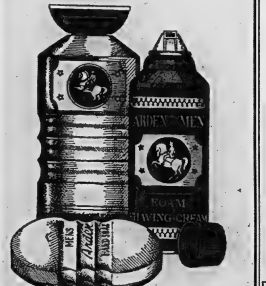
Norna will be going to Foxboro, the guide leader's centre, and will meet Lady Baden-Powell at Hampton Court.

After the centenary celebration itself, which lasts three weeks, Norna will be spending two more weeks in England. Her mother's brother-in-law, Ernie Crayford, is a mayor of Kettering. Queen Elizabeth will be visiting Kettering July 2, and Norna will be present for the occasion.

As if Norna didn't have enough to look forward to this week, with her trip just about here, she received even another pleasurable surprise yesterday.

In the Salvation Army Citadel yesterday, Brigadier Hawkes, Division Commander, presented Norna with her certificate as a General's Guide, the highest award in Salvation Army guiding and the first time it has ever been awarded in the mid-Ontario Division.

The certificate was personally signed in London, England by Salvation Army General Frederick Coutts. Also at the ceremony, made brief because of the shortage of time left before Norna will be leaving for England, Mrs. Major Homewood presented a medal to be worn only on special occasions as well as a special ribbon and Mrs. Brigadier Barnet read a letter of congratulations from Mrs. Commissioner E. Wickberg, International President of Salvation Army Guides.



Present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Reg Cooper, Brigadier and Mrs. Barnet, Commissioner Mrs. Dan Sleeart, Division Commissioner of Girl Guides, Brigadier Hawkes and Major and Mrs. Homewood, Division Youth Secretaries.

Women's Institutes

QUINTE W.I.

The Quinte Branch Women's Institute held its June meeting in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday afternoon with 27 members and one visitor present.

The president, Mrs. C. Wood opened the meeting in the usual manner and welcomed everyone.

The speaker, Mrs. J. M. Porritt of St. John Ambulance, was introduced by Mrs. Deryaw. Mrs. Porritt told of the First Crusade, which took place over 900 years ago, when St. John Ambulance was founded. In Canada in the year 1883, the Royal Military College held its first, first aid class. Helping man is not a modern thing, but has been going on for many years. Everyone present was very appreciative to Mrs. Porritt for her most interesting and instructive talk.

Woman at 71 Takes Final Vows As Nun

CINCINNATI (AP)—Her job of raising six stepchildren done, Mrs. Edward A. Foy at Cincinnati achieved a long - delayed ambition recently when, at age 71, she took final vows as a nun in the Religious Society of the Sacred Heart.

She completed novitiate training in the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Albany, N.Y. Her six stepchildren and 21 grandchildren — accompanied by a daughter, herself a member of the Sacred Heart order—formalled by chartered bus to Albany to see Mrs. Foy take her vows.

Most of the same group made a similar trip two years ago when she received the habit of the sisterhood. She henceforth will be Mother Edith Foy.

The daughter, now Mother Mary Ann Foy, mistress-general of the Sacred Heart Academy in residential Clifton, explained her mother's long-delayed step:

"She was a classmate and close friend of the first Mrs. Foy. I think she felt there was a job to be done in raising the young children, and she sidestepped her inclination toward convent life. When the job was done and her husband, my father, died in June, 1960, her instinct was to turn back to her first calling."

The new Mother Edith Foy studied art here and in Florence, Italy, as a young woman. For a time she taught art in Cincinnati public and parochial schools. Of the 31 grandchildren, 13 are pupils at the Cincinnati Art Academy.

REQUIRES LABELS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, divided over the possible relationship of smoking to cancer, Wednesday passed legislation requiring health warning labels on cigarette packages. The bill, which now goes to the House of Representatives, would require this statement on each package and carton: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Eye Trouble of Seniors May Stem From Old Glasses

DEAR MISS CLARE — You asked us for help with Mrs. B. who had poor vision and wanted reading material with large print. Our district worker has now called on Mrs. H.

She informed him that last week she received a new pair of glasses from the optometrist on his trip to her village, and that she now has no difficulty with reading ordinary print. — MANAGING DIRECTOR, CANADIAN INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND.

DORIS CLARE

DEAR DIRECTOR — My face is red! Was here? I'm wondering how many elderfolk are complaining that they are half blind, when all they need is new glasses, to keep up with the changing condition of their eyes?

Thank you for your ready response to every call upon you!

DEAR DORIS—I have just had a hysterectomy. I feel starved for information, as I just couldn't seem to talk with the special ist whom I'd only met before my operation. He always seemed in a hurry.

I had hoped he'd tell me what to do besides "Don't work, don't lift, etc.", but he didn't. When in the hospital with so many others awaiting the same, we got talking. Not one was told a thing of what to do after or to expect.

I wondered where I could read about things, such as menopause, relations with husband, etc. I'm embarrassed to ask my family doctor even when I do see him, three weeks from now. — LYNN.

DEAR LYNN — I'm sending you "Facing Forty," which is about Change of Life. (And will send a copy to anyone mailing in ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

My consultant gynecologist suggests that your doctor may believe you and other patients know much more than they usually do.

He also says: "If the operation was justified in the first place, she can look forward to a healthier and happier life—including sex life—for years to come.

"It is a pity that so many patients find it difficult to discuss their problems with their doctors, most of whom would willingly explain things if they thought the patient did not understand."

I am sending you a book list, and marking a couple I would consider particularly helpful to you.

Confidential to MRS. C.A. — There is a tremendous difference between a disease such as diabetes and the undisciplined appetite which causes more overweight, isn't there? There is also a tremendous difference between the emotional illness called blopbumosis and the undisciplined stealing for which criminals go to jail.

I am sorry about the behavior of the neighbor's children and would suggest that you will be doing those children a favor if you report such incidents to the police. If their parents won't teach them the difference between right and wrong, then society will have to.

DEAR DORIS — I'm an "only one." I have had a very sexy upbringing with not too much discipline.

In my job I am left to use my own initiative, imagination and enthusiasm. I find I cannot settle down to work and tend to drift along with no real interest in the job. I know what I should be doing and even when by superior gets tired carrying my responsibilities it seems to have no effect on me.

Am I in the wrong job or just lazy? If lazy, would you give me clues how to get moving? — LIMP.

DEAR LIMP — There are two possibilities: (1) Things have always come to you too easily. (2) You are in the wrong job.

Both or either may be the case. If you had to make good or starve to death, you'd start jumping around in a hurry. Or if your own native talents were being challenged and intrigued by the job, this could spark activity. (So could being in love!)

Get the guidance you need about selecting a career to match your skills; and, for a while, find work which is strictly supervised. Or face the possibility of lapsing into uselessness for life!

MAIN COURSE TUNA SALAD

The soup course (bean and vegetable soup given on Monday) and the cheese muffins (Tuesday) and the following main salad course turned out to be economical. I had not planned them with cost in mind but realized that they balanced the budget after I bought the ingredients for yesterday's Strawberry Cheesecake Pie.

The salad recipe could be a guide for you when you are making salmon or shrimp or lobster or chicken salads for the rolls of meat to new salad vegetables seemed just right to my critical palate.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Hot Individual Pork Pies; Shoestring Relish; Creamed Carrots; Cole Slaw; Jellied Fruit; Water Ice Wafers; Coffee.

SUNDAY
(Guests)

Broiled Sirloin Steak with Mushroom Mint - Buttered Whole New Potatoes; Creamed Broccoli; Shredded Leaf Lettuce, Cress, Radish and Cucumber Salad, Italian French Dressing No. 3 (see Friday); Strawberry Cheesecake Pie (see Wednesday); Tea.

TUNA SALAD (serves 6):

One 12-oz. can solid pack tuna, ½ large cucumber, pared and cubed (¼"), ½ to ¾ cup coarsely chopped blanched almonds, 2 or 3 tablespoons sliced stuffed or salad olives, 3 or 4 large radishes, sliced waferthin, ½ cup finely chopped parsley, 1/3 cup genuine mayonnaise, ½ cup cooked chilled elbow macaroni or tiny macaroni "shells" (optional), 6 well-cupped lettuce leaves, 6 gherkins or small dills (for garnish), 2 small tomatoes, sliced (for garnish), 6 radish roses (for garnish).

Drain and discard the oil from the tuna and with a fork break it apart into a bowl, into small bite-size pieces. Add the cubed cucumber, chopped blanched almonds, sliced olives, sliced radishes, chopped parsley and chilled macaroni elbows or shells (if used), and mayonnaise and gently combine until all salad ingredients are coated with mayonnaise. Chill.

Near mealtime arrange the lettuce cups on pretty tea plates or breakfast-size plates and spoon the tuna salad into them. Garnish each plate attractively with the gherkins or dills, tomato slices, topping each mound of tuna salad with a radish rose. Pass additional mayonnaise at the table.

When I served the salad it was preceded by bean and vegetable soup and cheese muffins, but enough muffins were left to pass again with the salad. If you do not serve the soup, the hot cheese muffins make a good accompaniment to the salad course for a guest luncheon.

VARIATIONS:

1) Sliced hard-cooked eggs make a good additional garnish and extend this salad, if need be. 2) Chopped celery may be substituted for the cucumber. 3) For Tuna Salad Rolls: You need only half of above to fill 6 soft finger rolls. Split the finger rolls and scrape out a little of the soft portion of the halves. Put tuna salad, well mixed with the tuna salad. Heat, covered, at 350 deg. Fahr. for 8 minutes. 4) Scoop centres from large tomatoes, drain well and fill with tuna salad.

CLINGING KIND

Dear Susanna: One of the young girls in our office was terribly embarrassed at the way her new jersey dress clung to her figure whenever she got up from her desk — and I must admit the boys in the shipping room were certainly giving her the once-over through the glass partition.

I suggested to her that instead of refusing to, wear the dress again, she should try it once more with a good taffeta slip.

She did, and the dress behaved in a much more respectable manner. — "Experienced"

SPOT SAVER

Dear Susanna: I am a fairly new reader of this paper, so I do hope that my ideas for your column aren't "old hat" and that they will be of some help.

A colander inverted over the pan while one is frying meat saves grease spots on the stove.

It does a fine job of camouflaging scratches as long as they are not extremely heavy ones. — Mrs. A. L.

Iodine may be fine but do be careful not to spill any on the rug. — SUSANNA

Minaki Solves Delinquency By Forming Boys' Clubs To Keep Youngsters Active

MINAKI, Ont. (CP) — This, Northwestern Ontario resort community figures it has just about licked a juvenile delinquency problem that arose four years ago with a couple of break-ins at summer cottages.

The break-ins occurred during winter and were not noticed immediately. The problem grew until summer visitors one year found more than 150 cottages had been entered and contents damaged or destroyed.

At this point, one cottage owner, Minneapolis businessman J. C. Cornelius, had an idea. He called a group of townspeople together and proposed formation of what has become known as the Boys' Club of Minaki.

The club has operated two years and during that time there has been only one winter break-in.

C. J. Warren, chairman of the club's permanent planning committee, says about 125 children and teen-agers are involved in club activities.

"When we started this we sent out an appeal to as many people as we could locate. Two thousand letters went out and we got 66 donations totalling $2,000.

"The problem was not just indifference to the values of good citizenship and the property of others, it was intolerance. Our approach had to be face problem, and it worked."

PLAN ICE RINK

Mr. Warren says the initial funds were used to set up a hockey league and buy property for an ice rink and baseball [illegible] boys themselves [illegible] last winter [illegible] off the property.

"It will take a lot more work before we have the rink and perhaps club rooms set up there."

Although the club is affiliated with the Boys' Club of Canada and the Boys' Clubs of America, activities have also involved girls.

"It was a logical development," Mr. Warren says. "You can't just take care of the boys and forget about their sisters. That would have resulted in simply a shifting of the whole delinquency problem."

Townsfolk have organized knitting classes for the girls and plans call for sewing and cooking instructions this fall. Both boys and girls will get swimming instruction this summer.

"Not all of those who were involved in the break-ins and the vandalism have come back to Minaki from wherever they were sent after their arrests," says Mr. Warren. But those who do are invited to join in the club's activities.

"As far as I am concerned, this thing has been successful so far. Anybody who looks at the record will have to agree with me."

B. C. Will Evaluate Hunting Importance

By CHUCK BAXTER

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pilot project is under way in one section of British Columbia to try to determine what hunters contribute to the economy of the province.

The research project also is aimed at finding out how hunting affects wildlife—one of the most valued and yet one of the least known resources in terms of dollars and cents.

In most cases hunters don't really know how much they contribute—and the government doesn't know for sure—because the problem of evaluating this activity is one that can stump an economist.

Hunters, government and an economist are joining forces in the current project. It could lead to more extensive assessment of wildlife generally, covering a multitude of people, places, animals and technical problems.

Dr. Peter H. Pearse of the economics department of the University of British Columbia has been named to direct the undertaking. He says recreation is placing increasing demands on natural resources—and often recreation conflicts with other uses of the same resources or environment. For example, conflicts among hunting, farming and forestry are quite common in many provinces.

AIM AT EFFICIENT USE

"Only when we know something about the value of resources can realistic decisions be made about how much should be spent on management, and how much one resource should be sacrificed for another where these conflicts arise."

Dr. Pearse and his colleagues in the assessment project hope the application of economic analyses to the data collected will enable public authorities to decide on the most efficient use or combination of uses to which a particular area can be put.

James Hatter, a director of the B.C. fish and game branch, said recently that wildlife is a resource nobody can buy but everyone can use.

He said the emotional appeal of wildlife is unlike that of any other renewable resource—and it brings forth the critics and sentiments of many who like to shoot, fish, photograph, observe, study—and also eat it.

To evaluate such a resource in terms of dollars and cents appears to be a formidable task —and on a province-wide basis it would appear almost impossible.

Thus the project is aimed toward a specific natural resource in a specific area—big game in B.C.'s East Kootenay.

CONTAINS AMPLE GAME

The East Kootenay is an area covering the southeast corner of the province from Kootenay Lake to the B.C.-Alberta border. It abounds in moose, deer, elk, mountain sheep, goats and several species of bear, including the grizzly.

"The East Kootenay lends itself well to such a study because it comprises a particularly self - contained area in which hunting is especially valuable," Dr. Pearse says.

The researchers will attempt to establish the economic value of the sport by interviewing a number of those who hunted in the area last year. This information will be processed at UBC.

Resources for the Future Inc., a private research group based in Washington, D.C., is sponsoring the work, and the provincial fish and game branch is assisting in collection of data.

Dr. Pearse said he has already interviewed a number of non-resident hunters who visited the East Kootenay last year and found them most helpful. Next he will interview resident hunters and hopes to complete at least some initial conclusions by about September, although no completion date has been set for the project.

And, the research corporation couldn't have picked an economist more suited to the complicated study.

Dr. Pearse is an avid hunter who last year bagged his limit in elusive mountain goats.

He went hunting in the East Kootenay.

We heard you were looking for a tough little car that'll flatten any road!

A General Motors Value

Epic's suspension system offers the advantages of variable springing for a roll-resistant, yet comfortable ride—even over rough roads.

This is it!

Epic.

(the Tough Little Car from General Motors)

Take the scenic route? Not in an ordinary little car. Not unless you have all the instincts of a pioneer and the nerve of Buck Rogers. Many small cars just aren't built to take bumps. Notable Exception: Epic, the Tough Little Car from General Motors! The 1965 Epic travels rough winding country roads almost as smoothly as it travels highways, thanks to an unconventional and versatile suspension system. Epic's independent front suspension with transverse leaf springs absorbs road shocks at each wheel, independently. So a bump under one wheel isn't catching.

And what do we mean by versatile? Simply this. Most small cars tend to pitch and yaw with drastic changes in road and speed, especially when cornering. Epic doesn't. Epic is characterized by variable springing . . . that is, soft springing for comfort on the straightaway, and stiffer springing to resist roll and sway under fast cornering conditions. Visit your Chevrolet-Envoy dealer during Trade 'N' Travel time, and inspect the Tough Little Car from General Motors. Take it out on the road. Any road.

Chronology of Viet Nam Begins With Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—The tide of the war in Viet Nam has taken many political and military turns. Here is a chronology prepared by The Associated Press of statements by U.S. officials and of the war's escalation:

1960

April 4—President Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Gettysburg College, comments that loss of South Viet Nam would set in motion a crumbling process that "would, as it progressed, have grave consequences for freedom. . . . Military as well as economic help is currently needed in Viet Nam."

1960

May 5—U.S. defence authorities say United States is replacing about 350 civilians in South Viet Nam with military personnel and by the end of the year the total is expected to reach 685.

1961

May 5—President John F. Kennedy at a press conference: Q.—"There have been reports that you would be prepared to send American forces into South Viet Nam if that became necessary to prevent Communist domination of that country." A.—". . . What we're going to do to assist Viet Nam to obtain its independence is a matter still under consideration."

May 13—Vice-President Johnson, on a visit to South Viet Nam: "Nobody wants to see they will furnish manpower."

May 13—President Kennedy orders 100 specially trained jungle fighters to Viet Nam, amid reports the United States plans to increase its officers and men there by 1,850.

Oct. 15—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's military adviser, en route to Viet Nam: "Nobody wants to end America troops anywhere."

1962

Feb. 8—The United States officially admits to only 685 military advisers in South Viet Nam, but reports in Washington put the total near 4,000.

March 8—U.S. officials in Washington say American pilots are engaged in combat missions with South Vietnamese pilots but only to train them.

Oct. 8—Gen. Paul D. Harkins, U.S. commander in Viet Nam: "The Viet Cong has been slowed down and there is growing effectiveness against insurgents."

1963

Jan. 26—Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, U.S. Army chief of staff, reports there are 12,000 U.S. military personnel in South Viet Nam, mostly helicopter troops and advisers to the South Viet Nam Army.

Jan. 14—The state department, commenting on reports that Americans officers would be given command over South Vietnamese troops: "The Vietnamese are fighting and directing their own war."

Jan. 30—Admiral Harry D. Felt, commander of U.S. military forces in the Pacific, predicts victory in three years over the Communist guerrillas.

Feb. 22—Defence Secretary McNamara says U.S. pilots in South Viet Nam are "under instructions to fire only when necessary in the interest of their own safety."

July 25—Washington reports the number of U.S. military advisers in Viet Nam has reached 14,000.

Oct. 22—Defence Secretary McNamara and Gen. Taylor, Chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, back from a Saigon visit, report to President Kennedy "the end of the major part of the U.S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965" and that 1,000 American personnel probably can be withdrawn by the end of the year.

Jan. 1—President Johnson, in New Year's message to South Viet Nam's military chief: "We shall maintain in Viet Nam American personnel and material as needed to assist you in achieving victory."

Feb. 1 — President Johnson says of neutralization policy advanced by President de Gaulle of France: "I see no sentiment favoring neutralization of South Viet Nam along that line and I think the course we are following is the most advisable one for freedom at this point."

Feb. 13 — Defence Secretary McNamara tells congressional committee the war in South Viet Nam "can only be won by the Vietnamese themselves" and the United States will pull out most troops by 1965 even if the anti-Communist forces believe there. He says: "I don't believe that we as a nation should—assume the primary responsibility for the war in South Viet Nam. It is a counter-guerrilla war, it is a war that can only be won by the Vietnamese themselves."

Feb. 29 — President Johnson tells a group of newsmen "this country must rely on the South Vietnamese" to defend themselves and emphasizes that the U.S. support policy is limited to "furnishing advisers and training to the South Viet Nam Army."

March 5—Defence Secretary McNamara says: "There is no question of the United States withdrawing from Viet Nam. We shall stay for as long as it takes."

June 1—President Johnson calls for more countries to support the war effort in South Viet Nam. The United States now maintains about 19,000 military men there.

June 22—Gen. Harkins says it would be "worth risking war with China to save South Viet Nam from a Communist takeover."

June 22—Defence Secretary McNamara: "We are prepared for any eventuality in Southeast Asia."

Aug. 2—Three North Vietnamese PT boats attack U.S. destroyer Maddox in Gulf of Tonkin.

Aug. 5—U.S. planes on orders of President Johnson strike at Communist supply facilities in North Viet Nam. President says: "We still seek no wider war."

Dec. 24—The Pentagon says approximately 22,000 American military men now are serving in South Viet Nam.

Feb. 7—White House statement: "U.S. and South Vietnamese air elements were directed to launch joint retaliatory attacks against barracks and staging areas in the southern area of North Viet Nam which intelligence has shown to be actively used by Hanoi for training and infiltration of Viet Cong personnel into South Viet Nam." The President directed "the orderly withdrawal of American dependents from South Viet Nam."

Feb. 8—President Johnson says the United States will meet any threat and pay any price "to make certain that freedom shall not perish from this earth."

March 3—The state department says the United States is engaged in "collective defence against armed aggressions" in Viet Nam but is not in a state of war with Communist Viet Nam.

March 8—Two battalions of U.S. marines are en route to Viet Nam, bringing the total U.S. forces there to about 27,000.

April 7—President Johnson in major speech in Baltimore: "Our objective is the independence of South Viet Nam and its freedom from attack. . . . We will do everything necessary to reach that objective, in recent months attacks on South Viet Nam were stepped up. Thus it became necessary for us to increase our response and to make attacks by air. This is not a change of purpose. It is a change in what we believe the purpose requires.

"We do this in order to slow down aggression. . . .

"We will never be second in the search for such a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam. . . . We remain ready . . . for unconditional discussions."

April 17—State Secretary Rusk, commenting on suggestions to end air strikes on North Viet Nam: "It would only encourage the aggressor and dishearten our friends who bear the brunt of battle."

April 17—President Johnson in an Easter statement: "We are ready to begin discussions next week, tomorrow or tonight. . . . I regret the necessities of war have compelled us to bomb North Viet Nam."

May 22—Six other countries have sent between 4,000 and 5,000 men to Viet Nam and United States strength rises to about 46,000.

June 5—Robert J. McCloskey, state department spokesman, in a statement:

"American troops have been sent to South Viet Nam recently with the mission of protecting key installations there. In establishing and patrolling their designated perimeters, they come into contact with the Viet Cong and at times are fired upon. Our troops return the fire. It should come as no surprise that our troops engage in combat in these and similar circumstances.

"Let us emphasize that the Vietnamese government forces are carrying the brunt of combat operations. Those United States forces assigned as advisers to the armed forces in Viet Nam remain in that capacity."

June 8—McCloskey says U.S. military command in South Viet Nam has been authorized to send American troops into combat alongside Vietnamese forces if such "combat support" is requested by South Viet Nam. "I'm sure," he says, "it's been made clear in Saigon by American military commanders that American forces would be available for combat support together with Vietnamese forces as and when necessary."

June 9—George E. Reedy, presidential press secretary, in statement:

"There has been no change in the mission of U.S. ground combat units in Viet Nam in recent days or weeks. . . . The primary mission of these troops is to secure and safeguard important military installations like the air base at Da Nang. . . . If help is requested by the appropriate Vietnamese commander, Gen. [illegible] Westmoreland and also his authority within the assigned mission to employ these troops in support of Vietnamese forces faced with aggressive attack when other effective reserves are not available and when, in his judgment, the general military situation urgently requires it."

June 9—About 2,500 U.S. combat engineers arrive in South Viet Nam, raising U.S. military commitment there to about 33,000.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of Vancouver mothers and fathers left through death or desertion to raise their children single-handed has formed an association to help one another carry on.

Called Parents Without Partners, the group aims to provide better homes and a brighter future for its more than 100 families through discussion groups, educational talks and recreational activities.

The association was formed last October. There are two other chapters in Canada and 120 in the United States.

The Vancouver Parents Without Partners do not appeal for sympathy nor do they condemn existing laws or facilities. They try only to help themselves by meeting and talking with other parents coping with the problem of raising children on their own.

A typical member is Lloyd Moskaluk, who became both father and mother to his six children, aged five to 15, when his wife died a year ago.

Mr. Moskaluk, an appraiser, says the greatest mental problem facing a parent on his own is the sheer loneliness of lacking a partner with whom to discuss decisions.

Five months after his wife's death, the strain of keeping the household functioning and holding down a job got the better of him and he suffered a nervous breakdown.

It was then that he got his first housekeeper. Nine months later, he's about to get his fourth.

"A housekeeper is the hardest thing in the world to get," he says.

Fellow-member Jim Moras, father of two, says the hardest thing he encounters is the difficulty of getting out to meet other adults.

"People go to parties and social functions in couples," Mr. Moras explains. "If a man arrives alone he immediately encounters suspicious glances from husbands or escorts present. After a while, you decide it's not worth it and stay home."

But he adds: "We don't want anyone to think we are crying out for help."

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1965

New Argument In Favor Of Action

TORONTO (CP)—The thorny question of mineral development in Ontario's provincial parks was brought up in the legislature again Wednesday, with a new argument in favor of action.

Although the cabinet is understood to be divided on the question of whether mining should be allowed under any circumstances in provincial parks, the government stand so far has been firm, unalterable opposition.

R. A. H. Taylor, Liberal mining critic and freshman member from the mining riding of Timiskaming, argued that unless the government finds out now what mineral wealth lies in provincial parks, it may end up in future having to permit mining in the parks at a time when alternative park land is gone.

Mr. Taylor reminded the legislature that mineral wealth is not an inexhaustible resource, and said that as time goes on even such minerals not yet discovered will become in short supply.

He was convinced that before time would come—he mentioned the 21st century — when if "someone finds nickel, for example, beneath a settled area, then our successors will have to move elsewhere" to make way for mineral development.

Similarly, if in the mineral-short future, a mine was discovered beneath one of the provincial parks, it would be developed despite the event greater shortage of parkland in the more heavily populated Ontario of the future.

"If we don't act with foresight now, we will find in the future that we will be sacrificing park land which will be seven years than it is now. How much better to plan ahead now."

If valuable mineral wealth lies beneath Ontario's parkland, he said, the people should know about it now—while the park's boundaries can be altered or alternative park land set aside.

Whether exploration and mining is permitted in the parks, legislation must be passed requiring mining companies "to return the land to its original condition" once mining operations have been completed. Such action is already required in parts of Britain, he said.

It was a policy that applied not only to Northern Ontario and its many mines, but also to the sand and gravel pits of southern Ontario which in many cases had been allowed to mutilate the landscape.

65 Workers Walk Off Jobs At Brampton

BRAMPTON (CP) — Sixty-five employees of National Grocers Co. Ltd. warehouse in Bramalea, five miles east of here, walked off their jobs today to back up demands for a new contract agreement.

The workers, members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America (Ind.), want a 50-cent hourly wage increase, three weeks vacation after 10 years and other fringe benefits.

The previous contract agreement, which set wages at $1.75 an hour, expired March 31, 1965.

Veteran Shriners Receive Life Membership in Club

Twenty - one years ago thirty men wearing the colorful fezzes of the Shrine went into a huddle and decided to form a club of their own.

The meeting laid the foundations of the present Belleville Shrine Club which boasts a large city and district membership and owns the handsome building on Highland Avenue.

The "originals" worked hard under various presidents and directorates and with younger members brought the club to the high status it holds in the city and with its "parent" Ramses Temple of Toronto.

Fifteen of those remaining, and still active in the club were signally honored at a special dinner held at the Shrine Club last night.

The board of directors through their president Noble Alex Pierson formally presented them with life membership.

Noble George Board was the oldest Shriner present. He joined the Shrine in Ottawa in 1919.

President Noble Pierson in a brief pre-presentation address said, "We are proud to honor these nobles tonight. They have given the club their best over a long period of years and are still carrying on to the best of their ability. The board of directors was unanimous in honoring them with these membership.

Noble Court Miller speaking for the "originals" said: "On behalf of the 'old crocks' I thank you for this honor and for the honors conferred on us and for a very happy evening with our fellow Nobles."

"All of us will treasure the memberships—and use them as much as we can. The club and its environment is vastly different to that of 20 years ago. We are proud to have been able to do our share in bringing it to its present fine status.

"Thank you from all of us."

Some 53 Shriners and guests enjoyed a delectable roast beef dinner served by manager-steward Noble Len Martin and Mrs. Martin, at the head tables.

Noble Ralph Plumpton, general chairman of the "Wrestling Committee," said that arrangements for the special match slated for July 2nd are well under way.

With Shriner Lord Athol Layton headlining a star array of wrestlers, including the famous midgets, the club anticipates a large crowd that will add a substantial amount to the Crippled Children's Fund.

A colored film, "Trooping the Color" by the famous British Guards Band in London was shown, courtesy Carling's and representative Al Hardy.

Article on NORAD Base By Woman Never Published

OTTAWA (CP) — Ciel Sauve decided that she could explode a bomb a multi - million dollar underground NORAD communications centre near here by writing an article about it.

The article, written after a tour of the base last year but never published, Mrs. Sauve says, would have told how to get loose, that civil defence in North Bay was a joke, and that manned bomber detection is obsolete in a missile age.

Mrs. Sauve observed that most North Bay residents didn't even hear the sirens during one civil defence drill.

Mrs. Sauve tried unsuccessfully to check out her article with Air Vice-Marshal James Harvey, NORAD northern region commander.

Both McLean's Magazine and the Toronto Globe and Mail turned the article down.

But word of its undiluted criticism evidently aroused official interest.

Last April 15, four months after the rejections, RCMP visited her home, questioned her about the article, then walked away with a file of work she had done.

Mrs. Sauve said in an interview with Maclean's, who published details in their June 5 issue, that she was scared stiff by a warning she had classified information and shouldn't publish the article.

Later, she recalled most of her facts had come from a standard press kit issued at the centre.

It may have been her observations that prompted official interest. She noted that hundreds of telephone wires in the centre could be exploded by a single bomb.

She pointed out that the NORAD command post, 1,400 feet underground, was connected to the outside world by only two tunnels.

She noted that the centre's underground living quarters were connected by a single corridor.

She said that the entire defence system depended on computers. Work was allocated to the yards.

Mr. Hellyer has described this system as "the most efficient and very ever devised to build ships."

Mr. Drury has agreed to create an all - government industry committee to discuss bidding procedures and the amount of detailed information that the new ships that the yards will need before they can bid. This committee is expected to start functioning soon.

Officials said the defence production department doesn't expect to call for tenders on the destroyers until next summer. Construction of the first one is scheduled to begin in December, 1966.

Cabinet Facing Dilemma Over Defence Plan

The question this time is whether there should be a national competition among shipyards for four new destroyers contracts, totalling about $142,000,000.

The dilemma arises from the fact that East Coast and St. Lawrence River yards can build more cheaply than West Coast plants because of higher wages in the west.

Informed sources said Wednesday Defence Production Minister Drury has recommended a national competition, which could mean that contracts for all four destroyers would go to East Coast or St. Lawrence yards.

British Columbia cabinet ministers and MPs aren't pleased at such a prospect.

Informants indicated there may be a compromise: Competitive bids among eastern yards for two or three destroyers and among British Columbia yards for one or two.

Late last year the government had to decide whether to order an expensive fighter-bomber for the RCAF, to the greater benefit of the aviation industry, or a cheaper plane to stay within the $1,500,000,000 ceiling on annual defence expenditures.

The cabinet decided on the cheaper plane, a victory for Defence Minister Hellyer.

The present problem is complicated by the fact that the shipyards have never bid competitively on destroyer contracts. Work was allocated to the yards.

Mr. Hellyer has described this system as "the most inefficient way ever devised to build ships."

Mr. Drury has agreed to create all - government industry committee to discuss bidding procedures and the amount of detailed information that the new ships that the yards will need before they can bid. This committee is expected to start functioning soon.

Officials said the defence production department doesn't expect to call for tenders on the destroyers until next summer. Construction of the first one is scheduled to begin in December, 1966.

Conservative Thinks Power Is Stiffled

NIAGARA FALLS (CP) — A Conservative MP said Wednesday night say proposed formula for amending the British North America Act should be "taken out of the hands of the politicians."

Eldon Woolliams, who represents the Alberta constituency of Bow River, said the amending formula currently favored by the government would take away Parliament's power to amend the constitution in federal matters and would "spell the end of a unified country as we understand it."

He was addressing a convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America.

Mr. Woolliams suggested proposed formulas for amending the constitution should be submitted to constitutional lawyers or political scientists or referred to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Parfait Cake Believed Cause Of Two Deaths

TORONTO (CP)—Two young Toronto boys died Wednesday in hospital, apparently of food poisoning, and police have seized supplies of a frozen parfait cake from a suburban East York store.

Thomas Darke, 2, and his brother, Glen, 3, died after they were admitted to hospital Tuesday. They were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Darke.

Coroner Dr. Kenneth Baxter said the boys ate the cake Monday night and became violently ill early Tuesday. Thomas died about 4 a.m. and Glen at about 9:30 a.m.

An autopsy of Thomas showed that death was consistent with acute gastro — an acute infection of the intestines that normally results from food poisoning.

Dr. Hugh Van Patter, who conducted the autopsy, said Thomas' brain — excessive accumulation of fluid — was a contributing factor.

Dr. Baxter described the confection as a layer cake with a cream filling. The distributor in Brockville-Hamilton said the cake comes in five flavors and is a big seller at 59 cents each.

Two samples of the confection have been sent to the attorney - general's laboratory for analysis.

Dr. William Mosely, medical officer of health, Dr. R. J. Boyd, to see what can be done about a city - wide withdrawal from sale of the cake.

Turks Fire On Canadians

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Turkish-Cypriots opened fire on a patrol of Canadian United Nations troops in northern Cyprus Wednesday, but there were no casualties, a UN spokesman said today.

The UN statement said a patrol of the Canadian Queen's Own Rifles was moving to examine Turkish-Cypriot fortifications in the Kantara Mountains when the incident took place.

As the Canadian patrol advanced the Queen's Own found about 30 rounds with rifles and machine - guns, the spokesman said.

After negotiations, Turkish - Cypriot leaders apologized for the incident and agreed on the removal of the fortifications.

OAS May Never Recover From Dominican Crisis

MEXICO CITY (AP) — In many Latin circles the Organization of American States (OAS), never robust at its best, has received from the Dominican Republic crisis a blow from which it may never fully recover.

Responsible Latin Americans in and out of government express the feeling that when, or if, the OAS holds its scheduled meeting in August in Rio de Janeiro, it will be attending its own funeral service, unless it is willing to submit to surgery.

Any effect the OAS may have had in the Dominican Republic, knowledgable Latin Americans are saying, was achieved only because of the giant force of the United States behind a facade of an organization to which only four of the 19 other members gave even limited military support. Critics say that unless the OAS perfects its machinery, it is finished.

But there are inhibitions and dilemmas in the way of perfecting the OAS machinery. It was conceived as a referee in disputes among American states. But it has been called to act against internal subversion and intervention by communism. And as in the case of that occurs in Latin America these days, such as the one in the Dominican Republic, it is likely to be an internal one.

Members of the OAS say they back the implied protection of such an organization, but at the same time are unwilling to establish the precedent in principle that it can intervene in their own internal affairs.

The Latin American regime is willing to confer upon Washington the right to judge whether Communism exists in a country is a Communist threat requiring intervention from the outside, either by the United States or by any police machinery devised by the OAS. The dilemma seems insoluble.

Even though the Caribbean crisis churned up sentiment again for the creation, creation of an inter - American force, six important countries have voted against it.

It is difficult to find sympathy for the OAS, even in official circles, in the case of those who might support the idea of remaking its structure. The widespread feeling seems to be that the OAS all along has fumbled the ball, and particularly in the Dominican crisis, thus diminishing confidence in it.

The leaders who criticize the OAS on this score include those who have shied away, for internal reasons, from supporting it with their own forces and who at the same time insist that some such organization and machinery are vitally necessary to the protection of the hemisphere.

There is a hue and cry for new machinery, a new regional understanding, a new organization on new foundations. It is all in vague generalities, none offer specific suggestions on how these things might be accomplished. The dilemma remains. They say there is a danger of Communist subversion, but contend at the same time that one-sided U.S. intervention also menaces the hemisphere.

Latin politicians profess to see in the Dominican crisis a U.S. doctrine that it has the right to interfere at any time in the affairs of Latin American countries if it feels such countries are endangered by communism. Such an idea is far from popular, regardless of fear of Castro - communism. They insist that if there is, in fact, such a U.S. doctrine, it will estrange Latin American governments from Washington.

This, they say, is not like the 1962 Cuban missile showdown between the United States and the Soviet Union. They say that then, the Latin American countries responded quickly to a U.S. appeal for support. This time, the United States acted without consultation or asking for support in advance. And this time there is relatively little support from the rest of the hemisphere, except in words.

"The OAS never was ready for an emergency before," said one friend of the United States. "There is no reason why it should be ready any time. Perhaps the OAS deserves a decent burial."

British Colonel Returns Dozen Medals to Queen

LONDON (AP)—A 78-year-old colonel set a record for anti-Beatleism today by returning 12 medals back to the Queen.

Col. Frederick Wagg, veteran of two world wars, joined the protest movement against the award of the MBE—Member of the Order of the British Empire—to the lank - haired pop quartet.

He also resigned from the Labor party and cancelled a £12,000 (£36,000) donation to it.

"Decorating the Beatles," said the colonel, "has made a mockery of everything this country stands for."

At least six holders of the MBE already had mailed their insignia—a heavy silver cross—back to Buckingham Palace.

SENDS BACK 12

Wagg's gesture dwarfed them all. Among the protests to the Queen, the Queen Mother and Prime Minister Wilson he sent: 12 MBE medals, the General Service Medal and the Victory Medal from the First World War;

The North West Frontier Medal from Indian Army service between the wars;

The 1939-45 Star, Battle of the Atlantic Star, North Africa Star, Defence Medal and Victory Medal from the Second World War;

And the Belgian Order of Leopold, and the French Croix de Guerre and Croix de Resistance.

He said he sent back the foreign decorations because they were granted without Government approval. Britons may not accept foreign medals without royal permission.

Hundreds of letters about the Beatles award cascaded into the prime minister's office at 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace.

SENDS BACK 12

Wagg's gesture dwarfed them all. Among the protests to the Queen, the Queen Mother and Prime Minister Wilson he sent:

The Star, the General Service Medal and the Victory

Limiting of Discussion Of Subjects Being Probed By Commissions Approved

TORONTO (CP)—Limiting of discussion in the Ontario legislature of subjects being investigated by royal commissions was approved Wednesday despite a burst of opposition protest.

The protest came when W. G. Noden (PC — Rainy River) chairman of the committee of supply, ruled out of order remarks concerning the royal commission on Windfall mines by E. G. Freeman (NDP—Fort William).

A royal commission under Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly was set up to investigate the rise of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd. stock to $3.60 from 36 cents and the decline to 40 cents after trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Mr. Noden claimed the matter was "sub judice"—a legal term meaning "under consideration by the courts."

Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) said only matters actually before the courts were sub judice, and a curtailment of discussion of royal commissions would be a limitation of free speech.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald supported him, saying royal commissions were set up to take subjects out of public discussion as well as to obtain facts.

Attorney - General Arthur Wishart agreed that the sub judice provisions did not apply to royal commissions but suggested legislators limit their remarks until the royal commission reports are released to prevent a discussion of incomplete information.

Mr. MacDonald argued that since the Toronto Stock Exchange and the press had come to a conclusion about the Windfall investigation it would be unfair to prevent legislators from doing so.

Mr. Freeman, allowed to proceed, said:

"The Windfall scandal is the direct result of private enterprise taking advantages of existing loopholes in the law connected with the mining industry, a result of a toothless Ontario Securities Commission and a desire to get rich quick.

"The fact that the Windfall scandal could happen on the basis of innuendo and rumors speaks for higher controls over security stock manipulation by the government."

PROPOSES CORPORATION

Mr. Freeman then proposed a Crown corporation be formed for mineral ores and develop two new mines for Ontario.

He suggested the corporation start with a capital of $3,000,000 a year.

"This (proposed) corporation could acquire shares in any operating company formed to exploit such properties, or it could undertake the operation of mining properties under its own jurisdiction," he said.

Mr. Freeman stressed the free enterprise aspect of such a company. It would be taxed and be subject to the same competitive forces as other companies.

He also saw the corporation as a source of money for mining information on marginal ore deposits and it could buy marginal properties and lease them back to the original owner or a new company to develop.

SEES NO CONFLICT

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A school teacher elected to a municipal council post has no conflict of interest, city solicitor James E. Watson decided Wednesday. Mr. Watson said he investigated the Municipal Act after the issue was raised by Ald. Frank Wansbrough, who questioned the right of Ald. Roy Battagelle, a Windsor school teacher, to hold his post.

Racial Troubles Diminish Power of Commonwealth

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

As a united force, the Commonwealth could exert profound influence on world affairs. Its 750,000,000 people represent one quarter of the world's population. Its territory sweeps around the globe, touching every continent, every stage of civilization.

But as the leaders who gather at the oval table in London's stately Marlborough House know, the power of the Commonwealth is diminished by the pull of regional and racial differences. Black man in West Africa still suspects the white man out to dominate and suppress him. Some white men think the newly emerging Africans have become the tools of the Communists.

The war in Viet Nam may grip the Commonwealth and put countries, afraid that the jungle battle may explode into a nuclear holocaust. But to India and Pakistan, the more crucial concern may be their long quarrel over Kashmir.

Great unifying themes are therefore not expected to emerge in a hurry from the prime ministers' current nine-day talks.

Tanzania, Uganda and others want Britain to take stronger action against the minority white rule in Rhodesia. Britain wants to keep trying to negotiate with Rhodesia's Ian Smith on a bilateral basis with Commonwealth support but without Commonwealth pressures.

Many of the Commonwealth countries, including Canada, say there can be no rest in Rhodesia until there is majority rule and there representing the majority view. That means full voting power for the black majority, a thing that the minority whites won't provide without, possibly, bloodshed and civil war.

Yet, amid the bickering and the quarreling within the Commonwealth, there are signs of a little fear that the Commonwealth is about to disintegrate because of a lack of unified view. Throughout the Commonwealth there is a determination that has more to do with the sharing, in various degrees, of a British heritage and tradition than with institutions and policies.

As Tunku Abdul Rahman, the Malaysian prime minister, said in a pre-conference broadcast: "We believe in continuity."

If the Commonwealth does nothing more than agree to maintain its continuity, it may over the years emerge as a key fibre of strength and influence in world affairs.

Tigers' Willie Horton Blasts Bosox

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver

"I hear," said Mushmouth, our Swick's Island sage, sour and undercover .907 shooting a half dozen Boy of Quinte clams, "that a gaggle of hendobrahcers is going to visit our fair domain."

"So?"

"For the purpose of investigating the strange habits of some of the taxpayers engaged in the noble sport of setback."

Mushmouth probed a molar cavity with the point of his switch-stiletto, spat out a Cow Island clam pearl and paraphrased:

"There are strange, strange sights,
'Neath the Fair Grenada lights
But the strangest I ever did see,
Was the ewe Ethler's Bob
Whittled a 32 Job
And the next night struck out 33."

"Yup," said the K.I. bard, "take this B. and D. League," and he stuck a well-licked finger under my nose, "You, being a Spanish homer, picked this Bloomfield team to ride roughshod over us city pitchers like Sitting Bull's Apaches merry-go-rounded Custer's cavalry."

"So?"

"So, me eye," gritted Mushmouth, "and what happens. Your Bloomfield Yankee White Tornadoes come over here and found they were up against a cluster of Diamond Dicks with fighters in their hands."

"Furthermore," Mushmouth murmured, "the head shrinkers are going to probe the Commercial League with special attention to the City Hotel team from Hickson's Hideaway."

"So?"

"It seems the nude-and-peanuts gang has won six or seven games by one run. Many times they have trailed up to the fifth or sixth inning themwhen—they break out in a hit-run rash and cop the win by a single marker."

"What's the headshrinkers going to do about it?"

"It's simple," said Mushmouth chewing on the south end of an ear, "they're going to call the game at the end of the fifth—temporarily—and take a saliva test of the hotel crew. Somebody could be slipping a pick-me-up in their dugout oranges."

"And," he went on, wiping eel-juice off his chin, "they're going to investigate the strange antics of some individual players."

"So?"

"Take the Don Wood copter the other night. This conquering ewes cud-spy hit a manhower that would have been a homer with Big Bawdy running the bases. So what does he do?"

"He canters down to first, ambles to second, looks up to see if the ball will vote in Hastings or Peterborough ridings, and shuffles into third. He decides to make the round trip and wondered why the catcher had the cut-and-canary look on his face. Why shouldn't he? He had the ball in his hand."

"Also," said Mushmouth, "they're going to probe the pitching—and mosting because the boles in the bats. Never has the tossing been so good with a lot of it coming from untried hurlers. Some of the veterans are in their second mound youth-hood.

"Then there's the question of overtime," said the Mush. "I hear that Al Kincher's mask-and-padders, after that 13-inning marathon the other night, are either going to ask for time out at the end of nine for 'shoeshines and refreshments' or use the league's fine for alienation of affection on the part of their wives.

"But, all-in-all," opined the K. I. sweat, "it's the best softball season we've had in a long time. The B and D race for the flag is tighter than a... downgirt's corsets and could end in a photo finish.

"The Working Man's League is getting thicks, thrills, shutouts, strikeouts, goofs, good plays and a helavu lot of fun. A lot of fans don't know what they're missing."

"So as Sandy Koufax once said in a toast to National League batters, 'Long may they wave'."

Pitching—Luis Tiant, Indians, allowed only one hit, a leadoff single by Woodie Held in the seventh inning, as Cleveland whacked Washington Senators 5-0.

Batting — Willie Horton, Tigers, drove in five runs with his 15th homer, a double and single, leading Detroit to a 8-4 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Junior Lacrosse

TORONTO (CP) — Oshawa Green Gaels continued their undefeated ways in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A series Tuesday night, running another one-sided score in a 28-8 victory over Etobicoke Terriers Wednesday night.

The Gaels are now without a loss in eight games and hold a four-point margin over the second-place Mimico Mountees.

In eight games, Oshawa has 187 goals while allowing the opposition only 57.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

When Willie Horton gets launched on one of his hitting streaks, it's a good idea not to be playing against Detroit Tigers.

The 22 - year - old outfielder, playing his first full American League season, was batting the ball at the start of the year. Then he tailed off for a month or so while the Tigers slid gently back towards the second division. Now he's on a tear again and Detroit is back in the thick of things.

In the last four games Horton has seven hits in 14 trips, four home runs and 13 runs batted.

The Tigers won them all.

His devastated Boston Red Sox Wednesday night, knocked in four runs with a homer, double and single as Detroit came up with a 8-4 victory.

That still left the Tigers in fifth place but they were only four games back of Minnesota Twins, who dropped a 3-1 decision to the second-place Chicago White Sox and their lead shaved to half a game. The loss was the first of the year for Camilo Pascual after eight victories.

In other games, Luis Tiant threw a one-hitter at Washington Senators as Cleveland Indians won 5-0; Baltimore Orioles trimmed New Hork Yankees 5-2 with a spree of early homers and Los Angeles Angels took both ends of a doubleheader from Kansas City Athletics, defeating the tail-enders 7-2 and 5-4.

Horton's two-run double in the seventh was a big component of a five-run rally that sent the Red Sox reeling to their sixth straight defeat and their ninth in 10 games.

Washington's only hit off Tiant was Woodie Held's single leading off the seventh. Leon Wagner drove in four of the Indians' runs with a three-run homer in the fourth and a single in the ninth.

The White Sox chased Pascual, winner of his first eight decisions, with a three - run fourth after the Cubans had allowed only a scratch single by Floyd Robinson over the first three innings.

Jerry Adair, Sam Bowens and Jackie Brandt socked Al Downing for homers in the first three innings and the Orioles coasted in against the Yankees as lefty Dave McNally tasted his first victory in five decisions with the Yanks.

George Brunet threw a five-hitter and struck out nine in the Angels-Athletics opener and Joe Adcock, who drove in two runs with two doubles in the first game, clinched the nightcap with a homer in the sixth inning.

Will Present Guineas

Queen Mother At Queen's Plate

TORONTO (CP) —You pay your money and you take your choice.

That's how it shapes up for this year's 106th running of the Queen's Plate at Woodbine Race Track June 26.

Unlike last year when Northern Dancer dominated the scene, there isn't a clear - cut favorite among the Canadian-bred three-year-olds eligible for North America's oldest continuous horse race classic.

The Queen Mother will be on hand to present the traditional 50guineas to the winner and there are at least seven owners with a good chance to collect.

The winner book favorites Flyalong and Good Old Mort, have both been defeated this year and the one horse that might have emerged as a favorite lost its eligibility last December.

SHARE TOP BILLING

Ironically, Canada's best three-year-old this year, Victorlas Era, can't run in the plate.

Owner Allan Case of Toronto, an Ontario Jockey Club director, inadvertently failed to make a $50 eligibility payment last Dec. 15.

Coach Frank Clair Picks Riders For First

BY STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP)—Head coach Frank Clair stepped out of character Wednesday night to predict a first-place finish for his Ottawa Rough Riders in the coming Eastern Football Conference season.

"I really think this is the year we can do it," Clair told about 900 persons at a Meet the Riders night sponsored by a service club.

It was the first time since he came to Ottawa in 1958 that Clair has painted such a rosy picture for football fans. In the past he has been content to say he was aiming at a playoff position — a target he has attained in each of his nine years of coaching here.

Clair, who signed a three-year contract last year with Riders after flirting with a Toronto underworld offer, said he believes the 52 Canadian and American rookies "who'll attend the Ottawa camp this year make up the finest camp he's ever had.

He said that since he and assistant coach Bill Smyth began rebuilding the Ottawa club in 1962 it has been his aim to take on new blood each season. In a quick look at Rider Eastern competition, Clair pointed to Montreal Alouettes as a strengthened club with the addition of quarterback Bernie Faloney. However, Al might be hurt by the players they gave up to get Faloney.

Clair said Joe Zuger would have to prove that he was a first - string quarterback with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. He predicted Argonauts would be beset by quarterback troubles in the new season.

David Wood Pitches No-Hitter

David Wood pitched a seven-inning no-hitter last night as Fountain Park teammates crushed the Jaycees 21-3 in a B.M.B.A. peewee division game.

The victory was Fountain Park's first of the year and they gave Wood an 8-0 lead in the top of the first inning.

Wood struck out ten batters and walked only three. He struck out six and walked five. L. Bornette was his catcher.

Daryl Windsor poled three singles and David Easton two for the winners. Mike Gorgan and Carl Yates hit triples, Doug Wiley one single.

Lightfoots Shade Pointers

An outfield collision by two of the game's stars allowed the Lightfoots to score in the bottom of the ninth inning as Lightfoots nipped Point Anne 3-2 in a Commercial thriller at Prince Charles last night.

Outfielders Horwood and Maher saved the game a half dozen times for the Cemetomen with great catches but they crashed in the ninth as both reached Rusty Garvin's looping fly. The ball fell loose and the deciding run scored from second base, with two out at the time.

Lightfoots had taken a 2-0 lead in the first but were held scoreless while the visitors sent it into extra innings with runs in the second and fourth.

Joe Harvey was the winning pitcher, taking over from George Young and tossing two-hit ball from the ninth inning on. He fanned two, walked one. Young allowed three hits, whiffed six and issued four.

Vern Whalen tossed seven-hit ball over the route in defeat. Whalen struck out half a dozen and walked a pair.

Don Smith had a triple and single and Jim Lamb a lightfoot attack while George Young got a triple and single. Rusty Garvin, Clapp and Jack Gilby contributed the other safeties.

For Point Anne, Gerry Maher had a triple, double and single, Jim Horwood a double, Perry Ellis and Dave Akey a single apiece.

The game was as tight as the score indicates. Each side left eight men stranded with clutch plays cutting off dangerous threats on both sides more than once.

Senior Lacrosse

Brooklin Merchants ran their undefeated streak to nine games and the Lacrosse Athletics climbed into a tie for third place in Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A action Wednesday night.

The Merchants defeated Brampton Excelsiors 10-5 on six unanswered second - period goals. Brooklin moved to points ahead of second-place Brampton in the standings. St. Catharines downed Fort Credit Sailors 12-10.

Six-Hitter, Two Homers, No-Hitter

KINGSTON (CP) — Ken Lewis, a 20-year-old softball pitcher from Kingston, allowed only six hits in two separate nine-inning games Tuesday night and hit a home run in each contest.

He scattered six hits in the first game here at 6:30 p.m. and won 5-1. Immediately afterwards, he drove 25 miles to Napanee, Ont., and pitched a no-hitter.

Latta Wins 7-3 Over Foxboro

Latta built up a 4-0 lead in the top of the first frame and went on to defeat Foxboro Acme Electric 6-3 in a North Hastings Baseball League tilt last night.

Foxboro never provided a dangerous threat after falling behind, despite the fact that the club hit safely in every inning except the first.

Winning pitcher Knight hurled the Latta victory, spacing nine hits over the six-inning route.

Doug Campbell, Keith Dickey and Jerry Mann all saw action while allowing eight hits on the losers' behalf. Mann was in from the second inning.

Bob Smith hammered a home run to lead a Latta attack that saw no player get more than one hit. Doug Rollins hit a double and singles went to Harris, Ray, Doug Chisholm, Howard Meeks, Green and Norman Knight.

Keith Dickey had three of Foxboro's nine singles while Jerry Mann hit two. Others went to Claude Carr, Howard Skelly, Turcotte and Archer.

The box of the Latta team, Cannifton and Latta, are combining tomorrow (Friday) night to hold another of their baseball dances. It is slated for nine o'clock at Cliff's Hall.

Koufax, Wills Giant-Killers

Phils Clip Braves

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maury Wills and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers are threatening to knock two guys out of the record book—Maury Wills and Sandy Koufax.

Wills singled twice, stole second twice and rode home on singles by Jim Gilliam while Koufax limited San Francisco to six hits and struck out eight as the National League leaders edged the Giants 2-1 Wednesday night.

Wills now has stolen 41 bases in 62 games. In 1962, he did not pilfer his 41st base until the Dodgers' 78th game.

Koufax, meanwhile, brought his strikeout total to 135 in 15 appearances. In 1963 Koufax did not chalk up his 135th strikeout victim until his 18th time out.

The Dodgers' victory boosted their first-place edge over Milwaukee to 3½ games as Philadelphia Phillies knocked off the Braves 6-2 behind the hitting of rookie catcher Pat Corrales.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh Pirates outlasted St. Louis Cardinals 10-9, Cincinnati Reds belted New York Mets 8-4 and Houston Astros ended an eight-game losing streak by edging Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 13 innings.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Willie legged out an infield hit in the fifth inning, stole second and scored on Gilliam's single, then the duo did a repeat for the winning run in the seventh inning off Bob Shaw after the Giants had tied the score.

Koufax, 10-3, whipped the Giants for the first time since 1963 while joining teammate Don Drysdale and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati as the only pitchers in the majors with 10 or more victories.

Corrales, called up from Arkansas Travelers of the Pacific Coast League last Sunday, stroked three hits, including a two-run homer in the third inning that highlighted a decisive five-run outburst for the Phillies. Corrales now has five hits in seven trips to the plate.

The Pirates used 23 players—all but pitchers Bob Veale and Don Cardwell — before finally subduing the Cardinals on Willie Stargell's three-run homer in the ninth.

Leo Cardenas hit two homers in a single game for the first time in his six - year major league career and Jim O'Toole, a 17-game winner last season, won his first game in six decisions as the Reds downed the Mets.

The Astros broke a runless streak of 33 innings in the third inning, tied the Cubs 2-2 on Walt Bond's run-producing single in the sixth and won it the 13th on a double by Joe Morgan, a walk to Bond and a single by Bob Aspromonte.

Baseball Expansion Possible

BOSTON (AP)—Joe Cronin, American League president, said Wednesday Toronto, Montreal and New Orleans are "likely spots" for major league baseball expansion.

Cronin was fielding questions at a luncheon interview.

Asked about major league expansion, he said:

"Sure, expansion is possible and even likely. All you have to do is look at the map and see the population growth. But there are just too many problems involved to say how soon expansion will come or what cities will be affected.

"New Orleans, Montreal, Toronto — these are just a few that come to mind. They're good likely spots for expansion."

YANKS BUY PITCHER

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees purchased veteran relief pitcher Bobby Tiefenauer from Atlanta of the International League Wednesday and optioned right-hander Pete Mikkelsen to their IL farm at Toledo. Tiefenauer, 35, started the season with Milwaukee and was 0-1 before being sent to Atlanta where he compiled a 0.82 earned run average for six games.

OPPOSE WALKOUT

LONDON (Reuters) — Delegates representing Britain's 22,000 family doctors voted Wednesday against a mass walkout from the National Health Service July 1. But they also decided that nearly 18,000 undated notices of resignation from Britain's socialized medical service should remain as a bargaining weapon instead of being torn up.

The Tracks

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Preakness winner Tom Rolfe will not start Saturday in the Leonard Richards Stake at Delaware Park as planned.

Trainer Frank Whiteley said Wednesday the decision to rest Tom Rolfe, who also was second in the Belmont Stakes and third in the Kentucky Derby was made after a conference with owner Raymond Guest, U.S. ambassador to Ireland.

Whiteley said the horse will remain in light training at Delaware Park until late July when he will move to Chicago to get set for the $100,000 Chicagoan Aug. 7, the Arlington Classic Aug. 28 and the American Derby Sept. 13.

Jockey Ron Turcotte of Grand Falls, N.B., rode Tom Rolfe in all three triple crown features—the Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

Trenton Defeats Lombanks

TRENTON — (Special) — Clubbing up their second win of the week over high-placing opposition, Trenton Commercial Printers ran hit-wild against Tweed here last night.

The Printers whipped the Lombanks 13-2 and piled up a total of 16 hits in the process.

Trenton moved into contention for a playoff spot with the win, now trailing the loop leaders by only four points and the second place teams by two.

Games tonight have Stirling playing Trudeau Motors at the Belleville Fairgrounds while Bloomfield goes to Madoc. Saturday, Madoc is here for a postponed game, at 8.15 p.m.

Trenton took command of the game with four runs in the third last night. It was 7-3 by the time they grabbed for six markers in the seventh.

Pat Marucie hurled five - hit ball in a route - going effort. He struck out 11 batters and walked only one.

Joe Barrons started for Tweed, relieved by Eldon Gray in the third and Gary Owens in the eighth. Barrons was the loser. They pulled 16 and walked three while many of the 18 hits were bloopers that fell between fielders.

Pat Marucie drove in four runs blasting a triple and two singles. Ron Chamberlain had two doubles and a single, Roger Drake and Jim Whyte three hits each. Art Barrons hit a home run and single, Terry Hutchinson singled twice, Don Lee and Leon Mowatt got doubles.

For Tweed, Don LeSage had a triple and single, Eldon Gray a double and single and Paul Merww the other safety.

United States Open

Starry Field Picks Nicklaus And Palmer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Cold logic rides with the reign guns of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the 65th United States Open golf championship starting today.

"This course is tailor - made for Nicklaus—he should be an even bet against the field," said Bill Casper, the 1959 winner. "Arnie has to be favored," added South Africa's Gary Player. "Those two guys start with a five-stroke advantage," growled ageless Sam Snead.

This was largely the way the talk went Wednesday as the 126 professionals and 14 amateurs prepared for a four-day, 72-hole assault on the Bellerive Country Club course—longest and said one of the toughest on which this blue ribbon event ever has been contested.

Bellerive is 7,191 yards of frightening fairways and massive, undulating greens that average close to 10,000 square feet. Three rounds may be routine, four putts no rarity.

Par, 35-35—70, is expected to win out under the weekend assault.

The defending champion, Ken Venturi, is one of the last off the tee in the first round. Starting at 2:35 p.m. EDT with U.S. Amateur champion Bill Campbell and former Open king Gene Littler, and the question is:

Can the plucky San Francisco ace pull off a second miracle?

Venturi won last year in Washington's suffocating cauldron heat, almost collapsing from sheer exhaustion before ending three years of frustration.

Then he developed a chronic ulcer ailment in his right hand that sewed him off the tour.

The 34 - year - old Californian refused to give up and was determined to defend his crown even though his fingers are numb and swollen from lack of blood and he must close the club shafts to his hands with tinctures of bonedine.

"I always get charged up for the Open," said Palmer, the muscular Latrobe, Pa., millionaire, winner in 1960 and loser in playoffs in 1962 and 1963. "But I've got to admit I'm having my troubles. I'm not putting too well. I really need to win another big one."

The only Canadians entered are George Knudson of Toronto and Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont.

Dr. Camu, 42, succeeds R. J. Rankin, whose five-year term as president expires June 1. Mr. Rankin, former newspaper editor and former president of the Canadian Press, goes on retirement leave July 1.

Successful In Hockey

Leafs Use 'Wonder Drug'

TORONTO (CP)—During the recent Stanley Cup playoffs, an experimental drug — dimethyl sulphoxide (DMSO)—was mentioned prominently in the surprising recovery of two Chicago Black Hawk hockey players who suffered serious injuries early in the final series.

Now it is again gaining fame as a magic elixir which could determine the fate of Toronto Maple Leafs during the current International League baseball season.

Defencemen Pierre Pilote and forward Ken Wharram were considered through for the National Hockey League season when they suffered a shoulder separation and knee injury early in Game four of the Leafs-Montreal Canadiens.

However, they returned to action after several applications of DMSO to the injuries and were standouts as the Hawks extended Montreal to seven games before losing.

TREATS LEAF INJURIES

Now Dr. M. MAVin, Paul of Toronto is using the drug to treat an assortment of Leaf injuries and it has apparently proved successful in several instances.

It has been applied in varying strengths to Leaf pitchers Jerry Herron, Pete Charton and Bob Heffner as well as outfielder Mike Pape and infielder Mike Andrews.

Heffner, long bothered by a knee injury, had one application then pitched Leafs to a 3-1, three-hit victory over Jacksonville Suns here Tuesday.

Minor Softball Results

Belleville Minor Softball Association action last night was confined to the squirt division.

In the East Hill section, Kiddies' Korners Astros stopped the Redskins 11-3, Stephen Lennox Dodgers whipped the Browns 30-7 and Vaughn's Rockers clipped the Shopping Plaza Reds 15-13.

In a pair of West Hill games, Cubs downed the Steelers 7-1 while Peacock Plastering Cardinals topped Stevenson's Mustangs 13-6.

Peewee games played on Tuesday night saw Barrett's Yankees defeat the Giants 13-8, Cory Grill Phillies top the Mets 9-6 and Woodland Braves win 15-3 over the Colts.

At the Park

OPENS TONIGHT
This Teenager Was Really Wild!

"Mara of the Wilderness," filmed in De Luxe color and opening tonight for three days at the Park Theatre is the unusual story of a beautiful untamed girl of nature' who roams Alaska's primeval forest with glacier wolves as her companions and guardians. At the age of 19 she has never seen or been seen by man. Then she is discovered by two, a forest ranger who trys to teach her the ways of civilization, and a cold-blooded trapper who greedily plans to capture her for exhibition in circuses.

Arresting scenes of Alaskan wildlife, including wolves, other animals, plus the scenic grandeur of the northwoods bring added entertainment to the unique screenplay.

Second Feature

Superhuman thrills! . . . Superhuman exploits! . . . Super-exciting entertainment! . . . It's "Hercules Against The Moon Men" . . . plus the mightiest adventure of earth's mightiest Titan . . . as he battles savage men and monsters in the moon! . . . Retains Middle Title

HALIFAX (CP)—Blair Richardson looked tough but he really was one of the hardest punches of his boxing career here to retain his Canadian middleweight boxing title Wednesday night.

The punch, a sharp right cross to the head, knocked Donnie Chisholm of Pictou, N.S., the No. 1 contender for Richardson's title, at 2:30 of second mark of the third round.

"I faked him with a left, stepped in and threw an overhand right," said the 25-year-old Richardson. "It was a good right hand, one of the best I've ever thrown."

Richardson, a drinity student from South Bar, N.S., said after the fight he wants a crack at the British Empire and Commonwealth middleweight title, held by Gomeo Brennan of Bahama, B.W.I.

"That's the fight I want," said Richardson, "and I want it this summer." Richardson is ranked sixth in British Empire middleweight ratings.

Richardson weighed 159½ for the scheduled 10-rounder. Chisholm was 156. The paid attendance was 3,778.

Chisholm has won 28 of 33 fights, mostly against unranked Maritime boxers, but he was no match for the more experienced Richardson.

Leafs Hot, Win Fourth Over Hens

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's either a feast or a famine when you work in the bullpen at Toronto Maple Leafs.

Win or lose, the Toronto relievers have been earning their pay almost every night since the International League season began. Now, suddenly, with almost all the Leafs' regular starters out or active with injuries, the fire men haven't been called on to throw a pitch in three days.

Gary Waslewski, a newcomer from Pittsfield of the Eastern League, was the latest hurler to complete his nine - inning stint Wednesday night as the Leafs downed Toledo Mud Hens 10-4 for their fourth straight victory.

The second six games behind Atlanta Crackers, who downed Syracuse Chiefs 9-5, and half a game ahead of the opening Wednesday night.

Columbus Jets, also victors over Buffalo Bisons, Rochester Red Wings and Jacksonville Suns were rained out.

Harry Joe Brown at 72 Preparing Another Western

By BOB THOMAS

For 45 years he has been making movies, mostly the kind with horses and cowpokes. At 72, his zest for work remains undiminished. He can attack a script with enthusiasm.

You can find him at Columbia Studios, on the same street where he started as "king of poverty row. For the benefit of newcomers, poverty row was a collection of shoestring producers who ground out movies at bargain prices.

Brown's new project is The Long Ride Home., a post-civil war western for which he has big plans. Between script sessions he talked about his life in films.

"It's good to back at work again," he said. "I was put out of commission for 16 weeks by an auto crash down at Palm Springs. Cracked my head, but fortunately didn't break any bones—just beat 'em a little.

WILL BE FIRST

"This will be my first picture in Hollywood for a few years. I spent three years abroad making pictures with Sean Flynn. We did three of them—in Italy, Spain and India. I have great faith in the boy; he's no great actor but he has an appeal for the women like his father (Errol). And he's the best athlete on the screen ince Doug Fairbanks.

Brown came out of the First World War an infantry captain and was hired to produce pictures for the old Equity company. In 1922, he was sent to Bollywood to film westerns for Monogram.

"I had no idea how to make a western," he recalled. "So when I got out here, I asked somebody who was the best in the western field. I was told Tom Mix. For a whole week I looked at Tom Mix movies, then I figured I was ready."

But he needed a star and a horse. He found both: Fred Thompson and his palomino Silver King. They became top favorites with the horse opera fans.

Brown later produced for Warner Brothers, Fox and RKO, and his name appeared on such movies as Captain Blood, Ceiling Zero, Alexander's Ragtime Band, The Rains Came and Down Argentine Way.

He hooked up with Randolph Scott for a string of independent productions that stretched for 17 years. "Randy" Brown said, "I've had it," said Brown. "He quit to play golf half a day and at all investments the other half."

Cartwright Sisters, Angela, Veronica Busy Performers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Those a television Cartwright sisters are a confusing family.

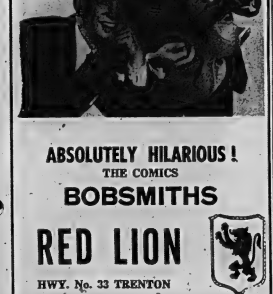
As Bonanza fans know, the Cartwright brothers live with their father, Ben, on a big television spread called the Ponderosa.

But the Cartwright sisters, Veronica, 16, and Angela, 14, live with their real-life parents in Hollywood and are two of the busiest young performers in the business.

Veronica has emerged from a difficult period of type-casting as a nasty kid but now plays a down-to-earth girl in NBC's The Daniel Boone Show.

Angela did a lot of growing up during all those seasons when she played Danny's and Marjorie Lord's daughter Linda, in The Danny Thomas Show on CBS.

In September, Angela will appear with new TV parents, June Lockhart and Guy Williams, in a new CBS adventure series, Lost in Space, victims of a spaceship wreck on an unknown planet.



The youngsters got into acting by first becoming models. Angela, during her TV absence this year since Thomas dropped the comedy series, has been busy working in The Sound of Music movie.

Veronica, however, started her acting career playing a dimagreeable little brat in The Children's Hour.

CBS announced Wednesday that the Ed Sullivan Show, the next year's Lawrence Show, the Andy Griffith Show, Petticoat Junction and Gomer Pyle will be broadcast next fall in color, additions which mean that more than half the network's fall shows will be colorcasts.

NBC will have color in all of their regular programs except I Dream of Jeannie, a comedy series; and ABC, in more than one-third.

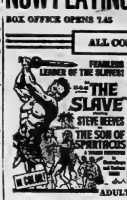
Snell To Meet Grelle

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Zealand track star Peter Snell said Wednesday night he definitely will run against Portland's Jim Grelle in the mile event June 28 at San Diego—but he won't predict a winner.

The former world record holder in the mile said a stomach ailment forced him to cancel plans to compete at the Mount San Antonio College meet Sunday at Walnut, Calif., though he expects to be in top form for the San Diego American Athletic Union championships.

"I don't think it's reasonable for me to say at this time who will win, or if I can regain my world's record," said Snell. "Quite a bit depends on my recovery over the next two or three days."

Snell finished last in the mile event here Tuesday night as Grelle and eight other competitors beat him across the finish line.



The lanky New Zealander said his stomach ailment knocked seconds off his running time.

Snell's best time is 3:54.1. Michel Jazy of France bettered Snell's world record June 9 with a time of 3:53.6.

Snell said he worked out Wednesday morning but was still feeling the effects of his gastric condition.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

MIFF KNEE CONTROLS HIP TURN

It is natural to a well-timed golf swing that the backswing be free of restriction. A common form of backswing restriction occurs when the player "catches" his left knee on the ball. Striking the knee forward in this manner (No. 1) makes it impossible to turn the hips fully to the right.

Instead, this knee should point to behind the ball, as I demonstrate in

No. 2, as the player completes his backswing turn. You will note the greater degree of turn that this correct knee position permits.

Much of the swing's power generation from the golfer's legs. This power—and a great deal of timing —is wasted unless the player employs proper leg and footwork. A key to proper footwork is to let the left knee swing to the right as the hips turn on the backswing.

International Trot

Canadian Horse Invested

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — An invitation to participate in the $250,000 International World Championship Trot at New York's Roosevelt Raceway July 20 will be extended to the winner of the Canadian champion ship to be run at Garden City Raceway June 26.

Garden City manager Ed Bradley said Wednesday he will invite Al of Canada's top trotters to compete.

The last time Canada carried off the international title was in 1962 when Tie Silk, driven by Keith Waples, won for Adrien and Gerard Miron of St.Augustine, Que.

Bradley said a purse of $15,000 will be up for grabs in the Garden City event, set up at the request of John Cashman, racing secretary at Roosevelt.

The victory served as a warmup for the Hambletonian to be run at Du Quoin Sept. 1.

Armbro Flight, the Canadian Trotting Association's outstanding harness horse last year, was timed in a leisurely 2:05 3-5 before a crowd of 4,282.

Armbro Flight, a three-year-old won a record $307,000 in 20 races last season and is currently the second choice to win this year's Hambletonian.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two-dollar bettors collected $182 in the fourth-race exacta at the Western Fair Raceway Wednesday night when Dalla's Hal T came home first at $38.70 and Yogi Byrd second at $5.40.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Muddy Hanover, who hadn't won in seven tries this season, took the featured Junior invitation Pace Wednesday night at Garden City Raceway in a hot 2:02 4-5 — 3-5 of a second off the track record.

Muddy Hanover, owned by Keith Waples and Ernest Russell of Port Credit, Ont., and driven by Waples, picked up $1,000 to run his lifetime earnings to $85,353.

The daily double returned $379.20 when 17-to-1 longshot Star Nib won the first race and 5-to-1 shot Meadow Wave took the second.

MPs Win Softball Annual

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of Parliament may have their ups and downs in the Commons, but they're highly consistent on the softball field.

They beat everyone in sight. The MPs Wednesday night edged the Commons protective staff 9-8.

It marked the second year in a row MPs have beaten the protective staff to win a trophy especially donated by a brewery. They also have a string of victories over the press gallery.

Red Kelly, the hockey - playing Liberal from York West, and Murdo Martin, NDP member for Timmins, were the heroes of Wednesday's victory. Both delivered clutch singles with two out in the last inning to drive in four runs and erase an 8-5 deficit.

British Author Clark Knocks Western Ideas About World War II

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—A couple of pet old ideas about the Second World War come in for hard knocks in print Saturday at the hands of British author Alan Clark.

The first of these is that the Western countries, more than the Soviet Union, won the war and the second is that Adolf Hitler let them by wrongheadedly over-riding the advice of his generals at crucial moments.

The German people and soldiers, says Clark, saw Russia as their main antagonist.

"For the German nation 'the war' meant the war in the East," Clark writes in his 402-page volume published by Hutchinson.

The bombing, the U-boat campaign, the glamor of the Afrika Korps, these were incidentals when over 2,000,000 fathers, husbands, brothers, were engaged day and night in a struggle with the untermensch (sub-humans)."

Clark vividly describes the appalling sufferings on the Eastern Front and also the unspeakable atrocities committed on the Russian civilian population by the Germans in this greatest land battle of history.

Germans leading eastward passed into a "belt of country, up to 500 miles across, where the septic violence of nazism festered openly. . . .

DESCRIBES VIOLENCE

"Mass murder, deportations, deliberate starvation of prisoners, the burning alive of school children, 'target-practice' on civilian hospitals—atrocities were so commonplace that no man, coming fresh to the scene, could stay sane without a protective veneer of brutalization."

Clark, 25, already has a reputation for distrust of generals following his first book, The Donkeys, about First World War generals. Even allowing for this, he fires some penetrating salvos against the Wehrmacht leaders.

The Wehrmacht is depicted as plunging into Russia devoid of any long-range strategic plan. The "Eastern marshals" scrambled for individual glory, often disastrously disobedient to orders from Berlin.

Hitler alone was able to grasp the over-all picture and control the field marshals, says Clark, adding:

"No truly objective historian could refrain from admiring this man. His capacity for mastering detail, his sense of history his retentive memory, his strategic vision — all these had flaws, but they were brilliant nevertheless."

NOT FINAL WORD

Most critics agree that Barossa, which was Hitler's code name for the Russian invasion, is by no means the final word on that conflict, especially since—as Clark freely admits—most of its information comes from German sources.

Writing in the Weekly Observer, Edward Crankshaw, expert on Russian affairs, is sharply critical of Clark's assessment of Hitler's genius:

"The main trouble is that this obsession with the master's guilt renders Mr. Clark very unsound about the comparative qualities of his generals and, at times, on the general conduct of the campaign."

But Crankshaw, like other reviewers, gives Clark full marks for his powers of describing "the actual fighting, the master set battles on a colossal scale as the grand envelopments of a war of movement. When the tanks are in motion he not only comes to life, he writes better, too."

Michael Howard, reviewing Barbarossa in the Sunday Times, recalls that the Russians lost 20,000,000 lives, 3,000,000 of them prisoners of war in German hands.

"It was their armies, as Sir Winston Churchill gave ready recognition, which tore the guts out of the Wehrmacht and made possible the victories in the West. It is refreshing to find a British historian who once again has the courage to admit it."

Friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Hiram Rollins of Stirling on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harry McAdam of Mount Pleasant to Oshawa and visited Mr. and Mrs. David McAdam. Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy and Jerry were guests at the same home.

BORMANN THOUGHT DEAD

FRANKFURT (AP) — Martin Bormann is believed to be dead and not living in Latin America, reported the Frankfurt public prosecutor's office. There is an old warrant out for the arrest of the Nazi leader, and $25,000 in rewards for his capture. Much of this personal relationship has been lost, especially in busy urban areas.

Community clinics attack this problem with regular informal gatherings of patients and clinic members at which doctors lecture, participate in discussion groups and answer questions.

Michael Kalmakoff, administrator of the Saskatoon clinic, says:

"We think users of a service should be able to get together and have some say in the kind of service they get."

The clinic has a monthly bulletin for members that emphasizes social medicine (sample article: Building Self - Confidence) and a social worker is available at the clinic.

"Often a person will come to the doctor but the problem is really one for a social worker," Mr. Kalmakoff says. "He may, for example, be an older person who is having trouble with his relatives. Now we have this to provide better service for the patient. It's saving a lot of the doctors' time."

The clinics aim to integrate the services of physicians, social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists, physiotherapists and others under one roof and eventually bring about greater co-operation with volunteer home nursing organizations, old folks' homes, hospitals and similar groups and institutions.

They hope in this way to provide a system of "comprehensive care." A person who can be treated at home or in the community clinic is therapeutic department or who should be in a chronic-care hospital can be directed to the proper facility when he is ready. This frees active-care hospital beds for those who need them.

It's not a new idea. Diagnostic and radiological departments are included in many doctors' clinics and Dr. David Road, medical director of the Regina community clinic, says a similar approach by a community clinic in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., has cut hospital stays by clinic patients two-thirds.

Carve Solid Niche

Many Saskatchewan Folk Like Community Clinics

By RON MacDONALD

SASKATOON (CP) — Community clinics have carved a solid niche in Saskatchewan in the three years since they bucked bitterness and hostility to set up operations at the height of the 1962 medical care crisis.

Most Saskatchewan doctors closed their offices and provided only emergency services for three weeks in July, 1962, to protest introduction of the OCF government's compulsory medical care insurance scheme.

Citizens in some centres formed co-operatives and rushed the first community clinics into operation to restore normal medical services. With a high proportion of immigrant British doctors on staff, the clinics met hostility from many established doctors.

Today the hostility has largely disappeared, says Dr. J. D. Bury of the Saskatoon clinic.

"There is still a very small number of doctors who would rather walk up three flights of stairs than go in an elevator with us. There are a few who treat us with cold formality. But most doctors treat us like they would any other doctor."

There now are 13 clinics with a total of 18 doctors. Three more plans to move into 12 more communities in coming months and there are also being recruited for new clinics and for expansion of existing ones.

The latest Saskatoon clinic there were 25,787 patient visits in 1964, 20 per cent more than in 1963. There are 10 doctors in the Saskatoon clinic and seven at one in Regina, where the number of visits quadrupled last year.

DOCTORS PAY RENT

The clinics are set up this way: A layman's co-operative raises money by borrowing from members and other sources, acquires space for doctors' offices, examination rooms, x-ray equipment and other facilities and purchases the necessary equipment. Doctors then pay rent to the co-op for use of the space and facilities.

The doctors work on a fee-for-service basis with their bills paid by the medical insurance plan.

The arrangement provides opportunities for consultation between doctors and laymen about what types of new facilities the clinics should have, the kinds of preventive health measures the clinics should promote, what should be emphasized in doctor-patient relations and similar matters.

Clinic organizers say this is important because they feel too little effort is being made in other types of medical practice to foster human, rather than technical, relationships between doctor and patient.

The rural general practitioner in the past knew his patients well as people, not just as case histories. Doctors are able to distinguish between flu and the side-effects of a young romance. Much of this personal relation-

About 1,600 families hold membership in the Saskatoon Community Health Services Association, the lay co-op that sets up the clinic in a series of former business and doctors' offices.

Members pay $5 a year to take part in annual meetings and other activities and receive any monthly health bulletin. Many more non-members than members come to the clinic as patients, however.

"We get a lot of university people here because, I think, they are generally pretty well oriented toward this sort of idea," Mr. Kalmakoff says. "We probably get more than our share of labor people but few of the chamber of commerce type of business people."

The close connection between the lay co-ops and doctors in community clinics has led to charges by the leadership of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons that the clinics allow lay control of medical practice — a violation of medical ethics.

The college counter that the relationship is that of a landlord and tenant.

The college has also accused the clinics of advertising and soliciting patients—also violations of medical ethics. These charges have been denied by the clinics.

A provincial royal commission found that established doctors in some areas were using the college's violations as grounds for keeping clinic doctors out of hospitals. A special appeal board was recommended to handle such cases and all have been dealt with.

Dr. Road says the charges of advertising are effectively stifling any discussion of the relative benefits to doctor and patient of community clinics and traditional group practice.

"It's defining ethics as the status quo.

"But we go along more and more doctors are becoming interested in what we are trying to do here."

Guard Dogs Road Hogs Owner Says

DORCHESTER, N.B. (CP) — A West Coast dog breeder who has supplied guard dogs to the federal penitentiary service since they were introduced three years ago says the German shepherds are road hogs when on duty.

Harold McCullough, owner of North American Guard Dogs and Kennelling Services of Port Coquitlam, B.C., says the dogs demand that a prisoner stop immediately their paths cross. And, he says, there's a good reason for this training.

"The day the inmate and the dog meet, the inmate is in the wrong place."

Dorchester is the site of the last federal maximum security institution to adopt guard dogs.

They will always be under leash or otherwise in control, McCullough said. There was "no animosity on the part of the inmates toward the dogs."

After two years in British Columbia, the prisoners made and presented a full-size fire hydrant for the dogs.

Fifty guards are being trained to handle the shepherds here for night patrols in the prison yard and surrounding area. They also are hopeful in preventing escape and intrusion attempts, as well as in searches for contraband.

The handler says the dogs obey English- or French-language verbal commands, as well as silent instructions. They are retired when eight or nine years old.

Usually retired dogs joined retired police and penitentiary men in relaxing for the remainder of their lives. There now is a list of 50 persons waiting for retired dogs.

Smokers' Dial Innovated by Toronto Church

By DAVE MILLER

TORONTO (CP)—Instead of picking up a cigarette, pick up the telephone and dial 633-6464 in Toronto.

The line probably will be busy.

But if and when you get through, a recorded voice will say: "That is Smokers' Dial No. 1. There are three physical habits which can definitely weaken your willpower — overeating, exhaustion and alcohol."

The message will continue for 90 seconds and provide the listener with various methods to strengthen willpower and to stop smoking.

Smokers' Dial is an organization formed and financed by the Seventh - Day Adventists Church and dedicated to helping persons trying to break themselves of smoking.

The scheme originated in 1963 with a group - therapy plan called The Five-Day Plan to Quit Smoking.

By the end of last March, organizers decided that some persons rejected the idea of a group plan. They decided to install a trial Smokers' Dial in Saskatoon and let people receive the plan in 90 - second recordings.

The first day the dial plan was in operation the exchange was handled more than 7,000 calls.

Since then Smokers' Dials have been established in Toronto, Calgary and Oshawa, Ont. Adventist organizers were so overwhelmed with the success of their plan they decided to set up the system in every major Canadian city by the end of 1965.

CAUGHT ON FAST

Rev. H. Ward Hill of Toronto's suburban Willowdale Adventist Church said: "We have received so many calls, the [illegible] cannot call [illegible] them."

The system was established April 7 in Toronto and the Adventists feel the secret to its success is "the complete informality" of the recorded voice and the non-personal involvement of the listener.

The program originated in the United States and became so popular a Chicago woman telegraphed money to her daughter in Mexico so the latter could phone the Chicago Smokers' Dial and receive assistance.

The Adventists originally used a recorded message which told listeners to phone another number if they wanted to receive individual help.

Mr. Hill said such messages were discontinued in Toronto because many persons misinterpreted the idea. One Toronto woman was shocked when the line answered.

"I thought you were a record," she said.

Mr. Hill said he feels many thousands of people have received personal assistance from the service.

"When we have personal contact with the callers, we find them responsive and grateful for the service provided."

So, if you [illegible] try to kick the habit, phone Smokers' Dial—but don't be surprised if the line is busy.

Saskatchewan Agency Searching for New Methods To Give Young Better Life

By DOUG DULMAGE

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan has a new government youth agency assigned to finding ways of making a better life for young people.

It has a rough idea of what it wants to do but it may be a year or more before the program takes shape. It has been granted $50,000 this year.

"We're starting from scratch," says Cy P. McDonald, 37-year-old Liberal member of the legislature who is responsible for the health department agency.

"We have no preconceived ideas of either existing or new programs. We're starting right now to set up aims, objectives and a program."

Mr. McDonald is a professor at Notre Dame College in Wilcox and coaches the football and hockey teams in his spare time.

Executive director of the agency is Dr. Howard Nixon, former head of the physical education department at the University of Saskatchewan.

"Our first task will be research," says Dr. Nixon. "We will need to analyze and evaluate the total present program offerings.

"In Saskatchewan, there are many well-run private as well as government services for the young people. However, there are several localities in the province where certain programs, for various reasons, are not as effective as they might be.

"If gaps are found to exist in any aspect of youth programming, the cause is to be determined. Simultaneously, the needs and desires of youth in both urban and rural Saskatchewan will be sought out and determined."

MANY LEAVE PROVENCE

Health Minister D. G. Stewart says one objective of the agency will be to provide employment opportunities to keep the young people of the province here after graduation. He says Saskatchewan's low rate of population growth is a direct result of failure to keep young people from leaving.

Dr. Nixon says that is some cases programs probably will need nothing more than encouragement. In others, programs might need to be inaugurated and guided in order to fill existing need.

Mr. McDonald says the aim is to give Saskatchewan youth opportunities to participate in drama, art, music, sports and games under the best possible conditions. This would require leadership, facilities and the stimulus to get young people to take part.

"We don't want to foist any program on young people. We hope to gain from the ideas and experience of other organizations. . . . It is our hope to cooperate and work with voluntary organizations and not to interfere with their programs."

So far, he says, the agency may not only help in co-ordinating existing programs but also in financing such programs through grants, scholarships and other means.

He says the agency also may look into school drop - outs, juvenile delinquency and other youth problems.

Slow Pace Mars 'Caesar' As Presented at Stratford

By ROBERT TANNER

STRATFORD — In contrast to the two histories, one of which at least was by no means Shakespeare's greatest play, the Stratford Festival for its third night offered one of the Bard's acknowledged masterpieces, "Julius Caesar." It would be pleasant to be able to report that the performance was equally a masterpiece. But unfortunately the lethargic spirit which marred the first two productions seemed to spread to this play as well, and the slow pace of the first half lost not only much of the poetry of the words, but the interest of the audience as well. The sudden tumults of the crowd scenes only served by contrast, to emphasize the slowness of the intervening speeches, and the effect on the overall effect was deliberately planned by Director Douglas Campbell to point up the weight and tragedy of the action, but for this reviewer at least the result was not successful, with even the murder of Caesar becoming a study in slow motion.

Within the limitations set by the style of production, however, there were a number of excellent performances, such as that of William Hutt as Brutus; who, after a rather shaky start, built the character up to a tremendous climax in his quarrel scene with Cassius. This latter role was ably played by Peter Donat with a restless energy that marked him as the real mainspring of the conspiracy. Kate Reid, is two short scenes as Brutus' wife, Portia, made a lasting impression with her portrayal of gradually increasing anxiety that inevitably led to the breakdown and suicide reported later in the play. This is certainly but "ladies' year" at Stratford, for the only other female role was that of Calpurnia, Caesar's wife, a role so short that it gave Frances Hyland no scope for her considerable talent.

POOR ANTONY

The part of Mark Antony is of course, one of considerable importance to the play and here it is rather doubtful if Bruno Gerussi was the best choice. It is true that his acting fitted in well with the director's highly specialized interpretation of the play but his delivery seemed too waspish for the sophisticated playboy he was supposed to be, and became considerably more credible in the military scenes.

Joseph Shaw's Caesar was perhaps too self-satisfied and smug, though it must be admitted that much of this was attributed to the words he is given to speak. Perhaps Shakespeare wanted to make certain that no one really regretted his death.

The crowd scenes, which can be an effective part of a production of "Julius Caesar," were again stylized and suffered considerably from the fact that all the members were short, and scarcely any of them seemed over 25, which tended to rob the scenes of their realism. In addition, the constant, tedious movement was distracting.

The costumes, which were designed by Leslie Hurry (of considerable renown in the English theatre), were essentially historical in effect, although, as were the fights, staged by Patrick Crean, who has had a long career in films, not only arranging the fights in all three plays, but taking part in them as well.

With the three Shakespeare plays safely launched, the festival is now looking forward to the opening on July 2nd, of the North American premiere of the Well-Breed Opera. "The Rise and Fall of the City of Mahagonny." This will be followed on July 9th by the revival of last year's production of "The Marriage of Figaro," which was the distinction of being sold out for all performances. The festival concerts start on July 11th.

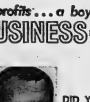
Why Some Boys Are More Likely to Succeed



The ability to handle money and to keep accurate records is essential in any endeavor. Thrift often pays off handsomely, too.

Learning about money matters early in life is an important benefit any young man receives from a newspaper route. For he must collect from his customers every week or every month. He must keep books and account for every penny he takes in. And he's encouraged to save regularly a part of his profits.

Small wonder that so many of America's men of achievement once were newspaperboys.

a boy profits . . . a boy learns from his BUSINESS in a BAG

DID YOU KNOW?

Ed Sullivan was a newspaperboy. The journalist and television personality is one of many prominent Americans who've been named to the "Newspaperboy Hall of Fame."

Minister Pays Tribute To Rural People for Financing Cheese Factory

CHEESE CO-OPERATIVE PRESIDENT Percy Ray and Mrs. Ray chat with Ontario Agricultural Minister Hon. W. A. Stewart (right) following official opening of new Maple Leaf Cheese Co-Operative factory.

Tribute to rural people willing to do something by themselves without waiting for government assistance, was paid yesterday by Hon. W. A. Stewart, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, as he officially opened the new Maple Leaf Cheese Co-Operative cheese factory north of Latta.

"It's good to know that farm people can do things by themselves," Mr Stewart told a large gathering of farm people attending opening ceremonies for the new cheese factory.

Mr. Stewart was referring to the fact that cheese factory patrons were bearing the cost of the new plan by themselves without the 50 per cent federal grant applicable when two or more factories amalgamate to construct a new building.

Without amalgamation the Maple Leaf plant was eligible only for the federal government grant on cold room, curing room, and refrigeration equipment. The balance of the factory's cost is being paid by loan financing.

Construction of the new cheese plant was truly a co-operative effort, Mr. Stewart said.

PAYS INDUSTRY TRIBUTE

Mr. Stewart also paid tribute to the cheese industry as a whole in Hastings, the county which he said was the home of the best all Canada.

In paying the tribute he recalled a visit to the United Kingdom when British buyers referred to B and B cheese.

"I asked what on earth B and B cheese was and was told that it meant Belleville and Brockville cheese, indicative of fine quality cheese."

Mr. Stewart also commended Ontario cheese producers for their action in stabilizing their own dairy industry but said this actually should be the responsibility of the federal government.

The agricultural minister referred briefly to the prolonged drought now seriously affecting spring crops throughout Eastern Ontario but particularly in Prince Edward and Renfrew counties.

RAIN IS NEEDED

"We are aware of the situation but there is little that can be done except hope for rain," he said.

Mr. Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East, introduced the guest speaker. In doing so he expressed regret that W. K. Sandercock, Hastings West MLA was unable to be present due to illness. Appreciation was expressed by cheese factory director Roger Robson.

Provincial dairy director Jack Bain acted as chairman for the speech making program which saw congratulatory remarks on the new cheese plant from a number of speakers.

Among those heard were Cheese Co-Operative president Percy Ray; Hector C. Arnold, chairman of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association Marketing Board; Hastings county cheese producers' president George Woods; county warden Fred Beckett; Thurlow reeve Clayton Hall and Belleville mayor, Jack Ellis.

The new Maple Leaf cheese factory, built by Rawdon township contractor Wilfred Spencer, replaces the former Zion cheese factory, which Mr. Bain said had made an enviable record since it was built prior to the turn of the century.

Mr. Ray said the new plant would have a vat capacity of 64,000 pounds of milk daily or about double the present volume received.

The old Zion plant was built in 1867 at a cost of slightly more than $2,000.

Cheese co-operative directors backed Mr. Spencer as president, Kenneth Thompson, vice-president, Lea Ketchenon sec.-treas., Donald Sills, Gerald Tummon, Harold Rey, Roger Robson and Ross Ketchenon. Delbert Brown is the cheesemaker.

Following the official ribbon cutting by 1964 Hastings county dairy princess Linda Gunning, the wives of the cheese factory directors served lunch.

Evidence Shows Directors of FAME Warned

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—Directors of Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd. were aware as early as 1959 of a report that cautioned against co-operatives entering the meat-processing field, a royal commission was told Wednesday.

Commission Counsel M. A. Craig of Owen Sound produced a report by David Monkman, now a professor at Queen's University, which was presented to the Ontario Hog Producers Co-operative in April, 1959.

Dr. Monkman, then a professor of marketing in Philadelphia, advised the hog producers there were serious drawbacks in entering the processing phase of meat packing.

"One cannot shrug off past co-operative failures in this area . . . ." his report said.

Some of the directors who guided the farmers co-operative into the purchase of a Burlington meat packing plant last summer, which cost the co-operative a $1,500,000 down payment, were officials in the hog producers group. One of these was founding president Charles W. McInnis of Iroquois, Ont.

Mr. Justice Campbell Grant, heading the inquiry ordered by Premier Robarts, asked Archie Service of Milton, the co-operative's building committee chairman, if the co-operative had jumped into the deal to buy the Burlington plant in desperation because the co-operative had achieved little since inception.

"I wouldn't say in desperation," replied Mr. Service. "We (the committee) were all anxious to make some progress one step forward in the F.A.M.E."

DIVORCE RATE RISES

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's divorce rate—the number of divorces per 100,000 of population—took another sharp upward swing last year, the Bureau of statistics reported Wednesday. The number of divorces granted reached a record 8,538. This worked out to 44.7 per 100,000 of population. The rate has been rising steadily since 1961 when it stood at 36.9, the lowest since 1944.

Craftsman Says Making Violins Unprofitable

SHAKESPEARE, Ont. (CP)—Anyone trying to make a living manufacturing violins in Canada "would starve to death," says James Leslie Irwin, 75, who has been making them for more than 25 years.

But because it's just a hobby he's still eating, and he likes the work.

"A man who takes the time to turn out the best just can't compete with the cheaper outfits now coming in from China," he says. "Those Chinese outfits, including the case, sell for less than I pay for the wood."

Mr. Irwin served an apprenticeship in blacksmithing and carpentry for the carriage-making trade in Lucknow, Ont., and later worked on construction jobs.

Since his retirement he can usually be found in the workshop behind his Shakespeare home, seven miles east of Stratford, amid an orderly litter of violin parts, special wood and tools.

Manufacturing a violin requires more than just shaping wood to a pattern, he said. Two instruments made from the same wood by the same man can produce different tones.

A player accustomed to one violin may not be able to play as well on another instrument, even a better one. Mr. Irwin recalled a visitor who brought him a $9,000 violin—"that's what he said he paid for it"—who was unable to "get what he wanted from it."

The man discovered he could play better with one of Mr. Irwin's violins. "But he didn't leave the $9,000 instrument lying around."

Mr. Irwin said the best violin wood is imported from Europe—maple for the back, sides and neck, and spruce for the top.

He said he has repaired hundreds of violins "but I've never seen a genuine Stradivarius." There are a lot of fake antiques.

Mr. Irwin, who once played for dances, said the advent of the guitar and jazz have ousted the violin. He still visits local fiddlers' contests but does not compete.

The "old timers" are all young fellows now, he said.

And he has never tried his hand at making a bow—"that's a field for other experts."

RECORD EXPECTED

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canadians are expected to set a world record in turkey consumption this year, a University of Guelph professor said Wednesday. Prof. J. R. Cavers told an Ontario Poultry Council meeting Canada's turkey consumption should reach close to nine pounds a person in 1965. Last year it was a record 8.7 pounds.

Major and Mrs. Bernard Barnet of Belleville have been promoted to the rank of Brigadier, effective immediately. Word of the promotion was received this week at the Salvation Army Citadel.

Commonwealth Divided Over Peace Mission

LONDON (CP) — The Commonwealth split wide open today over the composition of the British-inspired summit peace mission to Viet Nam and doubts were raised whether the unprecedented mission would ever get off the ground.

Two East African members of the 21-member Commonwealth — Tanzania and Kenya — publicly declared their opposition to the mission in its present form, while others, including some Asian leaders, expressed reservations in private.

Less than 24 hours after the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference had announced this major peace bid, the whole moral authority of the mission seemed likely to be undermined.

Already one of the five Commonwealth leaders asked to serve on the mission—which plans to visit Peking, Moscow, Hanoi, Saigon and Washington —has dropped out.

Ceylon's Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake announced he will not be able to participate because of pressures of work.

This itself could end the important summit character of the mission, to be led by British Prime Minister Wilson.

Officials said Senanayake would either have to be replaced by a junior minister from Ceylon or a new search would have to begin for another Asian leader to join the mission.

RUINS PURPOSE

The other three Asian Commonwealth nations—India, Pakistan and Malaysia—are unlikely to take part in the mission for various reasons, and this would deprive it of its deliberately-planned regional flavor.

Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere, the first leader to come out openly against the plan, declared in a radio interview today he has objected to the mission because it would put China on the spot.

"The Commonwealth, as a Commonwealth group, should not appear to be backing Mr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his cabinet meet today to review diplomatic proposals for ending the war in Viet Nam and, to quote Johnson, discuss "certain other hopes for peace that we are evaluating and considering."

Certain to figure in the discussion was a new move by British Commonwealth prime ministers to establish a five-member peace-seeking mission that will seek talks with governments concerned.

Johnson told a 23 - minute press conference Thursday that he welcomed this initiative.

"We are very happy they have made this suggestion," he said. "We have talked to them, communicated with them about it and they will have our full co-operation."

But Johnson volunteered at another point that someone who made contact with top officials in North Viet Nam in behalf of the United States reported as recently as June 7 "they are not now interested in any negotiation of any kind." Johnson said he got a similar report from the same source, not identified, Feb. 15.

The president, who did not go into detail on the peace ideas placed on the cabinet agenda, made it clear in response to a question that he does not favor negotiation with the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam. He said they represent no government.

HAS HIS MANDATE

Asked if he was thinking about asking Congress for a broader mandate to prosecute the Viet Nam war, Johnson said he has ample power as commander-in-chief and that a resolution Congress passed last August authorized "all necessary measures."

In one of the opening statements at the presidential talkfest—his second press conference to date — Johnson condemned recent violations of the ceasefire agreement in the Dominican Republic.

Canada Plots Diplomatic Blackmail Against Atomic Powers

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is pushing a treaty on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons that would leave the door ajar to future recruits to the nuclear club.

The Canada is a deliberate one, designed on one hand to meet the concern of none-nuclear countries and, on the other, to practise a little diplomatic blackmail on the current atomic powers.

The broad outline of a Canadian draft treaty on nuclear non-dissemination and the thinking behind it were given Thursday to the Commons external affairs committee by External Affairs Minister Martin.

Basically, the treaty would involve a pledge by countries not now possessing "independent" nuclear power to limit any activity in the field to peaceful uses. In return, those that need it would be given a guarantee by the present members of the nuclear club of assistance in event of an atomic attack.

A slightly broader part of the proposal, which Mr. Martin admitted is open to revision, is the idea that the treaty be for "a limited duration." Officials suggested this term would mean something in the neighborhood of five years.

One purpose of this feature, as Mr. Martin put it, would be "to encourage the nuclear states to make tangible progress towards nuclear disarmament within that period lest the non-nuclear states change their mind."

In simpler language, the five present members of the nuclear club would be told: Here is an agreement that the club will not be expanded within the next five years. But you had better do something within that period to achieve nuclear disarmament or you are liable to risk a rash of new nuclear members.

On the other side of the coin, the time limit would help to meet the reluctance of some non-nuclear nations to commit themselves indefinitely to a non-nuclear course. This way they could pledge themselves to that policy for five years while still retaining the right of independent action, should the need arise, beyond that period.

Mr. Martin told the committee Thursday there is a growing reluctance on the part of countries — many cited as underdeveloped — to renounce the possibility of some day having an independent nuclear military capability.

"I would not overlook the recent demonstration of the fruit of the Communist Chinese military nuclear program as a factor in influencing the thought of a number of nations in that respect," the minister said.

Officials said Mr. Martin was referring primarily to India, whose Prime Minister Shastri went on Monday during his recent visit here there than to say his country has no present plans to acquire nuclear weapons.

Israel and the United Arab Republic were said to be two other countries that might be attracted by the time limit.

Another highlight of the Canadian draft treaty, which Mr. Martin said still faces "considerable difficulties," is the government's insistence that nondissemination does not cover the spread of nuclear arms under "divided control" such as Canada's warheads agreement with the United States.

Mr. Martin submitted before the committee that a 1961 United Nations resolution, on which the Canadian treaty is based, drew no such distinction.

But he insisted it was a fair one to draw in the point where he accepted a suggestion by Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton-Strathcona) that Canada would not quarrel with Russia providing East Germany with nuclear arms under the arrangements as cover the Canadian-American exchange.

Fly From Guam; Two In Collision Over China Sea

SAIGON (AP) — Scores of U.S. planes—including 27 B-52 heavy bombers making their debut in combat — rained tons of bombs, napalm and rockets into three square miles of Viet Cong jungle today. Ground troops that searched the area found no enemy casualties from the big air attack, military spokesmen said.

One of the giant, eight-engined, 28,000,000 bombers were lost in a collision over the South China Sea. An amphibious rescue plane made a perilous landing in 13-foot seas to rescue the survivors and find and bury the body of a fifth flyer, an air force spokesman in Manila reported.

Seven other airmen were missing, and the rescue plane was taking on the stormy sea a huge freighter, but the plane's five crew members in it were believed in safety in navy ships.

South Vietnamese ground units clashed with an estimated 30 Viet Cong in the bombed area, killing one guerrilla and wounding 10 others. The troops also destroyed about 8,000 pounds of rice, but no other major results were reported.

The object of the mission was to catch a big concentration of Viet Cong believed to be in the jungle. Some reports said 18 B-52s were accompanied by Chinese advisers.

The B-52 jets of the Strategic Air Command flew 2,206 miles from Guam to make their first strike in any combat. They unload high explosives — 1,000 ½ pound and 750-pound bombs on

Welfare Services Attacked

TORONTO (CP)—A reorganization of welfare services in the province was suggested by opposition members in the Ontario legislature Thursday.

Stephen Lewis (NDP — Scarborough West) described the department of welfare as a crumbling mosaic characterized by chaos and a large measure of futility.

Horace Hackett (L — Ottawa East) proposed a royal commission to review the government's attitude towards public assistance.

The attack by the opposition critics came as Welfare Minister Louis Cecile asked approval of $185,200,000 estimated expenditures by his department during 1965-66.

Mr. Lewis urged an all-embracing general social assistance act based on need to replace welfare programs for which federal and provincial governments share costs.

Mr. Hackett said the government still regards persons on welfare as second-class citizens

Many Farmers Face Ruin Unless Rain Comes Quickly

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Many Ontario farmers face ruin unless heavy rains ease a drought situation which has dried up vast areas of once-productive farm land in southern Ontario and the Ottawa Valley.

Fruit, vegetable and cereal grain crops are threatened, a survey of Pasturage and the early hay crop is already ruined and the effects are beginning to lack of feed for cattle. Some farmers have put their herds on the market, fearing fodder won't last through the summer.

High prices for garden crops, fruit and meat are likely unless soaking rains renew the underground water tables.

Spotty showers have done little to relieve conditions which in some areas go back to last summer.

Elsewhere in Canada, conditions were mainly near normal except for dry conditions on the Atlantic coast of Nova Scotia, relieved by heavy rains last week, and in Saskatchewan, where a wet, cold spring has delayed seeding. In far northern Alberta continual rain caused Lesser Slave Lake to rise three feet, forcing 50 residents from their homes.

Gordon Attacked In House

By STUART LAKE

OTTAWA (CP) — Not one of the newspapers and periodicals area coded abruptly in the Commons Thursday when MPs voted approval of income tax changes proposed in a government interim budget.

Approval came after Conservative frank-benchers condemned what they could under parliamentary rules to calling Finance Minister Gordon a liar and demanding that he resign.

More heated debate can be expected when the resolutions stemming from Mr. Gordon's April 26 budget speech, come before the House in legislation form.

Opposition parties labored to words in striking at the government's proposals to remove the tax exemption for company spent on advertising in foreign-owned news papers and periodicals, and to classify Time and Reader's Digest magazines as Canadian publications.

Other resolutions dealing with changes in Canadian customs were dealt with at a fast pace and only tariff changes proposed by Mr. Gordon in his budget had not been approved when the House adjourned.

It will be the first item of Commons business today to be followed by a resolution setting up a pensionitores committee.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and former defence minister Gordon Churchill hit the

Titan Rocket Success On Its Maiden Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A triple-barrelled Titan 3-C — the mightiest rocket ever fired — scored a resounding success on its maiden test flight today and gave the United States a great boost toward developing a military space capability.

The huge rocket drilled into orbit a 22,000-pound dummy satellite that could be the forerunner of manned and unmanned military machines that would patrol and perhaps control outer space.

The Titan 3-C, actually three rockets lined up in single file, thundered away from its Cape Kennedy launching pad on schedule with a tremendous rush of flame, smoke and power.

Two 85-foot-tall solid fuel secondary rockets ignited trails of fire and generated total booster thrust of 2,650,000 pounds to propel the rocket into the atmosphere. Two minutes after liftoff, at an altitude of about 24 miles, a centre liquid-fuel engine flanked by the solids ignited and the solids jettisoned and tumbled into the Atlantic.

The central chamber was a 127-foot-tall Titan 1/A rocket. All three of its stages fired with precision to hurl the chunk-of-

Medical Men to Focus Attention On Various Insurance Schemes

HALIFAX (CP)—After being virtually ignored for two days in favor of scientific matters, medical care insurance again becomes the major topic today for the Canadian Medical Association.

The association ends its five-day annual meeting today with a symposium on the report of the Hall royal commission on health and another symposium on various provincial medical insurance programs.

Discussions on the Hall report, which recommended a compulsory tax-supported medical care scheme for the country, will be from three points of view.

Dr. J. M. Beveridge, president of Acadia University of Wolfville, N.S., will give a citizen's view; Dr. G. E. Wedd, dean of Toronto's physician's and R. B. MacPherson of Montreal an economist's.

Earlier in the week, the association put on record a policy statement that opposed any compulsory, tax-supported medical care plan.

Dr. Walter G. Penfield of Montreal said Thursday Canada would loose its good standard of physicians under any universal, tax-supported medical care plan.

"The best young men won't go into medicine if they are going to become paid civil servants," the distinguished neurosurgeon said in an interview.

He was here to accept the Frederick Newton Gisborne Starr Award from the COA.

Under a tax-supported compulsory plan the personal relationship between doctor and patient would disappear, he said.

During Thursday's sessions, doctors heard a series of scientific papers, including one by Dr. Henry Schuknecht of Boston who described new methods of treating deafness.

Recent success has been largely the result of improved equipment, he said. Microscopes used by a surgeon during the operation, and new high-speed bone drills, had made possible new operations. It had also been possible to eliminate many dangers of such operations.

Ten Frenchwomen Will Spend Two Weeks Deep in Cave

TOULOUSE, France (Reuter)—Ten Frenchwomen will start two weeks of life deep in a cave south of here next week, in a medical experiment organized by a Paris doctor.

The group, chosen from dozens of volunteers who answered newspaper advertisements, will live a spartan life, sealed off from the world.

They will have only a two-way telephone to a eighboring cave, where doctors will keep a check on their progress.

Apart from the steady drip of water in the cave, the only sound they are likely to hear will be their own conversation.

The organizing doctor said that before and after their ordeal, the cave women will be examined by a team consisting of a psychiatrist, a psychologist, an opthalmologist, a dietitian and two biologists.

While the women sit in their cave some 90 miles north of this city in southern France, preparations will be going ahead to lower two men into a cave near Nice, on the French Riviera, for an endurance test of six months.

Scouting activities

On Friday June 6th at 7.30 p.m. the Pack and Troop of St. Michael's Third Belleville, were in session on the scouting grounds of the church for the "Going Up" ceremony for Gill Bagley, John Caldbeck, Stephen Douglas, Peter Fennell, Paul Harkey, Larry O'Neil, Willie Wright, Doug Jones and Chris Hatton. Two of the Cub boys were unable to be present. Also present were a number of parents and friends of the boys. A cheerful sky and a backdrop of trees in new foliage led to the color of the event.

The Pack and the Troop were formed in the traditional pack circle and troop horseshoe formations for the ceremony. Allelo, Gordon Power, Cub Leader Tim Wright and Scout Mackey Hamilton led the Leaping Lion badge to each boy Going Up, while Assistant Cubmaster Tom Hunting Scouter Connie took the boys up the four steps of the platform. Each boy was then shown off with a rousing three cheers. Scoutmaster Jim Hopper then presented the Leaping Lion to the Troop and Patrols. Following the Scout ceremonies the boys were treated to refreshments.

Together with the Cub Pack, the parents of the boys and the Group Committee with the New Scouts Good Scouting and trust that they will live up to the high ideals of the Boy Scouts.

Northern Electric Workers Reject Company's Offer Of 3-year Work Contract

Hourly rated employees of the Northern Electric Company at Belleville yesterday voted down the company offer for a new three-year contract which would have included pay increases and other fringe benefits.

The offer included increases of 33 cents per hour over a three-year period for tradesmen and 30 cents per hour over a three-year period for production employees.

The increases would have raised the maximum rates for skilled trades to $3.41 per hour and for production workers to $3.08 per hour in 1957.

In addition, the company offered other benefits for Saturday work for stationary engineers, four weeks' vacation after 25 years service, an additional statutory holiday, part payment of medical insurance premiums, the creation of punching a time clock at quitting time and the granting of leaves-of-absence for maternity.

The terms of the proposed new agreement resulted from bargaining by the Association executive with the company. One of the reasons for rejection by the membership will now need to be ratified by the C.I.O. before contract discussion between the two parties will be holpful. The alternative is to call upon the services of the conciliation officer who was appointed some time ago by the Minister of Labor.

Association spokesman John A. Batchelor said today that one of the main reasons for Northern employees rejecting the offered contract was the three-year term. He said that employees favor a two-year contract term.

Mayor Tells Planning Board Council Shocked by Report

Belleville's planning director shocked City Council during its session with Thurlow Township and Sidney and Tabernacle Planning Board on June 7th. P. J. Searle's report of the city's population projection and the dilapidated state of some of its houses came as a surprise to Mayor Ellis told members of the Planning Board at their regular meeting Thursday night.

As a result, the Planning Board decided to make three recommendations to Council. It will ask Council to approve the hiring of a draughtsman and an assistant planner, urge the preparation of surveys and studies for use in drawing up a general plan, and suggest that developers of new buildings on Front Street make room for parking space on their properties.

The Board made its recommendations on downtown parking after considering a report prepared by city manager J. R. Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds' report said getting downtown still a problem with Belleville and difficult for Front Street property owners to renovate or rebuild their buildings. The report suggested that owners be allowed to pay the city's parking charge of $1,500 for every parking space required under zoning by-laws. In turn, the parking charges would be put aside as a reserve fund to get sites for off-street parking. Since this area will be used by the general public, developers will be charged only 60 per cent of the $3, 100 needed to construct each parking space on a city-owned lot.

The Board's suggested changes in downtown parking by-laws apply to properties on both sides of Front Street but between the Upper Bridge and Dundas Street. The Sets property on Bridge Street East will not be affected by the proposed ruling.

PLAN TAKES TIME

Mayor Ellis said preparation of an official plan for the city of Belleville would take between two and three years. He originally stated in a letter to view with The Ontario Intelligencer. By the end of the year the city will have a draft plan. The city limits will be under subdivisional control. Detailed studies are needed before the built-up part of the city can be put under a registered plan of subdivision. Along with the increased work, the Planning Board decided to ask Council to add a draughtsman and another professional planner to its staff.

During discussion on the official plan, chairman Dr. J. S. Barlow said: "Lack of a plan has led to haphazard building control on the older parts of the city but to the difficulties of the present medical clinic in the East Dundas and Dufferin Street area."

M. P. Hepgood expressed up the Board's sense of urgency when he said, "We need a crash program for the official plan before we outgrow it."

AMEU Holds Conference In City

The Sea Valley Motor Inn was hosting the District 14th Annual Conference of the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities (Ontario) today at which those activities will be wrapped up today. Delegates registered Tuesday and stayed for the two - day session.

Mr. C. C. The delegates heard the office and managerial types as well as business administrators. Mr. Plooks said.

Yesterday's deliberations included talks on labor relations and "power power, this being the problem of supplying electricity at one cost per kilowatt hour to all the citizens. Also today's agenda along with new developments is discussion concerning problems. This afternoon a touch of James Bond will be added to the conference when Mr. Ted Rogers of Rogers Electronics gives a demonstration of Goldfinger's special weapon, Laser light. Presentation of awards to past chairmen will bring this year's meeting to a successful conclusion.

Four Doctors Are Absolved In Tot's Death

HAMILTON (CP) — A coroner's jury has absolved four doctors at St. Joseph's Hospital of any blame in the May 12 death of three-year-old Jane Marie Kenny.

The girl, treated for a head injury, died of a ruptured spleen almost six hours after being hit by a car.

Dr. G. A. Lane, the hospital's chief of surgery, testified Thursday that a ruptured spleen is difficult to diagnose and was marked by no unusual symptoms in this case.

The jury ruled that no blame could be attached to the driver of the car. The child unwittingly ran from the curb into the path of the car, the hearing was told.

Rev. C. W. Coleman of Holloway Street United Church conducted the funeral of Mrs. Beatrice May Parks yesterday from the John R. Bush Funeral Home.

Bearers were: Don Wright, LeMoyne Bailey, Ivor Wilson, Harold Wright, Embury Hough and Elmer Wilson.

Interment was in Victoria cemetery.

MRS. CHARLES CHAMPAIGN

The funeral for Mrs. Henrietta Champaign of Roslin was held Friday morning. Rt. Rev. J. P. Sullivan celebrated the Mass of Requiem in St. Mary's and the graveside prayers at St. James' cemetery.

The bearers were Fred Westover, Roy Thrasher, Glen Meyers, William Lynch, Richard Bird and Stephen Gervin.

Lightning Hits Hydro Breaker, Cuts Off Power

Residents in the Charles and Pine Street areas were without power for a little more than an hour and a half starting at a bolt of lightning opened up a breaker at the No. 2 hydro sub-station on Bell Street.

The opened breaker cut power to the area serving the Charles Street area, a city public utilities official stated.

The reason for the delay in restoring power was that hydro crewmen patrolled the blacked out area before they took the step because of trouble, thinking that a limb or tree might have fallen across the line.

But no downed tree was found and it was decided a bolt of lightning had struck the line causing the power shut-off.

Hog Prices At Highest In Eight Years

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian hog prices are at their highest in the last eight years. Further increases are likely.

Prices have been rising steadily since May 6, when 100 pounds of dressed weight—dead or frozen hogs sold at $28.05 to $29.20. The same weight sold at $25.50 here Thursday.

field was heard to remark: "Seven years without rain will have to keep us this year."

Strawberry plants need moisture.

"If rain fails to appear we will take a heavy loss in our strawberry crop," he said a spokesman for Watson Fruit Farmers in the Forest district south of Sarnia.

Some sections are harder hit than others. Rain fell briefly but tried drought conditions have affected crops for the past two years. By comparison, a little above average, has kept the forest fire hazard low.

MARRIAGES

But Kemptville, Pembroke and Tweed, all in dried - out eastern Ontario, were reported high fire hazard areas. A blaze in Tweed Thursday by the provincial lands and forests department. Kemptville's fire hazard was said extreme.

The situation in eastern Ontario "has reached very serious proportions," said J. E. Cotter, Leeds County agricultural representative Thursday. "I don't think I can recall hay crops and pastures in such bad shape. The first hay crop is already ruined."

Unless the second hay yield is more productive, he said, farmers will have to approach the government for financial assistance.

Drought conditions in Lennox and Addington County have already altered beef prices. Yearling steers, which normally sells for five to six cents a head, went for an average of $20 at a Kingsmouth sale this week. Four quality cattle were blamed.

FEED CROPS TO CATTLE

Some farmers are reduced to feeding cereal crops such as oats to their cattle.

Pasture growth will be negligible this year in the Ottawa Valley, where there has been no worthwhile rain for a month and none in in sight. The drought is the worst in 75 years, weather records at Ottawa show.

Toronto area residents have had only one-quarter of an inch of rain since May 16. Hallon County farmers say they have lost about 20 per cent of their crops already in what is believed to be the severest drought in memory.

Fields that normally would be carpeted with thick sheets of green grain are marred with barren splotches of baked ground. Half the oats, barley and corn, in the ground since about the second week of May, have not germinated.

WORST YEAR YET

"I've never seen a year where I planned less stuff and it just lay there," said Bentil Lawrence, chairman of the Halton Federation of Agriculture.

Throughout western Ontario, farmers expressed a unity about their crops. Winds blew dried soil dust-like away from the roots of shrivelling plants.

In the Otterville and Norwich area the problem was aggravated by a thick infestation of which denuded plants of leaves. Farmers found dry, porous soil conditions hindered their attack on the worms with insecticides. The worms live underground and feed on leaves at night.

Storm Sewers, Roads, Curbs Await Turn Says Manager

Desirable and all as paved roads, curbs and storm sewers may be, they are considered as priority items and must await their turn after schools, hospitals, sanitary sewers and watermains.

This is the answer which city hall is giving to many petitioners for hard surface roads and curbs in the newer sections of the city.

That also is the view taken by the Ontario Municipal Board which has the final say in approving requests for capital expenditures.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said today that at least seven or eight requests for paved roads are awaiting their priority turn at city hall.

Five or six of the requests are from the newer east end section of the city and two from the west end.

WORK SCHEDULED

Mr. Reynolds said the work requested by the above petitioners was actually scheduled in the city's capital works program for 1968 or 1969.

In the meantime allowable capital works funds will go for higher priority items such as schools, the addition to Belleville General Hospital and other items.

"The Ontario Municipal Board takes the view that while paved roads and curbs are desirable they must not be given priority over more necessary items," Mr. Reynolds said.

Paul Tardiff Might Lose in Riding Shuffle

OTTAWA (CP)—The French-speaking members of Parliament for eastern Ontario don't object to getting elected by an English - speaking majority in ridings shuffled by redistribution. They just don't think it can be done.

"Actually only two ridings will remain in eastern Ontario where French - Canadians will have a good chance of getting elected," Lucien Lamoureux, member of Stormont and Deputy Speaker in the Commons, said in an interview.

They would be Glengarry-Prescott and Ottawa East. Stormont becomes Stormont - Dundas.

"It's a fact," said Paul Tardiff, member for doomed Russell. "We will lose a French-Canadian representative in the Ottawa region in the next election."

It might be him.

RUSSELL GONE

Russell will be swallowed up by Ottawa East, now held by Jean T. Richard, and Ottawa-Carleton, a new riding.

Boyd Francis, Liberal member for Carleton, another riding to be erased by redistribution, and Mr. Tardiff will see large parts of their territory go into Ottawa-Carleton.

Mr. Francis regretted that Ottawa-Carleton will be "engulfed" despite the number of Russell voters.

French-Canadians might run in Ottawa-Carleton or Carleton Glenville, but it would be "infinitely more difficult" for them to get elected.

Mr. Tardiff said he hasn't decided what to do next time but he noted many of his voters will be in Ottawa East.

Mr. Francis also is undecided but noted he will be living in Ottawa West, now held by Transport Minister McIlraith, after redistribution.

Viateur Ethier, Liberal member for Glengarry - Prescott, said he is happy the redistribution was done by a fair and impartial committee.

Five French - Canadian and traditionally Liberal communities will be added to his riding by redistribution.

Montreal Girl Gets 5 Years For Statue of Liberty Plot

NEW YORK (CP)—Michelle Ducios of Montreal was given a five-year prison sentence Monday Thursday and three New York men received the maximum 10-year conditional terms for planning to blow up the Statue of Liberty and two other U.S. monuments.

Judge William Herlands imposed the sentences on the three men—Robert Collier, 28, Walter A. Bowe, 33, and Khaled Sayyed, 28, all strangers a couple of hours after Miss Ducios appeared separately before him for sentence.

Judge Herlands ordered that a complete study be made of the prisoners during a 90-day period and that they then be returned to court so that their sentences can be affirmed, reduced or suspended.

Heavy security precautions were in force when the three men appeared for sentence. They had been found guilty on Monday of conspiring to destroy United States property. Their trial began May 17.

Miss Ducios, 28, pleaded guilty May 13 to a charge of transporting illegally into the United States 30 sticks of dynamite. It was reported at that time that the conspiracy charges against her would be dropped. Miss Herlands made no reference to this charge when he passed sentence.

EXPRESSES REGRET

"Under the law I'd like to give you this opportunity to tell the court anything else you may wish to say," Judge Herlands told Miss Ducios as she stood before the bench. He indicated it was foremost in his mind to pass a "fair, just and lawful sentence."

"I wish to say I'm very sorry, your honor," Miss Ducios replied to the judge. "I'm at the mercy of the court."

Miss Ducios and the three men were arrested Feb. 16, the day after she brought by automobile 30 sticks of dynamite and three blasting caps from Montreal, to blow up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and Philadelphia's Liberty Bell.

PUC Sticks to Its Plans To Pare Its Capital Budget Despite Warning by Hydro

TRENTON — An engineer with the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario has expressed concern about the Trenton Public Utilities Commission's decision to cut capital spending. He recommended the PUC consider a rate increase when seeking financing for future capital work.

On the other hand the members of the local PUC intend to stand by their proposal to pare the 1965 capital budget nearly $60,000 and in doing so reduce the electric department staff by two men.

At a PUC meeting yesterday, chairman Clifford Baker recalled the events that prompted the commission to implement austerity measures. Action to tighten the purse strings was taken in advance of a period in which new sub - division development may taper off, he explained. The purpose was to turn savings back to the consumers without jeopardizing service, he said. An earlier capital spending program had provided a modern plant including a sub - station, the installation of some 20 transformers and miles of additional lines within the last three years, he said.

"Until there is an upsurge in new building the policy of keeping the line in step with what townspeople can afford will be followed," he asserted. The other commission members, commissioner Charles Hilton, and Mayor James MacDonald, and the PUC manager James Page, reiterated expressions of approval.

ENGINEER'S WARNING

The warning for the commission to understand that the smaller capital budget and slackening industrial activity could lead to an excessive increase in the operating accounts and a deterioration in customer relations was contained in a letter signed by K. D. Taylor, the consumer service and sales engineer in the H.E.&P.C.'s eastern section. In part it read: "We note that a reduction has been made from $207,286 to $138,362, and your electric department must staff will be reduced by two men to insure that the smaller capital budget will not create an abnormal increase in the operating accounts. We can only assume that the action taken will accomplish the results you intended and have entirely satisfactorily.

"We are concerned about the reduction in increased capital budget because we are firmly convinced that the primary duty of a local Commission in the electric department is to provide first class service at the most reasonable cost. In order to provide first class service, it is necessary to insure adequate capacity in, and good condition of, the station and line facilities. The deferment of necessary expenditures frequently results in a lower grade of service and customer dissatisfaction. In today's competitive market, such dissatisfaction may result in the eventual loss of valuable revenue and markets. From a cost point of view, the deferment of needed expenditures frequently results in added cost because of today's inflationary trends.

DEFENDS DEBENTURES

"We are also firmly convinced that proper expenditures should not be deferred, just to avoid the issuing of debentures in principle. Debenture financing for durable capital is a principle fully accepted for corporations and is an integral part of the corporation's planning. It, therefore, is only reasonable and proper that debenture financing by accepted by the utility which is only part of the corporation.

"A review of the particular financial history of your utility and estimates of future conditions indicates that a rate increase is needed to provide the most economical financing of future capital expenditures. The study made is based on the reasonably assured criteria that most abnormal or unusually large plant expenditures will be financed at least in part by debenture issues. Of the items deleted from your 1965 capital budget, the reduction in the replacement of inadequate services from 200 to 50 ensued on the understanding that this year and as a result of customer complaints, your staff has brought your help level back to review voltage supply conditions. The improvement in certain distribution facilities, including services, therefore, appears vital if customers in Trenton are to receive the first class service they deserve. Failure to provide such service can only be to the long term detriment of the Trenton PUC."

METER IN ERROR

In other business discussions the commission ruled on various items. PUC manager Page noted that some 32,000 had been saved by checking on a meter reading error in fuel purchases from Ontario Hydro. Faulty equipment was found to be responsible for the error. He confirmed that the Commission had been regarded as a favored creditor in a case against the estate of T. C. Rogers.

The members noted considerable saving would result from accepting the town's proposal to issue shorter term debentures to pay for $28,000 worth of street lighting rather than have the commission issue its own debentures of longer duration. They noted that the town to demolish or remove a boat house covering the PUC water main on a town-owned right of way at the end of Baptists St. Mr. Baker noted the structure is not be repaired while the house covers it, it was learned.

Owner Ron Forster's threat to use fire damages was discussed.

The commission accepted Commercial Printing's tender for stationary supplies; changed the date of the next commission meeting to July 22, due to holidays; and acknowledged the purchase of equipment for feeding carbon into the water system at the filtration plant (the additive reduces algae taste, evident in summer months). Discussion on salary adjustments for personnel was deferred until comparative examples are studied.

Press Freedom

This newspaper has always been opposed to any suggestion of government interference with the Press, with the right of the public to free access to the news of the day, and with the right of publishers of whatever political opinion and whatever nationality in any country to impart such news, information and opinion.

That is why, in common with most newspapers in this country The Intelligencer is opposed to the tax proposals before the House of Commons which would have the effect of restricting foreign ownership of Canadian newspapers. The proposals include provisions to eliminate as tax deductible expenses Canadian advertising spent in foreign-owned publications and are designed to help Canadian magazines meet foreign competition.

The premise that government knows what is best for the newspaper industry is alien to our way of thinking. The American journal, Editor and Publisher, has put it this way: "Once governments start dictating, or establishing by law, who may or may not own a newspaper or a magazine the lid is off the box, in our opinion. In Canada, for instance, what is to prevent the next step from legislation to insure that ownership is confined to white Protestant native-born Canadians, or in Quebec to native-born Catholics? In the United States, if the government can say a publisher cannot own two newspapers in the same community or in the same area, what is to prevent it eventually saying what kind of a publisher it is talking about?

Sean MacBride, Secretary General of the International Commission of World Jurists, speaking in London recently, quoted Article 19 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as proclaimed by the United Nations, which says: "Everyone has the right of freedom of opinion and expression. This right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media regardless of frontiers."

"In denying to all but a chosen few the right to publish," said Mr. MacBride, "we are giving but lip service to freedom of opinion."

If the government's plan seems on the surface a worthy one, in that it is designed to bolster Canadian publications at the expense of foreign ones that is not the point. The real issue is government interference. Once it is established that government can interfere in any way with the Press and other information media there is no knowing where such control will end.

A Curious Oversight

It is more than a little curious that Finance Minister Walter Gordon, in making revisions in the Bank Act, has permitted the 6% ceiling on interest rates to remain.

In so doing, the Finance Minister succeeds mainly in preventing the nation's chartered banks from lending money to credit-worthy borrowers when the degree of risk involved in a loan demands an interest rate in excess of 6%.

Under the Gordon banking philosophy, these borrowers are driven either to the commercial lenders or finance companies where far higher interest rates prevail. Or they are forced to do without credit at all.

It is hard to conceive how this state of affairs benefits either the borrowers or the country as a whole.

The Beatles

By any standards the Beatles—John, Paul, Ringo and George—are a remarkable quartette. The so-called Mersey, or Liverpool, sound which they originated has reverberated around the world, and the amazing response to this music has not been confined to any one section of society.

Some of their music sounds awful. On the other hand, much of it is clever, melodious and certainly unique. If those who claim not to enjoy the Beatles were to listen to the orchestral version of the Lennon-McCartney pieces, they might think differently.

From a purely mercenary point of view, the Beatles have earned Britain a vast sum in overseas currency. Why then should these young men not be worthy of the MBE decorations that have just been announced? In the controversy over the awards there has been a tendency more over to confuse awards made for war service with those made in civilian life.

Britain has become a more democratic society. Higher awards than those given the Beatles, including knighthoods, have gone in the past to athletes, jockeys and soccer players, as well as to people of varied other talents. What is wrong with recognizing talent of another sort—and of a kind enjoyed by so many?

The work will likely proceed at once. The Parks Board held a meeting with representative of the Westinghouse Electric Company and the Council last week. The council had the request in writing from the Board at Monday night's meeting, accompanied by a recommendation that the request of the Parks Board in regard to flood lighting of the ball park diamond be favorably considered, providing the Public Utilities Commission agreed in writing to finance the original cost and annual charges spread over a five-year period to be repaid by the Parks Board. This was charged against the Parks Board appropriations."

Vandalism Costly

Vancouver Sun

Vandalism now costs the United States an estimated half-a-billion dollars a year and there is no reason to believe Canada is much better off, writes Ian Cameron. It was not a private U.S. phone conversation which Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze reported to the White House confession on natural beauty. When he was mayor of Cleveland, said Mr. Celebrezze, he could have built 10 new swimming pools each year for what was paid to replace property destroyed by vandalism.

To Your Good Health

Several Possible Causes For Violent Dizziness

By JOSEPH G. WOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about labyrinthitis. At least one-third of my time I'm so dizzy and nauseated I can't do a thing but lie down with my eyes closed.

At times nausea and vomiting grip me so that when it is over even the top of my head is sore. P. W. R.

One must first make certain that the trouble is labyrinthitis, because many conditions can have similar consequences.

Labyrinthitis is an irritation of the inner structures of the ear — these structures having a good deal to do with your sense of balance. When your balance is thus upset the nausea is a natural result.

What irritates these inner ear structures? Infection, from bacteria or viruses; or toxic states, as from drugs, certain medications in large quantities, alcohol, tobacco, etc.

Another possibility is Menlere's disease, which likewise involves dizziness, along with ringing in the ears, and deafness as the classic and usual symptoms.

Meniere's disease, unlike labyrinthitis, is usually due to hemorrhage (bleeding) into its ear canals.

Still other possible (but less likely) causes of such violent dizziness can be a tumor of the auditory nerve, or neurological disorder at or beyond that point.

You did not mention how long you have had this trouble, and that information might very well be a valuable clue.

For labyrinthitis, treatment is aimed at subduing the underlying infection, of course, along with restriction of salt in the diet, and diuretics (pills to help insure water and reduce congestion in the critical area. Vertigo pills (medicine to relieve "vertigo" or dizziness) usually help.

If these fail, one must search for the other causes that I have mentioned.

Incidentally, ultra - sound therapy is used now for severe and protracted Meniere's disease.

To be more specific, if you have not seen an ear specialist, I suggest that you do so.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am interested in learning more about douching. — Mrs. A. L.

Douching is useful only if there is some purpose in applying heat or medication to that area. If you have any health problem, tell me what it is and I'll try to explain it and the treatment which applies to it.

Despite a considerable amount of folklore, the normal female doesn't need douching. There is no health aspect involved. The douche is useful medically for quite a few purposes, but is neither necessary nor helpful (and could at times even be harmful) for a healthy woman.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 18, 1965 . . .

The battle of Waterloo was fought 150 years ago today—in 1815 — and Napoleon's attempt to regain power was decisively defeated. After his escape from Elba, Napoleon marched north through France for 100 days, gathering men and arms. The Duke of Wellington, with a united allied army, met him on the Brussels road, knowing a Prussian army was approaching later in the day. The fighting lasted all day, until the weak Allied line advanced at dusk and the French disintegrated. French casualties were 40,000 out of 72,000 men.

1812 — United States declared war on the British Empire.

1953 — Egypt was proclaimed a republic under President Naguib.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—Sir John French addressed British forces on the centenary of Waterloo; the Austrian fleet attacked Fano, an Italian port on the Adriatic, while Italy captured the Austrian town of Plava.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — General de Gaulle appealed to the French armed forces to join him in resistance to Germany; the Canadian government asked for power to call up all men under 45 for home service; the U.S. Navy asked for an increase of $4,000,000,000 in its budget.

Strictly Personal

Many Hog Public Telephones

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Eavesdropping is not a particular penchant of mine, but there are times when I'm burning with desire to put a tap on a telephone. What can all those people be talking about for so long?

In theaters and hotels — but most often at an airport—I find myself standing in front of a row of telephone booths, all of which are occupied. I pace up and down in front of them, looking for the most likely prospect, though I know from the start that I am doomed to at least a quarter -hour wait.

Booth No. 1 is occupied by a large lady in a catalonic trance. She hasn't said a word — simply sits there and listens, her jaw slack, and her eyes half-closed in prayerful meditation. She may be jotting a yoga lesson by long-distance.

Booth No. 2 contains a man who, keeps dropping in dimes, dialing, banging up, and then repeating the procedure like one of those wind-up dolls. It seems as if nobody he knows is the whole world is at home.

Booth No. 3 holds some exotic-looking foreigner who is going through the telephone book page by page, looking for the chap he met in Teheran last year, named Jones or Brown of Johnson, or something like that.

Another last booth is being galvanized by a lanky adolescent determined to get a date for the night, calling 12 to 18 dozen, with gestures, hoppings up and down, head-scratchings, coin-juggling, and bursts of artificial high - pitched laughter. He's going to wind up alone in a movie; I can see a hopeless look begin to glaze his eye.

As the Lord knows, I have my own set of vices (and a complete set they are), but I could no more hang on to a public phone, especially in a crowded airport, while people are waiting, than I could stand naked in a shop window.

The large lady and the compulsive dialer are the lurking youth — all of them can see us shuffling in front, pacing and smoking, surveying and glancing pointedly at our watches. Yet it seems not to faze them; they are paying their money, and by Tophet, they are going to stay in their little tocha until they are good and ready to get out.

My own conversations in public places are limited to the bare essentials. I become flushed and apprehensive if I feel I am holding up an important call of someone else's. But, apparently, those of us who feel this way are in a minority. Those others must feel that three calls in a row give them permanent possession of the Bell Trophy. . .

Medicare Plan Incomplete

Kingston Whig-Standard

This newspaper was in the forefront of the very wide public support which is now being given in Canada to universal, government-controlled medical service. For a long time it was an uphill battle and even the public seemed blind to the facts as exactly had been established for many years in other parts of the world. By now, of course, even reactionary editorial pages, which formerly screamed "socialism" every time state medicine was mentioned are on the side of it.

But the Ontario Government is not all for it. Cynically disregarding the forthright report of the Hall Royal Commission on the findings on medical services, the Ontario Government has adopted a system which taxes subsidizing carriers and does not cover by any means all the population; which subsidizes low-income people in some categories and leaves others exposed to premiums they simply could never afford. And, on top of this, Dr. Dymond, the Minister of Health, has just announced that the aged and sickly will be required to pay higher premiums — thus making a distinction between the sick and the well instead of following the principle of making medical services available to everyone regardless of age or health.

The province is following a course which could have been predicted for it in medical services. It has a Premier who is notably partial to big business and particularly to the insurance companies; it has a health minister who is a medical man himself and is thus quite unable to be impartial. And the investigation which the Government should provide information and advice on this complicated problem was carried out by the Hagey Royal Commission which brought in a report so inadequate, so biased and so incomplete that it remains (next to the report made by the committee on fluoridation) a classic example of the establishment-dominated yea-saying.

The figures presented by Dr. Dymond ($180 a year for those not subsidized by the Government, for instance), and his bland announcement concerning the higher rates for the sick and aged will have shocked the people of this province. And it will by now be apparent to Ontario that the recurrent assurances by Mr. Robarts that this plan is not the last word in "health care insurance" for the province, are so much rhetoric. This is the plan we are to get—a plan which is defective in its essentials, crudely inadequate, and founded upon the need to make profits and therefore doomed never to provide the full care human beings need and have a right to expect.

The plan, as the Government is forcing it through at top, is dominated in its administration by organized medicine and the insurance companies. The recent efforts of the Opposition to change this situation by including representatives of the Medical Services Insurance Council from nine to seven with seven members, including the Chairman named by the Cabinet and representing a wide sampling of the public, have been futile. As it is now, the Council will be composed of two doctors, two insurance men and five public members named by the Cabinet.

Another Opposition amendment would have chosen all seven members of "Medical Carriers Inc." from the public. This group will recommend to the Council changes in benefits, premiums, govern the operation of the plan and designate insurance carriers to be used. The Bill provides that two of its directors will be named by the Canadian Health Insurance Association, two by physician-sponsored insurance carriers, one by health-service sponsored-plans, one by self-insured and other carriers and the Chairman by the other six members.

Mr. Trotter (Liberal, Parkdale) made this amendment hoping, as he said, to have it another body such as the Hagey Royal Commission, the members of which will represent this view and one view only. But all efforts so far to make the new the broader and more humane have failed.

Seagram's Collection?

Hamilton Spectator

There's a report current that original paintings will soon be hanging in some of Ontario's liquor stores. This may or may not be good news.

It all depends on the paintings. When and if the government decides to hang them in liquor stores, will the paintings be representationist (meaning akin to life) or modern (meaning a bit messy)?

If the paintings are modern, some of the liquor store patrons may feel compelled to drop their purchases and run. Or, short for medical assistance (they're worse than pink elephants!). Or we could drink the stuff right then and there and leave themselves open to arrest for consuming liquor in a public place.

Now if the government would like our advice, we would suggest . . .

Confusion About Poverty

Hamilton Spectator

There is poverty in Labor Minister Allan MacEachen's explanation of the newly announced war on poverty.

For example, for those who don't quite understand what the war is all about, or who the enemy is, his explanations are no help.

As far as the average citizen is concerned, he can visualize this war on poverty about as well as he understands the whys and wherefores of the war in Viet Nam.

Labor Minister MacEachen fails miserably in his attempts to tell us where the battle is to be fought (the battles to be fought (the battles will be against poverty), to tell us where the poverty is, how it is going to be combatted, and where all the money is coming from.

In the poverty in skid row sections of large cities? Is it in the cabbage towns, the slums? Or is it in blighted areas that have no economy to call their own? And if so, where are these blighted areas, exactly? The Maritimes? Where in the Maritimes?

And if the fog that has enveloped the war thus far does not clear, its glamorous inception can be seen unmistakably as a political war on American poverty (anyone earning less than $3,000 in the U.S. is considered poverty-stricken), what is it?

Fighting poverty, after all, is as old and laudable as enterprise as loving motherhood, protecting little children, and defending home fires.

The trouble is, Mr. MacEachen has airily kept referring to the war on poverty as a war, and to the enemy as poverty. Those are all-engrossing words, all right. But whether are the battles to be fought (the battles will be against poverty), to tell us where the poverty is, how it is going to be combatted, and where all the money is coming from.

Year Fish Did Not Bite

Peterborough Examiner

A set of lunar tables arrived in the mail this week with assertions that the proper way to catch game fish is to offer bait-ed hooks and lures only when fish are feeding. This advice is reasonable enough. The task is to determine precisely at what time fish feed. The tables are said to be the answer.

But at the same time, we are confronted with the appearance of George Potts of Campbellford who celebrated his 100th birthday last week. Said Mr. Potts: "I only voted Liberal once and I didn't like it. I picked it all that year." This is a formidable statement which fishing experts should find controversial disregard at some cost.

Rain Brief But Still Very Welcome

"Every little bit helps".

That was the reaction to last night's brief shower which saw just over a quarter of an inch of rain fall over the Belleville district.

Pump house officials said today that .27 inch of rain fell during the brief storm which was accompanied by a few flashes of lightning and rolls of thunder. The lightning caused a power failure in one east hill section of the city.

Last night's rain was the second shower received this week, and while it was welcome, it still falls far short of the amount of moisture needed to give spring crops, hayfields and pastures a boost.

So far this spring only about one half of the normal rainfall has been received.

5 Girls to Compete Here For Dairy Princess Title

Five Hastings county girls, including two former winners, will compete in this year's county dairy princess competition to be held on the Pinnacle Street parking lot in Belleville next week.

The competition will be held Wednesday, June 23, on the parking lot at the corner of Pinnacle and Campbell Streets. Following the competition the Dairy Sheep Show and Dance will be held on the adjoining paved parking lot, next to the Recreation Centre.

It was originally planned to hold an elimination contest for selection of this dairy princess, but it has now been found possible to have all contestants compete on the same evening.

This year's contestants for the dairy princess honor are Linda Gunning of Tweed, 1964 current holder of the dairy princess crown; Mrs. Cyril (Isabella) Shaw, Eldorado, 1963 winner; Carol Sharpe of Stirling; Sally McAdam, Stirling and Patricia Shorey, Frankford.

Prince Edward county will hold its dairy princess competition in conjunction with the Hastings contest.

A large crowd is expected for the dairy princess competitions and the following stage show and dance.

In keeping with the June dairy month theme, free samples of milk, cheese and ice cream will be handed out — courtesy of area milk distributors and cheese factories.

Impressions of a Visitor

The other day (don't ask me which one) while standing waiting for a green light — it was necessary to wait because a policeman was standing beside me — I noticed a visitor.

You can always tell a visitor. He's the one everybody stares at with that I-wonder-who-that-is look.

"Hello," I said.

What a startling way to begin — he was startled — I could tell because he didn't answer, so yours truly persisted.

"Pardon me sir."

He nodded. Glory; contact!

"I couldn't help noticing that you're a visitor."

"Oh."

What a talker he was.

"Do you like our city?"

"No."

What a shock! Why, I just couldn't imagine! Heavens! To say it plainly. The big boob.

"Oh, it's not really a bad city," he hedged, "but the ads here, they're something else again."

By the way, the light had changed by this time and we were standing in the middle of the road, I mention this because a huge truck was roaring down on us, blowing its horn and making other threatening gestures. At that, we moved.

"What's the matter with our (choke) roads?"

He smiled. Hmph, I thought, he's got a lot of nerve. The only thing to do is to take him for a tour of the city and show him his mistake. We got into my car and drove all the way down Front Street.

"There now, what's wrong with that road?"

He didn't answer, but it was obvious he was impressed.

Then we went around the bend — the one in the road that is — and onto Dundas. On the way by Pinnacle I told him to look at the girl in the shorts — he did, and didn't really notice Pinnacle.

I took him on a tour of Victoria, Bridge and a few other streets (there are a few) that are in good shape. When we came down Bridge and crossed Pinnacle again, I fooled him for the second time by pointing out the new Intelligencer building.

I let him out at the four corners and he asked how to get to the 401. "Somebody told me you go up North Front Street."

"Oh no," I countered. "You cross the bridge here, turn left at Coleman and drive across the Bay Bridge — that way he'd not only miss North Front, but he'd miss West Bridge as well — then turn right on the Redacreville Road and follow the signs for Trenton. Once in Trenton just ask anybody where the 401 is. And don't be too harsh on Trenton, some of their roads are beat up, but it was a tough winter."

He drove off into the west from whence he came and all sorts of poetic things were happening.

I received some correspondence decrying my attitude in my last column, a sample of which will be appearing in Tuesday's column.

Gordon

onslaught against Mr. Gordon. The Conservative leader said partial truths have been the cornerstone of government policy. He couldn't accept statements that the changes proposed wouldn't cut down on freedom of the press.

"The full story of Parliament and what happens here was not getting to the people. CBC commentators, for example, were always available to explain matters in a way favorable to the government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the royal commission on publications recommended steps to help Canada's periodicals, but nothing for newspapers.

"Nobody asked for this legislation, nobody." Why does the government want it? There must be some reason."

Mr. Diefenbaker said that if Mr. Gordon were to discuss the person who asked for the proposed legislation, that the government would have to drop the matter at once.

CALLS FOR PAUSE

He also called for "a pause" in consideration of the measure so it could go to a parliamentary committee. Then newspaper people and others interested could make representations.

He said received large advertisements in daily newspapers about new federal electoral ridings were issued by the federal government as a "sop" to newspapers.

"They thought they could buy silence with that."

Mr. Churchill quoted from a memorandum by newspapers which he said accused Mr. Gordon of telling falsehoods to defend his legislation.

The minister had said there was no opposition to his proposals. "It was newspapers editorially challenged Mr. Gordon's statements that the legislation offends at the freedom of the press; that there were no serious objections to it, and that there were no alternatives to his proposal.

"The finance minister has been accused by leading newspapers of falsifying the record," said Mr. Churchill. "There is only one recourse—submit his resignation."

ISN'T ENOUGH

It wasn't enough for Mr. Gordon to express his good intentions that press freedom would never be muzzled.

"I can no longer rely on the word of the prime minister . . . and I doubt very much whether we can rely on the word of the minister of finance," he said.

Another former Conservative minister, Angus MacLean (Queens) said he favored many of the proposals in Mr. Gordon's budget. But he would vote against them because of the measure dealing with newspaper advertising.

Harold Danforth (PC—Kent Ont.) objected to having a vote on a resolution calling for a 10-per-cent cut in taxation. "It's come, which he favored, and the magazine and newspaper proposals, which he deplored.

"This is a deliberate plan by the government to incorporate this kind of distressful proposal in a bonny - coated package so that the opposition can be browbeaten into accepting the whole thing," he said.

ISN'T ESSUE

Max Saltsman (NDP — Waterloo South) said freedom of the press was not an issue in the debate. He described it as the "back - door approach" to keeping the newspapers Canadian - owned by taxing advertising.

He also strongly criticized putting all the budget proposals into one package requiring a single vote for approval. He said the government was using this method quite often and as a result he had voted for measures that included what he thought were good and bad legislation.

While he had voted with the government on these all-inclusive proposals in the past, he intended to vote against them this time.

Alfred D. Hales (PC — Wellington South) said the power to tax was the power to control and he objected to the proposals on this account.

CITES FREE PRESS

Robert Coates (PC—Cumberland) said the seriousness of the issue was pointed up by the fact the Winnipeg Free Press, which has been willing to "coddle" the government, has gone on the attack.

Mr. Coates said he was certain all newspapers will oppose the resolution.

He said if newspapers had educated the public about the past failings of the Liberal government it would no longer be in office.

"Maybe now the newspapers will smarten up . . ." he said.

"No one in their right mind would bring this kind of legislation into the House unless he had ulterior motives," he added.

Commonwealth

Harold Wilson or the United States on this issue," Nyerere said.

Kenya followed this up today with a hard-hitting statement which said Wilson should not lead the mission and Britain should not even take part in the peace bid because it had committed itself to backing U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Although they issued no statements on the question, both President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Abdul Rahman of Malaysia were reported unhappy with the mission, representing the first joint Commonwealth peace venture in history, but of different views.

AGREES WITH KENYA

The Pakistani president was said to believe, like Kenya, that Britain was so tightly linked with U.S. policy in Southeast Asia that the mission's chances of success could be compromised.

Rahman, however, was said to fear that the mission might come up with proposals that would be unacceptable to Kenya. He asked to back and which would in effect "reward aggression" by the Communists in South Viet Nam.

The British press in the meantime is of the view that the rumblings of dissent may crush the mission before it gets a chance to move.

In addition to Wilson and Sekanayake, others picked for the mission were Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafewa Balewa of Nigeria, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and President Sir Eric Williams of Trinidad and Tobago. One Canadian newspaper said Nkrumah has not yet made a final commitment whether he will join the mission.

The reaction seemed to develop almost as swiftly as the initial proposal, launched by Wilson as the nine-day Commonwealth conference opened Thursday.

Both Kenya and Tanzania suggested that Commonwealth should first find out whether the contending countries in the Vietnam civil war would receive the mission members. The Commonwealth leaders would then study to see how the ruling would react but the Chinese officials reserved their comment.

WILSON REBUFFED

Peking and Hanoi had rebuffed Wilson's emissary, Fredrick Gordon Walker, when he tried a peace pilgrimage a few months ago but Wilson and other leaders maintained the Communists would think twice about rejecting a mission that represented one-quarter of the world's population.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson, who had been asked by some countries to join the mission but refused, conferred with Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere at Mach-Pearson's request that Wilson should be the mission chairman and that one member be from a Western alliance. British-it is enough. He wants Britain to be represented equally by winds up to 70 miles an hour and the Laymore's steering failed. An hour later the cable towline parted and the helpless ship issued a distress call.

SENTENCES SUSPENDED

TORONTO (CP)—Allied Towers Merchants Ltd. pleaded guilty to two charges of misleading the public through newspaper advertisements and was given suspended sentences in court Thursday. The company had placed ads in a Toronto paper last January stating higher prices for the same item were charged by other companies. The Crown alleged the comparable prices were fictitious.

Seventeen Men Rescued From Rubber Raft

VICTORIA (CP) — Seventeen men were rescued from a rubber liferaft in heavy seas off Vancouver Island Thursday night three hours after they abandoned a naval auxiliary vessel loaded with obsolete explosives.

The 17 rescued crew members of the vessel, all civilians from Victoria, were being taken to Victoria.

The only injury reported was a seaman with a wrenched knee.

Their vessel, the 985-ton Laymore, was being towed with about 200 tons of obsolete depth charges and munitions to a dumping spot in the Pacific 240 miles southwest of here when her steering gear failed and the towline snapped.

A naval tug was to attempt recovery of the abandoned ship today and tow it back to Victoria. A navy officer said the explosives were "all quite stable" and not considered dangerous.

The men took to a liferaft in seas that heaved 40 to 50 feet high. They were rescued by the auxiliary vessel Clifton which followed Wilson's emissary, Fredrick Gordon Walker, when he tried a peace pilgrimage a few months ago but Wilson and other leaders maintained the Communists would think twice about rejecting a mission that represented one-quarter of the world's population.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson, who had been asked by some countries to join the mission but refused, conferred with Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere at Mach-Pearson's request that Wilson should be the mission chairman and that one member be from a Western alliance. Dept. of Education Report Sought by County Council To Settle School Dispute

PICTON (Staff) — North Marysburg Township school board is not in agreement with the proposals of the Consultative Committee, it was revealed in a letter signed by William Wilkinson, chairman, and Arthur McCormack, secretary-treasurer, read at County Council Monday night.

The proposed by-law would have added S.S. 1, 2, 3/10 Hallowell to North Marysburg for purposes of a Township School Area.

No action was taken on enacting by-laws, council asking for a Department of Education investigation into the situation in Prince Edward and recommending that no permission be given to build new schools until this investigation is complete.

The following letter was received from the North Marysburg board:

"The North Marysburg Township School Area Board requests that the proposed by-law regarding the formation of County School not be considered at this time for the following reasons:

"(1) North Marysburg School Area Board already has tentative approval from Department of Education for a new Township Central School consisting of six classrooms and a general purpose room.

"(2) We have the unanimous approval of North Marysburgh Township for classroom, plus $50,000 for general purpose room making total of $200,000.

"(3) We have established a salary schedule effective September 1966 that we believe will be attractive to the hiring and keeping of good quality teachers in our School Area so the proposed new school can be adequately staffed.

"We request that the council consider Ontario Legislature Bill 54, Section 12, Items 4, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11 as to the effect they will have on the administration of public school education in Prince Edward County.

"The members of North Marysburgh Township School Board are not in agreement with the proposals of the Consultative Committee regarding the divisions of the school sections in the various townships' most vitally involved in this issue, namely Athol and North Marysburgh, which have had no representation whatever on this committee. Alternative proposals might have been brought forward that could have altered the present situation to a great extent."

Antique Show And Sale Well Attended

Open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on both days the vast display was never without an interested buyer or just the curious.

Three dealers from Bath, Ontario, T. G. Wrightmeyer, T. L. Riedel and Ken Ackroyd had most interesting displays of period books and glassware. Coming from Kingston, Ont., Mrs. Keenan presented his "Trinkets and Treasures" display. Mr. Charles Barker of Trenton, Mrs. R. D. Hazelgrove of Cataraqui, Ont., Mrs. Elizabeth Allan of Warkworth, Ont., and Mrs. R. D. Cook of Brighton, Ont., completed the out-of-town dealers present at the show.

Local dealers, Mrs. W. J. Walmsley (Walmsley's Workshop); Mrs. Thera Falconer (House of Falconer), Miss Merle Pearsall, (Merle's Antique and Candle Salon), Mrs. J. Wolseman, Mrs. Arthur Holland and Mrs. Alice Lowry-Carroll represented the county with their beautiful displays.

Each day the ladies of the Curling Club served a bountiful lunch from 12 to 2 p.m. in the clubhouse lounge, featuring delicious salad plates and all the trimmings. Tea and coffee were also available from three to five p.m. at the convenient garden setting in the main display centre.

The popularity of the show may dictate holding of the event on an annual basis.

Heifer Shot And Butchered At Point Petre

PICTON (Staff) — William Main, a Point Petre farmer, has reported a case of cattle rustling to Picton's O.P.P. detachment.

The incident occurred in a field owned by Mrs. Helen Haggarty near Point Petre. The field is rented by various farmers in the area to pasture their cattle. Mr. Main who lives near the scene of the incident says he heard cattle making a lot of noise about 5 a.m. one morning recently. After finishing his chores he went out to investigate about 8 a.m.

He found the remains of one of his heifers with the hide and most of the meat removed. The heifer had been killed with a 22 cal. bullet. About 80 head of cattle belonging to several district farmers were pastured on the land at the time.

Cubmaster Darnell reported a successful Cubaroo on May 29 at Camp Saganaska which was attended by a record number of Cubs. At the last Cub meeting of the season, a wiener roast was enjoyed. Mr. Howell mentioned the district Scout Church Parade to be held on Sunday, June 20, at 2:30 p.m. Scout Jack Newman, Thomasburg's first Queen's Scout will be invested at this service.

Mr. Howell reported on a recent meeting in Stirling for Scout workers at which the new outlook on Cubbing was explained in detail. In the future, parents will be asked to do more for Cubs at home.

Scoutmaster Geen reported on the swim party held at Tops Motel, Belleville, in which seven Scouts participated and succeeded in passing their several prizes. He remarked that ten Scouts have already registered for a hot trip to Niagara Falls on June 26. The last Scout meeting took place at Camp Saganaska and all present boys passed the tests on trail signs.

After the treasurer's report was read, a letter from Provincial Scout Executive Lodge was read commending Cubmaster A. Howell and Assistant Cubmaster Mrs. Howell for their work with the Cubs and thanking them for the use of their home as a meeting place for the Pack.

Some discussion took place about the purchase of a tent, but nothing definite was decided.

The possibility of a variety night in the fall was mentioned by the president. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harold K. Morton on September 1st. Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Titan Rocket

lead satellite into orbit more than 115 miles above the earth.

The satellite was the biggest true payload ever put into space.

A combination of weather and technical troubles had blocked an effort to put it up Thursday.

PLANNED AS BOOSTER

Two unmanned laboratories are scheduled for launching aboard Titan 3-C rockets late next year. If no hitches develop, the first manned lab, with two astronauts, could be sent aloft in late 1967 or 1968.

Because of the last nature of the flight, the satellite carried today was an inert piece of lead. A useful payload, perhaps a communications satellite, might be launched on the second test flight in September.

Before today, the U.S. Saturn I was the most powerful rocket fired. It lofted 1,200,000 pounds of booster thrust, slightly higher than the 1,030,000 pounds of Russia's biggest rocket.

the D zone jungle, a Viet Cong stronghold where the Communists were reported massing for a sneak attack on nearby villages.

After the B-52s, a squadron of B-57 twin-jet fighter-bombers plastered the area with explosives, fire bombs, rockets and cannon shells.

WON'T COMMENT

The air force declined to evaluate results of the raid until after a ground check.

Informants at Bien Hoa air base, 15 miles north of Saigon, said the B-52s had missed part of the designated target area.

The American returning from the bombing zone refused to discuss their findings with reporters. But informants said they found mostly foxholes and trenches. They said some craters left by the B-52s were 250 yards apart and that the area had not been saturated.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said intelligence reports several days ago indicated the Communists were spreading a new grouping of forces between the Communist-controlled D and C zones.

U.S. officials believed the Viet Cong might be preparing for another battle like the bloody assault on Dong Xoai last week, which caused staggering casualties on both sides.

ARE MORE EFFECTIVE

A spokesman in Saigon said the B-52s, which bomb from a relatively high altitude, were used because of their greater effectiveness rather than for lack of other planes.

A defence department statement issued in Washington said the raid was ordered because "it had become evident in recent months that the Viet Cong were using a new tactic of concentrating forces in uninhabited areas concealed under heavy forest canopy, prior to launching a sneak attack.

"B-52s were selected for this mission because their bomb carrying capacity and equipment make them the aircraft best suited to carry out such an attack most accurately and safely."

The air force said a B-52 normally can carry either 51 bombs weighing 750 pounds each or 27 bombs weighing 1,000 pounds each. There was no word whether the planes were fully loaded.

High altitude bombers had not been used in Viet Nam before and the air force officials felt the danger of accidental civilian casualties was too great.

AP Correspondent Malcolm W. Browne flew over the area and reported some bombs struck near the edge of open patches in the jungle, within a few hundred feet of rice fields and clusters of huts. He said he saw there was no sign of damage to the huts, no people or animals were visible.

800 Paper Workers Still Out on Strike

THOROLD, Ont. (CP) — A wildcat strike of more than 800 paper workers at two area paper plants continued Thursday despite meetings between employees, union officials and conciliation officers.

A meeting of the 700 strikers at Provincial Paper Ltd. and mill and union officials of Local 260, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC), broke up after failing to persuade the men to return to work.

At Ontario Paper Ltd. mill meetings between conciliation officers and six unions supporting the 170 striking members of Local 121 of United Papermakers and Paperworkers (CLC) failed to come to an agreement.

The plant was forced to close Wednesday when about 1,000 hourly - rated workers honored picket lines set up Tuesday by the strikers.

The strike began Tuesday because of what employees called delays in negotiation over new contracts at the plants.

Both unions are seeking a pay increase of about 30 cents an hour and fringe benefits. Basic salary at provincial paper is $1.80 an hour, and at Ontario Paper, $2 an hour.

who should be punished for their poverty. He advised the welfare department to take a more humanistic view of its work.

REJECTS BIDS

Opposition bids for wider private pension regulations to cover more Ontario workers were rejected during Thursday's sitting by Premier John Roberts.

The bill given third reading requires employers with private pension plans to guarantee pensions to employees older than 45 and with 10 years' service.

James Renwick (NDP—Riverdale) asked that the same provisions apply to an employee after one year's service and without any age requirement.

Liberal Leader Andrew Thompson urged reduction of the 45-year age limit.

The premier said when amendments of the type suggested were made, it was hoped they would be made on a national basis.

ASKS DIVORCE CHANGE

A resolution asking that Ontario start talks with Ottawa to change the province's divorce law was put before the house by Harry Worton (L—Wellington South).

Mr. Worton said the current law favors the wealthy and forces many applicants to parjure themselves in order to obtain a divorce.

Grounds for divorce in Ontario are adultery, or on the part of the husband, sodomy or bestiality.

Argument for provincial financial support for more day nurseries drew a statement from one New Democratic member that the unravelling of family life is a woman's place is in the home.

Stephen Lewis (NDP—Scarborough West) said the Conservatives believed in women as the second, inferior sex relegated to house and garden.

Provinces Have Own Ideas On Control of Their Parks

By DON LeBLANC

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Provincial governments may not all be willing to co-operate with Canada's National and Provincial Parks Association, at least when it concerns policy on provincial parks.

Philip W. Oland of nearby Rothesay, says he has indicated a preference for operating its parks without help from the association. And there may be others.

"The provinces are independent on their views of parks, especially provincial parks," says the Atlantic provinces director of the parks association.

"They want to carry out their own policies without direction from the committee."

Mr. Oland says Nova Scotia so far has turned thumbs down on an application for a National and Provincial Parks Association grant. New Brunswick has a similar application under consideration. There has been no word from Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

The association was formed last year for the preservation and expansion of national and provincial parks. The federal government made a grant of $20,000—equivalent to one-tenth of a cent for every Canadian—and provincial governments are being asked for grants, on a population basis.

TIMING WRONG

To test public support of the association, envelopes were issued to visitors to all parks in Canada last year asking for donations entitling the donor to membership in the association.

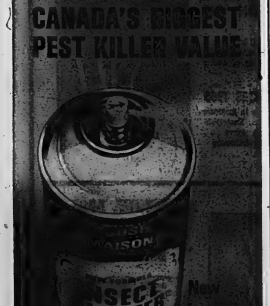
Mr. Oland, 54-year-old president of Moosehead Breweries Ltd. in neighboring Lancaster, says the program wasn't too successful.

"There were only about 700 replies. I think the association made a mistake in not handing the envelopes to visitors as they were leaving the parks instead of when they were entering."

Mr. Oland says the public must be made aware of the importance of an association "to preserve some parts of the country for their benefit, away from commercial interests."

He says there has been "some pressure" on the New Brunswick government by lumber industries seeking working rights for park land and the government [illegible] to be in disagreement with what it considers a right policy against lumbering in national parks.

WOULD BAR LUMBERING



"Parks are continually being badgered by commercial interests who want certain rights to the land."

Although Mr. Oland believes lumber industries must be kept out, he says parks should be kept clean of rotting trees. "It will add to the general appearance of parks to keep the trees thinned out. It will also help in the growth of trees."

Mr. Oland says there are no park expansions "in the wind at the moment but the association is to be used to prompt government attention on expansions."

He is currently in the process of appointing an association director for Nova Scotia and may select another for Newfoundland.

A director of the National Youth Orchestra of Canada and a former president of the New Brunswick Symphony, Mr. Oland is also the Maritime representative on the Canadian Pony Club advisory board. He has 30 horses and ponies and operates the Rothesay branch of the Canadian Pony Club.

Fraser and Margaree Remembered

Only Baker's Dozen Survived When Their Second Ship Sank

By GERARD McNEIL

OTTAWA (CP)— A weary Frenchy Bolleau went right on sleeping when the British cruiser Calcutta cut the Canadian destroyer Fraser in two on a calm, moonless night in the Bay of Biscay 25 years ago. His scrambling mates below the afterdeck had to awaken him.

"It felt so good to get into the air and see so many pals alive, well I just had to sing," 18-year old Frenchy told Canadian war correspondents later in Plymouth, England. "Roll out the Barrel was the first tune that came to mind so I just started whooping it up."

Less than four months later, Boy Seaman Joseph Phileas Laurent Bolleau of Montreal didn't have a chance to sing. He and most of his pals went to the bottom when the destroyer Margaree was lost in a collision with a freighter.

The old man of the sea followed in their wake and caught up early Oct. 23, 1940, in a storm off the coast of Ireland.

"I don't think 13 of the Fraser's men survived the Margaree," says retired Rear-Admiral Wallace B. Creery in a painful review of the incidents of 25 years ago, one who did was William Landymore of Brantford. Ont., now 48 and a rear-admiral named chief of the armed forces' new Maritime Command.

Now 65 and a member of an Ottawa investment firm, Admiral Creery's features have the same determined, slightly Churchillian cast as when he was commander of the Fraser which went down June 25, 1940, with loss of 66 lives. The Margaree sinking took 141.

CAPTAINED ILL - FATED SHIP — Retired Rear-Admiral Wallace B. Creery still retains the same determined, slightly Churchillian cast as when he was commander of the Canadian destroyer Fraser which went down in 1940 with loss of 66 lives. Pictures show him during war years and now at 65, a member of an Ottawa investment firm. (CP Photo)

MOST FROM B.C.

The Fraser was in Vancouver when the Second World War began, but was ordered to Halifax on short notice. Most of the crew was from British Columbia, but on the East Coast, raw, husky youths like Frenchy Bolleau came aboard to see the world.

The destroyer was ordered to England in late May as the Nazis swept through Belgium, Holland and France and the Dunkerque evacuation began.

The French government moved to Bordeaux and every unoccupied French port was swollen with refugees by mid-June.

River - class destroyers like Fraser and Restigouche darted from port to port, guarding ragtag convoys and picking up fleeing figures.

France signed an armistice with Germany at Compiegne June 22 and the next day Fraser was sent to Arcachon to locate Sir Ronald Campbell, British ambassador to France.

The destroyer found Sir Ronald and 14 other diplomats in a sardine smack wallowing in heavy rain off the Bordeaux coast. Among them was Brig.-Gen. Georges P. Vanier, then Canadian minister to France and now Governor - General. They were taken by the Fraser to the British cruiser Galatea.

Mme. Vanier was also in France at the time but she was among refugees who poured into St. Jean de Luz, near the Spanish border at the foot of the bay, and she got back to England on a slow tramp steamer.

RACED FOR PLYMOUTH

The exodus of diplomats, Polish soldiers and French patriots came to an end June 25 as Nazi armor approached overland and the armistice came into effect.

The destroyers helped round up the last of them, then left in a hurry as a tank and a field gun appeared on a hill over St. Jean de Luz, sights trained on the ships.

After a fruitless search off Bordeaux for enemy vessels, the Fraser, Calcutta and Restigouche raced for Plymouth, their crews exhausted.

It was dark and overcast when the Calcutta signalled the Fraser, 1½ miles ahead, to drop back behind it. The ships moving at top speed, carried neither lights nor radar.

Radio communications were terse in the dangerous waters. The Fraser went to port on the Calcutta's order, meaning to circle inwards and run down the starboard side of the cruiser, coming into position astern.

On the cruiser, it seemed that the Fraser would cut across the Calcutta's bow and come down the port side.

The ships, moving at a closing speed of 34 knots, came into a converging course. The night cloaked the situation to the point of no return.

The Calcutta altered to starboard and the Fraser to port, reversing engines in a desperate effort. But the last 200 yards were covered in 11 seconds as momentum carried the ships together.

TOOK 66 ABOARD

The Calcutta reeled and dug upward as it severed the eggshell plates of the Fraser. It snatched the bridge away on its bow and pinioned it.

MORE

Skipper Creery picked up his bruised body, looked over the screen and found nothing familiar.

"I couldn't make out where I was. There was no deck gun. Gradually I realized I was looking at the forepeak of the Calcutta."

He and Sub-Lieut. William Landymore, now a rear admiral in Halifax, freed Ordinary Seaman William Todos of Saskatoon from the corrugated wreckage. Another man was crushed to death.

Meanwhile, Frenchy's mates had joined him in Roll out the Barrel and the noise was guiding the Restigouche into the aft section.

In minutes, in a daring manoeuvre, it took more than 60 men, one on a stretcher, aboard. The Restigouche then tried the same thing with the forward section, but it capsized, throwing men into the oil-coated, cold Biscay waters.

The destroyer threw wartime discretion aside and played lights on the water, picking them up.

"They rescued every one that was alive," says Admiral Creery gratefully. Altogether, 150 men were saved. The 66 lost included 18 of the 20 British sailors on board.

MARGAREE REFITTED

The exuberant Frenchy wowed war correspondents in Plymouth and captured headlines at home with the story of his experiences in Canada's first naval loss of the war.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons the Fraser was lost "in the face of the enemy." A rarity in British naval history occurred when a board of inquiry didn't recommend a court martial.

Frenchy and his mates went on a two-week English leave, with ringside seats for the Battle of Britain. They were confident they'd had a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

On Sept. 6 the Margaree, until then the British destroyer Diana, was turned over to Canada. It was damaged in an air raid 11 days later while being refitted in London's Alberi Docks.

But with most of the Fraser's old crew aboard, it sailed from Londonderry Oct. 20 with five merchant ships. The skipper was Cmdr. James W. R. Roy of Ottawa.

The Margaree led the convoy, but poor weather early Oct. 23 forced it to fall back to keep the ships in sight. After a blinding squall, the lead freighter Port Fairy found the destroyer dangerously close.

The freighter went full astern, but the Margaree cut sharply across its bow and momentum carried the Port Fairy into the bridge, slicing it in two.

In the wild sea, the Margaree didn't have the Fraser's luck. The forepart sank within a minute and Frenchy went to the bottom with it.

Others among the 141 victims were Cmdr. Roy and Ordinary Seaman Todos. No one on the bridge lived to say what had happened.

The Port Fairy, in a gallant effort, took 30 men off the aft section before a heavy swell ground the ships together, then tore them apart. Three more men were taken off a raft.

Meanwhile, Cmdr. Creery had gone to Halifax as captain in charge of the busy eastern port.

His last task there, before going to Ottawa as assistant chief of naval staff, was to see to the sinking of the flaming British freighter Trongate before its cargo of inflammable liquid, lubricating oil, could ignite with possible disastrous consequences for the city.

TRAGIC DAY — The Canadian destroyer Fraser takes aboard refugees at St. Jean de Luz on June 25, 1940, the day she was sunk in a collision with the British cruiser Calcutta. Most of the refugees were transferred to another ship before the accident, but 66 lives were lost in the night-time collision in the Bay of Biscay. Among the refugees was Georges P. Vanier, then Canadian minister to France. (CP Photo)

Sunday School Lesson

A Dream Comes True

By CLARENCE W. CRAWFORD

"King Solomon to dedicate temple." What a thrill must have gone throughout the nation when that news was spread by messengers from village to village. Thousands upon thousands streamed toward Zion's hill in Jerusalem for the sacred event. Crowning the hill stood one of the world's greatest buildings — the temple of the Lord. For seven years the great temple had been taking shape. A fantastic number of people had taken part in its building. Seventy thousand burden bearers. Eighty thousand men hewing stone from the quarries. Thirty-three hundred overseers had been required to direct the various operations. Kings of other lands had provided material. This had been an international project. Now the great building was completed, and the moment of its dedication had arrived.

The young king, in the 11th year of his reign, stood to speak. As the crowd hushed to hear, the king raised his voice to say, "Now it was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of the Lord." (I Kings 8:17 RSV)

What a dream! but a dream David never lived to fulfill. As Solomon explained to his neighboring king Hiram, "You know that David my father could not build a house for the name of the Lord his God because of the warfare with which his enemies surrounded him." (I Kings 5:3 RSV) "But now," he had continued, "the Lord my God has given me rest on every side; there is neither adversary nor misfortune. And so I purpose to build a house for the name of the Lord my God."

DREAM REALIZED

Now the purpose had been completed, and the great temple dedicated. In days to come the Psalmist would write, "How lovely is thy dwelling place, O Lord of hosts!" (Psalm 84:1) The temple stood as a reminder of the one true god. It became the centre of the religious life of the nation.

In time, however, some came to think of the worship of God as being associated with this particular place. This feeling accentuated when Samaria set up a rival temple. "Our fathers worshipped on this mountain," declared a Samaritan woman to Jesus, "and you say that in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship." (John 4:20 RSV) Jesus had to remind her that "God is Spirit" and wherever people worship Him in spirit and truth, He may be found. (John 4:24)

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 20: "The Temple Consecrated." I Kings 8:1 through 9:14.

Solomon would have agreed. His was no narrow conception of God. At the dedication he had said, "But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the highest heaven cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built!" (I Kings 8:27 RSV) Yet even today there are those who act as if God belonged to a specific church or denomination. "How pitiful are little folks," wrote one of the poets, "they are so very small, they look at stars and think they are denominational."

"Yet the Most High," as the Bible reminds us, "does not dwell in houses made with hands." (Acts 7:48 RSV) No creed or definition can hold Him. He escapes to be near those of a "broken and contrite heart." (Psalm 34:18)

A GREATER DREAM

Surely it is in the heart of God, the heavenly Father, that those who believe in Him shall learn to live together in faith and love. The many divisions, particularly among Christians, must sadden His heart. As Solomon's temple drew open to Him's hill to worship, so the spirit of Christian unity must draw the followers of Christ together in a witness that transcends denominational differences.

Many voices today are being raised to say that churches should get out of their four walls and get out into the world to worship and serve. Church buildings are necessary as places where believers can gather for worship and training. Their very presence reminds men of their need for faith in God. But the building is not the church. The people are the church. Jesus said, "Go to church." It is the church, the church, gathering together in a building for inspiration and training. Then they go out to serve. In this sense, the church goes with them wherever they go for they are the church.

Solomon understood this. Though he wanted to build the Lord an "exalted house" for him "to dwell in forever." (I Kings 8:13) he knew his ultimate purpose was to help men serve God better with their lives. "If," God told him, "you will walk before me . . . with integrity of heart and uprightness . . . then I will establish your royal throne over Israel forever . . . But if you turn aside from following me, you or your children . . . the house which I have consecrated for my name, I will cast out of my sight." (I Kings 9:4-7 RSV)

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem?"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Real estate taxes almost always go up — they seldom decrease. The result can be that a good real estate investment becomes a poor one. Managers of investment properties have a simple technique for overcoming this hazard.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Constantly rising real estate taxes in our town have turned a good investment into a poor one. I own a gasoline service station. Ten years ago when I signed the lease the property showed a 12 percent return. Now at the expiration of the lease the investment return has decreased to 4 percent.

I have a responsible company that wants to lease the property for another 10 years. Having been burned once I am now looking for protection. Is there any such thing in my case? — Mr. R. R. P.

Answer: The answer to your problem is relatively simple and one that is known to knowledgeable investors. The solution consists of inserting a "tax stop" clause in your new lease.

With this provision any increase in real estate taxes above that which exists for the initial year becomes the obligation of the tenant. Your income investment is thus stabilized.

The tax stop provision is common in real estate leasing practice.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Please do not think of me as a moron, but my mistake I bought back my property at auction for less than sale. Do I owe a sales commission?

For ten years after my husband's death I continued to live in an old barn of a home with the property. I tried for years to sell without success and finally put it up for auction.

Two days before the auction sales rooms just to watch. Five properties were being sold and when the auctioneer started describing a property of great historical value suitable for a person of gracious living I was impressed and put in a bid. Mine was the only bid and it was accepted.

It was only later that I found out that I bought my own property. The auctioneer wants his commission and I don't want the house. — Embarrassed

ANSWER: Whether you owe the auctioneer a commission depends on the exact wording of your agreement with him—only an attorney can give you a definite opinion. From experience, I think I can guess that the answer is yes.

However, most auctioneers do have a sense of humor — yours has a story that he can tell at conventions and is probably smiling to himself through tears of laughter. Under the circumstances, I am sure that if you sue the auctioneer for your old property up for sale again and offer to pay him the direct expenses he incurred the first time, an amicable arrangement can be worked out. But this time make sure you stay away from the auction room!

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Literally with my own sweat, I have put together a group of properties worth over $100,000. They yield a good income. I am now getting up in years so they will go to my two sons — my only heirs.

This creates a problem for they are both professional men without an "ounce" of business sense. Perhaps it is my fault, for I have made life easy for them. I am planning to write in my will rigid requirements as to what they can do with the property — they are to maintain it, under what conditions it can be sold, etc. Can you please send me information that can be incorporated in the will? — Mr. J. T.

ANSWER: Your intentions are good but the results can be disastrous — you cannot manage real estate from the cemetery. I know of many instances where real estate rigidly controlled under irrevocable conditions has suffered great loss because of changing market or neighborhood conditions.

If you have no confidence in two sons, you can create a trust to manage the property for them.

I suspect that your problem relates to the normal misunderstanding that exist between generations. Your boys appear to be successful and responsible citizens. When your eldest time on this earth has expired, why not let your two sons accept responsibility on their own without continuing instructions from the grave.

Viet Cong Treat People Well, Posing Problem for Their Foes

By HORST FAAS

DUC HOA, Viet Nam (AP)— The Vietnamese soldier ran from the thatched-roof house with his helmet full of freshly laid eggs.

He grinned as he broke one into his mouth.

His didn't quite last long.

"I've told you time and again not to do that," shouted his battalion commander, Capt. Di, of the 2nd Battalion, 46th Regiment. The captain, beside himself with rage, pulled the frightened soldier by the shoulder and slapped him.

"Now," he continued loudly so that many other troops around could hear him, "return those eggs, and pay the woman who owns them some money for those you have taken."

It explained, "I might appear brutal in this. But the whole thing is very important. Eggs are symbols in Viet Nam.

"When a boy reaches puberty, he is given an egg, and from this egg comes a chicken and from that chicken he gets more eggs. He can head his whole future on that one egg.

"Now this soldier comes and steals it. The 15-year-old boy who owned that might remember all his life that a soldier stole his future.

"This means that the people will know us only as destroyers. The Viet Cong know how to treat people, and they behave very carefully. We rush through the villages in a hurry. Fighting as we go.

"We haven't much time for the niceties. But we can stop stealing."

The captain's battalion had been dropped by helicopter and had advanced into the village.

"Most of these people have nothing to do with the Viet Cong," said Di. "It is not their fault they are forced to help them. It is our fault for not being here more often."

He pointed to 12 women being herded from holes where they had hidden from earlier bombardments.

"If I were one of these women I would become a Viet Cong now," Di said with feeling.

"Those women know they will have nothing to eat after we have left here.

"They won't remember the leaflets we drop asking them to come over to our side. They will only remember what our soldiers have done to them."

Ann Landers

Man Never Treats Wife Better Than Sweetheart

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I'm writing this letter through tears, as I gaze upon two burned sirloin steaks, two over-baked Idaho potatoes, two wilted salads and a fallen chocolate souffle.

Paul is no kid. He is past 25, and we've been engaged two years. I can't count the number of times he has stood me up like this. The date is always set at his convenience. Then, after I've knocked myself out preparing dinner, Paul doesn't show up.

ANN LANDERS

If he called (even at the last minute) and said he couldn't make it, I'd accept his excuse whatever it was, but I never hear a word until the next day. He is always so-oooooo sorry—but he ran into a buddy, or his boss asked him to go on an urgent mission or his mother got sick.

We've talked about this problem dozens of times and he doesn't know why he forgets to call me. He promises, "It won't happen again," but it always does. What does this sound like to you? — ANGRY.

DEAR ANGRY — It sounds to me like Paul drinks a little — or a lot. This is a wild guess since you gave no hint that he is on the grape, but his behavior smells like a man with liquor on his breath.

If Paul is not a booze-fighter he is inconsiderate, unreliable, and selfish in the extreme. Before you marry I'd like to remind you that a man never treats his wife better than he treated his sweetheart.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Our 19-year-old son brought home a bride six weeks ago, I will not attempt to make this situation sound any better than it is. Here are the facts:

The girl is about three months pregnant but she doesn't show anything yet. She is a nice person and is trying hard to be a good wife. Our son says he loves this girl very much and he is not sorry about anything. He has a good job, works a 13-hour day and hasn't asked us for help of any kind.

So far as we know, our friends and relatives are not aware of the expected baby. I am writing to ask how to deal with the situation. According to all calculations our grandchild will be 10 weeks early. We do not want to put on that "premature" baby act. It has been grossly overdone in this town and nobody believes it anymore.

Is it wise to tell people now that the baby will be early? Or should wait until the baby is born—and then say we knew it would be early? — M.L.G.

DEAR M.L.G. — No explanations or apologies are necessary — either before or after the arrival of the baby. Your real friends will be considerate and say nothing. You owe them the nothing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I know you are not an expert on men's clothing, but I believe this is a matter of common sense, and you are an expert on that.

The fellow I am going with is an immaculate dresser. He has excellent taste in clothes and is one of the sharpest looking men in town — until you get to his feet. His socks are always down around his ankles. When he is seated you can see his chalk-white, hairy legs. They look ghastly.

I've told him fifty times that those droopy socks spoil his appearance. He tells me garters are for squares. What about this? — MISS ICK.

DEAR MISS — Garters are for people who want to keep their socks up. If your friend doesn't want to wear garters he can buy socks with elastic tops. Be a sport and buy him a pair and I'll bet he'll never wear any other kind.

* * *

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SAY WHEN!

Dear Susanna: I would greatly appreciate the recipe for restoring old furniture. I am enclosing a wee hint as you suggested — spoot that I am!

Filling tiny salt shakers is easy when you cut one corner off the bottom of an envelope, then snip off the tip of the cut piece so there is a little hole in the point of the triangle.

Now you have a funnel that is just the right size to guide the salt (or pepper) when you are pouring it into the shakers. — Mrs. H. Couch.

That's a dear wee idea ye have there lass. — SUSANNA

SUGAR STARCH STIFFNESS

Dear Susanna: Noticed that a lady in your column wanted the sugar-starching recipe for stiffening doilies. I'm happy to supply same. It's very good, even though it is a bit gooey to handle.

Mix 1¼ cups white sugar with 1½ cups water. Boil for five minutes. When the solution is cool enough, dip the doilies into it.

If you are doing place mats it won't be necessary to iron them out, but pin them into shape on a bath towel while they are still damp and let them dry. — Mrs. C. Hardy

Nursing Losing Recruits To Modern Competition

MONTREAL (CP)—The nursing profession faces increasing competition from other careers for women and must find a new basis for attracting recruits, says Alice Girard, dean of the nursing faculty of the University of Montreal.

"Nursing and teaching used to be the traditional professions for women," Miss Girard told the Professional Society for Graduates in Hospital Administration.

"But with greater emancipation and the unlimited choice of careers open to girls nowadays, nursing is facing crises of competition and identification.

"Today only 10 per cent of the girls who graduate from high school choose nursing as a profession. In 1951 they constituted 30 per cent."

One way of making the profession more competitive might be to improve its standards generally and provide opportunities for specializing.

Miss Girard said the University of Montreal will offer a course leading to a master's degree in hospital nursing starting in September.

She predicted two types of nurses will emerge in future—those whose aptitudes and human characteristics incline them toward bedside nursing, and those whose qualifications for leadership or teaching suit them to tasks removed from the immediate vicinity of patients.

Cleaning Women Don't Like To Work Nights in Museum

VICTORIA (CP)—Terror to a cleaning woman is a night in a wax museum.

"I have quit their jobs in recent years rather than spend another eerie hour in the chamber of horrors, says the manager of the cleaning firm hired by the museum here. Those who stay work in pairs or take their husbands with them.

"I was really scared," says Maria Delina, who still works for the cleaning firm but refuses to enter the museum. "If I had to stay alone there I'd die."

The Royal London Wax Museum of Victoria, a major tourist attraction, has one section devoted to the grisly history of torture and execution — the rack, nooses, Arabian hook and guillotine.

In the exhibrace of these tools of pain are the wax figurines, showing blood and sweat and the face of death, bulging eyes of the hangman's victim, silent screams of the man on the rack. Looking down from an iron cage is skeleton grins at the scene.

FIGURES WATCH

At night when you're alone and everything is silent, it's downright terrifying, the women say.

"I couldn't stand it," says Elizabeth Baarda. "Those figures—they're watching you all the time."

Mrs. Baarda used to take her husband with her "and be used to keep whatever he could be sure he was always there."

Marie Curvelo still works there "but I don't like to come alone."

"My husband takes one mop and I take one. I mop, but I don't look around."

Mary Newcombe, manager at the cleaning firm, says she's no braver. Surprised one night by two electricians who came in to check the lighting, "I just stood there and screamed."

MR. AND MRS. RONALD BRUCE DANIELS

Daniels – Sheridan

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was decorated with tall standards of white and yellow mums with white satin bows designating the guest pews, on Saturday, June 12, when Marie Elizabeth Sheridan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sheridan was united in marriage to Ronald Bruce Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Daniels, Belleville R.R. 7.

Right Rev. Monsignor J. P. Sullivan officiated at the ceremony. Wedding music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Grant, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Adrian Vogt, in several selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie, featuring a scalloped neckline of lace adorned with seed pearls, and three-quarter length sleeves. The bouffant skirt was highlighted with a full train effect at back. A shoulder length veil of French illusion was caught by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses interspersed with white feathered carnations.

Miss Sheila Shoniker of Oshawa, cousin of the bride, as maid of honour and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Mattis, Bellyville, also cousin of the bride and Miss Patricia O'Brien, Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, were gowned alike. Each wore floor length organza over taffet aqua sheath featuring a scooped neckline and capped sleeves. Their headdresses consisted of a large double aqua bow worn across the back of the head enhancing their French roll hair styles. Cascade bouquets of white pom poms and aqua tinted mums, were carried.

Mr. Paul Shoniker, Ottawa, cousin of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. George Daniels, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Robert Roe, both of Belleville, were the ushers.

A reception was held in Club Canara where the bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask cloth, silver candelabra and centred with a three-tier weddikg cake misted about the base with white tulle encircling pink rosebuds.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a periwinkle blue crepe sheath with matching lace duster, blue and white accessories and a corsage of baby pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a rose colored lace over taffeta sheath dress, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride chose a Capri pink linen sheath with matching lacedusters, pink and white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Guests were present from Montreal, Toronto, Whitby and Kingston.

Nurse Denies Intervention Justified

TORONTO (CP) — One of three Ontarians nurses who worked together in the Dominican Republic disagreed with a missionary who said Thursday that the United States was justified in sending marines into the Caribbean country.

Sharon Crowe, who was in Toronto en route to her Orr Lake home 90 miles north of here for a rest period, said she couldn't agree with statements attributed to Rev. Micha l Dwyer in Halifax.

She admitted, however, that she worked in a rebel-held territory and therefore was of aware of what the average Dominican thought. But of one thing she was sure: "This is their (Dominicans) war."

Father Dwyer said in an interview that had the marines not landed in the republic there would still be complete and absolute chaos.

Miss Crowe, along with Caroline Bruyea of Etobicoke, a Toronto suburb, Maureen Gasper of Niagara Falls, and Dr. Cecila Reyes, a Filipino who interned at Kingston, were all part of the Yamaica outpatients clinic staffed by the Grey Nuns from Pembroke.

Working Girls Happy Over Bus Strike

By LINDA CRAWFORD

MONTREAL (CP) — Without doubt, that nuisance called the strike is the "in" thing in Montreal these days, but many working girls think the current strike paralyzing the transportation system is a lucky one.

"I hope the bus drivers never go back to work," said one downtown Montreal office girl. "I've met more people in a week than I've met in a year. My roommates and I now know our neighbors, and so everyone's having community parties."

Commuters in densely populated apartment areas handed together when the Montreal Transportation Commission strike started 10 days ago, and many people are finding pooled transportation faster, more pleasant and more sociable.

Offices have also set up car pools and some companies are getting their employees back and forth in company trucks.

MORALE BOOSTED

Married women are having their morale boosted. One housewife who couldn't get a taxi accepted a ride and was somewhat bewildered by a polite dinner invitation. Another housewife spent a full day driving stranded pedestrians in the family car.

A large part of the day-to-day conversation revolves around experiences encountered as a result of the strike. Montrealers are getting into contact with people outside their normal routine. For the time being, the big impersonal city is more like a friendly small town.

But it isn't all good. Trains are crowded and taxi drivers complain that business ' off at 10 p.m. because goes home early. without the adventurous spirit many hotel department stores are beginning to worry.

Traffic at rush hours — especially when fathers and daughters unaccustomed to driving in the city and those who usually leave their cars at home—is worse than ever.

Successful Living

Career Girls Often Marry Worried 'Too Bright' Told

DEAR DORIS — I am 18 years old but I have never had a real date. Part of the reason is that I have a 97% average. Boys only talk to me to find what homework we have or to borrow mine. Could you please tell me how to make boys realize that I am just as ordinary girl who would like to talk to them and have dates?

I want to go to university and become an archaeologist or a mathematician, but I also want to be married and have a family. Is it possible to do both well, without depriving my family of love and attention?

It seems useless to scrape up the money, then marry when I graduate. Also, will there be men who will want to marry a career girl? — TOO BRIGHT.

DORIS CLARE

DEAR TOO BRIGHT — The hazard is not being bright, but developing one-sidedly. What are you doing when your nose isn't in a book? What about sports, drama, other extra-curricular activities?

Under part of your education is social, you are cheating yourself. The university graduate who is not only bright but sociable and interested in people makes a super home-maker. And is equipped to do other interesting work later, when family raising tapers off, if she's a mind to.

Men marry career girls every day of the week.

DEAR DORIS — Guests are coming from a long distance to my wedding in August. We can put up some but not all.

How do we arrange for accommodation for the others? Should we reserve and pay for hotel rooms or would this be embarrassing? — BRIDE-TO-BE.

DEAR BRIDE-TO-EE — Out of town guests are your responsibility. The motel which is handling the reception can probably provide them with rooms.

Write your guests to say you would love to have everybody stay with you but that, with so many coming, you felt they would be more comfortable overnight at such-and-such motel, which is where the reception is being held. That you have reserved their rooms as your guests.

DEAR DORIS — I would like to know what steps could be taken to have a local druggist clean up his newsstand. By "clean up" I mean get rid of magazines, books, etc., that portray too much sex.

Maybe an organization could do more in this regard. — DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED — There is a Censorship Act, but the stickler is, who decides what is "too sexy" or "obscene"? There have been isolated cases in which a community group has exerted pressure on an offending merchant successfully.

As a principle, censorship goes against our right of free speech. What we really need is more of the right kind of reading matter, easily available.

Try asking your news vendor to supply some good paperbacks.

(Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? Ask Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.)

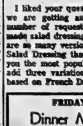
Readers' Friday Column



QUESTION:

Any chance of you having a recipe for Italian Salad Dressing? My bashful wishes are to make some and I have been unable to find a recipe. I certainly enjoy your columns and look at it nightly for new recipes and ideas . . . Mrs. E. S.

ANSWER:

I liked your question because we are getting an increasing number of requests for homemade salad dressings. But there are as many versions of Italian Salad Dressing that I will give you the most popular one then add three variations which are based on French Dressing.

FRIDAY
Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Cream of Tomato Soup; Tuna Salad Plate (see Thursday); garnished with Sliced Hard-Cooked Eggs; Warm Lemon Sponge; Raisin Rice Pudding; Top Milk; Tea.

POPULAR ITALIAN SALAD DRESSING:

6 tablespoons Roquefort cheese, crumbled, 2 tablespoons grated onion, ½ cup chopped parsley, ¼ cup wine vinegar, ¼ cup lemon juice, 4 anchovy fillets, finely cut, ¼ teaspoon coarse black pepper, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of garlic powder, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1¼ cups olive or salad oil.

Combine all the ingredients, adding the oil last. Beat until thoroughly blended. Best on shake well before serving. Keep refrigerated.

ITALIAN FRENCH DRESSING WITH THREE VARIATIONS:

First make French Dressing: One-half teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice (or 1 tablespoon each vinegar and lemon juice), ½ cup olive oil or salad oil. Combine and shake.

Italian Dressing No. 1: To French Dressing (above) add ½ teaspoon finely chopped chives, yolk of one hard-cooked egg, sieved and 2 finely minced sardines, (skinned and boned), ¼ teaspoon mustard. Shake well before using. Keep refrigerated.

Italian Dressing No. 2: To French Dressing (above) whip in 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon each minced red and green pepper, ½ teaspoon finely chopped chives. Shake well before using. Keep refrigerated.

ITALIAN DRESSING NO. 3: To French Dressing (above) whip in 1 teaspoon canned tomato paste, and add ½ teaspoon of each of the following: chopped parsley, chives and grated Parmesan cheese. Shake well before using. Keep refrigerated.

I hope that from the four variations I have given above the Italian flavorings that you can find the one which your husband wants.

Pipes, Cigars and Brandy, He Uses Them All at 106

STILL SPRY — Henry Shellmerdine was told at the age of 52 by an English doctor that he had tuberculosis and would die unless he moved to a better climate. He crossed the ocean to homestead at Lintlaw, Sask. The cure must have been effective because Mr. Shellmerdine, seen here during a holiday in Edmonton, is full of vim at age 106. Among his well-earned indulgences are choice cigars and a daily tumbler of brandy. (CP Photo)

EDMONTON (CP) — Henry Shellmerdine has faced the cold crisis in his first 100 years.

As a young man in Lancashire, he drove a beer wagon for a living. That provoked trouble when he fell in love with a girl who belonged to the Band of Good Hope, a temperance group. Mr. Shellmerdine switched to a job as a policeman and married her.

When he was 52, his doctor in England told him he had tuberculosis and would die unless he moved to a different climate. He ended up in Lintlaw, Sask., in 1911 as a homesteader.

If apparently had the right climate because he didn't find it necessary to retire from active farming until he was 81. And he's still going strong 15 years later.

Now a resident of Saskatoon, Mr. Shellmerdine is spending part of the summer at the home of his granddaughter here and plans to go to White Rock, B.C., to visit his great-granddaughter, Mrs. Albert McLeod.

ENJOYS LIFE

Although a little hard of hearing, he has a sharp wit and keen eyesight. He spends much of his time reading and watching television. He smokes choice cigars and a variety of pipes and drinks a daily tumbler of brandy. He also enjoys a game of poker or crib and takes an avid interest in televised sports events.

When a reporter arrived to interview him here, he professed disappointment. "I thought it would be a girl reporter."

He has some heartening words for today's younger generation. Asked if today's youngsters are much worse than those of Victoria England, he replied: "They couldn't be."

Crown Prince Gustaf And Princess Anne Linked Romantically

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Sweden's parliament has approved basic changes in the law governing the royal succession, arousing public speculation about the future of 18-year-old Crown Prince Carl Gustaf.

The main changes include raising to 25 from 21 the age at which a Swedish crown prince can succeed to the throne and providing that a crown prince who marries a commoner shall forfeit his right to the throne.

Yet the law makes no stipulation about a king marrying a commoner. As the justice department explained, the legislators assumed that a new king would be married before succession.

Most Swedes regard the likelihood of Crown Prince Carl Gustaf marrying a commoner, even after becoming king, as remote. The Swedish press has been linking his name with that of Britain's Princess Anne.

As Sweden's largest evening newspaper, Expressen, recently said: "The royalist English have a dream about a top royal wedding: A union between Princess Anne, 14, of England and Crown Prince Gustaf, 18, of Sweden. . . .

"Those who know how the strings are pulled behind the royal doors point out that there is a conscious arrangement between the two royal houses. Everything is being done to see that the crown prince becomes good friends with the English queen's daughter."

The changes in the succession law have also aroused speculation about the possibility of Sweden becoming republic, as favored by a substantial body of Swedish opinion.

Such a change, however, is regarded by experts as slight.

Moira

MOIRA — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meeks of Actinolite on Saturday.

Mrs. John Holden attended the convention at Athens last week.

A number from this area attended the funeral of Mr. Fred Ketcheson on Monday at Moira United Church and the interment after in Moira Cemetery.

TINY JAILHOUSE formerly used as overnight lockup in village of Tweed to be turned into an unique tourist information centre by the village Chamber of Commerce. Here booth operator Mrs. Vern Hammell turns key in old jail-house.

Ontario's Smallest Jailhouse Is Turned Into Tourist Office

What is believed to be Ontario's smallest jailhouse — a tiny high pealed stone structure in the village of Tweed — is to be preserved as a tourist attraction.

This week the 12 by 22 foot structure, long a familiar landmark on Tweed's main street, is to be opened as a tourist information centre—to plug the Land O'Lakes Tourist Region.

Built in the 1900, the tiny jailhouse served as the village lockup for nearly half a century and went into disuse only with the erection of the new Tweed municipal building.

But village council decision has been that unless a better use was found the old jail was slated for the wreckers' hammer.

URGED PRESERVATION

That is where the Tweed Chamber of Commerce and The Tweed News entered the picture.

Periodically letters to the editor appeared urging preservation of the old landmark and finally the idea of a tourist information booth developed with the Tweed Chamber taking it on as a project.

In recent weeks the job of renovation has been underway. The building has been repainted and one of the old cells restored to add to the building's historic attraction. Vern Hammell will be in charge of the tourist booth.

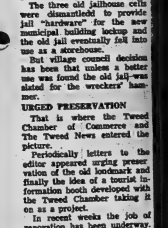
Tweed's old jailhouse dates back to just before the turn of the century when the village acquired the 22 by 45 foot lot on which to build its lock-up.

The lot was purchased from the township of Hungerford.

In 1903, three years after the erection of the jailhouse, it served as the overnight lockup for a Lennox and Addington county man charged with the bludgeon murder of his wife.

The man was brought to Tweed where the following day he was placed aboard a train for transportation to the county jail at Napanee, there to stand trial. The story goes that a few days after arriving in Napanee the man hung himself in his cell with bedsheets.

During the hungry depression years of the 1930's the old Tweed jailhouse was put to a really humanitarian use.



SHELTERED TRANSIENTS

Village old-timers recall that some nights as many as 16 transients were given shelter at the jail. Kind-hearted jagers took turns in cooking for the men to eat.

But times have changed. Today there are no more breadlines in Tweed and monetary values of the early 1900's have also gone by the boards.

For instance, when Clyde Bell, current editor of The Tweed News, called recently at the county registry office to check on the old jailhouse property deed he found that the 22 by 45-foot lot had been purchased for only $1.

Mr. Bell arranged for a photostat copy of the old property deed. The cost of the photostat copy—$1.50.

BEHIND BARS is what Tweed Chamber of Commerce president Clarence Woods appears to be. But it is all in fun as Mr. Woods and Vern Hammell prepare to open former jailhouse as tourist information booth.

Rail Commuter Service Is Approved

TORONTO (CP)—The legislature Thursday approved details of the government's proposed all commuter service along Lake Ontario amid charges by a Liberal member that it was a $7,000,000 give-away to Toronto.

Eddie Sargent (L — Grey North) said that if the government was going to spend $7,000,000 for transportation services for the Toronto area it should spend double that amount for like services in the rest of the province.

Premier Robarts told Mr. Sargent the Toronto area produces an enormous amount of provincial revenue that isn't necessarily all spent in and around Toronto.

The government's policy is not one of spending in any given area precisely the amount of money generated in taxes from that area, the premier said.

Highways Minister Charles MacNaughton said the government was financing the rail commuter project as an experiment to determine to what extent persons could be attracted to a form of transportation other than highway travel.

He said the advent of provincial rail commuting systems could mean huge savings—in capital expenditures for highway construction that would provide the government with extra money to spend in Owen Sound or other areas of the province.

Farmers Claim Debentures Sold Were Under Guise of Being Govt.-supported

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — Seven farmers testified at a royal commission hearing Thursday that salesmen for Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd. sold them debentures by under the guise of being government-supported.

They told the hearing before Mr. Justice Campbell Grant of the Ontario Supreme Court that salesman W. Clarke Archibald and director Morley Mills told them they "couldn't lose" on the debentures.

Eric Ralph Waldo Emerson of Hornings Mills, Ont., testified he sold the government bonds as a result of Mr. Archibald's salesmanship and purchased $3,500 worth of F.A.M.E. debentures.

He lost the money when F.A.M.E.'s purchase of a Burlington meat packing plant last summer fell through at the cost the co-operative its $1,500,000 down payment.

Both Mr. Archibald and Mr. Mills denied that they told anyone the debentures were government supported or that the farmers could not lose on their investment.

Mr. Emerson testified: "He (Mr. Archibald) said I couldn't lose and that the securities commission wouldn't allow them to sell these debentures without liquid assets behind them."

"It was a real fraud," he told the hearing.

Three brothers from Dutton, Ont., — Kenneth, Duncan and Hugh Leitch — testified they were told the same thing by Mr. Archibald and each purchased $300 in debentures. William Hilton of Dunwich Township and Harry Wallace Myers of Eldon Township said they each bought debentures worth $1,200 from Mr. Archibald.

Stanley Edwards of Navan testified he purchased a $500 debenture from Mr. Mills, who he claimed gave him a misleading statement on the safety of speck an investment. Mr. Edwards' testimony was supported by a F.A.M.E. member, Andrew Frey, of Desbarats.

Mr. Mills was emphatic in his denial of the charge.

"If I ever told anyone that it was backed by the government, may the Lord strike me blind," he said.

Mr. Archibald told the commissioner: "Sir, I did not tell anyone this was backed by the government. I said they paid as good or better as any government bond.

"I told no one they couldn't lose their money," he added, "but what more sound business could they invest in than their own business, the food business."

Mr. Archibald said he was instructed to be in touch with the shareholders to solicit their financial support of F.A.M.E. through the sale of debentures and also promote the F.A.M.E. program. He received more than $11,000 commission for his work from July, 1963 to December, 1964. He paid his own expenses.

Mr. Mills, a Kingston area farmer, accused daily newspapers, radio, periodicals, radio and television of contributing to the downfall of the co-operative. But Clayton Frey, of Sarnia, a former F.A.M.E. president, directed the blame at the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and the United Co-operatives of Ontario.

Mr. Frey said F.A.M.E. was trying to start something new for the farmer and it "didn't seem to be compatible with that of existing farm organizations." He said F.A.M.E. grew "animosity began to appear" and that this animosity, particularly from the OFA, heightened when F.A.M.E. was successful in raising funds.

"This was the biggest sin F.A.M.E. committed," he told the commission. As a result, he added, F.A.M.E. became a threat to the "ivory tower" and was identified as the OFA.

"You mean the OFA was jealous?" asked Commission Counsel R. A. Grieve, of Owen Sound.

"Yes," replied Mr. Frey.

Tony van Bridge Emerges As Drama Festival Star

STRATFORD (CP)—The audiences disagreed with the critics and the critics often disagreed with each other, but out of it all came one point of agreement—Tony van Bridge's star that rollicking rogue Falstaff, is the unchallenged star of the 1965 Shakespearean Festival.

For in the role, Mr. van Bridge has labored at Stratford, always winning acclaim but never before star status. He is for this portly graduate of Britain's Old Vic company, the third season is the lucky one, in which he brought Tuesday's opening night audiences to their feet shouting "bravos" and sent the critics in search of new words of praise.

In the early days of Stratford's festival, it relied heavily on box-office names, imported as well established actors as Sir Alec Guinness, James Mason, Alfred Drake, Bridget Bardot, actress Siobhan McKenna.

In more recent years, however, it has moved more and more to no-star system, which in fact lends itself better to most of Shakespeare's multi - character dramas.

Nevertheless, each season has tended to rate its own stars. Notable among them were Canadians Christopher Plummer and Douglas Campbell, John Colicos in the title role of King Lear last year, and this year Mr. van Bridge.

Mild-mannered and bespectacled, he defies the popular picture of the great Shakespearean actor. But stuffed with 35 pounds of padding, he dominates the stage as he plays the beer - swilling, bottom - pinching, scheming Falstaff to the hilt.

And in the last scene, in his final, fatal humiliation before the majesty of the new King Henry V, the audience is ready to forgive all and weep for him.

The festival opened its 16-week season Monday with Henry IV, followed Tuesday with Falstaff — actually Henry IV, Part Two—and turned from the chronicle plays Wednesday with Julius - Caesar. In the scheme of things, Falstaff had been considered a lame - duck play in the five - year plan adopted last season by present all the Shakespearean chronicle plays in sequence.

But Mr. van Bridge changed all that. The first of the Henry plays opened to something less than critical acclaim, although even then Mr. van Bridge and others, particularly Douglas Rain as Prince Hal, won individual praise.

Then, Tuesday night and second half, with Mr. van Bridge interpreting Falstaff as not so much a traditional stock part as a genuine character, sharp-witted, cunning and often lovable despite his many shortcomings.

But Mr. van Bridge did not do it alone. There was praise enough for the production to encompass also director Stuart Vaughan, designer Desmond Heeley, Mr. Rain and Mr. Ciceri, Eric Christmas as the pistol-packing Pistol, and most particularly, Frances Hyland as the gap-toothed Mistress Quickly, and Falstaff's group of tavern pals.

The main theme of the Henry plays is the gradual development of Prince Hal as he turns from his licentious life with Falstaff's crew to grasp his responsibilities and ends eventually with his coronation as King Henry V.

It is rejection of Falstaff. The performance of Mr. Rain as Hal promises much for next season, when the cycle continues with Henry V.

Falstaff, Caesar, first presented here 10 years ago and certainly the most colorful and magnificent of this year's festival plays, drew some of the most cutting critical comments, although several reviewers found it a pleasing and vigorous production.

But whatever the critics say, the audiences gave a hearty reception to all the productions offered. And ticket sales have already set records—passing the $700,000 mark compared with $570,000 at the same point last year.

Arthritic Turk Lands Up in Lawyer's Home

TORONTO (CP)—Kirkor Horhorunl, a Turkish arthritic who left his bed in St. Joseph's Hospital here Thursday after an 11-month lie-in, had trouble finding another place to stay.

As he toured the city in an ambulance, at $15 an hour, seeking accommodation, hotels refused to take him in and St. Joseph's refused to take him back.

It appeared finally that he spent Thursday night at his lawyer's house.

Horhorunl, 37, of Istanbul, had refused to leave his $34.60-a-day room at St. Joseph's until his arthritis was cured, despite a court order. He ran up a bill of $8,000.

Since the Turkish government's monetary policy prevents conversion of his money into Canadian or United States dollars, he is apparently destitute.

WILL PAY BILL

Ontario Health Minister Matthew Dymond said in the legislature Thursday the Hospital Services Commission will pay Horhorunl's hospital bill.

Dymond said he has spent $10,500 to find a cure for his arthritis.

The Turk had obtained a court order for him to leave his room by May 31. This state of affairs led a new date of June 7 was set, after which he was to be charged with contempt of court.

His lawyer, Robert Hogan, launched an appeal and a decision was to have been made Thursday, but he decided to leave his own accord.

Early Thursday afternoon he was wheeled out of the hospital into an ambulance. He and Mr. Hogan had reserved a room for him at the Royal York Hotel. They were NO RECEIVED.

But hotel officials said they had no record of him. They did have a reservation for Kirkor H. Kirkor, but they said they had none for Kirkor Horhorunl, and 70 minutes later they could not change their minds.

The ambulance driver, George Stokes, telephoned his company and was told that Mr. Hogan had reserved a room for Horhorunl at the Royal York Hotel.

However when Horhorunl arrived at the Seaway clerks said they had no reservation in his name.

Later ambulance driver Stokes told to take him back to St. Joseph's.

"Is he back?" gasped a hospital receptionist. "You're kidding."

But it turned out that the hospital were repainting his room and it was not available.

The ambulance finally took him to an address believed to be Mr. Hogan's home.

Course of Combat Rather Than Diplomatic Moves May Decide Viet Nam Fate

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the judgment of U.S. policy-makers, the prospects for peace in Viet Nam are more likely to be decided by the course of combat over the next several months than by diplomatic manoeuvres in this and other world capitals.

Officials say President Johnson is determined to press his peace offensive at every opportunity, even while expanding military operations.

At the moment, officials here are looking to a conference of British Commonwealth leaders in London for some possible new moves for the negotiations. However, the Johnson administration was cool to a call by Prime Minister Shastri of India for another pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Several peace-conference possibilities, arising from proposals made in the past by Britain, India and the United States among others, are still open. The possibility that Johnson might order another pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam is not ruled out, officials say.

But the conviction in high quarters here Thursday was that the North Vietnamese, the Chinese and the Viet Cong leaders in South Viet Nam still believe they can win the war. They are therefore not interested in negotiations at this time on any terms acceptable to the United States and the Saigon regime in South Viet Nam.

This conclusion is drawn in a 13 - point paper, summarizing peace moves on Southeast Asia over more than four years. The paper was recently prepared by the state department for Johnson and lists 13 major types of peace probes and proposals, all of which have faltered or failed.

The basic assessment in Washington of the current Vietnamese situation is that with the recent onset of the monsoon season, the Communists decided on major offensive operations in the belief that bad weather would seriously hamper U.S. air actions. The Communists thus would hope to win extensive victories in the ground in South Viet Nam.

The U.S. counter-strategy for this period is to convince the Viet Cong that they cannot win in this manner and that the United States will throw into the fight whatever is required to prevent them from taking over South Viet Nam. The U.S. hope is that after several months, the Communists will be compelled to reassess their position and prospects, perhaps taking a different view of peace negotiations.

The state department's 13 points on peace negotiations range from direct talks with Russia and China to a Canadian approach in North Viet Nam last month.

The document does not say with whom the United States would be prepared to negotiate, if and when peace talks can be arranged. Washington officials say privately, however, that the U.S. peace target, like its war target, is North Viet Nam, and they assume negotiations would be between primarily with that country and China.

Parliamentary Notebook

OTTAWA (CP) — Two young boys, who had been sitting at opposite ends of the Commons gallery, met outside the Parliament buildings and compared notes on what they had seen.

"I got a real good view of Pearson and Diefenbaker," said one.

"Yeah," said the other, "but you couldn't see Red Kelly I bet."

Mr. Kelly, Liberal member of Parliament for York West and star centre for Toronto Maple Leafs, sits at one end of the chamber, not in full view of the gallery.

Another day, a young tourist walked up to the information desk in search of two answers. Where is Mr. Pearson's office, and where is Red Kelly's?"

Mr. Kelly's office, unlike the prime minister's, is somewhat difficult to stumble across, it's off in a side alcove in the west block. But a remarkable number of people manage to find it.

Often it's a busload of school children, invited to Ottawa by a member. Along with all the other attractions, they want to see Red Kelly.

"I hate to say no," says the quiet, almost - shy member, "but sometimes it takes a heck of a lot of time."

In most cases, autographs are involved, plus a jabbering session on the ice hockey. Often the sessions are unexpected—as when the red-headed member takes a stroll outside the parliament buildings. Once he's spotted by a group of youngsters, the beat is shy.

Every day, his mailbox contains invitations for him to appear at functions that vary from Sunday school picnics to celebrity dinners.

"Sometimes it's a little too much," he said. "But I really like to go to the small organizations which can't afford to hire speakers."

Mr. Kelly, elected to Parliament in 1962, is looking forward to a summer parliamentary recess so he can take an all-encompassing look at his future. He'll decide whether to continue playing hockey next season—at the moment I think it's highly unlikely"—and whether he will aim at a life-long career in politics.

One of the factors that will influence his decision is his family life. His wife and three children live in Toronto and he sees them only on weekends when the House is not sitting. During the winter, when he's playing hockey, he seldom has a full day at home.

"I guess I am kind of a family man. I really miss them."

While a combination of hockey and Parliament "nurses takes a heck of a lot out of you," he says it's even more difficult in the off-season. "She has sure put up with an awful lot without complaining."

Weeklies Should Have Got Advertising on Boundaries

- - Alkenbrack

OTTAWA (CP) — Douglas Alkenbrack (PC — Prince Edward - Lennox) accused the government Thursday night of insulting the province's newspapers by not advertising the province's new electoral boundaries in them.

"This government again has shown its contempt for democratic rights and its ingrained arrogance," he said in a Commons adjournment debate.

Some $250,000 had been spent this week to advertise the new electoral boundaries in Ontario daily papers, "the favorites of this government." But the weeklies, an equally important element of the press, were ignored.

Every voter has the right to know the particular of his constituency. This is discrimination against hundreds of thousands of rural voters.

There are 215 weeklies in Ontario, Mr. Alkenbrack said, with a total circulation of 600,000 and an over-all readership of some 2,000,000. To exclude them from something like redistribution is "ludicrous."

"This is nothing but an insult to the weekly newspapers."

The government should tell the Ontario redistribution commission to change its policy and carry the advertisements in the weeklies next week.

Larry Pennell, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Gordon, said he shares the opposition MP's concern.

The problem is that the redistribution commissions are not Crown agencies and thus not open to instruction by a cabinet minister. However, State Secretary Lamontagne has passed along the particular complaint and is hopeful of a favorable response from the commission.

The Bay of Quinte Country Club course has been admitted to the "charmed circle" of 68 approved by the Ontario Golf Association for official tournament purposes.

This was disclosed at a dinner given by Country Club directors to OGA officials last night. Representing the OGA were secretary Mrs. Margaret Williams, and special representatives Messrs. Sam Chamberlain and Norman Falkner.

Mr. Chamberlair is a native of this city and spent his boyhood here. He is a brother of former Alderman Fred Chamberlain of this city. Mr. Falkner is the chairman of the OGA handicap committee and said to be the best in Ontario.

OGA director T. A. Carruthers chaired the dinner-meet due to the fact club president Everett Falrman was unable to be present.

Approval of the course was noted in the fact OGA officials gave club directors their choice of tournaments for next year. These included the "Champion of Champions," Winter competitions, or a qualifying round for the Canadian Amateur.

Director consensus was the "Champion of Champions" which would attract club champions from 90 clubs of the province. ..OGA officials agreed when informed of the early availability of the course in the spring.

The "deceivingly tough" course of Quinte, as one player dubbed it yesterday drew comment from Mr. Falkner who said it was "unusual because it had a par five 386 yards hole."

Mrs. Wilson spoke on the low number of entries for the OGA Best Ball Tournament which got under way at ten o'clock this morning. Thirty-five "pairs" including two from the Bay of Quinte comprised the field at this writing.

She said the closeness of dates of various tournament left some effect on the entry list here. A lot of golfers were readying for the big provincial and open championships while others were finishing competitions and could not find the time.

However, the names in golf are here, including the Moreland brothers, Dave and Bill of North Bay, the defending best-ball champions who battle Dick Kaipe and Al Akett of Don Mills.

What is expected to be the feature battle of the tournament sees William Rogers and Jack Jamieson of Peterborough, clash with Nick Westock, Canadian amateur champion and Lou Valentine, both of Mississauga, Port Credit.

One of the two Bay of Quinte teams, Mac White and Peter Jones, drew tough opposition in Bruce Brewer, last year's Willingdon Cup team member and Ken Thorpe, the "southpaw" champion of the OGA. Both are from the Whitevale Golf Club.

The second Quinte entry of Val Smith and Dave Jones, were matched with John Tyers and Don Shepherd of Islington.

The first foursome Ted Durey and Carl Beeton of New Uplands, and Bob Labett and Blaine Hamilton of Board of Trade, Woodbridge, tood off at 10 a.m. today. The last entry was scheduled to go at 12.40 p.m., finishing around 4.55 or 5 p.m.

The OGA Best Ball Tournament is a red letter page in the archives of the Country Club here since it is the first time it has been held outside of Metro Toronto since its inception seven years ago.

It is sponsored by the Oakdale Country Club which has donated the handsome Oakdale Trophy and awards to the top six pairs finishing. The presentations will be made directly following the finish of the last foursome.

OGA officials toured the course early this morning and decided on what rules the tournament would be played under.

The weather at this early writing was bright and sunny with little or no wind. The course was in excellent condition, thanks to club pro and course superintendent George Bakos.

"Your course is deceivingly tough," said a veteran competitor after shooting 12 holes yesterday afternoon. "It might fool a lot of the boys. I doubt if any more than three pairs break your par of 71."

Establish Bauer Memorial

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Former associates in the sports world, including executives of the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen hockey club, Thursday announced the establishment of a Bobby Bauer Memorial Foundation.

Bauer, a former star right-winger with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, died of a heart attack last September at 46.

A trust fund to be administered by the foundation directors will be established from the proceeds of a $25-a-plate dinner slated for Sept. 30. The fund will also provide for two scholarships for young Canadian athletes planning to attend a Canadian university.

Nagle Tops With 68 ★★★★★ Palmer, Venturi Slump

Nicklaus 'Blows'; 10 Behind Leader

By BOB GREEN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jack Nicklaus surveyed the collapse of his game, wrecked by the tricky winds and a kink in the swings then calmly announced: "I still think I can shoot this course in 65 or 66. That's what kind of golf will win it."

The Ohio strongboy never recovered from a two-over-par 6 on the first hole of the U.S. Open golf tournament Thursday and staggered in 10 strokes behind Australian Kel Nagle's leading 68.

Nicklaus, however, had some high - priced company. Arnold Palmer, the slumping four-time Masters champion, limped home with a 76 and defending champion Ken Venturi's dream of a repeat burst on a shocking 41-40 for 81.

All three may have troubles making the cut at the halfway point tonight when the starting field of 136 pros and 14 amateurs is trimmed to a low 50 and ties. Four already have dropped out and the troubled Venturi could be the next he may have had enough.

Stricken with a circulatory ailment in his right hand, Venturi had 40 putts on his round and said: "I had practically no feeling in my hands. I hope I can play Friday."

George Knudson of Toronto shot a 36 and 44 for an 80 total. Fellow Canadian Bob Panasiuk of Windsor was five strokes behind with 45-40 85.

The 7,191 yards of the Bellerive Country Club course, longest ever for a U.S. Open, shocked the experts who called it a bitters course and gobbled up the sluggers.

All the leaders are singles hitters.

The 44-year-old Nagle, who won the Canadian Open last year but has never won in the United States, never has been a slugger. He's one stroke up on amateur Deane Beman, another light hitter, and Mason Rudolph, a tour regular, the only others to par 70.

Little Gary Player of South Africa turned in a par five-two round for a par 70, matched by Rex Baxter, Al Geiberger and Lou Graham.

Nicklaus, the 25 - year - old Masters champ who was gunning for a professional grand slam, explained his collapse.

"I've developed a kink in my swing," Nicklaus said. "I'm hitting everything to the left. It's not exactly a hook, the ball starts to the left and just keeps on going left."

Palmer had no excuses.

"I really wasn't that bad, not as bad as a 76. But I'm not hitting the ball well, not well at all."

Henley Entry Record

By CRAIG SWAYZE
St. Catharines Standard

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Canada is sending its largest rowing contingent in history to this year's Royal Henley Regatta.

Leading the way to the English rowing classic are George Hungerford and Roger Jackson of Vancouver, the 1964 Olympic gold medal pair, and a St. Catharines Collegiate Institute eight, 1965 Canadian scholastic champions.

The pair will be joined in the silver goblets by two spares from the St. Catharines eight while the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup competition for schoolboy eights will see the Canadian champions number ing a Shawnigan Lake school crew from British Columbia as part of its opposition.

EARNED GRANT

The St. Catharines boat earned the right to a federal fitness fund grant for half its expenses to the English regatta by defeating the Shawnigan Lake crew at last summer's Canadian scholastic rowing championships here. The easterners finished eight seconds up on the B.C. entry and clocked 4:33 for the mile.

A week earlier, the St. Catharines youngsters earned a second to LaSalle High School of Philadelphia in the senior eight final at the U.S. scholastic rowing championships in Washington. But in taking second, the Canadians beat the defending Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup winners, Washington - Lee High School of Arlington, Va.

Boasting a total of 24 years' rowing experience, the St. Catharines CI eight averages 18 years of age, six feet one inch in height and 164 pounds.

Tribe On Warpath; Win 5 In Row

The pitching trio of Sammy McDowall, Sonny Siebert and Luis Tiant has been the hottest in the American League the last four weeks. And because of them, Cleveland Indians, hardly given a mention in the pre-season prognostications, are breathing down the necks of the league leaders.

In seventh place a month ago, the Indians today are fourth, only 3½ games off the pace.

Right hander Siebert Thursday night fired a three-hitter, the seventh season high of 15 as the Indians blanked Washington Senators 5-0 for their fifth straight triumph.

The night before, Tiant buried a one-hit shutout and the night before that McDowall turned back the Senators with five hits. The three pitchers have accounted for 10 of Cleveland's 27 victories. Since May 15, they have won 13 of 16.

In other American League games, Baltimore Orioles outlasted New York Yankees 3-1 in 16 innings, Minnesota Twins defeated Chicago White Sox 3-1 and Detroit Tigers nipped Boston Red Sox 6-5. Kansas City Athletics and Los Angeles Angels were not scheduled.

The Indians wrapped up their victory in the first inning, jumping off to a 4-1 lead at the expense of Bennie Daniels.

Leon Wagner singled home two runs, Rocky Colavito and rookie Duke Sims singled home the others.

Siebert's 15 strikeouts were the highest total in the American League in a nine-inning game. McDowall also struck out 15, in a 10-inning game.

Minnesota widened its first-place lead over the White Sox to 1½ games on the strength of Jim Kaat's four - hit pitching. Teammates Zoilo Versalles and Don Mincher assured the southpaw of his sixth success with home runs.

Russ Snyder was the key figure in both Oriole runs as Baltimore downed the Yankees. In the sixth, he drove in the tying run with a sacrifice fly. In the 16th, he singled, reached third when catcher Doc Edwards threw Lois Aparicio's bunt into centre field, and came home with the tying run on pinch hitter Bob Johnson's sacrifice fly.

Four Baltimore pitchers — Robin Roberts, Stu Miller, Harvey Haddix and Dick Hall—collaborated to hold the Yankees scoreless after Roger Maris had homered in the first inning.

Four double plays snuffed out as many Yankee threats in the last seven innings.

Norm Cash's home run, his first since April 27, broke a 5-5 tie with Boston and gave Detroit its fifth straight victory. It was the seventh straight loss for the Red Sox, who led 5-3 when the Tigers came to bat in the eighth.

A two-run homer by Al Kaline, following Dick McAuliffe's solo smash, tied the score. Carl Yastrzemski hit his ninth home run for the Red Sox, the last five against Detroit pitching.

Rain Cancels Softball Games

Rain washed out all ball games scheduled for city and district teams last night.

Included among postponed contests were two Belleville and district Softball League tilts, Stirling at Trudeau Motors and Bloomfield at Madoc.

Also washed out were two Commercial tilts, Stewart Warner vs Black Diamond Cheese, and Tee-Niaar Daubers vs Belvedere Hotel.

It was expected that all minor baseball and softball games were also cancelled because of the storm.

Osteen Completes Dodger Big Four

One-Hits Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Claude Osteen limited San Francisco Giants to just one hit —a second inning single by Jack Hiatt—while posting his first National League shutout in a 2-0 victory Thursday night.

Acquired in the off - season trade that sent Frank Howard to Washington, the 25-year-old left hander has combined with Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres to form the most effective "big four" in the majors with all showing earned run averages under 2.50.

Despite a record of six victories against six losses—he has lost three one-run games and a pair by two runs—Osteen has a sparkling 2.48 e.r.a. That compares favorable to 2.04 for Koufax, 2.27 for Drysdale and 2.37 for Podres.

While Osteen was continuing his sharp pitching for the National League leaders, Vern Law posted his sixth straight victory his entering seven hits as Pittsburgh Pirates downed St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 and handed Bob Gibson his sixth straight setback.

Second - place Milwaukee Braves remained 3½ back by defeating Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and Chicago Cubs edged Houston Astros 3-2 in 10 innings. Cincinnati Reds and New York Mets were not scheduled.

Osteen got the only support he needed from batterymate John Roseboro, who singled in two first-inning runs off Gaylord Perry, then singled and scored the final Dodger run in the third on a passed ball.

Hiatt's hit, with two out in the second inning, was a clean single to left field.

Law, meanwhile, got more than enough support from Willie Stargell, who drove in three runs with his 15th homer and a single as the Pirates made it 33 victories in their last 27 games.

The Braves, trailing 3-4, whipped the Phillies with a three-run eighth inning uprising that started when Felipe Alou drew a walk off Ray Culp. Richie Allen's throwing error s Mack Jones' bunt and an intentional walk to Hank Aaron filled the bases.

Joe Torre then singled in the tying and lead runs before another error, by John Herrnstein, enabled Aaron to spare the final run.

The Cubs got the winner in the 10th against Don Nottebart when Doug Clemens doubled, moved to third on an infield out and scored on a single by Billy Williams.

The Astros had tied the score in the seventh when Jim Gentile singled, moved up on a wild pitch and a force out and scored on Walt Bond's single.

Leafs Keep Pace With Crackers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In their battle for first place in the International League on Thursday night, Atlanta Crackers used the long bomb for their 7-1 win over Syracuse Chiefs while Toronto Maple Leafs were content with sniping tactics for their 6-2 victory over Toledo Mud Hens.

The Leafs rattled off 12 hits in their win over the Mud Hens, with pitcher Doug Gentry going the distance for his sixth victory against six losses.

Jim Gosger, Roman Mejias and Russ Nixon were the big guns for the second - place Leafs, each with two hits.

Toledo did not sit back and take it, however, as they picked up 10 hits. Starter Ed Merritt was the losing pitcher.

Atlanta remained six games ahead of the Leafs with their 11th - inning victory. Jim McKnight blasted a long drive to deep centre with the bases loaded which scored in pinch hitter Adrian Garrett.

Syracuse sent the game into extra innings with back-to-back doubles in the top of the ninth. Atlanta scored its other run on a homer by Bill Robinson in the sixth inning.

Seniors Golf Championship

Hole-in-One Steals Show

• VANCOUVER (CP)—George C. Hevenor of Toronto found a cure for his ailing toe shots of the day before to take the lead Thursday in the Canadian Seniors golf championship.

Demonstrating the golf that gave him three Canadian titles in 1962 and 1964, Hevenor scored a two-over-par 74 in the second round of the three-round championship. He had a 76 Wednesday for a total of 150.

Rene R. Demers of Calgary scored the first ace of his seven-year golf career to steal the show from the leaders. He used a seven iron to hole the shot on the 136-yard, par-three 14th hole. He is playing in his first major tournament and ended the round with an 83 for a 167 total.

James R. Macfarlane of Vancouver gave up the second place he held Wednesday to John E. Richardson, also of Vancouver.

Richardson had a 36 - hole total of 152 on identical rounds of 76.

LUCK RAN OUT

Macfarlane finished with a 74 Wednesday but his luck ran out Thursday as he took second and he ended with an 84 to go into a third-place tie with Steve Byrne, Kelowna, a wiry golfer from Powell River, B.C.

A rookie back was William W. Martin of Brantford, the seniors' champion in 1963. He had rounds of 78 and 79 for a total 157.

Scores carded by other Ontario players included:

Dr. G. R. Jones, Sudbury, 79-87—166; Raymond T. Smith, Kingston, 80-86—166; Dr. W. Goldwin Gray, Owen Sound, 100-83—183; Dr. Robert MacKinlay, Sarnia, 104-106—210.

British Columbia continued to lead in the senior inter - provincial team championship in a wide margin.

The B.C. foursome had a low aggregate score for 36 holes of 662, 30 strokes up on Ontario, the next rivals.

The tournament moved into the final round today.

RIDERS SIGN TWO

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Football Conference Thursday night announced the signing of two rookie imports, a quarterback and a linebacker, for the 1963 season. Quarterback Don Gilbert, 22, comes from Boston University and Buffalo University, and linebacker Tony Sabatino, 21, from the University of Miami.

The Red Sox clustered two runs in the first and four in the seventh to defeat Stratford Chiefs for their third straight win.

The Panthers won their second game in as many nights with strong pitching from Court Heinbuch who held Listowel Mustangs to four hits.

Heinbuch allowed only one hit in the first seven innings, but weakened in the eighth when he gave up three singles and one run. He struck out 12 Listowel batters.

Stratford's Jack Taylor accounted for four of his teams seven hits with a double and three singles.

Jim Bournes, a right-hander from Yale University, pitched his second win of the season for Brantford.

Senior Lacrosse

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP)—Veteran Curly Mason's goal at 7:08 of the first overtime period gave Peterborough Speedy Urns an 11-10 win over Port Credit Sailors in Ontario Lacrosse Association senior action Thursday night.

The Sailors pulled goaltender Porky Russel with a minute remaining in the period but were unable to beat Ross Dunn in the Peterborough goal for the tying tally.

The victory moved Peterborough into a second-place tie with Brampton and St. Catharines.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Hugh Dittfach is fast rounding his shape for the Queen's Plate and Thursday's effort at Woodbine could give him considerable backing in that classic scheduled for Saturday, June 28.

Dittfach, formerly of Calgary, rode three winners, including Fags Service in the second half of the $24.60 daily double. He also romped home ahead of the field with Gay Robin in the third and Gay Bride in the sixth.

The leading rider at Fort Erie earlier in the season, Dittfach's triple effort vaulted him into second place among the jockeys at Woodbine.

The second race also saw a spectacular two-horse spill in which riders Don Hale and Ali Nash, both of Toronto, escaped serious injury.

Hale's Mount, Aged Dust, clipped the heels of Maple Wee Yancy, Nash in the saddle, catapulted over the fallen horse.

Nash was only shaken up in the mishap but Hale was taken to hospital for treatment of an injured shoulder.

Believe Art Will Attract PQ Visitors

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec is turning to art this year to attract tourists to the province.

French-Canadian artist Andre L'Archeveque has been commissioned by the department of tourism, fish and game to do three paintings of Quebec scenes to convey the "Frenchness" of Quebec and to bring out that it is a province distinct from the others.

Each scene will form the centre of color and black-and-white advertisements in North American magazines and newspapers.

Robert Prevost, assistant deputy minister responsible for tourism, says it is the first time any Canadian province has undertaken such a campaign.

Full-page color ads have been placed in newspapers in New York, Maryland, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. Smaller ads will appear in other wide-circulation publications as part of the province's bid for a larger share of the tourist dollar.

The department has also ordered 30,000 reproductions of the paintings for those who clip the coupon and send for them.

RELIGIOUS MEET SET

OTTAWA (CP) — Representatives of 28 religions, sects, churches and faiths will meet here July 5 in the most widely representative inter - faith conference held in Canada at the invitation of a government agency. ANNOUNCE PAY RISES

Saskatchewan's Doctors Pleased With Liberals

REGINA (CP) — Time has soothed the wounds opened by the crisis-ridden introduction of Saskatchewan's medical care plan three years ago.

Time also has brought a change of government. Doctors say they feel they can work better with the present Liberal administration than with the former CCF government which launched the plan in 1962 over the vehement protests of the medical men.

Time has resulted in wide, though not unanimous, public acceptance of the compulsory, comprehensive scheme.

Most doctors and the executive of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons have the passage of more time will bring changes in those features of the plan to which they have always objected.

Meanwhile the medical profession appears willing to live with the present plan, although Dr. Fred Wigmore of Moose Jaw, a member of the college council, says: "The wounds are still there and they'll come out in the open grin if there's ever any more harassment of doctors."

Dr. Wigmore says the profession isn't looking for the new government "to make any changes right away."

"Time will show them that . . . what we're telling the people is true—there's something fundamentally wrong with this plan."

Saskatchewan citizens still debate merits of medical care, but with much less vehemence and persistence than in the first months after its introduction.

One opponent is Herb Pedwick, a leading Regina businessman. At one time he was acting chairman of the Saskatchewan Keep Our Doctors committee, a now-defunct organization dedicated to delaying the start of the medical care plan in 1962 to prevent an exodus of unhappy doctors.

"I'm concerned about deliberate abuse of this kind of plan," he says. "You don't have to go to a doctor for a headache or a stomach ache, but lots of people are taking advantage of this plan to do just that."

This criticism is echoed by many doctors. They suggest imposition of deterrent fees—small out-of-pocket payments made by the patient for each medical service. As the scheme now stands, most medical services are fully insured and no out-of-pocket payment is required.

Mr. Pedwick voices another common complaint of doctors when he says: "Government just can't run something like this as cheaply as private business. They've got so many people over at the commission (the plan's administrative headquarters) they don't know who they all are."

The basic desire of most doctors is for a change to a voluntary plan, under which doctor-operated agencies such as Medical Services Incorporated would provide medical care insurance packages for those wanting them, with the government giving financial aid to poor persons.

Under the province's compulsory scheme all persons must purchase insurance and all get the same insurance package.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons suggests doctor-operated agencies would be valuable as a means of providing varied packages tailored to the needs of each family or individual. Doctor-operated agencies would act as a shield against government control of the medical profession.

Typical of many who support the existing plan is Myrtle Surik. She, her husband David, a bricklayer, a shopkeeper, and their four youngsters have always been healthy.

"I don't think medical services are something you should peddle in the street. This plan brings medical insurance within the financial reach of everybody, including even the chronically ill who couldn't get it before from doctor-operated agencies.

"Often the people who need medical care most are the very ones who can't afford it or who won't insure the cost of it voluntarily. These are the people this plan helps."

Mrs. Surjik says that when doctors closed their offices and provided only emergency service in Saskatchewan for three weeks in 1962 to protest the implementing of the medical care plan, she felt her doctor "violated a contract with me."

M. B. Derrick, executive director of the medical care insurance commission, the body that administers the medical care plan, says the last year has brought a marked improvement in relations between the commission and doctors.

Donald Tansley, former commission chairman, was replaced by Dr. D. G. Murray, an ophthalmologist, after the Liberals defeated the CCF government in last year's election. Doctors welcomed having a colleague as head of the plan.

Mr. Derrick says doctors have found that some of their fears have not been realized. They feared violation of the confidential nature of the doctor-patient relationship; state intervention in the practice of medicine, or a mass exodus of doctors.

With all persons insured for medical services, doctors are better off financially too. Many doctors no longer have to accept chickens in lieu of bad debts," Mr. Derrick says.

The Liberals say they plan no change in the basic structure of the plan, including its compulsory aspect. But A. E. Blakney, former CCF health minister, says they may reflect political considerations rather than a Liberal belief that a comprehensive, compulsory plan is preferable to a voluntary one. "You'd have to have rocks in your head to touch it," he says.

Total cost of the plan in 1964 was $23,183,268 and expenditures on medical services under the plan were $23.35 per capita. In 1963 total cost was $21,449,979 and per capita cost of medical services $23.01.

The government — appointed Thompson advisory planning committee on medical care said medical service cost increases could be expected to level off after four or five years as persons who were uninsured when the plan went into operation completed the transition to the point where they made full use of insured services.

Living Dead Roam Through Italian Towns

ROME (Reuters)—The case of Salvatore Gallo, still technically guilty of murdering his brother who turned out to be alive, has reinforced the belief of many Italians that they have one of the most ponderous, widespread and inefficient judicial set-ups in the world.

Gallo, a Sicilian peasant, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his brother Paolo after a quarrel over some land.

But Paolo was really alive, in hiding. He was found seven years later. Salvatore was consequently released from prison.

Salvatore's lawyer asked for a revision of the case.

The public prosecutor replied that this was impossible under existing laws. He should be rearrested and returned to prison to serve his sentence when, if necessary, the question of a pardon by the president of the republic, not a reversal of the verdict, could be considered.

But then legislation was submitted to parliament which will straighten out such anomalies in future. Salvatore, meanwhile, is still free and still guilty.

The case aroused an outcry in the press. Public attention was focused on this and similar absurdities.

One magazine cited the case of a man living in a town in Umbria. While transacting business with the local authorities he learned he had been registered as having died three years previously.

He showed the local government official his identity card, his driving licence and his game licence, all in perfect order, and asked what could be done about it.

Unperturbed, the official answered: "You say that you are not dead, you must present a certificate of continued existence."

But asked if he would kindly issue such a certificate the official said: "I, of course, cannot do so, because as far as I am concerned you are legally deceased."

Halifax Group Looks After Unfortunates

HALIFAX (CP) — Physically disabled people receive braces and boots from a non-profit organization here that strives for perfection.

The world of the Nova Scotia Brace and Appliance Centre, employing 10 people, revolves around polio victims, thalidomide children, arthritics, and other victims of physical deformities.

Exactness in making all types of braces, orthopedic boots and shoes is emphasized by a seven-year apprenticeship. Fourth generation bootmaker John Hoar says tolerances are taboo; "It's either smack on or it doesn't fit."

The 19-year-veteran says his division of the Nova Scotia Rehabilitation Centre can meet any medical profession requirements.

"We are like a drug store in that respect. We can't do anything without the doctor's prescription," he says. "There's no mass production here — everything is individual."

Shop Foreman Ludwig Schutzeanies, a registered prosthetist who learned his trade in Germany, fits 178 customers a month.

"No two people are alike," he says, "and no two people can wear the same brace or boot. If we can't change a manufactured boot to fit a deformed foot, we make our own — and they fit!"

Factory manufactured parts are used, he says, "but everything has to be cut, shaped and fitted perfectly for maximum efficiency and comfort."

"It costs a customer about $60 for a pair of full-length leg braces. If they can't afford to pay, welfare sources, the March of Dimes or a service club pays the bill. We have to foot the bill in many cases."

Controlled pressure from a special brace, applied in the right spot, slowly brings deformed spines to normal. Badly deformed spines require corrective surgery before use of the brace.

Mr. Hoar says there is no embarrassment at the centre — no more than in a doctor's office. "It is something that has to be done and people accept it."

The staff—which does extra work on hospitalized patients—is paid by the government.

Different Ways of Life Problem for Volunteers

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP)—What would you do if you saw a dying donkey being pecked by a crow? A Canadian in India prepares the donkey's festering wounds with antiseptic and was laughed at for his trouble.

The people who laughed consider Westerners cruel because they kill animals. This made the Canadian's concern for the donkey seem ridiculous to Indians.

What would you do if you were teaching in eastern Nigeria and discovered you were expected to teach a biology class the flora and fauna of England, not of Africa? If you tampered with the curriculum your students might fail grade-ending exams set in England.

Situations like these underscore the fact that young Canadians who volunteer to work in emerging countries under the auspices of Canadian University Service Overseas must go equipped with more than a sense of adventure and an eagerness to help.

CUSO is an agency sponsored by Canadian universities and several national organizations. Set up four years ago, it is operated largely by volunteers and until recently was financed largely by universities, member groups and private donations.

In 1964 the federal government began providing transportation overseas, and in April External Affairs Minister Paul Martin announced a government grant of $500,000 to CUSO. The grant will allow CUSO to place about 300 volunteers by September. It now has 250 overseas, 50 of whom are due home this summer.

About two-thirds are working as teachers, most of them in secondary schools. The next largest groups are nurses and agricultural specialists. A few are doctors, engineers, social workers, home ecdhomists.

Next year's program calls for 25 in India, 15 in Malaysia, 15 in South America, 30 in the Caribbean area and the rest in English- and French-speaking African countries.

CUSO volunteers are drawn from schools all across Canada and are graduates of degree or technical courses. Most are 23 or 24, and there are a few more men than women.

What they volunteer for in a two-year stint in a country that asks for someone with their particular skills. During their two years they are paid at a rate comparable to that of the local people doing similar work, are given the same vacation time, and are encouraged to spend some of that working. Their housing arrangements are made for them by host countries.

A CUSO pamphlet says: "They will go, not as experts, but as junior persons who will serve on a basis of equality with those with whom they will live and work."

Thomas Schatzky, national vice-president and secretary of the Toronto CUSO committee, says volunteer screening and orientation starts as early as possible, and it usually begins with what amounts to an attempt to discourage recruits.

"We have five or six general talks in the fall and spring terms. We try to present a balance between personal reminiscence from returned volunteers, and problems, especially personal problems.

"We try to paint the blackest picture at first."

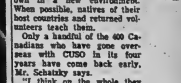
Mr. Schatzky was among the first group of CUSO volunteers. He worked in India and then returned to the University of Toronto for post-graduate study. He says the first personal interview for volunteers is an informal discussion of motives and expectations. "We want volunteers to think about their motivation. We try to avoid rejection if we don't understand themselves. At first it doesn't matter what their answer to a question is, it matters how they have one."

The second is a more formal interview with a senior panel of CUSO members and faculty.

The recruits are rated and their names sent to CUSO's Ottawa headquarters. There the names, ratings and references of all recruits are considered and matched with the jobs available.

CUSO forwards its sorted list when appointments are confirmed, tries to supply the volunteers with as much information as possible about the places to which they will be going.

In the summer, all volunteers are sent to orientation courses and go to their assignments from there. If they are going to teach, they first spend a month on a teacher-training course. Then they separate to take orientation courses for the areas to which they will be going.



This year volunteers for Asia will go to the University of British Columbia, the Caribbean group to the University of Toronto, the English - speaking African group to McGill University, the French-speaking to the University of Montreal.

In about a week the volunteers are instructed in the language, history and sociology of their host countries. They are taught health measures and warned of the possibility of suffering culture shock on their own in a new environment. When possible, natives of their host countries and returned volunteers teach them.

Only a handful of the 400 Canadians who have gone overseas with CUSO in its four years have come back early, Mr. Schatzky says.

"I think on the whole they have been extremely well accepted."

Lease of Wetlands Is Weapon Used in Battle to Save Ducks

By BOB TRIBBEE

EDMONTON (CP)—How do you reconcile a grain farmer to living with ducks that threaten valuable grain crops?

It's a difficult question the Canadian Wildlife Service is trying to solve to avert a disastrous assault on duck breeding grounds in the southern Prairies.

The Prairies produce more than 70 per cent of North America's most sought-after ducks—about 5,000,000 birds annually—and the bulk of Canada's rich wheat harvest.

In an attempt to settle the conflict that now exists between grain and duck harvests on the Prairies, the wildlife service has launched a five-year pilot project under which valuable potholes and sloughs are leased for long periods from the farmers.

The wetlands, prime duck-nesting areas, are located near or in grain fields and the birds feed on the crops. Many farmers combat the duck menace by draining potholes and sloughs and sowing the land to grain.

SEEN AS CRISIS

This leaves the waterfowl without a breeding ground and they are forced elsewhere, often to areas that cannot support them.

If wildlife service hopes that revenue received for the wetlands combined with several methods of protecting crops from feeding ducks will convince farmers waterfowl no longer are a hazard.

Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing said recently the competition for wetlands across Canada, especially on the southern Prairies, among wildlife, agricultural, industrial and residential interests "is reaching crisis proportions."

"We only have to look to the northern prairie states to see what will happen unless we move quickly to prevent the loss of habitat that is vital to migratory waterfowl, one of our most beautiful and valuable renewable national resources."

In the last few years more than 345,000 Canadians have participated in waterfowl hunting.

Since the wildlife service launched its pilot project three years ago it has leased 1,900 acres of wetlands for an average annual price of $4.42 an acre. The leases are for 25 years and the price is based on the value of surrounding land.

Forty individuals and one Hutterite colony have agreed to lease potholes and sloughs untouched during the life of the lease. All are located in prime nesting areas.

Ron Mackay, operations supervisor for the western region of the wildlife service, said the 1965 leasing program still is under study.

"In the first three years we leased nesting areas scattered throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year we hope to operate on a more equal basis and probably will reflect an area in Saskatchewan."

He added the wildlife service is still unsure about the length of its leases and how best to co-ordinate efforts to preserve the nesting grounds.

"By 1967 we hope to have these answers and launch a full - scale leasing program across Canada. This will cost about $3,000,000 a year to operate."

At the Park

TODAY — SATURDAY

NOT A "FREE" FROM STAR OF FILM

Express every emotion, love hate, fear, surprise, without uttering a single word. That was the task faced by beautiful Linda Saunders in the filming of "Stars of the Wilderness," now at the Park Theatre. As a "girl of nature" who had grown up to young womanhood in the primeval Alaskan forest without seeing or hearing a man, Mara cannot talk or understand a word. With glacier wolves as her friends, animals and guardians she communicates by uttering little animal sounds. When she has occasion to cross a forest ranger and attacks him because she believes he's going to hurt her wolves, he attempts to teach her to talk, but finally they have to rely on signs and facial expressions to understand one another.

When a brutal trapper captures her and the threat of getting her on exhibition, Mara doesn't utter a single sound as she battles to escape. Rated by preview audiences as a picture that "speaks volumes" in its picture family, "Mara of the Wilderness" co-stars Adam West with Mort Sahl. Mara's part is highlighted by magnificent wildlife scenes in color.

At the Belle

Beautifully Filmed "Callaways" in Family Entertainment and Mora

Walt Disney opens up a new dimension of dramatic family entertainment, without losing any of the flavor of his always charming brand of action Features, in "Those Callaways", a beautifully filmed picture starring Brian Keith, Vera Miles, Brandon de Wilde, Walter Brennan and Ed Wynn, now playing at the Belle Theatre, Belleville.

Basically this is the story of a simple woodsman and his family who are suddenly confronted with what they own on the block to protect the great flocks of wild geese that cross their sky.

Brandon de Wilde, seems to have fulfilled the promise of his performance as Becky Calloway, a scrapper made in his father's image.

Others who score dramatically in the picture are Walter Brennan, as the town crier who takes up the Calloway cause and persuades the whole town to vote for a wild goose sanctuary; Ed Wynn, as a hilarious, hard-of-hearing character who gets a knack for saying the wrong thing at the right time; and a gorgeous newcomer named Linda Evans, who plays Brandon de Wilde's sweetheart, Bekka.

Eydie Gorme Interested In Husband's New Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Eydie Gorme, her dark hair covered by a red bandana, in blue denim slacks and white sneakers, was busily rehearsing for Thursday night's premier of Fanfare, the musical variety hour replacing Jackie Gleason's big Hour on CBS for the summer.

Production assistants, musicians, camera men hustled around as Eydie offered opinions about her guest part in the show which stars trumpeter Al Hirt.

At lunch break it was clear that her greatest interest was a new fall program called The Steve Lawrence Show.

Steve, of course, is Eydie's singer-actor husband and the father of David, 5, and Michael, 6.

"You report that Steve won't let me appear on his show is fa[lse]."

Central Americans Unhappy With Military Governments

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Growing signs of political discontent have shaken the military rule in Central America.

Army regimes in Honduras and Guatemala are sitting on "a couple of barrels of gunwhite," says one diplomat.

Resentment is stirring against the rule of the Somosa family in Nicaragua.

Revolutionary plots have even been reported in Costa Rica, which has no army, as its 1948 civil war approaches. No conspiracies are known in El Salvador but some colonels figure to move to put to rest a more military-minded president than the colonel he succeeded.

Castro's Communist subversion is in the background. Many Guatemalans and Honduranans fear the outlawed Communists are infiltrating political parties in the hope of gaining sway to say upset.

In Honduras, the Liberal party's leftist wing did its part in the February election, accusing the government of fraudulent election. In effect, Col. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, 43, and the Nationalist party in power. Lopez and other reformist Liberal President Ramon Villeda Morales in 1963.

Col. Lopez and Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, chief of Guatemala's military government, have reported terrorist plots.

Peralta imposed a state of siege in February after the bombing of an army truck killed two soldiers. Francisco Villagran Kramer and several other leftist politicians were arrested and exiled from Guatemala.

OVERTHREW PRESIDENT

Peralta overthrew President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes in 1963 to set up an even stiffer anti-Communist regime.

Nicaragua's election is due in 1967 but the campaign of Gen. Anastasio (Tachito) Somosa already is well advanced. Head of Nicaragua's National Guard, son of assassinated strong man Anastasio Somosa, the general is a younger brother of ex-president Luis Somosa.

A Somosa man, Rene Shick, now is running Nicaragua—and incidentally — as president. But Gen. Somosa's candidacy, manifest in public receptions given him in various official and semi - official organizations, is stirring up signs of opposition. Typical resentment against what it calls the Somosa family dynasty.

As Costa Rica prepares to elect a new president next year, government leaders have reported the discovery of revolutionary plots among persons identified only as "dissident elements."

Elections in El Salvador are to be held Jan. 31. Colonels have long provided Central America's smallest country with its presidents. President Julio A. Rivero, 43, who was elected in 1962.

CARMAKERS HAVE PLAN

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's motor car makers announced Friday that they plan to sponsor a "majority facility" at Expo 67. Ross Tregillus, president of the Canadian Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association, said in a press release that the decision has been transmitted to Robert Shaw, Expo deputy commissioner.

Metro's Project For Centennial Is Washed Out

TORONTO (CP)—Metro's ambitious $7,275,000 centennial project—the St. Lawrence Centre for the Arts—has collapsed through lack of public interest.

In a letter to board of control, the Toronto Arts Foundation, a group of wealthy and interested citizens who had undertaken to raise $4,800,000 for centennial projects, explained "today's civic political climate" made its job impossible. Mayor Givens said he understands the foundation has been able to raise only $80,000 since it began to solicit contributions in May.

Other funds were to come—$650,000 from the federal and provincial governments and the foundation's withdrawal has ended the centre's hope.

The $60,000 raised will be returned.

The arts centre would have been a two - building development housing a small concert hall, repertory theatre, museum and facilities for opera, ballet and theatre.

As secondary projects St. Lawrence Hall, a historic Toronto building now used as a market, Massey Hall concert auditorium and Toronto Art Gallery were to be given a face lift — bringing centennial costs to $10,900,000.

Toronto's centennial plans now seem completely swash. Chances that the city will complete a project by 1967 look "slim," said Controller Herbert Orliffe.

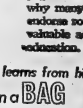
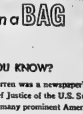
METRO'S FOUR CITIES — H. Carl Goldenberg, Montreal lawyer and municipal consultant, proposes in a report that the 13 municipalities of Metropolitan Toronto be consolidated into four large cities with continuance of the metropolitan form of government. Small type and dotted lines on the map indicate the communities in the existing Metropolitan Toronto setup. (CP Newsmap)

Newspaperboys Learn What Schools Can't Teach





A young man who delivers a newspaper route learns a lot that many other youths miss. And these lessons of experience "sink in" faster and truer than any classroom lectures.

A newspaperboy learns to become independent because he's running his own business. Route management also offers him a range of practical experience in handling people, learning the values of money, keeping records and developing efficiency and self-assurance.

All these things books can't teach . . . but a newspaper route does. That's why many school officials endorse route training as a valuable adjunct to formal education.

BUSINESS in a BAG

DID YOU KNOW?

Earl Warren was a newspaperboy. The Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court is one of many prominent Americans who've been named to the "Newspaperboy Hall of Fame."

NOT FOR HOME USE

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The sum of old church furnishings and religious objects in the home is "practical atheism," says L'Osservatore della Domenica. The weekly paper said such objects often go from thieves or destitute couples to second-hand markets and end up decorating private homes.

STRIPS YOUR MINES

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—Just like mining camps the world over, the rich copper belt of former Northern Rhodesia attracts cockyists. However the ministry of labor and social development has warned sightseeing operators that striptease may be banned by law if public protests continue.

This Airman Works on Ground Then Flies Off in Own Plane

LAC George Chivers over Belleville in his Tiger Moth

Service life for 25 year old LAC George Chivers, RCAF, of 137th Street Edmonton, Alberta, has been a dream come true; his 1940 vintage "Tiger Moth" has been parked at Belleville Airport for the past week.

As a child George dreamed of owning and flying his own aircraft. Old aircraft in particular held a certain fascination for him.

Shortly after his 17th birthday in 1956, George joined the RCAF. While taking his basic training at RCAF Station at St. Jean, Quebec, George met a Leading Airwoman who was later to become his wife. In 1960 while both were stationed at Winnipeg, Manitoba, George and Phyllis were married. Since then they have managed to be posted together; his wife is still a Leading Airwoman in the RCAF.

Three years ago George found and purchased parts of a "Tiger Moth" in a barn in Springfield, Ontario. From that day to this he has been a veritable Sherlock Holmes, in tracking down and buying "goodies," as he calls them. Today he has a complete airplane plus two spare engines, three tail section and many more parts too numerous to mention. He plans to keep his "Tiger" airworthy as long as humanly possible.

Without the help of the Airframe Section of 436 Sqn. Downsview, where George was stationed when he bought the "Tiger," it would still be on the ground. "They all pitched in and took as much interest in it as myself," says George. Following a christening ceremony, the "Tiger" was dubbed "Phyl's Mink." and George, after years of dreaming about it was finally flying his own aircraft; an old one at that.

Realizing that education would play an important role in his service career, George has been attending night school for the past four years. He has two subjects yet to write and then he will have his grade 12 standing.

For the past eight weeks George has been attending the C130E Airframe course at the RCAF Station Trenton, Ontario which ended this morning.

In the length of time it has taken you to read this article, George has probably travelled about four miles, because right now, looking like Errol Flynn, the 25th of this month.

At the dawn patrol - he is enroute to Edmonton, Alberta. Flying time and 260 gallons of gas later he plans to set down in Edmonton. He'd better. His fifth wedding anniversary is on now.

Wants Students To Get Part Of Loan Back

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MP Gordon Aiken said Thursday might successful university students should be forgiven part of their debt on loans borrowed under the Canada Students Loans Plan.

Mr. Aiken, member for Parry Sound-Muskoka, decided during a Commons adjournment debate a forgiveness of up to 25 per cent for students earning a clear pass and up to 20 per cent for those finishing in the top quarter of their class.

This loan ceiling should also be raised so post - graduate students can qualify.

Larry Pennell, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Gordon, said the act may be amended at some time in the future, although there were no plans at present.

He noted that 41,384 students borrowed from the plan during its first year of operation.

He also said he would bring Mr. Aiken's suggestion to the finance minister's attention.

WILL TAKE LOOK

Earlier, Mr. Gordon told the Commons he would take a close look at the legality of plans to have information from tax returns made available to administrators of the student loan plan.

Douglas Fisher (NDP — Port Arthur) asked Mr. Gordon whether officials of the justice department had given an opinion on whether the disclosure of any tax information may be illegal.

OVERDOING IT

Saigon Airman-Premier Intends To Arm Populace

SAIGON (AP) — Brig.-Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, flamboyant air force commander, became South Viet Nam's youngest premier today, heading the eighth government in 20 months.

Ky, 34, took over from Dr. Phan Huy Quat, who quit last week after a dispute with Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and opposition from religious elements. Suu also resigned.

The South Vietnamese armed forces assumed all power in the new government although 13 of the 16 cabinet posts are held by civilians.

Ky has been air force commander since a month after the 1963 coup against President Ngo Dinh Diem. The air force, with U.S. aid, has grown steadily under his leadership.

He has frequently flown missions against the Communists and participated in one of the first raids against North Viet Nam in February.

In his acceptance speech, Ky painted a grim picture of the situation in South VietNam.

The war against Communist forces is going badly, he said. Insecurity, economic collapse, war profiteering and injustice.

The new premier said his government was faced with 26 "urgent tasks," including the declaration of a state of war, austerity and the mobilization of the country's potential.

All able men will be drafted into the armed forces, he said, and the population will be armed and told that it must throw its weight behind the war effort by volunteering for military service.

Special courts will be set up and officers, such as profiteers, will suffer heavy penalties, Ky warned.

Ky has aowed controversy among South Vietnamese political factions and high U.S. officials had urged the new military regime against naming him premier.

But close American military associates are reported to be fond of him.

In his speech, Ky said South Viet Nam faced a critical period and called for austerity on the part of the people.

"I hope in a few months to be able to return power to a civilian government at which time I will go back to the air force," Ky said.

The new cabinet includes some holdovers from the previous government.

Doctors Again Hit Medicare

HALIFAX (CP) — The Canadian Medical Association ended its annual meeting Friday on the note it began Monday—opposition to compulsory, tax-supported medical care insurance.

The subject crept into almost all discussions during the week-long convention and Tuesday the association general council approved a policy statement opposing a Canada-wide compulsory scheme.

Friday, three speakers touched on it. Dr. G. E. Wodehouse of Toronto reiterated the association's stand; R. B. MacPherson, an economist with Dominion of Canada Ltd. Montreal, also supported the stand.

The only dissenting voice was from Dr. J. M. Beveridge, president of Acadia University in Wolfville, N.S., who said he was in complete agreement with the Hall royal commission's recommendation of the compulsory scheme.

Dr. E. K. Lyon of Leamington, Ont., chairman of a CMA committee studying group practice, said a preliminary report the committee disagreed with the statement in the Hall royal commission report on health service that supported group practice.

IS CONCERNED

The committee is concerned that the commission "arbitrarily decided that one method of providing medical service" is better than another.

House Shows Speed

OTTAWA (CP) —The extended sitting hours in the Commons have been in effect for one week and already the government considers their success has been proved.

Some MPs, particularly New Democrat Arnold Peters, have complained about the loss of eating time, but a government spokesman pointed to Friday's Commons proceedings to justify any hunger pangs suffered by members.

The Commons made progress on five measures Friday, all of them non - controversial, but which would be unusual except at the end of a session.

The new sitting hours extend debating time by almost 30 per cent to 33 hours a week.

The two-hour dinner periods Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays are scrapped out, as well as the 1¼ hour lunch period Friday.

The MPs gave all but final,

The premier later said there was "no personal significance" to the discussions. (CP Wirephoto)

Algerian President Deposed, Will Suffer Despot's Fate

ALGIERS (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella was overthrown in a pre-dawn coup d'etat today and a revolutionary council headed by Col. Houari Boumediene, chief of the armed forces, assumed all power.

A statement read over the government radio declares that Ben Bella "will meet the fate of all despots."

The radio did not give any indication as to Ben Bella's whereabouts.

Boumediene signed the radio announcement in the name of the revolutionary council.

The statement declared that all personal power had been taken from Ben Bella and that Algeria would continue to honor all previous agreements and commitments with other countries.

Troops and tanks stood guard at strategic points in Algiers several hours before the announcement and armed soldiers took up posts outside the residences of Ben Bella and other government officials.

The council's statement went on to denounce the "reckless consequences of personal power" and said the Algerian internal situation is "anguishing." This, it said, was the result of the exercise of personal power.

"The power of state was in the hands of one man," it said. The announcement came after the French charge d'affaires, Louis Dauge, reported that Abdel Aziz Bouteflika, foreign minister under Ben Bella, welcomed him "in the name of the new government."

Bouteflika told him the new government would continue cooperation with France and as-

Leitch Says Banks' Power On Lakes Is Still Growing

ST. CATHARINES (CP)— D. Leitch, president of Upper Lakes Shipping Ltd., said today a situation is developing on the Canadian Great Lakes that is as potentially dangerous as the one that produced the "unprecedented violence" of 1961 and 1962.

Speaking at the christening and commissioning of the Lake Ontario Power, a new vessel that will carry coal from the Maritimes to Ontario, Mr. Leitch sharply criticized the three maritime trustees appointed to oversee the Seafarers' International Union.

"At this time the darkest shadow to fall on the Lakes is to be the ominous growth of the old Hal Banks machine, in spite of the existence of the maritimes trustees," Mr. Leitch said, referring to the former SIU boss who skipped the country after being found guilty of conspiracy in the beating of a shipping officer.

He called it a "tragedy" that the trustees have not only ignored the recommendations in the report on Great Lakes violence prepared by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris but also that "two of them have proudly proclaimed they have not even read it."

Mr. Leitch was recently named "Great Lakes man of the year" in recognition of his company's earlier fight against the SIU and its pioneering in ship design.

Mr. Leitch said the "remaining members of Banks's machine" are organizing so-called port councils in all Canadian lake ports as "they may have complete control of all shipping through these ports in the near future."

Report Dorion Is Critical Of Favreau Stopping Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Southam News Services says in an Ottawa dispatch that the Dorion report questions Justice Minister Favreau's wisdom in calling off last Sept. 18, the RCMP investigation into charges of influence - peddling by federal ministerial aides.

The report by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec Superior Court on his investigation of the allegations will be handed to Prime Minister Pearson June 28, it was learned Friday.

Southam News Services says Mr. Favreau's integrity emerges unshaken in the report but that his methods of dealing with the RCMP investigation are questioned.

It quotes "a source who claims to be informed — and whose record in situations of this sort in the past has been remarkably accurate."

The Southam story does not say whether Chief Justice Dorion recommends that any charges be laid.

It says the report criticizes the activities of Liberal MP Guy Rouleau, then parliamentary secretary to Mr. Pearson, and the RCMP for bilingual shortcomings.

The allegations were made by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, acting for the U.S. government in extradition hearings against suspected narcotics conspirator Lucien Rivard.

Mr. Lamontagne said he was offered a $20,000 bribe by Raymond Denis, then executive assistant to the Immigration minister, and subjected to political pressure by Mr. Rouleau and two of Mr. Favreau's aides to agree to bail for Rivard. Rivard escaped Montreal jail March 2.

OTTAWA (CP)—New Democrat MP Harold Winch called for an investigation Friday into the report giving a "preview" of Chief Justice Dorion's findings in his investigation into charges of influence - peddling and corruption in high places.

Mr. Winch, member for Vancouver East, rose on a question of privilege in the Commons and said the report, by Southam News Services, was an insult to the chief justice, to Prime Minister Pearson and to Parliament.

Deputy-Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said he had his doubts that there was a matter of privilege was involved, but said it should be raised at the opening of the Monday sitting.

Will Be Asked to Help Pick Peace Bid Strategy

By CARL MOLLINS

LONDON (CP) — Canada and India are expected to be asked to help work out guidelines for a Commonwealth peace plan for Viet Nam.

Informants said today officials of the two countries are likely to join a working group of the Commonwealth conference being formed this weekend. Canada and India, along with Poland, are members of the International Control Commission in Viet Nam.

Formation of the working group to co-ordinate strategy is tied in with a diplomatic marathon mission to help Prime Minister Wilson save the faltering peace mission.

Prime Minister Pearson and his aides were working on other delegates in an attempt to get the plan on the ground.

Prime aim of the diplomacy is to smooth out dissension that arose within hours of the announcement Thursday that the Commonwealth conference will send a team of leaders under Wilson to Communist and Western capitals in an attempt to set up Viet Nam peace talks.

Ghana's Kwame Nkrumah, Nigeria's Sir Abubakar Tafawa and Trinidad's Eric Williams are assigned to accompany Wilson. Ceylon's Dudley Senanayake backed out because of ill health.

Pearson, at Wilson's country resident of Chequers overnight Friday, had a chance to discuss the peace plan with Wilson. Williams, India's Lal Bahadur Shastri and Nkrumah, who wants the conference to arrange concessionary gestures towards the Communists as a prelude to the peace mission.

Pearson opened his efforts Friday in seeking the support of Tanzania's Julius Nyerere, sharpest critic of the peace plan. Pearson later reported the Tanzanian president's reaction was "very good."

Wilson Tries to Avert Collapse of Peace Drive

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson mounted a weekend battle to avert collapse of his five - power Commonwealth peace mission on Viet Nam.

As the five-nation Commonwealth prime ministers conference went into a weekend recess, Wilson received his colleagues in groups at Chequers, his official country residence 40 miles west of London.

The visits provided Wilson with an opportunity for talks to convince the Commonwealth leaders to close ranks in support of the Commonwealth peace-seeking mission under the British prime minister's leadership.

A spokesman said Canadian Prime Minister Pearson, travelling to the country homes of Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart during the weekend, is exerting all efforts to reassure African and Asian critics of the mission's value though some countries still demanded that Wilson step down as mission chairman.

The spokesman said New Zealand's Prime Minister Keith Holyoake has agreed to withhold the dispatch of troops to South Viet Nam if Peking would agree to open its doors to the mission in its effort to end the Vietnamese war.

And a number of countries, including Canada, are ready to make a fresh move to get President Johnson to call a halt to U.S. bombing in North Viet Nam to meet the demands of Ghana, India, Pakistan and others who feel such a move might brighten the prospects of a peace manoeuvre.

All 21 countries agreed to the idea at a pause last Thursday but dissensions erupted almost as soon as a five-man team had been formed to visit Washington, Moscow, Peking, Hanoi and Saigon in search of a formula for holding a Viet Nam peace conference.

Varying expressions of discontent came from Tanzania, Kenya and Ghana. Ceylon's Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake announced he would be unable to join the team because of previous engagements. That reduced the mission to Wilson, Ghana's Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Nigeria's Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa and Dr. Eric Williams of Trinidad and Tobago.

Tanzania's President Julius Nyerere announced he rejected that setting up the mission after consultations in Washington but said Peking appeared to be an attempt "to put China in the dock."

Kenya's foreign minister, Joseph Murumbi, objected to Wilson's presence on the mission because Britain was too tightly linked to the United States, he said.

Then Nkrumah at the conference session Friday morning demanded a Commonwealth appeal to the United States to halt its air attack on North Viet Nam immediately. He also urged Sir Robert Menzies of Australia to withdraw his country's token force of 800 troops from South

Publishers Ask Chance To Suggest Alternative To Gordon's Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's daily newspaper publishers asked the government Friday to put off further action on its newspaper legislation until the publishers have had a chance to find a better way to meet the problem.

A delegation from the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association set forth the request during a 50-minute meeting with Finance Minister Gordon, sponsor of the government measure, and acting Prime Minister Martin.

The two ministers promised to consider the request, but made no commitment.

In the Commons, meanwhile, the government announced that income tax amendments, which include the newspaper measure, will be called for debate on Tuesday.

R. A. Grayhiel of the Windsor Star, president of the publishers association, said the CDNPA had not referred its previous request that the government bill be dropped, but had asked merely that action be deferred on it.

"All we asked for is a chance to find a better solution to the question than this proposal which is so objectionable to the vast majority of Canada's daily newspapers," Mr. Grayhiel said.

"We pointed out that if the government proceeded with the measure in any form at this time it would make the achievement of an alternative solution virtually impossible."

The government proposal, unveiled in Mr. Gordon's April 26 budget, is designed as a preventive measure to ensure that no Canadian daily newspaper will fall under foreign ownership.

To that end, it would disallow as a deductible expense for income tax purposes expenditures made by any firm for advertising in foreign-owned Canadian papers.

The proposal has come under heavy assault both on editorial pages across the country and within the Commons. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has charged the measure is the first step toward "thought control" of communications media.

Mr. Gordon has strongly denied such charges. He has said several times the issue is not freedom of the press, but "whether this country will have a Canadian press which presents news and views in a Canadian light."

Mr. Grayhiel said the publishers association does not oppose the finance minister's objective, but is strongly against the method outlined in the budget proposals.

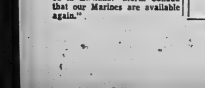
"We feel any tax on advertising is inadvisable. A tax on newspaper advertising which makes advertising in paper A taxable and in paper B non-taxable is pernicious.

"It means that papers which the government favors are non-taxable and live and those the government opposes are taxable and die. It's as simple as that."

Mr. Graybiel said that, following a CDNPA submission May 4 branding the government proposal a "fundamental violation of long-established press freedom," Prime Minister Pearson wrote to the association suggesting they submit alternative proposals.

"That's what we're asking for —time to work out an alternative method, if there is one. We're not sure there is, but we want a chance to try."

Mr. Graybiel said that during the past month the CDNPA executive has polled its member papers seeking alternative suggestions. These now are being correlated with the most promising ones to be followed up with legal authorities.



"This will take time, but we feel freedom of the press is too important not to receive the fullest consideration. The government took 18 months to come up with its proposal: we've had only one month so far."

He added that, since the government measure is not effective until next Jan. 1, the CDNPA does not intend to rush through the legislation at this point.

Along with Mr. Graybiel, others attending the meeting were Ray Basford, general manager of the CDNPA, Aurele Gratton of Ottawa Le Droit and D. S. Forrige of the Toronto Telegram, both CDNPA executives, and Clifford Sifton of the Regina Leader-Post, representing the Canadian section of the International Press Institute.

Both the Canadian section and international executive of the IPI have protested against the government measure, as has the Canadian section of the Commonwealth Press Union.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

QUESTION: Through your most interesting column, I wonder if you could give us a brief historic story of each town and city in the Bay of Quinte Region? We are newcomers here and plan to visit these historic points of interest, now that the nice weather is here. — Mrs. A. W., Belleville.

ANSWER: The following are excerpts from a brochure "Historic Regions of Ontario," published by the Department of Travel and Publicity, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

TYENDINAGA RESERVE

Although most of the Six Nations Iroquois who had fought for the Crown in the American Revolution settled on the Grand River, a number of Mohawks, led by Captain Joseph Brant, took up land on the Bay of Quinte. Their descendants still dwell near Deseronto, and a calm marks the site where the original landing was made in May, 1784. Another pioneer, Christ Church on the reserve, commemorates Onondyahska (1761-1807) the famous Mohawk Chief, orator and physician who founded the Independent Order of Foresters.

NAPANEE

In 1816 the government commissioned Robert Clark, a Loyalist millwright, to build a sawmill and Captain Henry Corby, in 1786-87, the grist-mill was the first between Kingston and places northwards. Of these pioneer industries which formed the nucleus of the community.

The Allan MacPherson House, built in the 1820's by one of the early leaders of the community is a fine example of a wealthy "town-house" of that era.

THE CARRYING PLACE

Early travellers entering the Quinte region from the west portaged across the narrow peninsula connecting Prince Edward County with the mainland. A cairn commemorates the treaty signed here with the Mississaugas in 1787 by which the land now includes the metropolitan Toronto was transferred to the Crown.

GLENORA

Beside the ferry landing is an old stone mill which utilized water dropping from a little lake situated high on the mountain above it. Its unique and unusual natural feature has been put to use from the early days of settlement, and Peter Van Alstine built Prince Edward's first grist-mill here in the 1790's.

ADOLPHUSTOWN

This little settlement nestled beside the sheltered waters of Adolphustown Bay, was named called the Plymouth Rock of Ontario. Here, at Hagarman's Point, there landed from batteaux on June 16, 1784, a small band of United Empire Loyalists under the leadership of Major Peter Van Alstine. The area in the immediate vicinity of the landing has been set aside as an historic park and a stone obelisk commemorates the Loyalists. The earliest burying ground in the district is situated here and several of the early graves stones have been embedded in a memorial wall. An old Loyalist Church, erected in 1822, stands nearby and is now used as a parish hall. In St. Albans, a more recent edifice, there are a series of tablets commemorating many of the early Loyalists.

RAWDON

This community first settled by Loyalists in 1784, was, before the coming of the railroad era, a centre of importance. The first Canadian steamship on Lake Ontario, "The Frontenac" was launched here in 1816. Two potteries owned homes are of considerable interest. The home built about 1785 by Jeptha Hawley, a loyalist veteran of Jessup's Corps, is one of the oldest in the province. The Fairfield House, built in 1796 by William Fairfield Jr., is a splendid example of colonial architecture.

Former Police Station Being Demolished

Belleville's former century old police station is fast falling as the city market square is under the wrecker's hammer and is scheduled to disappear completely from the scene next week.

Lighting and plumbing fixtures, together with heating radiators and pipes have been removed from the old police station and one time market building and next Wednesday the wrecker's crew will begin the shell of the building down.

One possible exception is the long steel awning erected over the front of the building a number of years ago.

The big awning has been offered on a lease and get it hauls for only $30 but with no takers. The cost of the awning when erected was $800.

Strawberries On Market First Time

Local strawberries made their first appearance on the market today at a price of 65 cents a quart and 35c a pint. Radishes were 15c a bunch; lettuce 25c a head or 10c a bunch; asparagus 20c a bunch; and onions 3 bunches for 25c. The potatoes remained at $1. a basket with 50 lb. bags at $4. and 75 lbs. for $5. Greenhouse tomatoes were selling for 45c a basket and 10c a bunch was the price of rhubarb.

Extra large eggs sold for 50c a dozen while Grade A Large were 45c.

If you generally agreed that the recent rain had been of considerable help in relieving drought conditions in the area but farmers are looking for more, along with some warmer weather.

If Nuclear Bombs Fall Survivors Face Tax Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — If nuclear bombs ever fall on Canada, the survivors may have to pay higher taxes.

A new cabinet order outlining responsibilities of government departments in event of nuclear attack instructs the finance department to "advise cabinet respecting the imposition of emergency taxes."

The justice department, among other things, would assist "in the indentification of persons unable to identify themselves."

The labor department in a national emergency government" would control and allocate all civilian manpower and fix wage rates.

The defence production department would set price controls, the works department rent controls.

Defence production also would control all industrial production and regulate internal and external trade.

LEAVE YOUR ADDRESS

The post office would distribute emergency change of address cards.

The new order, a copy of which was made available here Friday, allocates duties to 13 cabinet ministers—half the cabinet—instead of four as previously.

The agriculture department would, for one thing, inspect all food for "quality and wholesomeness."

The fisheries department would do the same with fish. It would also assume control over all fish catching, landing and processing.

The justice department would be responsible for the operation of civilian interment camps.

The labor branch would "regulate and control labor-management relations and conditions of employment."

There would be two emergency communications systems, one run by the defence department, the other by transport.

The armed forces would be responsible for "first aid" and "casualty sorting."

Also, in a nuclear attack, the external affairs department is directed to "assess the international situation" and report to cabinet.

Wilson

Viet Nam, and asked Hoyoake to cancel the projected dispatch of an artillery battery.

MENZIES SAID 'NO'

Nkrumah got a flat no from Menzies. Canadian sources said the atmosphere at the conference table grew measurably more tense.

A group of British foreign office technicians were brought into contact the five capitals the mission wants to visit to find out if it will be received and arranged the details of transport and a common secretariat for the would-be peacemakers.

Wilson hopes the mission will be ready to leave after the first week in July, believing the end of the Algiers Afro-Asian conference which he is hoping will put pressure on the Communist world to enter negotiations.

Meanwhile, Nyerere of Tanzania and Kenya's Murumbi continued their visits. Wilson should have no place on the mission because he supported Johnson's military policies in the Viet Nam. In the Canadian view there was no prospect that Wilson would step down.

However, there was questioning among some Commonwealth delegates whether, in fact, Wilson had been too hasty in his move, pushing for a decision on the mission the first day of the conference instead of undertaking greater exploration of Commonwealth opinion.

Many British newspapers consider the Wilson concept is on the brink of collapse, but veteran officials predicted last-minute feels would increase mission support.

At Least 17 Die in Floods In Rockies

DENVER, Colo. (AP) —With Colorado still bearing most of the brunt, swollen Arkansas River and streams spread damages through vast portions of the Rocky Mountain states and part of the southwest today.

Seventeen persons throughout the ravaged area are known to have died in the flooding or for reasons directly attributed to floods. Unconfirmed reports in Colorado indicate that at least 11 others perished in mishaps in flooded parts of the state.

At La Junta, in the southeast part of Colorado, where the Arkansas River has made a virtual lake of the town for the past two days, 2,000 persons have received emergency vaccinations.

Officials in Las Animas, which lies in the confiux of the Arkansas and Purgatoire rivers, are under martial law today. The Arkansas has already inundated Lamar and Holly and other communities downstream are moving rapidly toward the junction.

Governor John A. Love of Colorado issued an appeal to all persons living in flood areas to evacuate the lowlands. State civil defence officials said two emergency deliveries of airdropped food for some 1,000 persons in shelters at Lamar.

CATTLE KNDERSTAND

Two hundred miles to the north, the South Platte River's flood, which had swirled through Denver 48 hours earlier, poured into Sterling, near the northeast corner of the state, early today, flooding the eastern part of town and knocking out all power.

At Brush, 50 miles upstream from Sterling, two of Colorado's largest feed lots submerged 20,000 head of cattle to higher ground.

Eight known deaths were directly attributable to the floods. Other unconfirmed reports of drownings and missing persons had the tally twice that high. Two deaths in Montana were laid to flood and were two fatalities in New Mexico and three in Wyoming.

Talks About Becoming Chief Routine--Roblin

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba said Friday "there was no personal significance" in discussions he had this week with national president Dalton Camp about the possibility of becoming a candidate for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

Talks between the Conservative premier and Mr. Camp were a routine reporting process that national leader John Diefenbaker will retire.

"It was a discussion of no more than routine character," Mr. Roblin said in an interview.

Mr. Roblin, 48, has been mentioned for several years as a possible successor to Mr. Diefenbaker. He previously had denied interest in the leadership.

Mr. Roblin, who did not elaborate on his comment, talked with Mr. Diefenbaker Friday at Winnipeg International Airport during a brief stop by the party leader en route to speaking engagements in Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Mr. Diefenbaker, asked by reporters about the retirement reports, replied:

"The reason for the solicitude of the Liberals for me is that they want a change of leadership in the Progressive Conservative party."

Purge Among Top Officials Hinted as Cure for FAME

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — A purge among top officials of Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Limited was suggested Friday as a means of putting the ill-fated company back on its feet.

Mr. Justice Campbell Grant, heading a royal commission inquiry into the affairs of F.A.M.E., asked President Melvin S. Becker and Director William C. Anderson if such a purge would be advisable.

"This may be a possibility, sir," Mr. Becker said.

"It's very possible, yes," added Mr. Anderson.

The hearing, ordered by Premier Robarts, was adjourned until next Friday.

Mr. Justice Grant did not say whom he had in mind when he mentioned the purge but he said "there must in some quarters be a decided lack of confidence" following F.A.M.E.'s loss of $1,500,000 in its attempt last summer to purchase a Burlington meat packing plant.

The purchase was to be the first step in establishing a chain of processing plants across the province, aimed at directing a larger share of the consumer's dollar back to the farmer.

DIRECTORS TESTIFY

Several past and present directors testified Friday that F.A.M.E.'s program still is essential to the Ontario livestock producer. At least two said they would like to see a new deal negotiated for the F. W. Fearman plant in Burlington.

Commission Council W. A. Craig of Owen Sound said he hopes to question the last witness next Friday. Seven have yet to appear.

Mr. Becker, who testified he was squeezed out as secretary-treasurer in 1963, said every effort is being made by the present board to improve strained relations between F.A.M.E. and other farm organizations.

He said he felt a "much stronger" organization can be built up. Some discussion has been carried out with a Barrie-based cooperative specializing in meat-processing plant to investigate the possibility of joining forces with F.A.M.E., he said.

Mr. Becker, elected president at a meeting last January, said the hearing he was unable to get sufficient information from then president Charlie Hamelin of Ironsic to continue his position of treasurer.

He resigned in September, 1963, giving as his reasons differences over policy.

Legislature Session Nearing End

TORONTO (CP) — After 96 days the Ontario legislature is almost all talked out.

On Monday, or Tuesday at the latest, the third session of the 27th provincial house will be prorogued.

The 107 members will return to their law practices, businesses, jobs or farms, feeling confident they earned the extra $4,000 to $5,000 they voted themselves as a raise this year.

Toronto members now make $11,000 a year and members from outside the Metro area $12,000.

The session began Jan. 20. On May 31, in its 82nd day, it established a record as the longest session of the legislature in the province's history.

The previous record of 81 days was set in 1922.

Even though the length of the current session will approach 100 days, it has not accomplished all of the business the government set out for it.

Legislation that could have been brought forward by Attorney - General Arthur Wishart has been put over. This legislation is in the field of securities, legal aid, ambulance services and consumer credit.

Redistribution of the province's electoral ridings, recommended early in the session by an independent three-man commission, was not implemented because of public dissatisfaction with the committee's report.

What prolonged the session was not so much the legislation introduced by the government as it was the questioning of government spending by the opposition.

The Liberals, as the official opposition party, and with a new leader in the person of Andrew Thompson, were not to be outdone by the New Democrats in querying government estimates, as most observers felt they had been during the last session under an acting leader.

Shulman Clears Food Store In Two Deaths

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman, chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto, Friday exonerated a food store which sold a parfait cream cake that has been suggested as a possible cause of death of two young Toronto boys.

Dr. Shulman said he was issuing results of laboratory tests made of food samples taken at the store prior to the inquest into the death of the two youths to relieve apprehension among shoppers.

Thomas and Glen Drake, 2 and 3, died Wednesday in hospital after they had eaten a cream-filled cake Monday. An autopsy showed the cause of death to be gastro-enteritis or inflammation of the stomach and intestinal tract that can result from food poisoning.

Doctors say there is only circumstantial evidence so far to connect the boys' death with the cake. They say food poisoning is only one cause of gastro-enteritis.

Queen's Park Plans Control In Disasters

TORONTO (CP)—A bill giving the provincial government widespread powers over municipalities in the event of natural or national disaster was approved by the Ontario legislature Friday.

In other developments, an attempt to give Metropolitan Toronto council power to pass store-closing bylaws superseding those of member municipalities was defeated.

Attorney - General Arthur Wishart said the disaster bill would help improve municipal-provincial planning for disaster situations and would step up the activities of the emergency measures organization.

The legislation provides top-level government control of emergency services, with the premier or a cabinet minister designated by him authorized to take over personally local police and fire departments and other municipal services if two or municipalities are hit by a disaster.

Liberal Leader Andrew Thompson criticized the apparent lack of emphasis on attempting to work out other emergency plans before a disaster occurred.

Kenneth Bryden (NDP—Toronto Woodbine) said that the $2 per person provincial-municipal formula to the problems that might arise in an emergency.

Success of Titan Gives Green Light To U.S. Military Beachhead in Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

A mighty Titan 3-C, the most powerful rocket ever fired, scored a thundering success on its maiden test flight Friday and signalled the air force to proceed with plans to establish a military beachhead in space.

In the most spectacular launching ever witnessed at this missile wonderland, the huge triple-barrel rocket developed total thrust of more than 3,000,000 pounds and flung into orbit a 21,000-pound dummy satellite—the heaviest payload ever launched.

This orbiting chunk of lead is the forerunner of manned and unmanned military machines which will patrol and perhaps dominate space, preventing other nations from using it for war-like purposes.

An air force spokesman said: "The success with a combination of solid and liquid fuel rockets demonstrates the flexibility of the booster for military as well as other payloads. I feel it will be the catalyst which will kick off many programs which the air force has been working on and you have been reading about. The manned orbiting laboratory should get the green light in short order."

Within three years, Titan 3-C rockets are expected to establish these unmanned space systems—a network of 24 communications satellites for swiftly relaying military messages around the world; reconnaissance, navigation and satellite interceptor payloads.

Jewish Lawyer Defends Nazi Leader

TORONTO (CP) — A Jewish lawyer, who said Nazis had killed 30 of his relatives, voluntarily defended William Beattie, 23, self-styled leader of the Canadian Nazi party, in bylaw court Friday.

At the conclusion of the two-day trial, John Weisdorf, assistant director of legal aid, argued that the bylaw which Beattie was accused of breaking was illegal.

Beattie was charged for allowing his house to be used as headquarters of the Canadian Nazis.

Mr. Weisdorf said that city council had no authority or power to rule on political activities.

Nevertheless, Magistrate Robert Dnieper fined Beattie $25 to be paid within 15 days or five days in jail.

The Crown called for more severe judgment because of the disturbance Beattie had caused in the neighborhood, but Magistrate Dnieper said he would treat Beattie in the same way as any first offender.

To do otherwise, he said, would be an admission that "our law had lost and his (Beattie's) ideology had won."

Aussie Warship Does Damage With Big Wave

PRESCOTT, Ont. (CP) — A 20 - to - 25 - foot - high wave sent shorewards by the Australian destroyer Perth, on its way down the St. Lawrence Seaway to Boston, broke mooring lines and damaged boats and docks here Friday.

It was estimated that the Perth was travelling at speeds of 30 to 35 knots. A seaway official said vessels are usually expected to pass towns and built-up areas at no more than seven or eight knots.

The wave broke moorings on the Canadian Coast Guard vessels Grenville and Simcoe, washed away part of the government dock, almost destroyed an 18,000 yacht moored off Prescott and sent scurrying several persons fishing from small docks along the river's edge.

sured him of personal security for all French citizens, Duque reported.

The big port city was calm. Algerians had been prepared for something big. Before dawn, troops took up stations around strategic points in the city and the entire population of the 24-year-old president.

Ben Bella had been in economic trouble, and accused by dissidents—principally the Berbers in the Kabylie region—of making dangerous use of personal power.

Before word trickled out of the coup, one report said there was a violent argument in Villa Joly, Ben Bella's home, and windows were broken. Angry shouts were heard inside.

Ben Bella became Algeria's first president after independence from France in 1962.

There have been recent unconfirmed reports of disagreement between Ben Bella and army leaders.

Expect Strikes to Stop Toronto Construction Job

TORONTO (CP) — Commercial and industrial construction across the city shut down this the weekend Friday and is expected to resume Monday when 3,800 of its workers are on strike.

Three thousand members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC) gin their strike Monday against the Toronto Construction Association, joining 200 hoisting engineers whose strike began last day and 300 cement masons who have been out since June 12.

Another union, the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union (CLC), will take a strike vote today and is expected to walk off the job by the end of next week.

Alex Main, president of the Toronto Building Trades Council, composed of the construction unions, said a complete shutdown of the industry is inevitable.

The carpenters want an increase of 65 cents an hour in a two-year agreement. The current rate is $3.35.

The hoisting engineers want 50 cents an hour during the two years. Current rate for a crane operator is $3.40.

The cement masons rejected an offer from the construction association of 30 cents for two years. They now get $2.

PRODUCES FIRST POWER

MONTREAL (CP)—The first power has come belting over the lines from Manic 2, Hydro Quebec's giant new hydro project 127,000 - kilowatt power station that five years ago on the surging Manicouagan River 360 miles northeast of Montreal. Manic 2 station is the first of a total of eight dams, spillways and generating stations which will harness the power of the river from the headwaters to the mouth at the St. Lawrence.

MUST BE APPROVED

The budget proposals must now be approved in legislative form, and next week opposition MPs are expected to renew their arguments against measures affecting foreign - owned newspapers and magazines.

Several NDP members were critical of Justice Minister Favreau's motion to establish a Senate-Commons committee to investigate penitentiaries.

They said it should not sit at the same time as a special committee of experts is studying all aspects of penal reform, and should not be restricted to studying only the state of the buildings.

Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) said little will result from a committee restricted to "architectural shenanigans."

Peace Mission

The proposal to form a Commonwealth peace mission on Viet Nam is encouraging, although it is likely being experienced over the mission's proposition.

Commonwealth sources felt the mission, as originally conceived, would carry weight in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. One hope that may militate against its success, however, is the choice of Prime Minister Wilson as its leader. Britain is committed to full support of United States policy in Viet Nam, and for this reason the North Vietnamese may feel the mission has a bias that cannot but place it in an unfavorable position where peace talks are concerned.

Moreover, if any side holds the advantage in the Viet Nam conflict it is the communist Viet Cong rebels, backed by North Viet Nam and China. Without the Americans South Viet Nam would collapse. Yet, even with U.S. support the Viet Cong are undaunted; U. S. air power has only served to blunt the Viet Cong's mastery of infiltration and guerrilla warfare and save the South Viet Namese from even bloodier defeats than they have suffered in the past.

On the other hand, as the military situation stands at present, with the United States sending more troops and continuing its air raids on the north there is little hope of the Viet Cong joining an outright victory.

The Commonwealth initiative therefore is timely. As we have already noted, its representative nature encourages the belief it may carry some weight in Hanoi. If it does succeed in bringing the North Viet Namese to the conference table it will greatly enhance the prestige of the Commonwealth.

This is the first time the Commonwealth has attempted anything of this nature. If the mission fails in its efforts to bring peace to Viet Nam the only alternative is further carnage and suffering in that war-torn land.

Redistribution Blues

"Gonna change my way of living and if that ain't enough

Gonna change the way I strut my stuff."

In these days of redistribution, there must many politicians who wish they could make in their theme song.

Unfortunately they cannot, not with much type of success. Changing the way one struts his stuff is seldom looked upon with favor in political circles and doing it in redistribution season, when even the heavens appear to be in flux, would be suspect.

What many politicians really need is not change in their way of living, but a change in their place of living.

Those people who have a mortgage in the family—and who has not—are familiar with the system of boot-dashing cottages and sending them, once a year, to await the demand of the creditor that they parade and do their duty. These are meaningless little bits of paper, representing no more than a promise to pay until they are cashed and with no penalty involved they should bounce moon-high upon their presentation. They are, however, a great convenience.

Many MP's must be wondering why some smart real estate man did not conceive the idea for a series of ante-dated deeds to real estate, strategically located. Then, about this time of the political season, an M.P. could riffle through his bundle of ante-dated deeds, acquired for a nominal sum, decide which property was located in a likely riding, and present the evidence that he had been planning to move all along—together with a public-spirited offer to stand for office in the riding in which his new home is located.

French Canada is being transformed before our eyes at a breathtaking pace. These changes are not happening in isolation, for English Canada is changing too. We can no longer hide our time. The pace is too fast and the price of failure too great.—Dean H. Woods, St. George's School, Montreal.

People may live as much retired from the world as they please; but sooner or later, before they are aware, they will find themselves debtor or creditor to somebody.—Goethe.

A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while he knows something.—Wilson Mizner.

Over-active Skin Glands Are Cause of Cradle Cap

By JOSEPH G. WOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 7-month old grandson has a very severe case of cradle cap. He has scratched his head until it bleeds. What causes this, and what do you suggest as a cure? — Mrs. E. B.

Cradle cap is a skin disorder (note that I do not call it a "disease"), which is a form of seborrheic dermatitis.

Seborrheic dermatitis is a very common disorder among young people and it even affects older ones, up to 30 years or so.

Let me spell it out. Dermatitis merely means some condition involving the skin. Seborrheic refers to the thousands of tiny glands in the skin which excrete a sort of oily or waxy substance which keeps it lubricated. Too little, and the skin is dry and crackly. Too much, and the skin has other troubles. Maybe it becomes too oily. Or some of the tiny little glands become clogged and we have that frequent problem of young folks, acne or blackheads.

If, as sometimes happens, a baby or very small child has skin glands which produce more than the required amount of this oily-waxy substance, it tends to harden and crack what seems to be a sort of scab. This can be irritating. It also creates a convenient place in which germs can congregate and multiply. They may not be particularly dangerous germs, usually they aren't. But-all the same they grow and multiply and become irritating.

So then the baby, because he itches, begins to scratch. And he may, as you say, scratch until he bleeds.

That's cradle cap. It may not be (probably won't be) the same in every person in each case, but you see the general idea.

The scabs of cradle cap should be gently removed. Don't damage the skin! If a patch of the scaly stuff won't come off, leave it and take it off later, after it has become looser.

Keep the scalp scrupulously clean. Some of the oily - waxy material will wash away, instead of forming a scab. Don't try to scrub it but wash and rinse.

The fact is that some skins, because of overly active glands, need a lot more washing and rinsing than others, but it should be gentle.

A good deal of the time, because of some quite technical reasons which I won't go into, your doctor will prescribe medication of one sort or another. But cradle cap can be cured by plenty of washing and rinsing.

In addition — because all you really want to do is get rid of the excess oily-waxy scab without damaging the skin. The scalp, that is.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have arthritis, and a friend claims that I shouldn't eat olives or pickles. — A. R.

Your friend is mistaken. Neither olives nor pickles will do any harm.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am frantic. After having syphilis three or four years ago, and having it treated immediately, could it still be in the bloodstream? I am getting married soon and am afraid I might not pass my blood test. — W. J.

If you had adequate treatment at once, you'll pass your blood test. Why not go to your doctor right now, and stop being frantic? If you need any further treatment, get it. And if not, you can stop worrying.

The Russian military government of East Germany announced that it would cut the road, rail, and canal links between West Germany and Berlin 17 years ago today—1948—and the Berlin Blockade began. Western leaders said the blockade was an attempt to squeeze the Allies out of Berlin, and Russian officials said it was a protest against the establishment of a unified West German economy excluding the Russian zone.

Letter to the Editor

Local Bandsmen Seek Public Aid

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

You may not be aware of the fact, but the city of Belleville is in need of some good bands. You will notice I made the word bands, plural, as a city of over 30,000 should have many fine bands.

Having had the opportunity to attend the Trooping of the Color at the Fairgrounds recently, it was a delight to watch and listen to the Band of the Corps of Signals from Kingston.

Why is it every time a function of this type, parades, etc., comes along bands have to be imported from distant centres, at a great expense?

Since last October a group of people have been trying to produce a band for Belleville, but have not met with success.

We have approached industry, business, service clubs etc., and have been turned down each time.

There are however some leading citizens who have offered help, but these people cannot do it alone.

Once belonging to a band you feel a certain pride when you represent your city, and when you leave a band this pride stays with you.

All of the people in our group have played in a band at one time or another. They all have this certain pride and are very dedicated.

Some of them have gone so far (four to date) as to move to another community, just so they could belong to a band. This certainly shows how these people feel about a band.

I personally have spoken to gentlemen in other communities and they are willing to come to Belleville to play in a good band.

This again shows the dedication they have and also the need for bands in this area.

We feel our cause is worth while and ask no remuneration for our efforts, only the chance to prove that we can produce a top - notch band, that the citizens of Belleville will be proud of.

I would appreciate the opinions of citizens, either personally or through your newspaper, also any people interested in offering assistance or wishing to become part of our organization.

We are continuing our work and hope that through this letter, some help will come.

Sincerely yours,
Glen J. Crawford

Strong Beliefs

Windsor Star

There is no field outside religion so much formed feelings are so strong, or where achieving acceptable compromise is so difficult. Religious beliefs are conditioned by history, tradition, loyalty, training, and the fervent, sincere, and devoted teaching of ages. Differing beliefs are not easily reconciled. The present division of Christianity is proof of how deeply religious traditions are held.

Ottawa Offbeat

Dief the Ex-Chief Believes You Are as Old as You Feel

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — So in another 91 days, Dief is going to be 70.

And time, say those who are trying to push him out of Parliament's door, for the Old Chief to retire as Conservative Leader.

Seventy he soon may be.

Catch it, he refuses to act his age.

Further complication is that while 65 seems to be today's accepted age of retirement, politicians often regard themselves as ageless and often are.

Dief likes to talk of former British Prime Minister Gladstone, chopping wood at 85.

Speaking personally, Dief allows that for chopping purposes he would prefer Grit necks, indicating he expects, friends and hopes God willing, still to be around in 1980.

Just the other day, declaring his determination to make the Parliamentary scene "for years to come," as he phrased it, he thumped his chest, proclaiming his great good health and vigor and issued a blanket press invitation to pace him on his morning three mile pre-breakfast walks.

Is it all brave talk?

Or has he still the wind and muscle?

Let's look at the record of the last couple of weeks or so.

NO LOITERING

Well, to start with — both this run-down of his rather strenuous round of recent activities and his busy daily schedule — let's examine that morning walk.

It is a before-six-o'clock workout, and anybody accepting the challenge to go along, God help, be prepared to do the three miles at something approaching a dog-trot.

For that, in truth, is what it is.

The dog, the Golden Lab Happy, goes along for a rabbit chase through ritzy suburban Rockcliffe Park.

And of course, where Happy goes leaping after the hares, Dief lopes along not all that far behind the hares.

But it is the furious, sometimes frantic excursions across the country that leave you breathless.

In the last two or three weeks he has been in Halifax and the Annapolis Valley town of Cambridge in Nova Scotia . . . Prohibber Bay in the Eastern Arctic . . . Sudbury and Biscotasing in Northern Ontario . . . Midland and Penetang in Ontario's Georgian Bay country . . . Strathroy and Mount Bridges in western Western Ontario . . . Bigwin Inn, Huntsville and Orillia in the Muskoka lakes district.

Last week-end, because he had to be back in the Capital for luncheon with Indian Prime Minister Shastri, he didn't manage to hit the road, but put in Saturday afternoon at a picnic for crippled children on the Armed Forces Tri-Service hospital grounds here.

This week-end he is on the West Coast, Vancouver, Campbell River and Victoria with a way-stop at Weyburn, Sask.

Between these grinds on the pre-campaign trail, he does his daily Parliamentary tour of duty in the Commons, giving the ever-lively opening Question Period its bounce, and usually some off-guard occupant of the Government Front Benches his lumps.

NO TIME OFF

But what goes on when he takes off -

Speeches, of course.

Glad-handing, reception line-ing, back-slapping, story-telling.

At Frobisher he wore parka and mukluks, ate blubber, spooned lichen soup, figged a step or two at an Eskimo bop.

At Biscotasing, wetting a fishing line with gratifying results off Trapper's Point in a Northern Ontario lake, he dined and breakfasted on the catch and bedded down happily in a sleeping bag on the bare ground in a tent.

Rough when you're nudging 70? Not if you slept in a sod hut of winter nights on the northern Saskatchewan prairies as a boy.

There was some fishing and main - streeting and tourist rubber-necking around the Martyr's Shrine at Midland and a little trail walking in the Muskoka bush at Bigwin.

What there wasn't ever, was a moment's pause, a little relaxation, a bit of down.

Seventy? Sure, soon after Labor Day.

But somebody should remember to remind him that he is really an old age pensioner.

Probably wouldn't make any difference.

For the more the "Dump Diefers" push, the harder the Old Chief resists.

And now he says he is going to stick around "for years yet."

Ask him yourself, next time he grabs your hand — as he will every time you get in grabbing distance — and he'll tell you cheerfully he is having just too much fun to worry about being 70 or think of slowing down into retirement.

Civil Service Wage Issue

Brockville Recorder and Times

One doesn't have to stretch the imagination to the least to believe that Ontario civil servants were unhappy to learn that the government has some of their numbers less than it does some families on relief. Speaking in the Ontario hospital in Smiths Falls a government official, however, said he couldn't find any basis for the contention that the morale of civil servants in Ontario hospitals was low because of this fact. This man needs help.

The government estimates that 17 percent of its 33,000 employees earn less than 3,000 a year. Another 18 percent get less than $3,600. Yet a family on relief can get a maximum of $3,600 a year in welfare payments.

It is ironic that our politicians should be talking about a war on poverty when they are paying poverty stricken people on relief more than is paid some of the civil servants. With pay increases of 5 per cent in civil service a civil servant, with anyone to support, must also be poverty stricken.

Th civil service association plans protest marches and mass meetings to gain support to correct this shameful situation. It is to be hoped the government will make it unnecessary for them to do so. The inequality is too evident to go unheeded.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 19th, 1945

Motion pictures have been able to render an invaluable service to the cause of the nations war effort. The Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch of the Ontario Treasury Department, reporting for the year ending March 31st, 1945, notes that "the Motion Picture industry in general looks back to over five years during which both defeats and victories occupied the attention of United Nations. It looks back upon those years when it gave freely and generously of its time, talent and theatres to acquaint the public with films concerning Victory LOANS, Red Cross appeals and appeals for aid from stricken Allied Nations. Today the industry looks ahead to the post-war years when, the Board trusts, it plans to continue its vast facilities in support of all patriotic and rehabilitation projects which will engage the attention of the people of Canada when peace comes."

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

DR. WILLIAM CANNIFF

"Every great man is unique." — Emerson.

We continue with the biography of Dr. William Canniff found in "A Cyclopaedia of Canadian Biography" made available to this column through the kindness of Mrs. J. F. English, R. R. 1 Shannonville, whose neighbor, Mrs. A. L. Gnaedinger, is a granddaughter of the late Dr. Canniff.

Upon his return from Europe Dr. Canniff, "returned to Canada and commenced to practice in Belleville.

"He was called to the chair of General Pathology in the medical department of Victoria College, and at the urgent request of the dean undertook the professorship of surgery in the same institution. He retained this position till 1863, when he resigned.

"During the American civil war, our subject visited the hospitals at Washington, and was for a time with the army of the Potomac. After witnessing a large number of cases, he returned to Belleville, where he resumed practice for a time.

"But for a while past he had some inclination for Toronto, and finally his little time he removed. Settling in Toronto, he began practice, and his name was so well known that no great difficulties lay in his way. He resumed his position as professor of surgery.

"Although devoted to his profession, he always took a deep interest in public affairs. He was one of the originators of the "Canada First" movement; but he always steadfastly set his face against those who outwardly or in a covert way, advocated annexation.

"Dr. Canniff has been president of the medical council of the Canadian Institute. In 1867 he received an invitation from the medical faculty of Paris to attend as delegate at the International Medical Congress.

"In October, 1867, he, with others, formed the Canadian Medical Association at Quebec. He was first secretary for the province of Ontario, and has since been elected President. He has contributed largely to medical and other magazines, and also to the daily press.

"He has written "Principles of Surgery" a clever and valuable book; "Medical Profession in Canada," and various other works of interest.

"Dr. Canniff was brought up a Methodist, but has for some time attended the Church of England. He is now Medical Health Officer for Toronto, and has held among other offices that of chief officer of the Census Commission.

"He has three sons and one daughter. His eldest son served with Gen. Middleton's advance guard in the North West Rebellion (1885) and was seriously wounded at Fish Creek.

"It may be stated that Dr. Canniff was at the front during the Fenian raids in 1866, at the time of the Trent affair the doctor was president of a literary society in connection with the Methodist Church. The war fever in Toronto was high, and that society found themselves into a company, of which our subject was elected captain. He drilled for some time in the City Hall, until the matter blew over . . .

"It may be stated that Dr. Canniff was the originator of the U.E. Loyalist Centennial Celebration held in Toronto, 1884, and occupied the chair at the meeting in the Horticultural Pavillion on the nomination of Lieutenant-Governor Robinson.

"Dr. Canniff is in politics a Conservative, and a Freemason, being a member of Ionic Lodge of Toronto."

Concerning the "Trent incident" we again quote Professor Fred Landon whom we mentioned last week from his article on Dr. Canniff in the London Free Press:

"Shortly after his (Dr. Canniff's) arrival in Toronto the opening year of the American Civil War saw the sharp disagreement between England and the United States that is known in history as the "Trent Incident."

"The two countries were on the verge of war over the highhanded seizure of two Confederate agents who were aboard the British steamer Trent by Captain Wilkes, a U.S. commander. Feelings were hot in Canada as in the two disputing countries and there was extensive volunteering and drilling in Toronto and other cities.

"Dr. Canniff is recorded as having been the captain of one such company which drilled at the city hall in Toronto. The storm eventually blew over, largely through the peace moves of President Lincoln in the United States and the Prince Consort in England who died just a few weeks later . . .

"The Civil War fighting, so near to Canada, must have had special interest for Dr. Canniff for in 1863 he went to Washington to visit the hospitals and also saw some service with the Army of the Potomac.

"That was a year of bloody battles and this Canadian medical man must have seen hundreds if not thousands of the wounded brought to the capital from such great battles as Fredericksburg and Gettysburg, fought in Pennsylvania in July. "One would like to know to have his record, if he kept any, of his experiences in Washington and at Mount Lee's Army of Northern Virginians even threatened the Capital . . .

"He died in Belleville on October 19th, 1910, having passed his 80th birthday a few months before.

In November, 1952, Professor Landon also spoke at the unveiling of a tablet placed erected by the Historical Sites and Monuments Board of Canada at Hamilton-Gorbutville public school in the honor of Dr. William Canniff for whose family the village of Camnifton was named, and concluded:

"If the plaque) records him as both physician and author, and examination of his career makes it difficult to decide which was the more important."

In her splendid series "Our Architectural Heritage" Lenny Williamson gives a valuable account of several farmhouses built in the 1830's and she is being she says:

. . . the Canniff-Lazier house built in the 1860's by the father of Dr. William Canniff. . a structure constructed rubble-stone . . . the Canniffon Road, near an old local landmark, Lazier's Dam. The land between Belleville and Camnifton was once part of the holdings of the Canniff family, who owned a grist, saw and paper mills on the site of the present day motel at thine curve of the river. In 1880, Moira Mills passed into the hands of the latter family by which name the dam and the nearby house is still known."

Along this part of our countryside then, eternally lingers a young lad's spirit haunting this once "a house of dreams untold that overlooks the whispering treetops"; dreams ladening the rippling, sparkling Moira symbolically to "unpathed waters, undreamed shores" that found fulfilment through the quest and achievement of him who became Dr. William Canniff.

A Lift for Living

Real Solid Stuff of Life Is Made of Commonplace

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

Henry David Thoreau, the nineteenth-century naturalist, lived all his life in Concord, Massachusetts, with the exception of a few brief trips and two years spent in a small cabin at Walden Pond not far from his native village.

Thoreau was no world traveller, but he greatly enjoyed wide spiritual horizons. He once expressed his view of intensive, rather than extensive travel, by saying, "I have travelled a good deal in Concord." Thoreau journeyed farther in Concord than a many travel on world tours. He saw more, enjoyed more, lived more. His journals communicate more enthusiastic and penetrating insights than have been recorded by any other travelling American.

Thoreau interpreted the word "saunter" as being derived from the Latin "sanctis" meaning "holy," and "terre," meaning "land" or "earth." He believed anyone who truly saunters makes every walk a pilgrimage through the holy land that God has spread all around us. To Thoreau every yard and garden, every field, meadow and forest path was sacred ground.

The world's greatest poverty is not that of being without money for travelling. Rather, fi is the poverty of unawareness. It is to remain right where you are or to travel to the ends of the earth, and be unaware of the beauty lavished on the familiar earth at your feet and in the sky above your head and in the faces of the people you know best. It is to miss the goodness, grandeur and glory to people you know too well to know at all.

Poverty is that condition of soul that causes a person to use the reading "Ho, hum" to say "commonplace" and "commonplace."

"Who was that you waved at?" someone asks, and we answer, "He's only a friend!" "Only?" May Heaven in its mercy on us for being so casual concerning one of life's dearest treasures. Someone gives us his friendship he offers us his belief in our potentialities for good; the assurance that he will be with us when the world deserts us; friendship when life looks dark; refreshment when life is dull; the keys to his mind and heart. When friend multiply joy and divide sorrow can we say of any friend "He is only a friend"?

"Commonplace" — what is commonplace? The usually mean by commonplace all that is unimpressive and not glamorous, the everyday things. But the real, solid stuff of life is made of commonplace things. The commonplace breathe, the daily help of those we love and who love us, the mercies of sunshine, rain, food and sleep. These are all commonplace. And the goodness of God is there.

Jesus commanded to give His disciples a lasting memorial of Himself, not a common, ordinary fellow," we confess when asked about ourselves. But is anyone common? Theodore Roosevelt was President of the United States, his little son Quentin one day ran into the White House and told his father he was having great fun playing on the lawn with some "common little boys."

The President replied, "Quentin, there are no common little boys. There are big boys and little boys, white boys and black boys, fat boys and slender boys. But there is no such thing as a common boy." Quentin never forgot that lesson.

In a God-made world of God-made things and God-made people, there are no common boys or girls, men or women. no common tasks or common days.

This is a world where every thoughtful, reflective person will "wonder" when he walks, among holy things.

Church Groups

ST. JOSEPH'S CWL

The monthly meeting of the CWL of St. Joseph's parish was held recently with the spiritual director, Msgr. Carley present, and the president, Mrs. D. Dumaine in the chair.

Arrangements are under way for the annual fall banquet to be held in September and Mrs. Jackson also took place on a program for each meeting, starting in September with a talk by Mrs. Carr-Brant, social convenor, followed by a pot-luck supper which it is hoped all the ladies will attend.

Mrs. Carr-Brant, social convenor, thanked all the ladies who attended and assisted at the spring tea which took place in May.

Mrs. Jarvah, company leader of St. Joseph's Girl Guides, brought members up to date on the girls' activities. Beginning in 1962 with 37 girls all new to guiding, enrolment has fourtimes now the largest group in Belleville with many fine achievements to its credit. A special mention was made to Capt. Jarvah by Mrs. Tugnett on behalf of St. Joseph's in recognition of her fine work and as a token of remembrance on her departure from Belleville.

Mrs. Duminie and Mrs. Eldred attended the annual diocesan convention held in Brockville on May 16 and 17 and both reported that a full report on what took place and decisions of the council for the opportunity given them to attend.

Msgr. Carley wished all the ladies a "happy holiday" and he expressed the wish that all would come back in September refreshed and ready for the year ahead, eager to do their part in making the work spiritually rewarding, and he assured the members of his help and encouragement at all times.

A presentation was made to Msgr. Carley on behalf of the CWL by Mrs. Duminie. The meeting was adjourned and a social hour followed.

Fresh Strawberries Supply Luscious Base for Desserts

Ruby-red Canadian grown strawberries are now appearing on local markets. Their bright color and delicious flavor make them a favorite dessert choice. The first few times they are served most people prefer them served "as nature" with just a hint of sugar and perhaps cream. Strawberries are succulent and tasty this way, but they also make a luscious base for more elaborate desserts.

When choosing strawberries be sure to look for bright-colored, firm berries. If you buy more than one box at a time, it's best to spread the berries on trays and pick them over. Then store them on the trays, loosely covered with wax paper in the refrigerator. Wash and hull them just before serving.

Here are two fresh strawberry recipes from the Consumer Section kitchens, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. In the first recipe, sweetened fresh strawberries are enfolded in a cloud-light cake, omelet fashion. The second recipe calls for an angel food cake (home baked or store bought), fresh strawberries and whipped cream. The strawberries and whipped cream are ridden in the cake to make a dessert surprise.

STRAWBERRY PUFFS

"A light and airy dessert"

½ cup butter
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
4 eggs
¼ cups sugar
4 cups sliced, sweetened strawberries (1 quart box)
½ cup whipping cream, whipped

Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour and salt. Gradually add milk stirring until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture has boiled one minute and is very thick. Let cool 15 minutes. Beat in eggs one at a time until well blended. Pour batter into 2 layer cake pans (9-inch) which have been greased and lined on sides and bottom with greased wax paper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degree F.) 35 to 40 minutes until puffed and golden.

Turn layers out on serving dish and remove wax paper with a sharp, pointed knife. Sprinkle each layer with 2 tablespoons of sugar. Arrange 1 cup strawberries on half of each layer, fold other half over berries omelet fashion. Top each "puff" with remaining berries. Serve warm with whipped cream. 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY SURPRISE CAKE

"A gala shortcake — easy to prepare"

1 pint box strawberries
2 to 2 tablespoons sugar
1 angel food cake (8-inch diameter)
½ pint whipping cream, whipped

Few drops red food coloring (optional)

Wash and hull strawberries. Keep 6 to 8 whole berries for garnish. Slice remainder and sprinkle with sugar.

Cut a ½-inch slice off top of cake and set aside. With a sharp pointed knife, hollow out central portion of cake to form a "shell", leaving ¾ inch cake around all edges. Break portion of cake removed from centre in bite-size pieces.

Fold sweetened strawberries and cake pieces into ½ cup of the whipped cream. Fill hollow in cake with strawberry mixture and replace top slice.

Tint remaining whipped cream a delicate pink if desired and spread over cake. Garnish with whole strawberries and chill until ready to serve. Six servings.

TROUBLE BRINGS ITS BLESSING

It happened to a man whose home was built on a river bank. Beside the home was a modest mill which he operated to earn his living. Following a torrential storm, the country side was flooded, and his home and mill were washed away. All that he had in the world was gone.

After the water had subsided, this man stood on the scene of his loss, surveying the devastation wrought by the flood. He was broken hearted and discouraged. Looking about, his eye caught something shining in the river bank which the raging waters had washed bare. He said "It looks like gold." I was gold. The flood which had bared him, made him rich!

Life is like this. It takes the darkness of the night to reveal the brightness of the stars. Life will bring it's troubles; but if we learn to accept them from the hands of God, our loving Heavenly Father, we will find that they have brought with them spiritual riches. God never sends us trouble, to make us poor.

Most Air Travel Criticisms Are Now Outdated Cliches

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Getting there, say the steamship ads, is half the fun, and far be it from us to argue with the unexpected comeback ocean travel has made in the jet age. We just wish we could spare the time for more of it. If getting there is half the fun, unfortunately it also takes half or more of available time.

Which brings us to the point that maybe it's time someone said a few kinder words than have been heard recently about air travel.

Most of the past criticisms levelled at air travel have become cliches, and many of them are now outdated.

The first big beef registered about the new jet era years ago was the crowding of the three-and-three seating arrangements in the economy or tourist compartments. Five years later in this space we proposed that the whole class distinction system be dumped and a compromise seating arrangement, with prices between first class and tourist, be implemented. And, but surely this is comisy about, with Continental and United Air Lines the leaders, tourist no 6 in the old system has not been eliminated.

However, some jets, like the Convair 880 and 990, feature a tourist compartment with three-and-two seating that is at least as comfortable as first class was on prop planes. Old timers even remember the Eastern Air Lines sold first class seats in three-and-two arrangements, with the whimsical explanation that it was more convenient for parties of three travelling together.

International jet fares are half what they were on prop planes a dozen years ago. First class fares on long hauls within the United States have been brought down to where they are so little more than tourist fares that many travelers can afford the greater comfort.

SERVICE UPGRADED

Service has been upgraded. Once tourist meant coffee, tea, or milk; today airlines serve cocktails and hot meals to tourist passengers.

It was also argued a few years ago that airline food service was oversold. Today, happily, it's been improved and at the same time de-emphasized by most lines.

Perhaps the silliest criticism heard about air travel is summed up in the attitude "It's fast but-so-what!" At first, six hours from New York to London seemed incredibly fast. Then grumbling in the ranks set in, to the tune of "Yeah, but it's still six hours in your seat with nothing to do."

Well, sir, for one thing, six hours still isn't six days. If getting there is half the fun, being there . . . is the object of travel . . . is at least the other half. And who says it has to be dull?

Unfortunately, the big show boom started by TWA a few years ago with in-flight movies is being worked out of existence by the airlines, ostensibly out of fear of rioting cots and unbridled competition, and on the assumption it would not create new business. We disagree with all three excuses: Cost of equipping a jet with a movie projector or TV sets, is trivial, the competition undoubtedly would halt when everyone had similar attractions, and we strongly suspect the world is full of satisfying people who would convert on the promise of a little amusement to undray the nerves and counteract boredom.

But we belong to a small, silent group of travellers who say that not only is flying fun, but it's fun without fun and games.

We find loafing along six miles above the clouds and doing nothing one of the fun-est and most relaxing pastimes in the world. We are not ashamed to take part in ping pong tournaments or costume balls. We are not required to change our clothes regularly and consume meal after meal, day after day, each of which is four times larger than anyone in his right mind would eat at home. We are not distracted from whatever we are doing by errant people or ocean waves.

LOVE THAT LEISURE!

And we don't exactly do nothing up there. We actively do not answer the telephone. We do not respond to kids' hollering "Ma!" We sort our notes or read about where we're going or talk about it to some of the best informed people in the travel business, airline crews. We talk to each other (do you realize how little...you do that at home?) We polish our nails and clean our pipes.

We examine the wallpaper in the cabin. We inspect the engines out the window. After more than six years of flying we still don't know how they can be so still and yet be doing something. We admire cloud formations. We may even have our martini or drink because it doesn't matter if we fall asleep. It helps pass the time.

The airline is the common denominator of any trip, a temporary home between temporary homes. Recently we came back from a round-the-world trip via Qantas, the Australian airline. Each leg was a little like being in Australia. The wallpaper had pictures of curious Australian flora like the narrow leaf bottle brush, the burgundy wax good Australian Penfold's Private Bin, and the crew spoke that marvelous Australian semblance of English.

All the airlines silka (another chicken?) Hostesses serve seaweed on Japan Air Lines, crisp French rolls on Air France, gut bier on the barrel on Lufthansa, and cold drinks and scotch sage glasses full of ice on Pan Am and TWA (only Americans seem to care about ice and safety edge glasses).

Regrets is coming up faster these days. Check-in procedures are being streamlined. Terminals are more comfortable.

So even if getting there by air is only half of one percent of the fun, timewise, it's still exciting, glamorous — and fun.

Ann Landers

Marriage Without Sex Not Normal or Happy

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My wife and I have been married for 20 years. I am 42 and she is 44. In the last couple of years she has become very disinterested in sex that I am lucky if she looks my way once every six weeks.

After a lot of arguing I insisted she go to the doctor. The doctor said she is in good health, but a little run-down. He gave her a prescription which she lost on the bus that same day. She has never bothered to get another one.

Last night my wife said, "Why can't we have a happy, normal marriage and forget about sex?"

I love her, Ann, and I don't want to look elsewhere like some of the geezers at the shop do, but if she doesn't show a little interest soon I might be forced to. Any advice? — VOICE FROM THE DEEP FREEZE.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR VOICE — Apparently your wife doesn't know that a marriage without sex is neither normal nor happy.

Losing the prescription on the bus was as neat a bit of Freud as I've ever heard. Tell your wife to go back to the doctor and get some good literature on the subject — as well as another prescription.

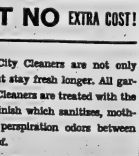
DEAR ANN LANDERS — The letter from the young girl who was in love with the married man next door and expecting his child hit me between the eyes. The man's wife couldn't have children and she wanted to adopt the girl's baby, not knowing it was her husband's.

You told her, "No, a million times no" and I hope she takes your advice. The biggest mistake of my life was saying "yes."

I am only 18 but I feel like 118. My out-of-wedlock child was not fathered by the man next door, but I allowed my aunt and uncle (who live next door) to adopt him.

My child is seven months old and my heart breaks whenever I see him. My mother has asked my aunt not to bring the baby over or speak of him but my aunt can't help herself. I never go to their home but I always seem to be running into them in the market, or on the street, and it just kills me.

The agony of giving up one's own flesh and blood is unbearable but watching your child grow up in someone else's home is hell. Please, Ann, keep repeating your advice to unwed mothers to give their children to licensed agencies. I wish I had. — TORTURED TAMMY.



DEAR TAMMY — Thank you for your letter. And now I hope you will make plans at once to move to another city and start a new life for yourself.

If your parents and aunt and uncle can help you further your education I strongly recommend it. If not, go to work.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 30c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

QUESTION:

. . . I have a slightly overstocked freezer and would like to make up my last year's fruit into jam before the new crop comes in . . . I have apricots, peaches, cherries, gooseberries and currants . . . I am always short of jam. I have a family of seven. We grow all our own fruits and vegetables and I am much too busy picking, etc., to make jam when they are on . . . Mrs. John B.

ANSWER:

We have had similar enquiries from other residents. The answer is simple if your frozen fruit is not sweetened. (If sugar has been added to your fruit I would have to know the exact percentage before telling you how to make jam from it.)

JAM FROM FROZEN UNSWEETENED FRUIT:

3 cups unsweetened frozen fruit, defrosted, 3½ cups sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1/2 cup water, ¼ cup liquid pectin (certo).

Mix liquid pectin with ¼ cup of the sugar. Measure unsweetened defrosted fruit into a large saucepan and add the water. Stir pectin - sugar mixture into fruit into a large saucepan and add the water. Stir pectin-sugar mixture into fruit. Bring to fast boil and add remaining sugar at once. Bring to boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam, and stir and skim for 5 minutes to prevent floating of fruit. Pour into sterile jam jars and cover with melted paraffin, adding a second coating when first has set. Yield: About five 8-oz. jars.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Chicken Chow Mein with Fried Rice; Combination Salad with Italian Salad Dressing (see Friday's menu); Ialoupe Halves filled with Lime Sherbet; Coffee.

NOTE:

My advice to you and all prospective makers of jam from frozen fruit is: Do not use fruit to which sugar has been added. In future if you intend to make jam later do not add sugar to your fruits when you freeze them.

QUESTION:

Would you repeat your recipe for Butterscotch Squares? . . . Estella S.

ANSWER:

BUTTERSCOTCH SQUARES:

½ cup butter or margarine, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup sifted flour, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans, ½ cup shredded or flaked coconut, pinch of salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter with the ½ cup brown sugar until blended, then mix in the 1 cup flour until crumbly. Press into an 8 x 8 x 2" pan (or 13 x 9" pan) evenly. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 10 minutes, or until barely baked but not browned. Meanwhile beat the eggs until frothy and gradually beat in the 1 cup brown sugar and remaining ingredients, mixing well. Spread over baked bottom crust and bake about 20 minutes longer at 350 deg. Fahr or until top is set and golden. If desired, while hot this may be sprinkled with icing sugar. Make from cut into squares or oblongs or diamonds and allow to cool in pans. These are delicious cookies that taste more like a confection.

MELROSE W. I.

Recently the June meeting of Melrose United Church Women was held in the Church. Mrs. N. Denville president conducted the devotional period, Program convener for the evening was Mrs. C. Bates Jr. The study topics were taken from "God and His Purpose". Mrs. Bates chaired a panel discussion on "God Speaks for Himself". Panel members included Mrs. G. McLaren, Mrs. K. McKechnie and Mrs. W. English. The audience and the panel derived great satisfaction from comments made during discussion. Mrs. J. McFarlane read conclusions arising from the presentation.

Mr. S. Bates, minister for the Shannonville charge dealt with "The Book That Talks". He traced the origins of the Bible and illustrated that the Bible is a signpost pointing to God, not to be accepted for better. Mr. Bates told how long it took to compile the Bible, from 621 B.C. to 367 A.D., almost 1000 years and spoke about the yardstick used to select the books to be included.

In conclusion, Mr. Bates recommended "The Making of the Bible" by William Barclay.

Mrs. Bates thanked the panel and Mr. Bates for their fine efforts.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. J. McLaren and her assistants during the social hour.

"A well planned building . . . a dedicated staff and a policy of top service and reconditioning of all used cars, plus fair prices on all cars are all partly responsible for our success during our first year in business", said Roy Stevenson, President of Stevenson Ford Sales Ltd. on the occasion of his first year in business. "Continuous sales . . . no gimmicks, just good value and service all the time."

In May of 1964, Mr. Stevenson signed with the Ford Motor Company of Canada for the Ford Franchise in the Belleville area. On June 8th, Stevenson Ford Sales Ltd. first placed cars for sale on what had been up until a few weeks before, a beautifully landscaped shady lawn. The elaborate entrance, the white painted fence, and all the beautiful shade trees had to go, as another new business was in the making on North Front Street in Belleville. Next all the buildings except the house were demolished.

On July 6th, Mr. Stevenson signed a contract with Hugh Murray Ltd. for the construction of a new garage and showrom with an area of 8400 square feet.

This modern, new dealership offers the latest in service facilities with a trained staff equipped to handle your motoring problems promptly and efficiently, a large well stocked parts department and an attractive showroom which displays 6 new cars with lots of room to open doors and examine all the fine features of the new Ford Products.

This new building was completed near the end of October 1964.

ROY M. STEVENSON wishes to express his sincere thanks to all his customers that made his first year in business so successful. He extends a cordial invitation to the motoring public to visit his establishment for all their service requirements and to inspect the outstanding FORD PRODUCTS for 1965.

A 225-pounds farm boy rassling near Frankford, who once wrestled two 800-pounds cheese-crowd heifers—and won—has one ambition. He wants to see the world.

He is Price Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris, Canada's newest heavyweight weightlifting champion. He won the title at Regina a few days ago, lifting a total of 835 pounds to defeat three of the nation's best heavyweights.

PRICE MORRIS

A graduate of Ken Carr-Bristol's Apollo Barbell Club here, Price had former secret ambitions fuelled after the trip to Regina and winning his first national heavyweight title. He won a junior championship a few years ago.

His eyes flashed with spirit and desire when I asked him if he had a chance to make Canada's national team to be picked at the North American championships to be held in Montreal, Sept. 10.

"You bet I've got a good chance," he said, "and I am going to make it. I have 600s a 300 P. and J. which gives me a total of 945, just five pounds below the standard required."

If you are picked will you go?

"Will I," he said. "You bet I'll go — with colors flying."

The ambitious youngster has his weightlifting guns sighted on top targets. He wants to go to the British Empire Games in Jamaica, the Pan-American Games slated for Winnipeg and the world games in Iran.

"If I have any success after that I'll try the Olympics and keep on going from there."

His potential, he says, is well over 1,000 pounds. The world mark is 1,235 but Price thinks he can reach the point where he can bring home meeting for Belleville and Canada.

Price is shortish, stocky, well-muscled and possesses an almost fiery desire to win. If success is within the perimeter of his potential, he is sure of ultimate reward.

While extremely confident, the youngster's ambition does not bring him to the point of cockiness. While he is proud of his success to date he does not waste time talking about it. He is concentrating on attaining further successes that he feels are within his reach.

"I've got quite a way to go yet," he said, "but with the good coaching I am getting and consistent training, I believe I can win bigger and better things."

He trains two hours a day either at the club or at home and is a firm believer in isometric exercises.

He got in some off-beat training last summer when two of his father's heifers went "wild" with the foot-rot disease. Price tackled them after they were roped and brought both to the ground.

His secret athletic love is football. "I played a lot when I was younger and was twice given tryouts as a centre by the Toronto Argonauts. I didn't make it," he smiled, "guess I picked the wrong club."

He is the only athletic-minded member of a family of two brothers and a sister. He starred in track and field with the Junior Farmers some years ago, being outstanding in the sprints, shot-put and high jump.

He took up weightlifting under Coach Ken Carr-Bristol nine years ago and has steadily climbed the ladder of success. He has met and beaten the best of his class in Canada.

Price is an undergraduate of Quinte Secondary School with an ambition to become a physical education instructor.

He is a staccato, likeable youngster fired with an unquenchable desire to reach the top of his athletic ladder.

Sincerity like that of a bride saying "I do" shone in his eyes when the interview was over. He said, "I want to sincerely thank those fine gentlemen of the city who so generously helped us to finance our trip to Regina. If the coach and the club, will never forget their fine gesture."

And he shook his head, rather sadly, I thought, when I asked him a final question:

"Why didn't John Lewis make the trip to Regina?"

"I do not know," he said. "You must ask John that question."

Climbing Tigers 3 Games Off Pace

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aguirre, whose enthusiasm has earned him the label of team cheerleader, made Kansas City Athletics his latest victim, stopping them on three hits in Detroit Tigers' 3-1 victory Friday night.

The triumph was Aguirre's eighth against two defeats and tied him with Minnesota Twins' Camilo Pascual as the American League's winningest pitchers. The victory also was the Tigers' sixth straight and boosted them to within three games of the first-place Twins.

At 29 the Tigers' oldest player, Aguirre is far ahead of his performances in 1964 when he had a 5-10 record and constantly fought with anyone who was willing.

But this year, Aguirre has abandoned fighting and discovered pitching.

The new attitude resulted in a new Aguirre from spring training on. After listening to his words of encouragement to other players from the bench, acting manager Bob Swift called the pitcher "my cheerleader."

Elsewhere in the league, New York Y ankees bombed the Twins 10-2, Chicago White Sox edged Boston Red Sox 4-3, Cleveland Indians nipped Los Angeles Angels 3-2 and Washington Senators stopped Baltimore Orioles' seven-game winning streak 2-0.

Aguirre gave up a home run to Ken Harrelson and a single to Mike Hershberger in the fourth inning. The Tigers snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Willie Horton reached second base on shortstop Bert Campaneris' error and scored as Don Wert doubled.

Mickey Mantle hit his first grand slam homer since Aug. 19,1962, triggering the Yankees to their victory over Minnesota. Mantle connected in the first inning off Mel Nelson. Phil Linz, Roger Maris and Ron Moschitto added homers for New York.

Bill Skowron's home run in the Chicago sixth broke a 3-3 deadlock and sent the Red Sox to their eighth straight loss. Don Tillman smacked a two-run homer for Boston.

Cleveland edged Los Angeles on Rocky Colavito's 14th homer in the seventh inning after the Angels had tied the contest 2-2 in the third.

Pete Richert held Baltimore to four hits in eight innings before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Baltimore scored in the second when Don Lock doubled and eventually raced home from third on catcher Angelo Angelo's passed ball.

Cards Shade Braves

Phillies' Stuart Stops Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Stuart, his arsenal muffled by the rest of the league, continued to explode against Los Angeles pitching Friday night as he smashed a homer and a key two-run single while leading Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-2 victory over the National League-leading Dodgers.

His latest outburst gave him a .308 average with five homers and 14 runs batted in for 11 games against Dodger pitching —ratted the longest in the majors. In 43 games against the rest of the league, he has managed only four homers and 18 RBI while hitting a meek .243.

The loss kept the Dodgers from adding to their 1½-game lead over Milwaukee Braves, who dropped a 5-4 decision to St. Louis Cardinals on Bill White's 10th inning homer.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati Reds edged Chicago Cubs 3-2, San Francisco Giants blanked New York Mets 3-0 and Houston Astros belted Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1.

HOMER TIES GAME

The Cardinals appeared to have it wrapped up against the Braves with a 4-2 lead in the ninth but Mack Jones hit a two-out, two-run homer off rookie Don Dennis, sending the game into extra innings.

Then, in the 10th, White led off with his 10th homer, off reliever Phil Niekro.

Tommy Harper hit a two-run homer in the third inning for the Reds, following a triple by Leo Cardenas, and Vada Pinson doubled in the other Cincinnati run in the sixth inning.

Joey Jay and Bill McCool, meanwhile, held the Cubs to four hits with McCool finishing up with three innings of no-hit, six-strikeout relief work. Jay now is 6-3.

Jack Sanford and Frank Linzy also combined talents for a four-hitter for the Giants.

Willie Mays and Tom Haller supplied San Francisco's runs with homers. Haller hit a solo shot in the second inning and Mays wrapped it up with his 21st homer in the fourth.

The Astros put it out of the Pirates' reach with a four-run fourth inning against Bob Veale after the Pittsburgh starter had retired the first nine Houston batters in order.

CALGARY (CP)—The International 5k1 Federation approved Banff as the site for the 1972 Winter Olympic Games "by a considerable margin," H. J. Maclej said Thursday. Mr. Maclej, who represented the Olympic '72 committee at the recent federation meeting in Romania, said Banff was selected by a "considerable margin considering the voting system used."

Hevenor Senior Champion

VANCOUVER (CP)—George C. Hevenor of Toronto topped a record field of 134 golfers Friday to win the Canadian Seniors golf championship for the third time in four years.

The 60-year-old golfer promised to "try to win it as long as I can." He won in 1962, the year the championship was started, and again last year.

Hevenor toured the soggy Capilano Golf and Country Club course Friday with a seven-over-par 79 to finish with a 229 total in the 54-hole tournament. He shot a 76 his first time out and 74 in the second round.

John Richardson of Vancouver finished the day with an 83 and his three-day total of 235 put him into a second-place tie with Monty Hill of Vancouver, the first day's leader. Hill shot an 85 Thursday but recovered Friday for a 77.

William Martin of Brantford, who won the championship in 1963, faltered in the final round and ended with an 86. He finished in 11th spot over-all with 243.

Other scoring included:

Dr. Robert MacMillan, Sarnia, 104-108, did not finish; Raymond T. Smith, Kingston, 99-86-96—280; Dr. G. R. Jones, Sudbury, 99-97-86 — 294; Dr. W. Goldwin Gray, Owen Sound, 100-93-98—291.

The seniors interprovincial team championship went to a British Columbia foursome with a low aggregate score of 946. Ontario was second with 980.

ENTER OPEN

TORONTO (CP) — Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., and Doug Sanders of Cedarlown, Ga., have entered the Canadian Open golf championship here July 14-17.

Training Starts June 30

Form Track Club Here

Plans were made for the formation of a track and field club at an organization meeting held at the Recreation Centre this week.

A good deal of interest was shown with 17 persons, both male and female, in various age classes turning out at the meeting. Those in attendance indicated that many others were interested in joining.

All those who will serve athletes in one or more areas of track and field but none would accept an executive position.

After some discussion, it was decided that the club would be formed and for the present time, Norm Carter, of the city Recreation Department, agreed to coordinate training and administer the club.

The organization will be known as "The Belleville Recreation Track Club," and will affiliate with the Central Ontario branch of the A.A.U. The affiliation will permit the club members to participate in meets throughout the province this summer.

Training for the Belleville club will be held every Wednesday night, at the Fairgrounds, commencing on June 30, from 6.30 to 8.30.

Anyone wishing to register for membership, regardless of sex and age, are requested to either call the Recreation Office, at 962-1402, or attend one of the Wednesday training periods.

Plans call for the club to enter competitors in meets at Peterborough on Saturday, July 10, at Colborne on Wednesday, July 21, at Lindsay on Saturday, July 31, and in the Coboconk Games on Monday, August 2.

These will be championship meets culminating in a total points winner for the four meets gaining the championship for the municipality. The first three finishers in each event will also receive ribbons.

Carter expressed confidence that the track and field club here will meet with fine success and he urged all interested parties to join the club.

Kullman To Coach Rangers

KITCHENER (CP) — Wally Kullman was named Friday as coach of Kitchener Rangers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Kullman replaces Floyd (Butch) Martin, released by the Rangers, a farm club of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League. The Kitchener club finished seventh in the eight-team circuit last season.

Kullman coached a Kitchener Junior B club last season.

Senior Baseball

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Chiefs kept pace with the league-leading London Pontiacs in the senior International-County Baseball Association Friday night, but they needed a nine-run inning to do it.

The Chiefs scored nine times in the sixth inning, sending 12 men to bat in the process, for a come-from-behind 12-6 victory over Guelph CIOVA.

The Pontiacs, meanwhile, defeated Galt Terriers 6-4 for their third consecutive victory and moved 1½ games ahead of the idle second-place Brantford Red Sox.

SEES MONEY SOURCE

WINNIPEG (CP)—A federal wildlife authority suggested Friday that sport hunting in northern Canada can be developed to put more money in the pockets of northern residents. Dr. J. S. Tener, mammals specialist with the Canadian wildlife service, suggested that sport hunting in sub-arctic and arctic Canada can be developed by establishing sport hunting zones similar to controlled hunting areas in Africa.

CASH INCOME UP

OTTAWA (CP) — Farmers' cash receipts from farming operations rose 16 per cent in the first three months of this year over the record - breaking figure of $854,900 for the first quarter of 1964, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday. The new figure is $974,100,000. Substantially higher prices for tobacco and cattle raised the cash receipts of Ontario farmers.

Woodbridge 'Toms' Best-Ball Champs

Quinte Pair Third

By GEO. H. CARTER
Sports Editor

The "deceivingly tough" course of the Bay of Quinte Country Club, yesterday threw off the challenge of several of the provinces top amateur golfers.

Out of the forty entries in the first Ontario Golf Association "Best-Ball Tournament" championship to be held outside of Toronto only two broke the par of 71.

Tom Woodall and Tom McAllister of the Pine Valley Club of Woodbridge won the coveted Oakdale Trophy with a par-shattering 69.

One stroke behind was Ted Durey and Carl Beaston of New Uplands, Toronto.

Playing brilliant golf was the Bay of Quinte two-some of Peter Jones and Mac White who carded a 71.

Also scoring 71's and finishing in fourth and fifth positions were Tim Richardson and Lee Bradshaw of Toronto Golf Club and Leo Molnar and Gus Blair of Toronto Bayview.

Ruled tops in five 72 scores were Leon Young and Alex. McMillan of the Cataraqui Club, Kingston, who finished in sixth and the last prize-winning position.

FOUND COURSE TOUGH

Pre - tournament favorites found the well-groomed course little to their liking.

Dave and Bill Moreland of North Bay the defending champions wound up with a three-over par 74.

Nick Weslock, five-time Canadian amateur champion with partner Leo Valentine ran into penalty trouble on the 18th hole and finished with a 72, as did the pre-tournament favorites Bob Jamieson and Bob Rowse of Peterborough.

Val Smith and Davy Jones the second Bay of Quinte entry ran into putting trouble but finished with a neat 74.

Bruce Brewer and Ken Thorpe of the Whitevale Golf Club favored for the title bowed out with a 74. Brewer is a former Willingdon Cup player and Thorpe the left-handed champion of Ontario.

The calibre of play is noted in the fact that scores ranged from the winning 69 to an 85. Only four scores were reported over eighty.

COURSE TROUBLES?

Peter Jones and Mac White played brilliantly coming into the 16th hole two under par. But the putting failed and they found par at 15 and 16.

Winners Tom Woodall and Tom McAllister had five birdies while runners-up Durey and Beaston had four birdies but finished with three bogies.

Youthful Bill Stocking of Toronto Uplands who partnered William Stothers, landed three feet from the pin on the 18th hole on his drive.

Val Smith and Davey Jones of Quinte who finished with a 74 deserved a better fate. They carded a first nine 36 then ran into trouble on the 14th and 15th holes.

Val said "Dave played brilliantly." Said Davey, "I had better luck scoring goals. My putting suddenly left me."

Nick Weslock and Leo Valentine had trouble at the 14th hole when both failed to hole their balls. Nick missed a three-foot putt. His partner failed to hole out as did Weslock and the team was penalized two strokes, costing them a par score.

Closeness of the scores is indicated in the fact that there were three 71's and four 72's.

Ontario Golf Association officials ruled that in case of ties the best scores at 17 holes would decide the winner, if tied the best score at 16 holes and so on.

The tournament was held under the personal supervision of Ontario Golf Association officials. OGA secretary Mrs. Marjorie Lunn and tour representatives Norman Faulkner and Sam Chamberlain took care of all the scoring details.

The course was in perfect condition and early weather was ideal. There was little wind and brilliant sunshine.

Rain-heavy clouds scudded overhead and the rain came about 2.30 with thunder but no lightning. It cleared later.

According to a consensus of OGA officials and the visiting amateurs, the Bay of Quinte course has won its spurs in the tournament field.

OGA representatives Faulkner and Chamberlain said "This is a mystery course as far as visiting golfers are concerned. It looks simple but it brings out the best in any golfer. It is decidedly a course for future OGA tournaments."

Mr. Faulkner said, "Your course is a wonderful test for golfers. We of the OGA are happy to include it in our tournaments agenda. We hope to bring bigger and better tournaments here."

All players contacted had the same opinion.

Nick Weslock said, "It is very interesting and trying to a golfer. It is conducive to good golf because it has wonderful greens and fairways all in excellent shape.I would say that it is ready for the bigger tournaments of golf and I would like to come back and play in them."

Country Club president Everett Fairman presented the Oakdale Trophy and accompanying awards to the 1965 champions Tom Woodall and Tom McAllister of Pine Valley. Mr. Fairman presented the other five prizes.

PAR SMASHERS — Tom McAllister and veteran golfer Tom Woodall of Woodbridge won the OGA Best-Ball Tournament here yesterday with a two-under par 69. Above they are holding the handsome Oakdale Trophy symbolic of the championship.

CITY ACT

BRANTFORD (CP) —Three Indians from the nearby Six Nations Reserve are citing the federal Indian Act in defence of charges against them for fishing small mouth bass out of season. Allan Maracle and Raymond Hill, both 22, and George Bomberry, 20, appeared Thursday in Simcoe County court. They referred to a section of the act which says Indians are allowed to fish any time, anywhere and for any type of fish. Decision was reserved.

'Course Tops' Weslock

One of Canada's best-known amateur golfers put the personal stamp of approval on the Bay of Quinte Country Club course yesterday.

Nick Weslock 46-year-old veteran of the fairways whose troops won the Willingdon Cup in 1956 said "You can hold any Ontario Golf Association tournament here."

"It is one of the best courses I have seen for the long ball hitter. It is long and its greens are in wonderful shape."

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the Canadian Open held here some of these days."

"It is a very interesting course and a distinct challenge to long putters with its large greens," he said.

Weslock who played in the Best-Ball tournament with partner Leo Valentine of Mississauga finished with a one-over par 72 after "blowing a two under on the back nine.

A mixup, in putting that cost the two-some a two stroke penalty threw Weslock slightly off his game and he missed a three-foot putt on a late hole.

He is a five times winner of the Ontario Amateur and last year won the Carling Trophy as top amateur in the Ontario Open.

He has won the national amateur three times and has been Canadian team captain on the Willingdon Cup team twelve times.

"The course here is very deceiving and a lot of us here today who expected to shatter par were surprised."

"I am looking forward to playing here again in the not too distant future," he said.

Will Soon Start Shooting 9th Season of Perry Mason

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What makes a television series go on and on and on and on?

Each of the longest-runners such as Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton, Gunsmoke, Ozzie and Harriet and What's My Line has a peculiar quality all its own. And what about Perry Mason? Barbara Hale, who has tirelessly taken dictation from the undefeated lawyer for eight years, has her own theory:

"I think there is a great deal of audience participation in our show. It gives the audience a chance to read into the characters whatever they want to believe. Then at the end, they get a chance to see whether their judgment was right."

Whatever the reasons for its longevity, Perry Mason will soon start shooting on its ninth season with the original cast intact: Raymond Burr, Barbara, Bill Hopper, Bill Talman and, when his health permits, Ray Collins. One would expect the tensions to show after a group of actors had been exposed to each other for so long a time.

HAVE NO FIGHTS

"The only thing that worries me," said Barbara, "is that we have had no fights. We've never even had a disagreement. People can't believe that, but it's true.

"Ray Burr and I have worked together so much that we can actually speak a kind of shorthand. I'm a little shy about speaking up when something doesn't seem right in a scene, and I have a nervous habit of clearing my throat when that happens. Ray invariably looks up and asks what is wrong. The next time we do the scene, the matter is corrected, and we go right on with our work.

"With Bill Hopper it's entirely different. He loves to gab, so he and I talk in longhand."

Barbara didn't expect to be back for another season of Perry Mason. There were reports that Burr was seeking new pastures and that CBS figured the series had run its course. But the show survived, and Barbara is glad.

SHE'S PLEASED

"I've always been pleased to do the show. The best thing about doing a series is that you can be at home, instead of travelling all over the world to make movies. I've been able to be with my three children as they grow up. Our youngest, Juanita, was 8 when we started the show; now she's graduating from grade school."

Barbara, who is married to the series star, Bill Williams (Kit Carson) never worries about the size of her role.

"Some of new writers think I want more lines; they I ask them about my part. It's not that at all. The value of Della is her quietness. But I just like to know what I'm being quiet about."

6-Year-Old Injury Claims Life

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Peter John Malone, 25, in hospital since he was injured in a high school football game nearly six years ago, died Friday.

Malone was a Grade 12 student at Clarke Road high school in London, Ont., when he received head injuries in a game against London's Catholic Central High, Oct. 13, 1959.

He walked from the game unassisted, but collapsed a short time later and did not regain complete consciousness for more than two months. In 1962, he was transferred to hospital here from St. Joseph's Hospital in London.

Born in Toronto, he lived most of his life in London.

Honda Sports Car Arrives for Test Drive & Preview

Booth Radio and Television Limited have recently been appointed one of the first Honda sports car dealers in Canada and on Monday and Tuesday, June 21st and 22nd, they will have a model on display for preview and demonstration. At this time a factory representative will put this new car through its paces. Why not drop in and arrange for a test drive?

The Honda S 600 engine develops 57 h.p. at 8500 r.p.m. and has a double overhead camshaft and 4 synchronized carburetors — one for each cylinder — that gives speeds to 90 m.p.h.

This little jewel of a car is beautifully finished inside and out and is a dream to drive with its flashing pick-up and sure-footed cornering at all speeds. Of course, like all Hondas, the gas mileage is fantastic.

The Honda is an all-weather car with roll-up windows, snug-fitting top and fresh air heater.

Be sure to arrange for your test drive on Monday and Tuesday, June 21st and 22nd at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front Street, opposite the City Hall, Belleville. Phone 968-3785.

The Golden Years Says New House, Neighborhood Smart Move for Retired Man

By THOMAS COLLINS

Now comes a man who contends that the smartest thing a husband can do when he retires is to move.

He is Robert W. Weyland. He moved.

"We owned our house," he says. "We had had it for 18 years and had spent 15 years paying the mortgage. It was a good enough housing and would have lasted through our retirement. But I was convinced that the compatibility at home, (with me under my wife's feet 24 hours a day), would be better, and that pleasures of both of us would be enhanced, if we moved out of the old home and into a new one.

"I spent a half-year selling the idea to my wife and shortly after I retired we moved 12 blocks away to a house a real estate developer had just built."

His conviction he should move Mr. Weyland says, was based on three factors:

1. By retirement time a man's house is not really his. It is his wife's.

2. Any house more than 15 years old is beginning to get a bit frayed at the edges. So is the neighborhood.

3. A house where a man has lived for 18 years or so has tired blood. It has little inspiration for a man returning home to live with it and a man needs some.

WIFE HAS DOMINATED

On Point 1, Mr. Weyland explains that however much a man claims his home is his castle, his wife has dominated it during his working years.

"The husband has boarded there on most evenings and weekends, with living room, bedroom, and yard privileges. And he has had a voice in how things were done and how they were decorated, if he cared to bother. But gradually, over the years the house has grown into a wifely castle. The Ruler's primary job has been to keep the man and to send him forth. In overshoes to slay the dragons . . .

"This is not good for a husband's retirement, Mr. Weyland thinks. When both husband and wife are now going to be spending 24 hours a day in the dwelling, he can be happy only if he has at least a 50-50 influence. But he can't recapture his 50 percent after letting the wife dominate for 18 years. He can get it only if he moves into a entirely new home where he and his wife can start off on equal footing.

"On Point 2, a lot of retired husbands don't look facts in the face," according to Mr. Weyland. "People who own a house at age 65 usually didn't buy them last month, but 15 or 20 years ago. So wear and tear are well underway. Repairs should be more costly now than in any previous year, will grow more numerous with each succeeding year. It's like an auto — trade it swiky three years and you don't have to have the engine overhauled.

"As for the neighborhood, of course there are some fine ones that maintain their standards for 50 years. But the average man, who bought his house on the low salary he had 18 years ago, couldn't afford the fine neighborhood. What he could afford is the one most likely to begin showing its seams in 15 years or so . . . "

"STAND UP BETTER"

So, it is his reasoning that a retired man should get out from under, and move to a house and a neighborhood that will stand up better through retirement.

Mr. Weyland feels strongly on Point 3. "I knew every rock in my backyard, every spot where a flower would or wouldn't grow every crack in the basement, all the creaking boards in the kitchen floor, every view from every window, all the limitations on planting and repairing and improving. There simply were no challenges in the old house. No inspiration to try anything new. Nothing to conquer I hadn't already conquered.

"But in the new home I can spend the next 10 years exploring for patches of good soil in the yard, trying new flowers, tackling new improvement projects, dreaming up new things to do. And all the while, my wife and I will be pioneering together.

"She doesn't know one thing about this new house that I don't know as well."

TOPS Tops Pound Problem For Worried Overweights

DEAR DORIS — I often note letters from overweight, but don't believe I have ever seen you mention the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club. This note was prompted by a letter signed "Sweety" and having been one of those, I found that a diet containing plenty of meat will after a time remove the craving for sweets.

DORIS CLARK

TOPS are quite a social group, meeting weekly. A weekly weigh-in is an excellent appetite deterrent. The clubs make their own entertainment and I think for a number fill a social need which may have been partly the original cause of the obesity.

They have lots of fun. Fees are six dollars the first year; there are a few dime and quarter donations, but I am sure not more than the price of a garment one can no longer get into! — A BOOSTER FOR TOPS.

DEAR BOOSTER — So am I a booster. I have steered many women and teen-agers to TOPS — and will pass on the address to anyone writing in. Glad you are being helped.

Riot Police Stand Guard In Algiers

16 Hurt By Blast At Barrie

BARRIE (CP)—At least 16 persons were injured, three critically, after a basement explosion tore through the floor of a highway restaurant Sunday night, about 12 miles south of here.

In critical condition in Toronto at the Hospital for Sick Children are Catherine Little, 14 of Hamilton, and her sister Sian, 13. They had burns to 30 per cent of their bodies.

Their father, Dr. Desmond C. Little, was in satisfactory condition in St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto. His wife, teen-age son and the family maid, Ann Hugh, were also reported among the injured.

Investigating fire officials said the blast occurred near the heating unit in the basement of the Cheltenham Restaurant, a service centre at the intersection of highways 400 and 89.

Dr. D. McFarland of Bradley Cookstown, first doctor on the scene, said steam escaping after the blast caused the burns to the children.

FEW IN ROOM

The explosion blew upward through the boiler room in the basement, tore a 15-foot hole in the floor, shattered the ceiling and penetrated the roof of the building. It pushed out part of a stone wall beneath the window in the dining room.

"If there had not been a hill in the business they'd have still been picking the customers off the ceiling," an Innisfil Township policeman said.

Police said Roger, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court, was also injured.

David Winter, service station operator, said he was sitting 30 feet from the restaurant when he heard a loud "pouf." A small window flew past his doorway and knocked down the Landreville youth. A witness said the judge drove his son to hospital in his own car.

Another injured person was identified by an as Mrs. Lawrence Woodacre of Barrie, as employee of the dining room, who suffered a broken leg.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cooler weather will cover all of southern Ontario by this afternoon with mostly sunny weather expected for tonight and Tuesday.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Many a gal is overweight because she's too slow at fasting.

ALGIERS (AP)—Riot police stood guard in Algiers today against further demonstrations in support of deposed president Ahmed Ben Bella. Nearly 1,000 youths poured through the streets last night.

The government of Col. Houari Boumedienne, which overthrew Ben Bella Saturday in a bloodless coup, announced the Afro - Asian conference would open as scheduled in Algiers June 29. A preparatory foreign ministers' meeting is set for Thursday.

The demonstration Sunday night was the first indication of public opposition to the new regime.

It started with a march downtown by about 200 members of the Algerian Student Federation. They shouted "Ya-ya Ben Bella" (Long Live Ben Bella). Riot police scattered them without violence and made a few arrests.

All sports events and public gatherings were banned.

HEAD SHOOTING

(Reuters news agency said travellers arriving in Algiers reported a shooting incident for several hours Sunday in Oran, western Algeria. Telephone lines to Oran were closed and no more details were available.)

Boumedienne held a secret session with his ruling revolutionary council Sunday. One of the council members, Ahmed Medeghri was Ben Bella's fate. The former president was reported in an army prison camp.

The new government has denounced him as a "diabolical dictator."

Diplomats thought the government might stage a spectacular "reconciliation" trial.

The council ordered the release of all political prisoners who it said had been arrested arbitrarily under Ben Bella.

President Nasser of the United Arab Republic sent his top aide, Vice-President Abdel Hakim Amer, to Algiers with instructions to check on Ben Bella's personal safety. Boumediene went to the airport to welcome Amer.

The foreign ministry said the new regime had informed most of the diplomatic missions in Algiers that it will respect all of the country's international commitments.

Recognition for Boumediene's government came from China, India, Syria and Indonesia.

The Soviet Union, bitter rival of China for influence in Algeria, was non-committal but privately indicated recognition was coming.

The United States maintained a "wait and see" attitude. There was no word on how France-fed about developments in her former possession whose economy is still tied to France. The new regime is expected to continue relations with France unchanged.

It appeared that the Afro-Asian conference might not be as big as expected.

The foreign ministry spokesman said the foreign ministers' preparatory meeting Thursday will decide whether the Soviet Union and Malaysia should be invited.

Call Dominican General Strike To Protest U.S. Intervention

From Reuters-AP

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — Workers from two of the Dominican Republic's three major labor groups were called out on a three-day general strike today to protest United States intervention, but diplomatic sources said it might be a flop.

In another development, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, chief of the rebel "constitutionalist" regime, said United States is ready to negotiate with the Organization of American states and "do everything possible to arrive at a peaceful, dignified and democratic agreement."

One labor leader, Luis Henry Molina, said there was no connection between the strike call and current efforts by OAS negotiators to reach a peace settlement.

The strike, called by the 120,000 - member Confederation of Autonomous Trade Unions and the 80,000 - strong Confederation of Workers, had not received publicity in most of the country, union sources said.

They said it was planned clandestinely, pointing out that all the means of communication, except a radio station in the rebel zone here are in the hands of the right-wing "national reconstruction government."

The OAS team met with rebel negotiators Sunday to discuss its new peace formula which both the rebels and the junta accepted Saturday as a basis for negotiations, The Associated Press reported.

Reliable sources said the six-man rebel team sought clarification of certain points in the formula.

The rebels were reported favoring a provisional government headed by a president rather than a junta or triumvirate. The OAS formula left the point open.

The rebels also want a permanent government elected in less than six months while the OAS plan calls for elections in six to nine months.

They are also asking the removal of more than 30 officers from the armed forces before rebel soldiers rejoin the army and civilians give up their arms, as the OAS proposes.

Africans Charge Britain Shows Lack of Courage in Rhodesia

LONDON (CP)—Britain was accused by African Commonwealth leaders today of showing a lack of courage on the Rhodesian issue as demands piled up for an end to minority white rule in that African state.

A Commonwealth spokesman said that about one-third of the 21 leaders raised the Rhodesian issue in the conference's morning session. The spokesman, who is Prime Minister Wilson's press officer, Trevor Lloyd Hughes, said the words spoken were strong but not bad-tempered.

Later a spokesman for Kenya's Foreign Minister Joseph Murumbi called reporters to tell them Murumbi accused Wilson of a lack of courage and declared action which could lead to the ouster of Rhodesian white rule Prime Minister Ian Smith and a new Rhodesian government led by Africans.

Murumbi maintained that Wilson's Labor government should be ready to sacrifice its slender parliamentary majority in order to provide the vote for the 3,000,000 Africans in Rhodesia. It was understood Murumbi's mood reflected that generally prevailing among the African delegates.

Prime Minister Pearson expects to speak on the issue later in the day, seeking a possible compromise between the moderates and the extremists on the explosive African racial issue.

Financier B. Baruch Dies At 94

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernard Baruch, 94, financier and adviser to U.S. presidents, died Sunday night of a heart attack.

Baruch had been ill at his home for the last week. At his bedside when death came were his son, daughter, son-in-law, and former Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, an old friend.

A shrewd speculator, investor, and philanthropist, Baruch displayed his financial acumen early in life. After graduating from City College of New York, Baruch began a $3-a-week job and soon made more than $1,000,000 by the time he was 30.

He went on to amass many more millions, but lost interest in money for "money's sake" and used it for large donations toward medical research, education and charity.

Born in Camden, S.C., Baruch was taken north by his parents when he was 11.

Baruch was a Jew, of Portuguese - Spanish extraction on his mother's side and German on his father's.

During the First World War, President Woodrow Wilson named Bernard Baruch chairman of the war industries board.

In 1929, with Hitler menacing all of Europe, Baruch offered to which the Queen Mother, as colonel - in - chief, will present new colors on her trip.

Other guests include Deputy High Commissioner Geoffrey Murray and his wife; Ontario Agent-General J. S. P. Armstrong and Quebec Agent - General Hugues Lapolice, with their wives; Canadian government and military officials and RCN European manager of Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada and the Bank of Montreal.

The Queen Mother will be accompanied by a lady-in-waiting and her private secretary, Col. Sir Martin Gilliat, who will travel with her to Canada.

In the Chevriers' white and gold dining room, its long mahogany table decorated with the Chevriers' white and colored roses, the guests will dine off sole with green grapes, roast duckling with fresh asparagus, an Italian dessert called zuppa inglese and champagne.

Prop Planes Down Red Jet In Air Battle Near Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — Four U.S. Navy propeller planes outmaneuvered two faster Communist MIG-17 jet fighters Sunday night and shot one down, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The A-1H Skyraiders from the carrier Midway were raiding a highway 60 miles south of Hanoi when the 600 - mile - an - hour MIGs swept down on them with rockets blazing, the spokesman said.

The Skyraiders, whose speed is about 300 miles an hour, "executed defensive manoeuvres as they carried the fight to lower altitude," he said. Two of the Skyraiders scored repeated hits with 20-millimetre cannon fire on one MIG that plunged to the ground and exploded, he said.

The spokesman declined to speculate about the nationality of the jets, but did note that both North Viet Nam and China have MIG-17s.

During the missions Sunday Skyraiders and jet fighter -

Commonwealth's Move Is Rebuffed

China's Premier Calls Peace Mission Hoax

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP) — China has dealt the hopes of the Commonwealth peace mission a crushing blow, aiming its main torpedo at British Prime Minister Wilson's chairmanship. Conference informants suggested this may increase Commonwealth pressure to remove Wilson and possibly substitute Canada.

However, a Canadian informant said the sharp rejection of the mission by China's Premier Chou En-lai virtually destroyed any prospect that the four-country pilgrimage could make any headway in settling the Vietnamese war. Under the circumstances Prime Minister Pearson would be reluctant to take on the role of leader.

Leak May Be Probed By Martin

QUEBEC (CP)—Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec Superior Court said Sunday night he plans to get in touch today with Acting Prime Minister Martin to discuss the reported leak of details of his still unpublished report into alleged influence - peddling by federal cabinet ministers.

He referred in an interview to an Ottawa dispatch Friday by Southam News Services.

Mr. Justice Dorion said he will confer by telephone with Mr. Martin. Andre Desjardins, Dorion commission counsel, returns to Ottawa today but the justice did not say whether Mr. Desjardins will inquire into the possibility of a leak.

"I cannot reply to that question," he said when asked to comment on a published report that he had received a telegram from Prime Minister Pearson, attending Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London.

Nowhere in the interview did he say there had actually been a leak.

The federal inquiry was set up to investigate allegations by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he had been offered a $20,000 bribe not to oppose the bid for Leclerc Rivard stable to fought extradition to the United States where he is wanted on narcotics charges.

Rivard subsequently escaped from the provincial Bordeaux jail in Montreal.

The chief justice referred in a statement he gave reporters as to an Ottawa dispatch Friday by Southam News Services. The dispatch quoted "a source who claims to be informed" as saying the report questions Justice Minister Lucien Cardin's role in calling off last Sept. 18 an RCMP investigation into the alleged bribe.

Chief Justice Dorion said he

North Viet Nam followed China's lead, charging the mission was a swindle to help President Johnson. The North Vietnamese news agency said the mission was proposed to please Washington and to offset indignation against American military action voiced in Britain and the Commonwealth.

Nhan Dan, the North Vietnamese Communist party's official newspaper, called the mission "an intrigue" to serve the U.S. "peaceful negotiation swindle" and termed Wilson a "willful aide of Johnson."

Commonwealth leaders, preparing for a new explosive issue over African demands for one-man, one-vote in Rhodesia, heard of Chou's rejection just as they returned from a weekend of countryside talks and relaxation.

CALLS IT HOAX

Speaking in Cairo, the Chinese premier said Wilson's peace mission proposal was a manoeuvre and a hoax to help the United States hang on in South Viet Nam.

Today, the official New China news agency in rejecting the mission called it a "new peace fraud concocted jointly by the U.S. and Britain."

But British officials said the Communist rejection was not the final act. Wilson would formally thank China for a meeting with the mission. The reaction is expected by observers to be a firm "no."

The Chinese and North Vietnamese rejection reaction came after each of the four mission members, Britain, Nigeria, Ghana and Trinidad - Tobago, sent a private statement to each of the countries involved in the Vietnamese battle calling the latest military truce restraint to pave the way for a ceasefire.

Some conference delegates noted that Chou's criticism was aimed mainly at Britain, making no mention of the other members. Tanzania, Kenya and other Commonwealth members had warned that China and North Viet Nam would not take warmly to Wilson's support of the British leader's full backing of President Johnson's policies

5,000 Motorcyclists Stage Riot In Community in New Hampshire

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — "You'd better get out of there and get out fast—every one of you," a young family was warned as cars were overturned, buildings set ablaze and national guardsmen battled with some of the rioting motorcycle fans during the weekend.

Picturesque Laconia in the Lake Winnipesaukee area was a mess of beer cans and debris today as cyclists thundered down its little main street and its highways.

Not all the motorcycle fans were allowed to leave, however. At least 40 persons were jammed into local and surrounding community jails. They were charged with violating the state's new Riot Act, under which conviction can mean a $1,000 fine and three years in jail.

Safety Commissioner Robert W. Rhodes said the riot started Saturday night when a California motorcycle club known as Hell's Angels dipped over from and then threw a ring around the area and "wouldn't let anybody get anyway."

Local and neighboring police, state troopers and finally the national guard moved in to quell the throwing of smoke bombs and beer cans and fighting.

Nearly 100 persons were injured, at least 10 seriously, and damage was estimated well into the thousands of dollars.

The rioters converged into the downtown area, and it was one of them who shouted the warning of impending danger to the family caught in blocked traffic.

Motorcyclists, many wearing bandanas but otherwise dressed entirely in black, shiny leather and their hair in a long, slicked-down style, crowded into area grocery stores earlier buying food and beer. Some 15,000 of them had come from the 100-mile area of a national championship road race of the American Motorcycle Association.

Robert G. Leslie, a free lance photographer, said he saw one of the rioters carry a Nazi swastika on a telephone pole and drape it over the top.

He said:

"I saw a joker on a unicycle who was putting on a demonstration for the crowd. When the police officers went over to send him back out of the line of traffic, the unicyclist went over to his friends and urged the officer to come after him.

"Looking at the chains dragging loosely around the wrists of the motorcyclists, it could well imagine why the officer refused to go into the crowd alter him."

Summer Recess Nearing

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament appears to be heading into its stretch drive to a summer recess, but there are still some potentially disruptive hurdles to jump.

In the 10 days since Prime Minister Pearson announced the pre-recess legislative program, the Commons has coasted comfortably through a major part of it, but no one is taking bets on when the job may be completed.

The controversial legislation to tax advertising in foreign-owned publications still is to come before the House — probably this week—in the form of bills, and opposition spokesmen say there likely will be a heavy debate.

The government is expected to face questioning over a Southam News Services report about Chief Justice Dorion's report on his inquiry in last year's allegations of bribery and corruption.

HAS FACILITIES

The chief justice of the Quebec Superior Court said the federal government has the facilities to make an investigation to determine whether there was a leak of portions of his report which is now being prepared for delivery to Prime Minister Pearson next week.

And a supply motion, featuring the government's decision to advise the Queen to accept Quebec's recommendation to limit the powers of the province's legislative council, also will touch off a heated debate.

But apart from these issues, the various House leaders expect the Commons to move smoothly through the other

Automobile's Exhaust Said Common Hazard, May Add Afterburner On All Cars

TORONTO (CP)—There are as many approaches to air-pollution control as there are communities.

On the local level, the control official's basic responsibility involves the setting up of a program suited to his community's needs.

But experts from around the world, meeting here this week, agree the problem must also be tackled on the international level—because the whole sky is the limit.

Their forum is the annual meeting of the Air Pollution Control Association, formed in 1907 when 35 municipal inspectors got together in Milwaukee, Wis., to discuss the problem of smoking chimneys. It now embraces government, industry, education, science and medicine and considers attempts to find a solution to such things as atomic radiation.

EXCUSE EXHAUSTS

The automobile's exhaust is a common nuisance. Talk today at the opening session was largely about the possibility—some delegates termed it a probability—of an afterburner being installed as standard equipment on motor cars in the near future to consume every bit of fuel and thus emit no noxious gases into the atmosphere. Cost is estimated at from $35 to $100 a car.

General Motors scientists headed by Dr. Charles W. Tuesday described in detail the design, construction and research procedures for a "smog change bar" used for exploration of the role of auto-exhaust to air pollution.

Rocket firings, such as those from Cape Kennedy, Fla., have raised questions about contamination of the lower atmosphere, experts from the U.S. public health service said. In papers delivered today, A. W. Haller, deputy chief, technical assistance branch, and P. A. Humphrey, supervisory research meteorologist, both from the weather bureau station at Cincinnati, Ohio, said:

"The use of such exotic fuels as liquid oxygen, nitrogen tetroxide, unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine . . . and additives such as beryllium, boron and lithium emphasize the need to define the character of the exhaust products, their transport properties and potential effects."

They said that these and other factors, such as the emissions from the firing of small propellants containing beryllium and liquid hypropellants containing fluorine and oxygen, must be thoroughly explored when choosing a test firing site.

Miami Herald Newsman Wed In Body Frame

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas Kennedy, chief photographer for the Miami Herald, was married Saturday to Eileen Fulford at Walter Reed Army Hospital where he is recovering from bullet wounds received in Santo Domingo.

Kennedy, a native of Windsor, Ont., lay strapped on a trundle frame during the ceremony performed by Maj. Richard E. Hagar, army chaplain, in the hospital chapel. The bride, 26, also of Windsor, was attended by her mother, Mrs. Irene McKetchie. Stanley Wiseman, Life magazine photographer was the best man.

The bride wore a blue, knee-length dress, with hat to match both her dress and the bridegroom's blue pyjamas.

PATIENTS ATTEND

Several of Kennedy's military fellow patients, in wheel chairs along with two nurses, friends and photographers, attended the ceremony and the reception which followed at the post officer's club.

For the ride to the club, Kennedy, bed and all, was lifted into a large army bus.

Helped by his bride, the 43-year old Kennedy smilingly extended the purchase of a few moments with the guests and submitted to a long round of picture taking.

And Deputy Sheriff Hagar received his official marriage certificate, issued by the army department.

Asked about honeymoon plans, Mrs. Kennedy said only that "we shall be given much thought to that yet."

Kennedy faces another six months in the hospital and a long period of recuperation.

SCALP CREASED

His scalp was creased and one leg was shattered by bullets fired from U.S. marine automatic rifles on May 6. Kennedy was returning from rebel territory in the Dominican when his Dominican taxi driver panicked and tried to back away from a marine barricade.

Kennedy and the Miami Herald's Latin-American editor, Al Burt, were shot. The Pulitzer Burt's wounds proved less serious.

Kennedy underwent extensive surgery on the U.S. hospital ship Raleigh, off Santo Domingo. He was flown to Fort Bragg, N.C., before being moved to the army medical centre here.

Kennedy met his bride in Detroit last year. She now has a job here and will remain until he is released from hospital.

Chief Coroner To Get Report From Police

A provincial police investigator was scheduled to report today to Ontario Supervising Coroner Dr. H. B. Cotnam into circumstances surrounding the death of Belleville man Jacob Bernard Warkentin.

The 61-year-old greenhouse operator died June 5 after undergoing surgery in Belleville and Kingston hospitals for a hernia.

Inspector J. S. Kay of the OPP's Criminal Investigation Branch returned to Toronto Friday after concluding preliminary investigations into the case.

The supervising coroner was called in by Belleville coroner Dr. J. Russell Hunter.

"I think it's probably one of those unfortunate incidents that needs airing at an inquest in the public interest," Dr. Scott was quoted as saying.

An autopsy on Mr. Warkentin was held in Toronto where the body was transferred for cremation.

— ANNOUNCEMENT —

CLOSING JUNE 30th

Due to radical changes which have taken place during the last five years in the distribution of Drug Store services in Belleville, I have reluctantly decided to terminate the business known as "McKeown's Drug Store". Exactly twenty-five years ago I took over this business from Mr. J. S. McKeown and in the intervening years we have served a great many people in this area, and I trust to their satisfaction. I would like to thank them now for the business they entrusted to me and I am especially grateful for the many warm friendships which spring from these contacts.

Thoss, I assure you, I will miss very much.

Say Modern Commonwealth Founded by Jawaharlal Nehru

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON - (CP) — As Commonwealth leaders wrestled with problems by the fireside at London conference, an imaginative exhibition just across the river in Royal Festival Hall evoked a vivid picture of the man many consider inspired modern Commonwealth — Jawaharlal Nehru.

As one British journalist expressed it, today's Commonwealth is "a kind of testing laboratory for the general world problem of race relations." Douglas Brown of The Sunday Telegraph wrote that it was Nehru who by voluntarily taking his newly-fledged republic to Crown and Commonwealth in 1949 had made that experiment possible.

"He changed the whole nature of that unique institution. He turned it from a coterie of blood - related nations into a world family."

The memorial exhibition, arranged by the Indian government, opened in New York last January and was inaugurated in London by Prime Minister Wilson June 10. The Queen visited it the following day.

With skilful use of 1,500 photographs, colorful Indian fabrics and art objects and extracts from Nehru's own books and speeches, it draws the visitor into Nehru's life and times, into the Indian scene, into revolutionary, a paradox among nationalist politicians.

And into Nehru's mind.

Here is Nehru the Cambridge-educated lawyer with scholarly English tastes, the dreaming philosopher who translated Lewis Carroll, Rudyard Kipling and Jerome K. Jerome's humorous Three Men in a Boat, developing into a steel - willed opponent of British rule, reverent disciple of Mohandas Gandhi called "an extremist."

He spent altogether 14 years in British jails, yet while hating British policy in India wrote in his prison letters: "I do not hold England or the English people as a whole responsible for this grim game as innocent victims of circumstances as we are."

The first prime minister of independent India was born in 1889 into a westernized household in Allahabad. Even the address of his father, Motilal, was like an English suburb. Father Motilal Nehru was a lawyer who lived the life of an English gentleman, having suits tailored in London, importing the first automobile car in all Allahabad.

In 1911, when Motilal was invited to join Lord Crewe's Indian Statute Durbar in Delhi, he instructed his son, then a budding lawyer in London, to order his court dress complete with sword, hand-made shoes and gloves.

ENROLLED AT HARROW

Yet the senior Nehru had already sparked nationalist yearnings in his son. "We have outgrown the baby clothes supplied to us by England," he said in his letter.

Earlier, as a schoolboy at posh Harrow, young Nehru found English boys disconcertingly childish. He was excited by Japan's defeat of Russia in the war of 1904-05, and later wrote: "I mused on Indian freedom and Asian freedom from the thraldom of Europe. I dreamed of brave deeds, of how, sword in hand, I would fight for India and help in freeing her. . . . I was 14."

The headmaster of Harrow wrote: "He is a thoroughly good fellow and ought to have a useful future before him."

Nehru's own comment on his return to India in 1911 after graduating brilliantly from Cambridge: "I was a bit of a prig with little to commend me."

Six years later Nehru had his first, momentous meeting with Gandhi, the chocolate ascetic from Bombay who was to lead India into independence only to fall to an assassin's bullet.

As Nehru began his political climb through India's labor movements in the 1920s, the sun was already sinking on the British Raj. The era is vividly evoked in the London exhibition with photographs of whitehelmeted police in khaki-clad ranks, faded brilliance of military uniforms.

MOVED BY POVERTY

The theme of revolution in the young Cambridge graduate was framed by the 1919 Amritsar Massacre, when troops fired on a crowd of unarmed Indians one day—when Brig.-Gen. R. H. E. Dyer and his troops opened fire on a political meeting, killing 379 and wounding 1,200 in 15 minutes.

Nehru was deeply moved by India's seething poverty. "England has cruelly wronged us," he wrote. "It has also acknowledged the benefits of British scientific knowledge and with typical wit asserted that the Anglo-Saxons had done the Indians good by providing a "succession of violent shocks to shake us out of our torpor."

Came India's independence in 1947—Nehru's "tryst with destiny"—and the once-fiery nationalist was soon teaching India to value the best of the British heritage and helping to defend it. The newborn Commonwealth from the troubled womb of Empire.

He inspired widespread affection among Commonwealth leaders and the multi - racial masses of the world association.

When he died in May, 1964, President Lyndon B. Johnson called him "the man who more than any other world leader has given expression to man's yearning for peace."

High School Students Have Ended Term

Except for tag end examinations, high school has come to an end for local high school students.

Term-end examinations were conducted last Tuesday for grades 9 to 12 and for most of grade 13 students exams are being likewise completed. The final examination will be a week from tomorrow (Tuesday) for Grade 13 art.

This afternoon the three Bay of Quinte District high schools in Belleville will be visited by Grade 8 students now leaving public school. Close to 1,100 Grade 8 students are expected to make the orientation visit before entering grade 9 next September.

Total registration at the three high schools is expected to be about 300 at September registration.

School may now be out for most high school students, but is still "classes as usual" for primary school students who don't start summer vacations until June 29th.

The high status of the educational programs at the Belleville school and interest in them among American schools of the deaf is demonstrated by the invitation by Mr. Hodgson to deliver a paper on the subject of "Vocational Education at the Ontario School for the Deaf." He has also been invited to do liver another paper on "Creativity in the Vocational Program" to the Belleville Canadian Bell Association convention in Toronto next October.

Negotiation On New Work Contract Opens in Week

Northern Electric Employees' Association representatives and company officials at Belleville are not expected to reopen negotiations on a new work contract for at least another week, it was learned today.

Last Thursday hourly rated employees at the Belleville plant overwhelmingly turned down a proposed three-year work contract which would have given wage increases of up to 33 cents per hour over the three-year period for tradesmen and up to 24 cents for production workers.

Saturday there were reports that contract negotiations were to be re-opened over the week-end, but today Association representative John Batchelor said this was not expected for at least a week.

Wages increases in the proposed work contract would have brought the maximum trades pay to $3.41 and $3.06 for production workers over a three-year period.

Association representatives say that only a very small percentage of tradesmen and one production worker (an inspector) are eligible for maximum pay.

The present average rate for male production workers is $3.21 per hour and for women $1.78 per hour, it was stated.

3 Remanded To Jail, Unable To Post Bonds

LAREDO, Tex. (CP-AP) — Three Montreal men — associates of Jail - escapee Lucien Rivard — have been remanded to jail on narcotics smuggling charges after they were unable to post $100,000 bail bonds each.

The three are Julian Gagnon, alias Jerry Massey, 35; Charles Emile Groleau, 55, and Joseph Raymond Jones, 28. They were extradited from Canada and flown here by U.S. customs agents.

They had been indicted in Houston on charges of conspiracy to smuggle heroin. The seizure here in October, 1963, of 76 pounds, two ounces of heroin, with an underworld value of $15,000,000, was the third largest such haul in the U.S., customs agents said.

Rivard, who escaped from Montreal's Bordeaux Jail last March 2, had been accused by a Mexican grand jury of being a kingpin conspirator in the border smuggling ring. He is still at large.

At the hearing Saturday, Groleau asked U.S. commissioner Horace Horneberger about the extradition, saying he had been promised he'd be signed by the justice minister in Canada.

Hornberger replied: "How you got here is no concern of mine" and said the hearing was confined to the arraignment. He said that any other questions were matters for a court.

150 Attend Bell Telephone Demonstration

STIRLING — Mr. C. R. Buckley, District Manager of the Bell Telephone Company arranged a special telephone night in the Stirling Community hall with approximately 150 people in attendance. This was the first evening along this line held in Stirling since the dial system was inaugurated, about 1940.

Some 13 officials were on hand to explain the displays and assist in the program. The guests were welcomed at the door and presented with telephone blue books for their convenience.

A large number of displays were set up around the hall with an employee on hand to explain the intricacies of underground wiring, the dial system, the telephones of tomorrow and the newest in first aid procedures. All were most interesting and informative and gave a vivid picture of how the telephone is operated behind the scenes. A long table was also filled with a free display of booklets and these included the story of Alexander Graham Bell and other books of interest, one of which was an outline of the careers for young men and women. The Bell Telephone also has a long list of free movies for any group which might be interested.

Mr. F. H. Lavalee, area public relations lecturer gave a talk and demonstration of The Laser. He stated that the Laser Light promises to make today's science fiction true and since it was discovered in 1960 it has influenced many areas of science. Mr. Lavalee gave a demonstration to show how the Laser can carry the human voice, and how it would eventually develop TV and radio programs.

Alexander Bell was a dreamer in 1870 and six years later he patented his basic telephone following his scientific training and so today in 1965 the Laser Light is being studied and some day in the future it too will be a really big discovery. At present the army is interested in its vast possibilities and it is also most useful to industry.

One of the employees showed an interesting film entitled "The Voice Beneath the Sea." This gave a vivid picture of all the intricate preparations in preparing the cable in exact detail and finally the laying of that cable on the floor of the ocean. Then came the joyful climax when at its completion the human voice was carried from Canada and the United States to England.

At the close of the program a question and answer discussion was conducted by the four panelists.

The audience showed their appreciation to the telephone group for a fine evening's entertainment.

Mrs Frank Harding, president of St. John's Anglican Women's Guild and her assistants served a buffet luncheon and all enjoyed a social half hour.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Metropolitan Life Now offers you 3 New Policies for more flexible and versatile insurance

1. A new "Whole-Life" Policy with special options for retirement.

This new Policy answers 2 basic insurance needs.

It gives your family protection through the critical, growing years. And it guarantees you an extra source of income for your retirement years.

Here's how it works. At age 50, or on the tenth policy anniversary if later, you can convert a "Whole-Life Policy" to an endowment plan that matures in 15 years, or to a life plan that is paid up in 15 years.

For example, if you take out your Whole-Life Policy at age 40 or after, you can take advantage of this special conversion privilege just 10 years later. And the premium payable after you convert is figured out before hand—at the time the policy is written. In this way, you don't have to pay a lump-sum, when you change to an endowment or life plan.

2. A new "Econo-Matic" Policy for practical, low-cost insurance.

This "Econo-Matic" Policy gives you maximum protection for a minimum premium.

It's designed to give low cost insurance to those who need it most—those whose first insurance need is enough protection for a young, growing family.

An "Econo-Matic" Policy is written for an initial minimum of $10,000. For this amount, your premium is much less than the premium for a standard life policy with a guaranteed face value of $10,000.

The ingenious feature of the policy is this: while the guaranteed amount of insurance is lower after two years, application of dividends—if present levels are continued—will maintain the original amount of coverage at the same low premium.

3. A new 10-Year Term Policy for special business requirement.

This convertible policy has outstanding advantages in business and estate planning—to cover, for example, large loans and certain partnership needs.

To achieve the striking cost savings this policy offers, it is written only for $25,000 or more; strictly for 10 years, and is non-renewable.

But the cost advantages are remarkable. During the first two years, premiums are especially low. And, assuming dividends at current rates are applied to premiums, payments can be kept low for the full ten years!

The policy can be converted, without evidence of insurability, to a permanent type of insurance, up to the full face amount, at any time that your life insurance requirements change.

For more flexible and versatile insurance, have a chat with your nearest Metropolitan Agent! Remember, there's no obligation—except to those you love.

Economic-Outlook

The recent flurry of trading on the New York Stock Exchange has been attributed to "fright" selling.

According to one broker, investors were jittery during the market's four-week slide over the outlook of the economy, the escalating war in Viet Nam, the troubles of the British pound and the prospect of tight money at home.

Prices began a comeback following assurances by President Johnson and Congressional leaders that business was in good shape.

The British economy, meanwhile, is rather less buoyant and the Bank of International Settlements in Switzerland had warned that Britain may need to further restrict its economic policies. The country's trade gap—the excess of imports over exports—increased in May by 20 million pounds to 49 million ($147 million.)

Britain's export drive is making less headway than had been anticipated under the Labor government's plans. Economies effected in the aircraft industry and in government administration have not been matched by increased exports.

Britain knows it must export to live, particularly since its failure to obtain membership of the European Common Market. Yet its overseas sales programs are constantly hampered by slow deliveries and the vigorous competition of countries like Japan, Germany and Sweden.

Britain often loses valuable dollar earnings through failure merely to advertise its products to the best advantage. For example, a well-known British automobile manufacturer recently brought out a new model; it went on display at the firm's agents in Belleville and other centres. Yet several weeks elapsed before the new product was advertised. Meanwhile a German model was being placed consistently before the public with cleverly-written advertising.

These are some of the ways Britain is losing dollars, the currency it needs most. Until its salesmen really get out and sell and its advertisers compete on equal terms with those of other overseas' competitors the trade gap will remain.

Diplomatic Faux Pas

Relations between India and Pakistan have not improved as the result of Prime Minister Shastri's visit to Canada. The Indian leader poured fuel on the obscure territorial dispute in the region known as the Rann of Kutch; this territory is claimed by both countries and Shastri said in Ottawa that the recent fighting there was the result of "aggression" by Pakistan.

The diplomatic row had erupted earlier when the Indian High Commission in Ottawa ran a full-page newspaper advertisement alleging "naked aggression" by Pakistan in the Rann of Kutch. Pakistan countered with charges that Indian troops were massing along its borders threatening war.

Petty bickering of this nature constituted an inexcusable violation of diplomatic courtesies on the part of India. What Indian leaders in the Rann of Kutch dispute may have had to Canadians at such a time as a state visit by the prime minister of one of the countries involved is obscure; but the advertisement, followed by Shastri's public pronouncements on the border dispute certainly succeeded in negating any serious discussions Shastri may have planned to hold with Prime Minister Pearson.

India's sensitiveness on its territorial problems may arise from the fact it got the worse of hostilities with China some years ago, and apparently fared little better against Pakistan in the more limited fighting in the Rann of Kutch. In any event, using the state visit to Canada as a forum for further debate on the dispute was a serious diplomatic error.

It overshadowed the final communique on more important matters. Not surprisingly, the communique turned out to be a weak one—merely expressing the view that a purely military solution in Viet Nam was neither practicable nor desirable, advice which the United States and China and its North Vietnamese minions are doubtless too busy to even notice.

All our inventions have endowed material forces with intellectual life, and degraded human life into a material force.—Karl Marx.

So near is falsehood to truth that a wise man would do well not to trust himself on the narrow edge.—Cicero.

To Your Good Health
Disease of Gall Bladder Often Causes Pancreatitis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Last winter my mother, who is in her 70's, was hospitalized with a temperature of 104. She was very ill for about 10 days and we were told that the pancreas juices had backed up with toxic results.

Thank goodness, she recovered nicely but she must watch her diet very carefully, as there is no guarantee that this could not happen again.

Is it necessary for her to diet the rest of her life? What are the chances of recurrence? — Mrs. W. A.

The pancreas, a gland deep in the abdomen behind the stomach, has two major functions. One is the production of insulin. The other is to supply certain digestive juices. (These drain into the digestive system at a point close to that at which bile reaches the intestine from the gall bladder and liver.)

An attack of pancreatitis, such as your mother experienced, is very painful, and is associated with fever, vomiting and extreme tenderness of the abdomen. The patient is, indeed, desperately ill.

In younger patients, excessive and prolonged exposure of alcohol is commonly found to have occurred. I do not say that this is the cause, but it certainly seems to be a factor.

In older people, although the same factor of alcohol may, of course, be present) a quite different condition is frequently discovered: Chronic gall bladder disease and gallstones.

Hence it is customary (and wise) to investigate the condition of the gall bladder after the pancreatitis symptoms have subsided. If gallstones are found, or the gall bladder is functioning poorly or not at all, removal of the gall bladder gives excellent results in minimizing the risk of further attacks of pancreatitis. (It also avoids the risks inherent in allowing a diseased gall bladder to remain.)

When such gall bladder conditions are not found, then use of a low-fat diet is helpful in preventing recurrence of pancreatitis. Yes, such attacks can recur, and there is one condition which is known as chronic relapsing pancreatitis. It is difficult to say just what causes it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a kidney stone of considerable size and the kidney does not function. I have known of this for eight years, and the condition has changed very little in that time. The other kidney has always good function. I am 76. — Mrs. W.

Since I have had four major operations I do not want to undergo another. One urologist says I should have the kidney removed, since leaving it in it more dangerous. I consulted another urologist who said it would be best to have it out but that I might get by without surgery. I would like your opinion. — Mrs. E. D.

Leaving the kidney in is a risk in two ways: Serious trouble may develop in such a kidney; second, it might transmit infection to your good kidney, and I needn't elaborate on the danger of that.

Both urologists favored removal of the kidney. One of them leaned over backward in your favor and said you may get by without surgery. Clearly it is a gamble to leave it in.

Dear Dr. Molner; What is a meningioma of the brain? Is it curable or operable. What causes it? — V. S.

It is a tumor of the meninges, or "lining" or covering of the brain. We don't know what causes tumors. However, many meningiomas are operable and in fact, are curable. The location and extent of the tumor governs the prognosis. Meningioma account for about 10 percent of all brain tumors.

Frederick Temple Blackwood, Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, was born 139 years ago today—in 1826. He inherited his father's title at the age of 15 and later went into politics. Lord Dufferin was governor - general of Canada 1872 - 1878, during which time he handled the "Pacific scandal" with tact and judgment and helped to allay British Columbia's suspicions about Confederation.

Strictly Personal
Amateurs Creatures Of Impulse

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the questions most frequently asked me, especially by college students, is "What do you do when you don't feel like writing a column?"

The answer, of course, is "I write a column." If I waited for the "feeling," my hours would be foreclosed and my children out selling pencils on the street.

What young people often do not discover until it is nearly too late is that if you do something often enough you are able to do it even when you don't particularly feel like it.

We speak of "bad habits," but rarely of "good habits." A bad habit is one we find it hard to break biting nails, smoking too much, staying up too late. After a few years, these habits have us in their grip.

Good habits have the same way, with chains that are just as strong. Does the pianist always like giving a concert on the scheduled night? Does the ball player always feel like playing on the plate? Does the actor, trotting about his falling hair and his faithful wife, always like playing the same silly love scene on the stage every performance?

These people are properly called "professionals." And the chief difference between an amateur and a professional is not so much talent or fame as it is attitude, habit and habit.

The main characteristic of the amateur, in any field, is that he participates when he "feels like it." He is a creature of impulse and inspiration and mood. This is why his performances are so wildly erratic, swinging from the superb one day to the miserable the next.

The professional always exceeds the amateur not so much because of his superior skill as because of his consistency. As an example, the records show that one-half of one percent of bridge tournament players win 51 percent of the tournaments. They do not win on brilliances or subtlety or anything else except consistency; they play the same all the time.

This is based on habit, exactly the same habit that makes one chew one's nails without being aware of it. It is automatic, and is unconsciously developed. And nothing that is consciously done is an expert as that which is unconsciously done. It is only when the pianist stops thinking about the notes and the instrument that he can make music.

We know that the mind can be trained, and the body can be trained; what we forget is that the feelings can be trained as well. And unless the feelings are properly trained — so that the feeling can be willingly practise eight hours a day even after 40 years of concert fame — the mind and the body will not respond, day after day, in a consistently professional manner. I may not feel like writing a column every day, but I feel much worse if I don't.

Windmills Becoming Scarce

Paul Chisholm in Ontario Hydro News

The whirling windmill, once as much part of the Ontario rural scene as the stable or silo, is fast disappearing; victim of progress and the farm electrification program.

Its demise sees the end of one of the few remaining symbols of the pioneer era in Ontario agriculture. For at one time it was a towering water-conquers distinguished the newly broken - in farmland as a permanent settlement.

While windmills are still to be seen here and there throughout the province, the demand for new ones is negligible. The last of five windmill manufacturers in the country, Beatty Brothers of Fergus, 23 miles northwest of Guelph, recently ceased production although it will continue making replacement parts for a few more years.

Beatty sales manager William F. Pearson is philosophical about having the wind literally taken out of his sales. "From ancient times, wind has been Man's chief source of power," he says. "But pumping water with an electric motor costs only 1% cents and the service is there 24 hours a day, independent of the elements."

Heyday of the windmill in Ontario was shortly after the turn of the century. But as recently as 20 years ago, approximately 30 percent of the farms still had them.

Windmills were usually located on high ground where they pumped water to storage tanks under nearby barns or into troughs. Others were mounted atop the barn, where the addition of a line shaft to the mechanism enabled extension of wind power for such chores as operating grist and chopping corn or turnips.

With 25 percent of Ontario's farms electrified, the passing of the windmill further shatters the unjust reputation of the farmer as a hide-bound reactionary to technological change. Ontario's agriculture has become so indispensable to his operations that the farmer has passed the big-city man in power consumption. Average annual use among Hydro's farm customers today exceeds 8,000 kilowatt-hours, compared to 6,144 for the average urban resident.

An eight-foot diameter windmill under ideal conditions could pump 375 gallons of water an hour. Correspondingly, a one-horsepower electric pump will deliver 300 gallons in the same time for less than one penny.

Mr. Pearson of Beatty Brothers recalls the big day 30 years ago when a windmill was erected at his father's farm near Malton. "To me it meant that I no longer had to take the cows down to the frozen creek every winter's morning and chop up the ice so that they could drink. Plowing water 12 months of the year was a big step forward. It meant as much to the farmer in those days as the plentiful supply of electrically-heated water came to mean to the farm housewife in later years."

Windmills for charging batteries which supplied limited amounts of electricity for farm use were also built by Ontario in the early 1900s. Known as battchargers, they were rushed out on many farms by the high cost of batteries and as rural hydro lines were gradually pushed through the provinces the chargers could not compete for dependability.

Ironically, the demise of the windmill manufacturing industry in Canada accompanied a temporary surge in exports. Last year Beatty Brothers exported 1,000 windmills to Asia and 40 to West Africa. Domestic sales, mostly to Western Canada, totalled 40 — a level which rules out further production as uneconomic.

Beatty Brothers turned out more than 18,000 windmills during the past 38 years including exports to 50 countries. Today the windmill section of the plant is used to manufacture other lines of farm equipment.

The announcement that the company would halt production last December has resulted in some nostalgic mail arriving on Mr. Pearson's desk. Many feel it seems that windmills — like steam locomotives and vintage cars — have their own enthusiastic buffs.

A retired New York City policeman wrote asking for parts at time to making scale models, sadly wrote:

A windmill is a sight to see
It spells life as it used to be Filled with action and production
Shame on us for its deduction.

China Stirs Revolution

Christian Science Monitor

Premier Chou En-lai's latest visit this month to Pakistan and East Africa before the June 29 Afro-Asian summit conference in Algiers is a new high-water mark in China's international campaign to world revolution.

In efforts to outdo their Soviet rivals and ultimately gain full control of world "liberation movements" in the Communist parties, the Chinese Communists are now involved from Peru to Thailand.

Published Chinese statements, rather than any special inside intelligence reports, clearly disclose the extent of Peking's activity, which usually involves only a minimum expenditure of money or man-power.

Peking recently announced it would help Tanzania in the form of two new broadcasting stations, its latest move in the three-way Soviet-Chinese-Western race for influence in that strategic East African country.

In Chinese invitation, liaison missions have been established in Peking by the Palestine liberation organization, and the South Vietnam liberation front, political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas. China has been stirring in Thailand through several "secret societies."

In Asia, Peking is also encouraging guerrilla movements in Malaysia. It trains Malay guerrillas and sabotage tactics men from Laos, North Vietnam, Indonesia, Colombia, the Cameroon Republic, Niger, the Portuguese-ruled Cape Verde Islands off West Africa, Kenya, and Algeria.

Chinese officers have assisted in setting up training camps in Algeria, the Congo (Brazzaville) and possibly other African locations.

Chinese embassies distribute funds on guerrilla warfare or project them at private showings.

On May 2, the Cairo - based Palestine liberation organization announced establishment of a liaison office in Peking. Ahmed Shukeiry, leader of the organization, announced: at that time that "the primary task is to build up our army, the Palestine liberation army and we have a good beginning."

On May 3, Rashid Said Jirbi arrived in Peking to set up the Palestine office. He was the guest of Liu Ning-yi, vice-chairman of the Chinese Committee for Afro-Asian Solidarity.

Among the Congolese rebel leaders trained in Peking was Pierre Mulele, who spent 13 months in China last year.

The Chinese embassy in Bujumbura, Burundi, bordering the Congo, distributes guerrilla warfare films for Congolese rebel leaders early in 1964. One year later, the Burundi Government suspended diplomatic relations with China because of Peking's alleged interference in Burundi's internal affairs.

On April 22, 1965, the Colombo Times, of Ceylon, Peking's Communists at certain places in Colombo.

The same paper added that raids carried out by Indian authorities on homes of Peking-trained underworld officials in India, had disclosed films and documents on subversion, sabotage, and guerrilla warfare.

Last October, a captured terrorist in the Belgian Republic of Niger described in a radio interview his military training in China. Documents published by the Niger government in March disclosed that members of the opposition Sawaba Party were trained at a camp in Algeria, with Chinese technical assistance and equipment.

Evidence from Africa suggests that the two most important officials receiving Chinese revolutionary training of Africans are Chang Hsi-jo and Liu Chang-sheng.

The first heads the Cultural Commission for Foreign Relations in Peking. The second is secretary-general of the Chinese-African Friendship Association.

Instructors attend the "first branch of the Marxist-Leninist Institute" in Peking. This is one of Communist China's most important political schools. It's teaching staff includes such lead ing Chinese Communists as Teng Hsiao-ping and Chen Po-ta.

The meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening with the President in the chair. Routine business was discussed. A report of the Tag Day was given in which was especially commended the assistance of the Rotarians and Kiwanis women who had helped with the tagging. Mr. T. B. Reston gave a very inspiring talk on the contributions of the V.O.N. to the welfare of the community today as compared with conditions in the community 30 to 40 years ago. He said "People are so interested in the welfare of their neighbors today, and no matter how poor one happens to be, he can go to the V.O.N. for help." He stressed the work of the V.O.N. among the poor and needy. In the Nurses' Report it was stated that the V.O.N. had made 528 home visits, and attended four well-baby conferences.

Many of the African delegates, supported by Asian members, had argued that the session would get nowhere unless it could be represented as completely non-aligned in world politics. Some also had criticized Wilson for "bulldozing" the conference into acceptance of the mission concept on the first day of the delegates' meeting.

Added to the now virtually shattered hopes that an escalation of the Vietnamese war could be prevented was the confusion over the Afro-Asian summit at Algiers.

Thirteen of the 31 Commonwealth leaders had planned to attend the "Third World" summit June 30. This might have provided a chance for such countries as India and Ghana to make personal representations to Chou on behalf of the peace mission.

Now there are questions whether all of the 13 would go or whether there might not be a summit in view of the overthrow of the Ben Bella regime and questions about the power of the new leader, Col. Houari Boumedienne.

Dam at Downey's Rapids To Aid Moira Lake Level

With less than half the normal amount of rainfall received since April 1st and summer flow in the upper Moira already reduced to a trickle, big benefits are expected this year from the low dam built last year at the head of Downey's Rapids at the foot of Moira Lake.

The dam built by the Moira River Conservation Authority is expected to maintain the level of Moira Lake at about 15 inches higher than last summer.

The maintained lake water level will materially benefit summer cottages on the lake.

Authority field officer John King said today that rainfall over the watershed since the first of April has been less than half the normal figure.

DRIED TO TRICKLE

There are no large lakes or other reservoirs on the Upper Moira above Moira Lake and as result of the dry season, flow in the river at this point has already dried to a trickle.

The site of Downey's Rapids, which during the early spring is a foaming torrent, is now bare rocks and boulders.

Further downstream at Tweed the level of Stoco Lake is already down two or more inches from normal for this time of year.

Here, however, the Moira has been joined by the Black and Skootamatta rivers and there is still a good current in the river.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Arkona and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Sharp, R.R. 3, Stirling.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Emily Pettit of Leamington with Mr. Harry Brown of Stirling, as soloist. An appropriate selection on the violin was given by Miss Chloe Chamberlain of Hamilton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown featuring a rectangular neckline. Her headpiece was accented with sequins and pearls, and she wore a three-quarter length veil. She carried a white Bible created with pink carnations and white roses.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Max Mitchell, Sarnia, sister of the bride; Miss Betty Mitchell, Sarnia and Miss Marlene Campbell, Parkhill, nieces of the bride. All three were gowned alike in aqua crystal charm, with skirt-length train, matching pillbox hat and veil. They carried white Bibles with cigrettes of pink gladioli and white roses.

Mr. Ray Sharp, Campbellford, was his father's groomsman. Mr. George Campbell, of Sarnia and Mr. Angus Johnston of Stirling served as ushers.

Mr., Mrs. Alfred Cooper Happily Wed 50 Years

Golden wedding anniversary congratulations were in order Saturday as Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cooper, 35 Lewis Street, were "at home" to family members and friends.

The couple were married at a home ceremony back in June, 1915, by Rev. R. C. Blagrave, rector of Christ Church, and have lived here since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were born in England, Mrs. Cooper, the former Ellen (Nellie) McGlashon, coming to Canada as a young girl. Mr. Cooper was 23 when he came to Canada in 1913, hiring on with the Grand Trunk Railway in Montreal as a fireman. He was transferred to this city the following year where he met the future Mrs. Cooper.

Classed as engineer in 1918 Mr. Cooper ran between Toronto and Brockville until 1941 when he was promoted to Belleville district master mechanic and remained in that capacity until retirement in 1954.

KEEPS QUITE BUSY

Although officially out of a job for the past 11 years, Mr. Cooper says he still manages to keep busy.

"I'm out almost every night," he said, saming over a long list of fraternal and other organizations of which he is a member. He's a Shriner, and a Mason, belonging to Ionaise Temple, The Belleville Shrine Club, and Moira Lodge, Quinte Chapter, King Baldwin Conclave, the Odd Fellows and Minerva Chapter.

He is also a life member of the Brotherhood of the Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

Mrs. Cooper belongs to the Rebekahs, and also the Minerva chapter.

The Coopers have two sons, Alfred of Cobourg, and John of Oshawa.

Susanna's Family Fare

WEST MEETS EAST

Dear Susanna: Last weekend three families of my husband's relatives arrived from out West. We had planned a picnic with them but the weather turned so cold and damp that we all wound up at our house. Everything worked out fine except that I needed to dig out a dozen or so extra knives and forks, and when I went through my stored silver I discovered it was more tarnished than usual.

My aged aunt was in the kitchen with me at the time, and she immediately took them from me, gave me a wink, and said: "Leave it to me girlie." She asked for an aluminum pan and enough aluminum foil to line it—shiny side up. She laid the flatware in bottom, sprinkled about three good tablespoons of washing soda on the silver and poured boiling water over it all. Putting on my rubber gloves, she swished them around and let them sit for 5 or 10 minutes before removing, rinsing and drying each piece. My silver now shone just like the gleam in her old Irish eyes.

It almost took me longer to tell you about it than it took her to do it all — this surely is a fine way to clean up flatware in a hurry. —"Still a Lot to Learn"

STORAGE HINT

Dear Susanna: Instead of using string to seal the plastic cleaning bags that I use for storing my family's out-of-season clothing, I save those little "twisters" that are used for closing bags of onions, bread buns, parsnips.

If it is a coat being put away, close the bottom with the covered metal twister, shake in some moth deterrent, and then gather the bag around the neck of the hanger and wind the wire piece into place . . . or, if you run short, pop's pipe cleaners are a fair substitute. — Maggie.

Ann Landers

Kissing Father Does Not Provoke Homosexuality

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I hope you will give me straight advice on a touchy subject.

We've been married 11 years and have two sons, 10 and 8 years of age. My husband comes from a large, closely knit family of kissers. They kiss each other hello and good-bye and how are you. I don't mean mother-son, father-daughter, brother-sister kissing. I mean everybody kisses everybody.

ANN LANDERS

My family is reserved. We are friendly but not demonstrative. I have never been able to adjust to my in-laws' kissing habits.

My husband has kissed our sons good night since infancy. He often kisses them good-bye when they leave the house.

We read so much about homosexuality these days that I wonder if this wals kissing male might lead to a serious problem? My husband is a devoted father and I am thankful that he has such a fine relationship with the boys, but I worry about this kissing business. Help me, please. — GROSSE POINT.

DEAR GROSSE — A father who kisses his sons will not turn them into homosexuals. As a matter of fact, the experts tell us that one of the causes for homosexuality is a poor relationship with the parents of the same sex. Little boys who fear and hate their fathers often turn to their mothers for love and emotional support. They grow up to imitate Mama and identify with her.

So glad your husband kisses his sons. It's really beautiful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Please print this letter for the benefit of well-meaning folks who say to someone who has lost a loved one, "if I can do anything for you, please call me."

I've heard people make this statement repeatedly and I know they mean it, but why aren't they realistic? If friends are sincere about wanting to help why don't they check every few days and ask if something needs to be done. Or better still, if they would simply invite the lonely one out for an evening it would help a great deal. Every woman who reads this letter and is fortunate enough to have her husband should ask herself, "Have I done anything recently to make life easier for a widowed friend? Have I invited her over — or out with us? The words, "Call me if you need something" are meaningless. — NOT SO SUBTLE A REMINDER.

DEAR NOT SO SUBTLE — Thank you for forging us all. We need to be reminded of such things and I hope your letter moves a number of well-meaning friends off dead centre.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — It's been said that imitation is the most sincere form of flattery, but how much flattery can a person take?

My sister-in-law has copied everything I own, including my spring coat and my hair style. When we built a home two years ago I was proud of my original touches. Seven months ago my sister-in-law built a home almost identical to ours — three blocks away. She bought carpeting like ours and has tried to duplicate the furniture wherever possible.

I haven't discussed this with anyone but my husband. He has forbidden me to say anything to my sister-in-law. I believe a heart-to-heart talk is the best solution. Do you agree? — OHIO LOU.

DEAR LOU — A heart-to-heart talk will solve nothing. Your sister-in-law will continue to imitate you but she will be less obvious. She will pretend the imitation is coincidental, but the people who know you both are wise to her.

Handicapped Woman Makes Good Living

WILLISTON, N.D. (CP) — North Dakota's "outstanding handicapped citizen" is a woman who, though paralyzed from the neck down, learned to make charcoal sketches by holding a pencil in her teeth and turned her skill into a national business.

Grace Layton Sandness of Grand Forks, N.D., who was honored at an annual dinner here of the governor's committee on employment of the handicapped, was taken to hospital with polio 15 years ago.

She spent six months in an iron lung and returned home in 1951, frail and paralyzed after 18 months in hospital.

Her sketching skill was converted into a business of selling greeting cards called "grace notes." Some of her work was donated to the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

In 1956 she was named North Dakota's artist of the year. The following year she met and married David Sandness while attending Valley City State College. He is a staff psychiatrist at the University of North Dakota Medical Centre rehabilitation unit at Grand Forks.

Mrs. Sandness graduated with honors and a major in English literature from the State University of Iowa in 1962. She became an amateur radio operator after learning how to send code with a clip held in her teeth.

The Sandnesses have two adopted children, both handicapped Korean girls.

STARTS AT HOME

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The problems confronting the nations of the world can find some of their solutions in the smaller confines of the parish or village, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said Sunday night. Speaking at a dinner marking the centenary of St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, Mr. Martin said a start to helping the establishment of world-wide peace "can lie right in the parish, though it may seem a long way separated from the problems of the nations of the world."

HAWAIIAN PORK DINNER

Here's a tasty dish to set before your king — meaty and palate-pleasing.

Hawaiian and Chinese cooking have contributed to this combination of flavors to tempt the most conservative Canadian appetites.

Shall I add my little cliche? Yes. If you want to make an economical meal for guests that is uncommon and uncommonly good, you can use shoulder pork as I have suggested.

MONDAY
Dinner Menu
by Mary
Moore

Melon Fruit Cup; Salisbury Steaks; Mushroom Gravy; Asparagus; Mashed Turnip; Coconut Layer Cake; Tea.

HAWAIIAN PORK (serves 8):

3 lbs. lean pork (lean shoulder or boneless lean chops), ¼ cup melted margarine (or peanut oil), ½ cup water, 4 tablespoons cornstarch (¼ cup), 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, ½ cup vinegar, ½ cup light brown sugar, one 20-oz. can pineapple chunks, drained (reserve juice), canned pineapple juice — approximately 10 oz. (see below), ½ cup thinly sliced green pepper, ¾ cup Spanish onion, sliced wafer thin, 1¼ cups raw long-grain rice, 3 cups boiling water, 1½ teaspoons salt.

Cut the lean pork into 2" x 1½" pieces. In very large frying pan heat the margarine or oil and brown the meat pieces in it lightly on all sides. Add the water and simmer, covered, for 1 hour. Mix together the cornstarch, salt, soy sauce, vinegar, brown sugar and when smooth add the pineapple juice.

(Note: To get your 3 cups pineapple juice, drain and measure juice from chunks and make this up to 3 cups by adding canned pineapple juice.) Stir into meat until thick. Add the thinly sliced green pepper and onion to top of mixture, cover and simmer 7 or 8 minutes then stir in the pineapple chunks. Continue simmering for about 3 minutes only, until pineapple is heated through.

Cook the rice in the boiling salted water, covered, until all water is absorbed and rice is tender.

Serve hot rice in mound in centre of large, deep, preheated platter. Pour Hawaiian Pork around in a border and garnish with thin rings of raw green pepper. Pass extra soy sauce at the table. Our crowd gobbled this up and Paul said he was hoping some would be leftover for his breakfast before his o'clock lecture. Since there are only six of us for dinner, there was some leftover and I sent it home with him and he did!

Babies Born Without Arms Being Helped

COLOGNE, West Germany (Reuters) Thalidomide babies born without arms should be encouraged to write with their feet and to use hooks rather than artificial hands, 2,500 parents of thalidomide babies were told Sunday.

Dr. E. Marquardt of Heidelberg University's orthopaedic clinic gave the advice at the first international congress of parents of thalidomide children.

He said the babies should be encouraged to play and work with their feet as much as possible since they could be trained at that stage to perform any task normally done by hand.

The children should write with their feet at school and wear artificial arms only at home. This would give them more self - confidence in public by letting them put their own limbs to work rather than relying on artificial aids, Marquardt said.

The congress was the first held for parents of deformed children, born after the mothers had taken thalidomide, a tranquilliser drug, during pregnancy.

Dr. Harkness said in an interview there is a heightened awareness of the part of Christians of the need to know more about the theology of their faith.

Girls Told to Organize Their Summer Activities

DEAR DORIS — I am 14 years old. I would like to earn money for school clothing and sportswear.

I have lost my baby-sitting job. I can do everything except work in a store because I'm under 16. — SALLY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — I am a 15-year-old city girl, and "expect to have a good deal of free time this summer. Although I'm too young to get a regular job, I'd like to do something worthwhile to keep from being bored.

There are not many children in my neighborhood, so baby-sitting isn't a very good idea. Several of my friends feel the same way I do, and are wondering if you have any opinions or ideas on the subject. — MOLLY.

DEAR MOLLY, SALLY, YOUNG AND EAGER, AND MANY OTHER AMBITIOUS TEEN-AGERS — It just isn't easy for girls (or boys) your age to get summer work. The most hopeful sources are young mothers who are looking for helpers to go with them to summer cottages and take care of the children. Then, of course, there are some baby-sitting jobs to be had right around home.

What you should do is go to your nearest branch of the National Employment Service and tell them what you have in mind. The workers there will know just what is going on in your part of the country.

They'll warn you, though, that if you do take on a job to go to a summer cottage with a growing family, you will be expected to work. You are being hired because the mother of that family needs some time off.

It should be understood just what your duties are before you go. If you will have to be doing housework, dishes, beds and so on, be clear about this. Understand also just what time you will be allowed to have to yourself for another fun. You should not have to devote all of your daytime sunny hours to your little charges.

But telephone calls during working hours, failure to keep a close enough eye on Johnny to prevent him from running onto the road — these are the things which give all the baby sitters a bad name. It's up to every single one of our teen-agers to follow through on what is expected of her.

You ask about clerking in a store and waitress work. In most cases employers prefer that their workers be at least 18. And you simply must be at least 18 to take on an evening job in a restaurant.

Let's face it, girls. There just aren't enough jobs to go around for those two summer months. If you are one of the ones left idle, no need to turn into a RipVanWinkle and sleep for the duration. You can still put in an exciting summer. How about making up picnics and hikes and giving yourself and four pals a bonus of extra good health through a summer's outings?

You are the lucky ones who can explore the beauty spots in your part of the countryside. You can become acquainted with the industries around where you are and perhaps with the help of one older person go on conducted tours to some of them.

And how about backyard barbecues, making sure to invite some of the neighboring young people who are newcomers to our shores? Here's a chance to go ask for an idea or two about tasty European dishes for an outdoor menu.

Perhaps your summer days will take some organizing. Start your planning now so that whether or not you put extra pennies in the bank at the end of the summer, you will chalk up some practical returns in new-found knowledge and fun, and probably some brand new friends.

* * *

Confidential to DESPERATE — Perhaps the very fact that "he can have any girl he wants" has spoiled him. Now he is not considerate of anyone. Believe me, you would be better off to forget about him — at least until he grows up a little.

(What's troubling you? Putting it on paper to Doris is the first step towards solving your problem.)

Snap Election Is Predicted By Thompson

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Andrew Thompson, leader of the Ontario Liberal party, said Saturday there may be a snap election called in the province this autumn or next spring.

He told a one-day meeting of the Ontario Southwestern Region Liberal Association that the recently adopted health services insurance bill was so defective that people would turn against the Progressive Conservative government when the plan comes into effect.

He said that if Premier Robarts waited until after the plan went into operation before calling an election, then the Conservatives would lose.

The Liberal leader said Mr. Robarts has two alternatives to a snap election. He could leave provincial politics and take over from Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker at Ottawa, or he could withdraw the health plan and replace it with a universal comprehensive medical care plan.

Mr. Thompson said the government's health insurance scheme was a "sickness plan," not a health plan. He said that it would be an administrative nightmare, providing limited protection at high cost and irritating the public through its administrative complexities.

The Queen Mother will leave Wednesday for Toronto, where she will be greeted on arrival by Governor - General Georges Vanier, Industrialist E. P. Taylor has turned over his Toronto home, Windfields, for the Queen Mother's use during her stay.

Highlight of the Queen Mother's visit will be the presenting of new colors to the Toronto Scottish at a trooping the color ceremony. She will also visit the National Stud Farm and watch the Queen's Plate run at the Woodbine Racetrack, attend a huge, 1,250-guest dinner in the Royal York Hotel, and lunch with former governor - general Vincent Massey at his home, Batterwood.

The Queen Mother returns to England June 27.

Leak May

was "excessively surprised" to learn Southam News Services "took the liberty of publishing what it claims to be parts of my report." His statement continued:

"According to what was published by newspapers, the news service (Southam) based its story on information it said was obtained from a source claimed to usually be well informed in similar matters.

"If this is true, it should not be very difficult, it seems to me, to learn this source.

POSSESS "MEANS"

"The federal government certainly possesses the means to make the necessary inquiries so that the remedies imperative in such a case can be applied."

Mr. Justice Dorion said he had finished editing the report when he left Ottawa last Tuesday and that he asked Commission Counsel Andre Desjardins to take charge of the final preparation of the text for translation and printing. Three copies of the report had been made. One had been kept by Mr. Desjardins and the other two had been sent in instalments to the translators "under the control of Mr. Pierre Mayrand, whom I had met before leaving Ottawa and in whom I have full and entire confidence."

The chief justice declined to elaborate on his statement.

The Southam story said Mr. Favreau's integrity emerges unshaken in the report but that his method of dealing with the RCMP investigation are questioned.

The report is expected to be handed to Mr. Pearson June 28.

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday he would like to see the report of the Dorion commission published as soon as possible but technical details may prevent a speed-up. It originally was to be delivered to the government by June 28.

Pearson, who is attending the Commonwealth conference, said the timetable for release of the report was set by Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec, who headed the inquiry.

Pearson told reporters he wanted to make clear his government has nothing to do with the timing of official publication. He said he means that point because it might be suspected in some quarters that release of the report was delayed intentionally until his return to Ottawa next weekend.

Now that reports purporting to disclose contents of the Dorion submission have been published in some Canadian newspapers, the prime minister said he would like to see the official version released quickly.

Pearson would not comment on the purported findings.

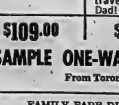
Train Derailed On Main Street Of Ohio Town

DELPHOS, Ohio (AP) — A night passenger train from Chicago to New York jumped he track at main street in this western Ohio community of 7,000 late Sunday night.

Twenty-seven of its 130 passengers were injured. Eight required treatment at hospitals, but all were released after treatment.

Fourteen cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad's 20-car Admiral were derailed as it rumbled into the downtown area at 11:20 p.m. One passenger car and three baggage cars flipped on their sides.

Five box cars on a siding were smashed by the impact of the hurtling passenger cars and one was driven through the wall of a building. Stones kicked up by the skidding cars broke several store windows.



Nearly 2,000 feet of rail was torn up. Main lines of three railways are expected to be blocked by the wreckage for several days. The crossover for the Pennsylvania, Nickel Plate and Akron, Canton and Youngstown railroads was ripped out. Two of Delphos' main streets also were blocked.

Cause of the wreck was believed to be a broken wheel on one of the cars.

Memorial Church Services End Society Convention

PICTON (Staff) — The convention of the Ontario-Historical Society, which began last Thursday wound up its affairs in Picton on Sunday with two memorial church services. Sunday morning service was held at the Old Church of St. Mary Magdalene (Anglican) in Picton. This was the annual service held in the church and the service was conducted by The Right Reverend K. C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario. The afternoon service was held at 3.30 and was a commemorative service at the U.E.I. Memorial Church at Adolphustown.

Convention officials stated that this was one of the most successful conventions ever held and a great deal of the success was due to the fact that it was headed this year in such an historic area. Over 200 delegates from all over the province attended the convention and many stayed until Sunday and attended the church services.

BANQUET HELD

On Friday night the society held its annual banquet at the Prince Edward Yacht Club with well over 125 attending. The head table consisted of 24 honored guests for the occasion. Guest speaker for the banquet was Dr. George MacBeath, Director of the Ontario Centennial (1867) project.

On Saturday morning the annual business meeting in the parish hall of St. Mary Magdalene Church in Picton for the coming year took place. Elected as President, for the second term was Mrs Kay McFarland of Napanee, 1st vice pres., Dr. Morris Zaslow of London, Ont.; 2nd vice pres., Dr. John Muir, Toronto; sec. treasurer, Mrs. C. J. D. Scott of Toronto. The executive committee for the coming term are Mr. Edwin C. Guillett, Toronto; Mrs. O. R. Rogers, Pembroke; Walter Rutherford, Brantford, Ont.; Prof. S. F. Wise, Kingston; Mr. John Martyn, Toronto, and Mr. Phillip Creighton, Toronto. Appointed as editors were Professor K. G. Corsall and Dr. Roy MacGillivary.

TAKE BUS TOUR

On Saturday afternoon convention delegates were taken on a bus tour of the county and were present for the unveiling of an historic plaque at the official opening of the new Marysburg museum. The plaques was unveiled by Mr. Dan Keeler of Picton, The Old Rose House, as it is known, was packed with visitors to view the exhibits and authentic furnishings. Much credit must go to the local society for the restoration of the old house and the surrounding grounds. During the afternoon a colorful pageant was also performed on the site with participants dressed in costumes depicting the period.

Guest speaker for the afternoon program was Past President of the Ontario Historical Society, Leslie R. Gray, who said "We must make sure that as many as possible of our historic sites are preserved." Also present for the occasion were Norris Whitney M.L.A.; A. Douglas Allenbrack M.P.; reeves Ken Hicks and Don Bond from North and South Marysburg; B. Hepburn, Warden of Prince Edward County; Kay McFarland president of the Society; Dan Keller and Roy Stevens. The Society's affairs for the day were concluded with a panel discussion on the evening. Topic of the discussion was problems of the local societies.

SOME DIDN'T HEAR

Baruch often spoke of personal coming to him for advice but not hearing his answers.

"They usually want to be encouraged to do what they are already doing," he said.

After his First World War key civilian post, Baruch mainly served the government on commissions.

President Truman appointed him American delegate to the then new United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. He developed the "Baruch plan" for atomic energy control, but it was rejected by the Russians.

The financier was credited with helping President Herbert Hoover obtain postponement of Allied war debts and of being influential in establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Baruch also was a consultant and friend of presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Although he held no major government post after the First World War, Baruch was constantly consulted by the great, near-great, and would-be-great. He was an imposing figure of a man, standing six feet, four inches tall, with white hair, pink face, and blue eyes that often twinkled. He likes to wear white suits with a bright bow tie and a boutonniere.

Churchill's Grave Is Bonanza For 10th Duke of Marlborough

By THOMAS A. REEDY

BLADON, England (AP)—This little village of 700 is suffering from an attack of the bulges.

Some days the villagers stay inside their lovely stone homes because it's too crowded outside. Some think this is good. Others are not so sure.

It started in February with the burial of Sir Winston Churchill in the St. Martin's church yard. His grave is next to those of his parents, Lord Randolph and Jennie Jerome, Churchill's American - born mother. The peace and quiet of this idyl is wooded Oxfordshire was shattered.

From a quarter to a half million people have already visited Sir Winston's grave.

They come in private cars and in big groups by bus. Bladon is usually the second stop on a tour which starts at Blenheim Palace, home of the Duke of Marlborough and Sir Winston's birthplace 81 years ago.

PROVIDES BONANZA

The 10th duke's illustrious cousin has provided him with a bonanza. The duke holds the parking lot rights on the edge of Bladon and there most vehicles stop and pay their two shillings fee (20 cents). The walk to the grave is about 1½ miles. In some cases busloads of aged pensioners are delivered to the churchyard and the vehicles leave the village for parking, returning at specified times to pick up their passengers.

The tourist wave has brought money to Bladon, to its bars, restaurants and shops selling souvenirs and postcards. Not all the village residents are entranced with the idea, though.

For the first time, petty antipathies have crept into village life. Many people resent the duke's parking monopoly and were infuriated at Easter time when the jams were so great the police stopped all traffic from entering the village except on foot.

The mutterings reached the Oxford county council where Labor party councilman R. V. Pomfret started a campaign for a footpath from Blenheim Castle direct to the village and the Churchill grave. That would bypass the duke's parking lot. The council turned it down but Pomfret said he isn't satisfied.

WANT MONEY

The irritations are coursing through the ranks of the younger and more energetic citizens of Bladon, who want to get in on the tourist money.

Older folk are more inclined to accept the towns bugles philosophically.

Eighty-year-old Harry Woodward, who strolls to the churchyard daily and basks on a bench 10 feet from Churchill's grave, is quite proud of the fame

"It has put Bladon on the map and that is a very good thing," he says.

For 45 years a councilman, Woodward was also a Methodist preacher and often cut the grass and tended the old churchyard.

New Montreal Tabloids Survive La Presse Return

By CY FOX

MONTREAL (CP)—Two newborn tabloids have survived, two veteran dailies show a gain in circulation and the city's biggest paper is still convalescing.

That's the story on Montreal's French - language newspaper scene, where a now - settled strike at the biggest of the dailies, La Presse, sparked a miniature version of Quebec's "quiet revolution."

La Presse, an evening paper and the largest French-language daily outside France, has seen its circulation fall to an average of about 221,000 a day from the 259,000 it sold before a seven-month strike began June 3, 1964.

But the paper considers that its increase in weekday price to 10 cents from seven, effective on its return to the streets Jan. 4, has hampered recovery efforts. Circulation normally drops, at least temporarily, when a newspaper increases its price.

There is also the extra competition of the new tabloids, the morning Metro-Express and Le Journal de Montreal, an evening paper. These buoyant, even raucous babies were born shortly after the start of the La Presse strike when there was a huge journalistic vacuum to be filled.

Editor-in-chief Yvon Turcot says Metro-Express dropped in circulation after the return of La Presse but now is back to where it was during the strike, between 42,000 and 43,000.

Le Journal's officials say their paper's circulation has fallen to about 25,000 daily from the strike-time level given as 60,000.

LEVELS OFF

Meantime, Le Devoir, a major editorial influence in Quebec for more than half a century, reports that its post-strike circulation has levelled off at about 52,000 from a high of around 69,000 during the walkout.

But it's edging upward again, officials say, and present figures spell a net gain of some 7,000 over Le Devoir's pre-strike circulation. The 55 - year - old morning paper declared the first dividend on its shares earlier this year.

The long-established morning tabloid Montreal-Matin also reports higher circulation than before the strike.

Circulation Manager J. P. Begin says weekday circulation as of April was 149,781 while 112,685 issues were sold on an average Saturday.

This, for the six-day publishing week, averages out to a daily figure of 143,598 compared with a circulation in April, 1964, two months before the strike began, of 132,502. Montreal-Matin joined the 10-cent price bracket in May of this year.

Circulations of the city's two English-language dailies, The Star, an evening paper, and The Gazette, a morning paper, were not significantly affected by the strike. The Star's sales are a little more than 204,000 compared with an average of 195,000 in 1964. The Gazette reports its circulation is 136,000.

EDITOR DISMISSED

The strike at La Presse began with a walkout of press-room employees and was complicated by a dispute between the paper and its journalists. Contracts were finally settled in December and 10 additional days were needed before the paper was back on the stands.

Since its resumption of business, La Presse has parted company with its well-known editor-in-chief, Gerard Pelletier. A faulty headline was given as the reason for his dismissal. He says there may have been other factors.

Since leaving, he has been writing editorials and columns for Le Devoir as well as an English-language column for the Montreal Star and a number of out-of-town papers served by a Star syndicate.

His former duties at La Presse are being carried out by Roger Champoux, who also writes some editorials.

No single editorial line is obvious at La Presse, where the emphasis seems to be on news rather than opinion.

Le Devoir, in its front-page news coverage, concentrates on events in Quebec. Free-flowing, French-style banner headlines provide surprising zest to the paper's high-serious content.

Le Devoir (the name means "Duty") says it has done well in retaining the advertising picked up during the absence of La Presse. Its weekday size is between 16 and 20 pages as compared with the pre-strike average of 12 to 16.

USES MANY PHOTOS

The newcomers, printed on offset presses, have added talent, headlines and a splashy sparkle to the city's newsstands.

Metro - Express, competing mainly with Montreal - Matin, has been playing numerous pictures, including cheesecake, through its pages.

The paper is seeking to boost its circulation further and then will increase its concentration on selling advertising, says editor-in-chief Turcot.

"Our prospects are bright. People have realized that we're not just a strike paper."

Metro recently raised its price to 10 from five cents but a possible circulation drop would be compensated for by a stepped-up selling campaign, Mr. Turcot said.

The paper has sought to arrange news in neat, capsule columns with a highlight of its editorial page the cartoon work of Jean-Pierre Girerd. His best-known depiction is of Premier Lesage as a massive - jawed giant whose eyes bulge with a world-weary melancholy.

Metro's editorials, while sharply lucid, haven't seemed to take any particular political line. But such is not the case with its competitor, Montreal-Matin.

Boasting a more polished appearance since it acquired new presses, but still less picture-oriented than Metro - Express, Montreal - Matin (Montreal-Morning) has been to a Union Nationale line in provincial politics and opposes the Liberal government in commenting on federal developments.

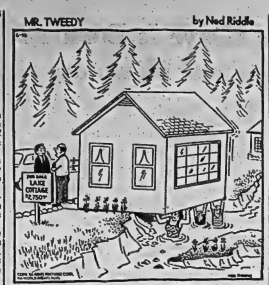
HEAVY ON SPORT

Lucien Langlois, with a fiery editorial style, handles its editorials on Quebec subjects while Clement Brown, once of Le Devoir, writes about federal affairs.

Both Metro - Express and Montreal-Matin highlight sports, sometimes giving one-third of their space to this department.

Matin normally has between 30 and 60 pages an issue while Metro has been sticking with a 32-page size.

Show business, baby contests and crime news make an especially big showing in Le Journal de Montreal. Despite its circulation decline, Advertising Director Jacques Craig said: "We are in an extremely good position to withstand our birthstage."



Mr. Craig said Le Journal is part of an organization that owns six French-language weeklies with a total circulation of 350,000 and thus has considerable resources to draw on.

The heavily-illustrated Journal, which usually has 48 pages, is owned by Pierre Peladeau and includes among its columnists Jean-Louis Gagnon, a member of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism and formerly editor-in-chief of La Presse.

The tabloid's layout sprawls more than does that of the concise-minded Metro-Express but both new arrivals trade on what they call the advantages of "instant news" for the rushed reader.

"A practical format for people in a hurry," Le Journal says in boosting itself.

"The latest news at the earliest hour," runs the Metro slogan, which tops a front page crowded with headlines and pictures.

Not Many Ducks On Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. David A. Munro, chief of the Canadian wildlife service, said Friday, authorities are concerned about the type of duck hunting that should be permitted this fall.

He said in an interview at the close of the 29th federal-provincial wildlife conference that there are "not very many ducks."

Dr. Munro said that the decrease indicated in early Prairie counts might have been the result of too many ducks shot last fall.

It also might have been "some long-term effect on fertility as a result of use of pesticides."

Birth Control Commission in Deep Deadlock

By EUGENE LEVIN

VANTCN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul's birth control study commission is reported in deep deadlock, a year after the pontiff ordered its broad review of family planning and population problems.

Pope Paul announced the birth control study last June 25, two days after the first anniversary of his election.

Members of the commission have been reported divided concerning use of the new contraceptive pills.

MEMBERS 'AT SEA'

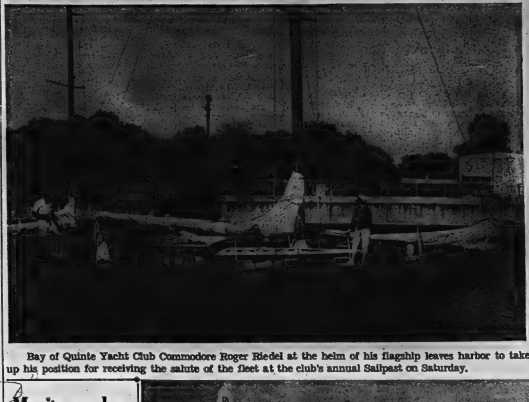
A source informed on the commission's work said:

"Its study is far from complete. No report has been drawn up. The commission members are, more than ever, at sea."

The source said the commission had agreed on no recommendation for the new pills and presumably was still split in three factions: One for strict adherence to current church teaching against birth control except through the rhythm system; another for limited use of the pills, and third for liberal use in the light of world population growth.

At a Vatican audience for commission members March 27 Pope Paul said the group must conclude its work urgently and courageously, without leaving Roman Catholics "exposed to uncertainties."

His words were then viewed as an exhortation to commission members to overcome their reported differences.



STUDY MATTER FULLY

In announcing the study, Pope Paul said the birth control question would be studied "as broadly and profoundly as possible." The commission itself has been given the name Commission for the Study of Problems of Population, Family and Birth.

Its scope goes beyond the new pills, Pope Paul said in March:

"Besides the so urgent questions concerning married couples, there are also economic and social problems—problems . . . which the church cannot ignore."

It is generally assumed at the Vatican that the commission will eventually come up with a report, perhaps by the end of year.

Manitouwadge Youth Is Top Teenage Driver

BURLINGTON (CP) — A 19-year-old youth from the northern hamlet of Manitouwage is Ontario's top teenage driver.

Bodo Wiedemann gained 751 of a possible 800 points to win the provincial teen safe driving championship in keen competition here Saturday.

The event, sponsored by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Imperial Oil Company, drew 48 competitors from all across the province.

Each contestant drove vehicles through three obstacle courses, weaved the automobile through downtown Burlington traffic, and wrote an exam on the rules of the road.

The province-wide safe driving campaign, now in its tenth year, is designed to make youthful drivers more safety conscious in an effort to prevent accidents and save lives.

REGIONAL WINNERS

All contestants in the local roadeo had previously won regional safe driving competitions.

Doug Woodman, 19, of Walkerburg, and Jack Shea, 18, of Kenora, tied for second place. Each gained 728 points. Third place went to Elliott Shirley, 18, of Kitchener. He managed 718 points.

The event's two female 'rivers were well down in the final standings. Bonnie Buffey, of Barrie and Pat Chychola, of Scarborough, finished among the "low" 10 competitors.

Wiedemann, Woodman and Shea will represent Ontario in the national safe driving finals which get underway in Toronto July 14.

PLAN VIGIL

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-eight clergymen plan a two-day vigil outside the Ontario legislature starting Monday to protest what they term the "inadequacies" of the government's Medical Services Insurance Act. There are two Presbyterians and a Unitarian. Others are United Church.

The Bay of Quinte Yacht Club's directors were among the many club members and visitors who took part in the annual Sailpast and the cocktail party and dinner which followed it. Among the directors present were Alderman Joe Raycroft, Elwood Wickerson, Commodore Roger Riedel, and Jack Howe, left to right above.

U. S. Not in an Enviable Position in Algiers, Under Steady Attack by Press

Associated Press correspondent Andrew Borowiec, now visiting in New York, covered Algeria in the turbulent days before its independence in 1962 and after formation of its own government.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

NEW YORK (AP)—The west, and particularly the United States, should expect no bouquets from the Algerian coup d'etat.

If anything, the course of the military regime headed by Col. Houari Boumediene should be tougher, more uncompromising, more oriented toward the Communist bloc.

It is still too early to say whether Soviet or Chinese ideas will eventually win in Algeria. Deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella attempted to navigate between the two theories.

Boumediene's back ground and his career show him as a hard line revolutionary doctrinarian, basically opposed to western political and economic concepts.

KEEPS SILENT

But so far, he has not revealed his thoughts on how far his country should go in its quest to become a "truly socialist" nation.

Since Algeria's independence in 1962, Boumediene has been working hard to free his army from the influence of French-trained officers. He has sent new cadres for training to Eastern Europe and Communist China.

This does not mean that Boumediene's Algeria is likely to break with its Western economic partners and particularly with France. The fact that the junta pledged to honor all agreements shows its concern and intention to proceed with caution.

Boumediene's regime has inherited a country which so far has failed to recover from its 7½-year war for independence, the flight of European settlers and sweeping post-independence changes.

On the surface, Algerian cities have retained their Mediterranean aspect, with crowded sidewalk cafes and cars speeding along winding streets. The French colonizing effort is very much visible in the form of towering buildings, highways, dams and industrial plants.

But in the cities, more men are jobless than employed, and in the countryside, millions are near starvation. Industrial production is limping and nationalized farms have generally been a failure.

The Ben Bella regime had embarked on an ambitious program to lead Africa's revolutionary movement. Guerrillas from Portuguese Angola, Guinea and Mozambique have been trained in Algeria. Algerian instructors have been helping the Congolese rebels and virtually all African revolutionary movements have found haven in Algiers.

It is more than likely that Boumediene will continue — if not intensify—this policy. It has been said that Boumediene judged Ben Bella's conduct in this field as not revolutionary enough.

Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser should be able to maintain his influence on the new regime in the past, Boumediene has had strong ties with Cairo.

ATTACKS U.S.

The United States is not in an enviable position in Algeria. Virtually since independence, it has been under steady attack by the Algerian press and radio as an "imperialist" and "neo-colonialist" power.

American diplomats in Algiers have been snubbed by Algerian officials although U.S. Ambassador William Porter has had periodic meetings with Ben Bella. Boumediene, however, has always been an enigma to American officials.

Despite difficulties and accusations, the United States has continued its aid to Algeria, helping Algerians to survive their country's numerous crises.

82 Fatalities Across Canada Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 82 persons died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, one of the worst two-day weekends for accidental fatalities on record.

Traffic mishaps accounted for 53 of the deaths.

Last year, accidents in the three - day Victoria Day and civic holiday weekends claimed 94 and 67 deaths respectively.

This weekend's total, according to a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, included 22 drownings and eight deaths in other mishaps.

Ontario reported 30 dead, 21 in traffic accidents. The traffic toll included two tripie fatalities, one near Hunstsville and one in Toronto.
